A pre-convention conference on civil rights was held at 81 Clementina Street, San Francisco, on December 16-17, 1966, to discuss "Black Power." At this conference ROSCOE PROCTOR passed out and discussed a discussion bulletin issued by the NCDCP, Issue 1, December, 1966, on Negro problems. The discussions bulletin is as follows:

It is quite clear to the most casual observer that the Negro Freedom struggle in the United States today has found it necessary to look inward--to re-evaluate some of its earlier premises and concepts--to weigh its progress; how far it has gone, how far it has yet to go, and how it proposes to get there. It is viewing its current needs in relation to its long range goals.

In short the movement is now at its crossroads.

It has been said and often repeated that it was the "Black Power" slogan and the varying interpretations of that concept which has given rise to this deep and fundamental re-examination.

For Marxists to really understand the essense of what is happening within the movement we must look beyong the mere slogan and examine the material and ideological conditions which make the slogan spread with such rapidity today.

Some of the questions which the Negro Commission suggest for study as a basis for discussion at our forthcoming conference on "Black Power" and white chauvinism are as follows:

1) What has been the extent of Negro migration in the past half century.

2) Are Negroes as a people progressing--economically, politically and socially--in America today?

3) Does the American melting pot theory apply to Negroes as it does to all other ethnic groups?

it does to all other ethnic groups?

4) Is there a growth in national consciousness among Negroes today.

5) Is there a difference between the civil rights coalition and the Negro revolution? If so, what are they?

6) What are the major issues around which differences exist within the movement today? Why?

7) Based upon your recent reading on the subject, how would you define the major components of the "Black Power" concept as projected by its leading advocates--is it proper that Marxists should support such concepts? (all of them? Some of them? Which ones?)

8) Is the 1959 Party position on Negro nationhood valid for today?

9) What should be the Negro peoples approach to coalition politics. The Labor movement--the poor--the peace movement.

10) What is the relationship between quality education and Negro freedom? How is quality education to be achieved?

11) How can the party program more effectively reflect the needs of the Negro people?

(a) What special steps can be taken to bring class understanding to the Negro movement.

(The following article was distributed by the Campus Chapter of the Communist Party on the campus of the University of California during the "Black Power Conference" troubles.)

It has become increasingly apparent during the past few weeks that there is a major problem of relations between white and black on this campus which deserves serious and immediate attention. Attitudes on the part of some surrounding the planning and promotion of the upcoming "Black Power Conference" have brought this university to a major crisis. This crisis is more important and more serious than any other political problem faced by activist students on the campus. This is, in fact, the most important question which faces this country today--the question of white supremacy.

We feel the time has come for all of us on this campus to take a critical approach to what we have been doing. The tragedy of the situation is that it took an abrupt and angry reaction from the few Negro students amongst us to bring the process of self-examination.

The starting point is the total society.

American society is racist. All our institutions economic political and social are permeated by deep-seated racism and attitudes of white supremacy.

It will, of course, be denied by some but those attitudes of white superiority are directly reflected in this university community.

Look around. The scarcity of Negro students on this campus testifies to the truth of the above statement. Raising student expenses compound the many difficulties that a white supremacist society has put in the way of Negroes getting an education. The lack of Negro students here is a reflection of the dismal state of American education in general and the criminal state of education offered Negroes in the public schools.

This university demonstrates that in education, as in everything else, a Negro child is born into this world with an externally-imposed handicap and that very little is being done about it.

The removal, by Administration-directed police of 600 Oakland Negro children last week is only another shameless example of our common failure.

The attitudes of white supremacy in this society are reflected on this campus and infects everyone of us. We who choose to call ourselves radicals are no exception.

We have heard the expression of many attitudes during the week which clearly give indication of what the problem is. Try these:

- "We don't need local Negroes, we've got Stokely Carmichael."
- One radical to another--"It's too bad we're not black; we could really shake this state up."
- At one point it was suggested that if the Administration refused to allow the event on campus it would be held in the West Oakland Negro community. "They're more afraid of our having it in West Oakland than on the campus.

After all, Oakland hasn't had its riot yet." Further it was suggested that we threaten to hold the rally in the ghetto in order to scare the Administration into granting campus facilities.

When Negro children were turned away from the use of university facilities last week, one radical suggested to another that the students be led to a confrontation with the police in front of Wheeler Auditorium.

The essence of the notion 'Black Power,' is the necessity, ability and right of black people to decide and direct the affairs of their struggle for freedom. It is perhaps difficult to imagine white supremacy being reflected in the planning and execution of an event inspired by the slogan "Black Power," but that is precisely what has happened.

Students on this campus have contributed greatly to the civil rights movement in the Bay Area but such laurels as they are, are far from strong enough to rest upon.

One might call the present stiuation a crisis of confidence--the deterioration of what tenuous confidence existed in the Negro community toward political activists on this campus.

Some of us in the radical community seem to think that, like the white power structure, we can decide which Negroes are worthy to participate in public life. Some of us feel no hesitation at deciding who "really" leads the Negro community; who are its legitimate spokesmen. Some of us take for granted that we know what it is that is important that whites know about the black community. Some of us insist upon treating the Negro community as a pawn, using the slogan "Black Power" to gain our own political ends.

Some of us refuse to believe that Negroes active in this area know enough, are smart enough, are radical enough to tell us anything of value about the black community; only celebrities are worth listening to.

We are not directing these remarks equally at all those politically active on this campus, nor at any one sector, nor do we wholly exempt ourselves from criticism. Many of the people involved in the preparation of this event were motivated by a sincere desire to have a forum through which they could learn the meaning of the most important national movement of this century.

But, the most important problem on this campus is not the fact that people here do not understand the tactics and slogans of the Negro peoples' movement. Rather, the problem is the challenge of racism. That is the major question in this country, in this state, and in our community, and that's what we ought to be talking about.

We suggest that the organizers of the up-coming conference change the subject of the gathering and retitle it: "Racism and its Challenges" and begin approaching the question through the front door. We expect that Stokely Carmichael and the other speakers would have something to say on the subject. The events this week prove that a lot needs to be said.

Campus Chapter, Communist Party.

Classical theoretical position and formulation of the Negro Question presented for your consideration.

The Party emphasizes that it is the special duty of whites to come forward as leaders in the fight against chauvinism. The white workers as part of the oppressing nation bear a special responsibility in the struggle against national oppression by its bourgeoisie; and the white Communists must be in the very forefront of this truggle as the vanguard of the working class...

The struggle against chauvinism is an absolute pre-condition to rebuilding the labor Negro alliance on a new basis, and this in turn is a pre-condition for a successful struggle against fascism, against imperialism, and for eventual socialism. The working class and progressive movements must learn to regard any act of chauvinism with the same loathing as any act of scabbing or informing--that is, as treachery to the working class, which, in fact, it is.

The wiping out of chauvinism is an indispensable part of the struggle of the working class to free itself from expoitation. This is stated by Karl Marx in a letter written on April 9, 1870. The letter stresses particularly the fact that the struggle against chauvinism is no act of humanitariaNism, but a condition for the workers of the oppressing nation. A part of this letter follows:

> "Every industrial and commercial center in England now possesses a working-class population divided into two hostile camps, English proletarians and Irish proletarians. The ordinary English worker hates the Irish worker as a competitor who lowers his standard of life. In relation to the Irish worker he(the English worker) feels himself a member of the ruling nation and so turns himself into a tool of the aristocrats and capitalists against Ireland, thus strengthening their domination over himself. He cherishes religious, social, and national prejudices against the Irish worker...

the Irish worker...

"This antagonism is artificially kept alive and intensified by the press, the pulpit, the comic papers, inshort by all the means at the disposal of the ruling classes. It is the secret of the impotence of the English working class, despite their organization. It is the secret by which the capitalist class maintains its power...

"Hence the task of the 'International' is everywhere to put the conflict between England and Ireland in the foreground, and everywhere to side openly with Ireland. The special task on the Central Council in London is to awaken a consciousness in the English workers that for them the national emancipation of Ireland is no question of abstract justice or humanitarian sentiment, but the first condition of their own emancipation."

From "The Struggle Against White Chauvinism"- National Education Department CPUSA September 1949

When I was twenty, I worked with more than half Negro fellow workers, and briefly had the experience of not knowing what color a person's skin was unless I stopped and thought about it.

Sometimes even then it took me a little time and effort to know. The fact that it had been otherwise before and became so again was undoubtedly the result of segregation.

Before that job, I could count on the fingers of one hand the number of Negroes I had any kind of acquaintance with. I had learned about slavery, emancipation, the Klan, life and lynchings in the South, and discrimination and segregation in the North. I shared my mother's indignation about the Scottsboro boys and Angelo Herndon.

But the only kinds of discrimination and prejudice that had personal meaning to me were male superiority and the paternalism of adults toward children and youth.

I was aware of, and rejected, the prejudice of many in the intellectual community in which I had grown up against the uneducated. Most intellectuals who feel this are less capable of original thinking than people who never finished elementary school, and in fact their creative intellectual process has been choked off precisely by bourgeois class education.

I have had to fight in myself anti-Irish and anti-catholic prejudice. This grew first because of lack of association, second because of the domination of corrupt Irish politicians and reactionary Catholic ideology in many areas of my hometown life.

When I analyze my feelings today--and I am almost 45--I find that again I am often unaware of the color of people's skins unless I stop and think about it. This is undoubtedly because I live in an integrated neighborhood, my children go to integrated schools, and there are a good many adult Negroes among the people I see and work with.

I am glad of this because I think it shows that I have not been seriously damaged by prejudice. Occasionally I find it inconvenient because I forget at the same time the special conditioning that Negroes in the United States have had, which equips them to understand some of the things we talk about more readily than whites and others less, and which may encourage them to misinterpret some things I may say.

I have reactions of suppressed prejudice--uneasiness and distrust --with people who use foul language, also with girls whose hair is ratted and boys whose hair is long or otherwise unconventional. I had to sit down and think this out because I have this reaction to young Negro men whose hair styles are unfamiliar--but it is their hair, not the color of their skin, that I react to.

I have gotten to the age where it takes longer to become accustomed to changes of this sort.

I can also understand some of the fears of whites when they think about the riots. I can understand them because my children have white skins, they are influenced by their experiences, their friends, both Negro and white, their teachers, their friends' parents--including children in the schools and the neighborhood who use "Whitey" as a curse word.

We discuss Negro history with them, but I do not think it is possible for them fully to grasp the influences at work in the minds of the Negro people, and especially the Negro children and youth, today. It is difficult for the Negro people themselves to analyze completely.

I share the concern of Negro mothers--I, too, do not want to see my children scarred, emotionally or physically, by the wanton hand of prejudice.

True, those who started this business of race prejudice were greedy whites, those who perpetuate it are greedy whites. But our common cause, in terms of every normal human need and aspiration, is with the oppressed of our land, black and white, yellow and brown.

We have nothing more in common with those who promote and profit from white supremacy than do the Negro people. I hope very deeply that my children will grow up to be fighters for full human rights for all human beings, regardless of color, sex or national origin; fighters for peace and socialism.

I hope they will not be accidentally hurt along the way by those who will someday be their comrades in arms.

About eight years ago an incident happened which was the reverse of white chauvinism--an uncalled for breach of comradely relations.

One of my children, who was then four, said to the white partner in a mixed mariage, "You are married to a black lady. You're not supposed to be." Or wordsto that effect.

If I had heard about this when it happened--and I was right in the same house when it happened--I could have found out the problem that was bothering my child and helped her to understand the world we live in then and there.

But the comrades whom my child had spoken to in this way didn't have enough confidence in my husband or myself to tell us the incident.

I heard about it months later, maybe even a year later, from someone else through party channels. I tried to bring it up with this child after I heard about it, but she had forgotten the incident and what brought it on.

Since she was inclined to be timid, subjective, and jealous of her brother and sister, I had the feeling that she would be hurt, ashamed and unable to see the objective matters involved, so I didn't force it.

I, too, was quite subjective then, so that in the long run my feelings were hurt by the serious lack of confidence these comrades had shown in me particularly, and also my husband.

If the same thing happened today I think I would raise a stink through Party channels.

The only conclusion I could draw was that these comrades must have had no political confidence in us whatsoever. Since I have very rarely been aware of any prejudiced reactions in myself, and have probed my mind deliberately to find them, and to the best of my knowledge had at that time been guilty only of being very shy and afraid of not being accepted by other people regardless of the color of their skins, I do not think I had done anything to offend these comrades or give them any false impressions, unless they misinterpreted my shyness which seems unlikely since I had been acquainted with them for years.

Whatever it was that brought that situation about, I want to make one point to all our Negro comrades. Please, comrades, with all the prejudice, all the innuendoes that are in the air we breathe, we white comrades need your help, and particularly where our children are involved.

If an adult makes a racist slander, that's one thing. If a small child makes a racist remark, please tell the child's parents when it happens! My child, who was ordinarily unusually considerate of other people's feelings, made that crack because someone outside the family had hurt her feelings. I could have helped her if I had been told about that when it happened.

My impression also is that the comrades involved must have brooded over this thing for months before they finally talked about it. They had the choice of thinking that my husband and I were white chauvinists or that some incident that we didn't know about had influenced our child. In either case it should have been brought out immediately and openly--for the sake of the Party or for the sake of our child.

I ask all Negro and other minority comrades, please speak up. Give your white comrades the benefit of the doubt. If they don't deserve it, they should be exposed so that they can be handled politically. If they do deserve it, you'll be glad you did and they'll be especially glad you did!

THE DEVELOPMENT OF BLACK POWER

In 1960 on the campus of Southern University in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, a movement developed. The young Negro students began to mobilize and move in such mass that it alerted the Negro citizens of that state. The students moved in a direction of alleviating the segregated policies which existed.

Their voices were so loud in what they advocated that it struck fear into the president of the university. He closed down the school and kicked out the students.

What were these young people doing? They were organizing sit-in demonstrations in Baton Rouge proper against the Woolworth stores. They were carrying on activities against police brutality and trying to point out to the Negro people that there were ways to fight the power structure.

Out of this struggle grew the leaders for the movement, particularly at this time in Louisiana. The leaders came primarily from the city of New Orleans, and after being expelled from Southern University, they returned to their respective homes in New Orleans and mapped out the plans for a CORE chapter.

This specific chapter became a symbol for the Negro citizenry of New Orleans. An extensive program was written and realized in the form of sit-ins in public accommodations.

At this time the chapter's membership was black. They educated the Negro community to what was happening in one sit-in movement.

It wasn't until 1961 when CORE instituted the Freedom Rides into Mississippi, that the Negro chapter in New Orleans became integrated. With the integration, co-existence between white and black became more difficult.

Distrust developed and people in the movement realized many problems had been introduced into the organization. Inspite of the realities of working together for a common struggle, the background and experiences were so different that it was hard to communicate

At the same time, plans evolved to register the Negro population.

A. The problems that deal with chauvinism come about because of a lack of adequate definition.

B. Lack of educatinnals describing what is meant.

C. Unnatural stiuations involving unaccustomed cultural groups

A. Patronizing is another word for chauvinism. However it is something which whites do daily, either consciously or unconsciously. Failure to criticize Negro comrades when one believes them to be wrong is patronizing.

B. Very few people are aware of chauvinistic acts unless actually discriminating or prejudicial. Since unconscious or ignorant acts or statements are as chauvinistic, and are just as offensive or aggravating to amicable relationship in the Communist Party, then they must be continually pointed out in regular educationals. Examples: Statements like "don't let them Jew you down" or "work like a Nigger" as well as not opening a car door for a Negro woman, are detrimental even though unconscious or habitually practiced.

Unless there is a conscious effort on all people to consider what is likely to be a chauvinistic act or statement, then there will be little change in minority members.

C. The setting in which these faux pas might be prevelant could be political but they are much more likely to take place in a relaxed, social atmosphere. For this reason the Party should maintain the political and minimize the social aspect of the different cultural groups until a better understanding is developed of each participating culture. Example: The idea of Black Power will not be acceptable to caucasians due to the chauvinistic unacceptance of the Negro dignity and black worth. Once this is understood, they will want for their minority brothers what they want for themselves; enough to fight for it. Seeing this alliance, the minority group can join and work for Communist Party goals, since these goals will coincide.

POSITION PAPER IN PREPARATION FOR CONFERENCE ON

WHITE CHAUVINISM AND BLACK POWER

THE TRADE UNIONS AND DISCRIMINATION IN HIRING

A major task before the Party is to fully enter the struggle against discrimination in the hiring of Negro and other minority workers. This problem is basic to further progress in the struggle for Negro-white unity and of the building of the Negro-Labor alliance.

The struggle for Negro-white unity is the key towards making fundamental progress in this country. This question has been with us for years and our participation in working for a solution has been less than outstanding. But now developments in the burgeoning Negro freedom movement impels the labor movement to tackle this problem in a new and qualitatively different manner.

In recent months events have taken place that have jarred the establishment and the labor bureaucracy, and we must move into qualitatively increased action. Watts, Hunters Point, and the Oakland events (to say nothing of a dozen other cities in other states) means that there is something new.

The Negro people and particularly the Negro youth are on the move. Will this activity result in a "white backlash," with the racists being elected to office, etc. or will it result in a better understanding among white workers as to who is the real enemy? Will it result in a firmer Negro-white unity and a qualitatively different Negro-Labor alliance with labor entering the fight for jobs for Negroes and other minorities?

There are potentials for both of these developments with even both going on at the same time. Which trend will become and remain dominate depends to a large extent upon the Left and its adherents.

HOW TO DISCUSS THE PROBLEM.

The resolution on Labor and Trade Union Problems (18th National Convention) contains all of the basic points upon which to base our discussion. The section dealing with Negro-white unity is particularly appropriate to our discussion. Therefore this section of the resolution needs to be read and studied. That section is as follows: (From the Labor resolution which starts on the next page)

The Trade Union Commission had a discussion on a specific development which followed in the aftermath of the San Francisco outbreaks of the Negro community against police violence.

The San Francisco Board of Supervisors passed an anti-bias hiring ordinance. This ordinance gave a city commission the authority to investigate any discrimination in hiring on city jobs and contracts, and certain powers to cancel contracts where such discrimination existed and persisted.

The only major group against this ordinance was the labor movement, with all segments acting collectively to defeat it. Although the ordinance was months in the making, the voting on it took place right after the Hunters Point event. The employers were in the happy position of putting the onus on labor and even Mayor Shelley made a speech in which he said that some unions had to give up old ways of thinking and open their unions to minorities

Negro-white Unity

"Divide and conquer" remains a fundamental precept of Big Business in its dealings with the working class. Every conceivable method is used to pit workers against each other. Men against women, young against older, white-collar against blue-collar, skilled against less skilled, those working against those out of work. Even religion is brought into play, pitting Protestant against Catholic. Many workers have gotten a bitter dose of anti-Semitic poison from company spokesmen seeking to divert them in their struggles, by trying to place the blame for the evils of capitalism on the back of a religious minority.

The corporations have always used discrimination in hiring against Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Mexican-Americans and other minorities as a potent instrument to divide the working class. U.S. capitalism is responsible for saturating our entire society with racism to its great profit, for discrimination means lower wages and living standards.

Racist gangs such as the Klan and National States Rights Party concentrate their organizing activities among white workers in the more industrialized areas of the South, paper mill towns such as Bugaloosa, La.; the steel areas of Birmingham and Bessemer, Ala.; the textile centers in the Carolinas; Lockheed Aircraft at Atlanta, Ga.; Alcoa Aluminum at Marysville, Tenn.

In industrial border cities like Baltimore, and others further north, like Cleveland, hate groups have full-time organizers in the white working-class communities. In all areas, North and South, they play on the fear of economic insecurity among white workers. "The Negroes are after your jobs," is their common rallying cry.

The unity of Negro and white workers in the labor movement and a firm alliance between Labor and the Negro Freedom Movement are the keys to progress in our country. This is equally true in both the North and South. Without this unity, Labor can make no substantial gains organizationally, economically or politically. Without such unity, the Negro Freedom Movement is fatally handicapped in the fight to put a spermanent end to the system of jim-crow.

But the deadly poison of white supremacy continues within the ranks of organized labor, affecting many white union officers and members alike. Some otherwise advanced white union leaders seriously lack an understanding of the Negro question.

Negro trade unionists find great difficulty in advancing to positions of leadership beyond the level of the local union even in unions where they are a significant section of the membership.

The efforts that so far have been made to open union rolls to skilled Negro workers, and apprenticeship training programs to Negro youths have produced pitifully poor results.

Some skilled building trades unions, North and South, are among the most quilty of either barring Negroes from membership altogether, or shunting them off into jim-crow locals, but they are not alone in the commission of this crime.

White supremacy is a dangerous weapon in the hands of Big Business and its ultra-Right supporters. The Wallace campaign in the North gave evidence of this. Unchallenged, it is a time bomb in the ranks of the trade unions. Along with red-baiting, it is a cornerstone of every anti-union edifice.

In its own self-interest, the labor movement must ruthlessly root this malignancy out of the leadership, and take the fight against it into the local union halls and white working-class communities. Greater use must be made of the trade union press, particularly the regional journals and local papers, in the fight for Negro-white unity. Negro organizers must be given equal status with white, and every level of trade union leadership must reflect the growing number of Negro members in the ranks and among those to be organized.

The mutual self-interest of the Negro people and the working class, Negro and white, is strikingly exemplified in the many-sided struggles for full employment at decent wages. These are the basic ingredients of the real war on poverty. First and foremost is the fight for the 30-hour week with no reduction in pay. The AFL-CIO, which up to now has not given serious attention to this demand, must lead and coordinate a mighty economic and political drive to bring it about. With the support of the Negro Freedom movement, a victory can be won which will open up a whole new field of job opportunities, counter unemployment induced by automation, and remove a potential source of conflict among the working class.

But the trade unions cannot expect the Negro people to join a struggle for jobs that are going to be filled on a discriminatory basis. As a part of the fight for jobs for all, the unions must vigorously campaign for an end to discrimination in hiring and promotion. They must initiate a demand for a fester rate of hiring and promotion of Negro workers on new jobs as well as replacements for openings created by the normal process of labor turnover--retirement, transfers, etc., as a necessary step to correct the imbalance brought on by generations of discrimination against Negro workers.

As the labor movement has taken up the fight to end the Southern differential, it must take up the fight to eliminate the differential between white workers and Negro, Puerto Rican, Mexican and other minorities.

The increased identification of the labor movement with the indigenous movements that are growing in various parts of the country, particularly in the field of civil rights, voter registration and poverty, is a healthy development. From these can grow political action alliances mutually beneficial to the organized and unorganized, employed and unemployed alike.

Negro-white working-class unity and a firm Negro-Labor alliance is an absolute prerequisite for ending the role of the South as a base of reaction, and bringing it into the 20th century.

A coordinated organizing drive, with the support of the Freedom movement, can bring hundreds of thousands of new workers into the labor movement, put an end to the Southern differential in wages, and remove the threat to the standards of workers in the rest of the country.

LABOR' POSITION

The statement made at the time of the Board hearing by Labor can be boiled down to the following: The Unions have always supported a fair employment program and "such a program should include specific plans for the development of additional jobs." Just the same Labor demands complete respect for its contracts and the rights of its members to employment under those contracts. Further that no public agency has the right to mediate or arbitrate such an agreement. That the Labor movement would consider any picketing and demonstrating activity which would try to effect the employment under contracts as anti-union. Nevertheless organized Labor stands for the fundamental goals of equal opportunity in employment. To the surprise of all, Harry Bridges, representing the I.L.W.U., spoke for this position.

A subsequent statement issued by George Johns, Secy. of the San Francisco Labor Council was much improved. This later statement reflected the pressure coming from within and outside of the unions. In this statement Johns said that the unions had always "been in favor of such legislation." (The ordinance.) He said there was a lot of talk and promises but so far no jobs. Further that Labor does not create jobs. (A point he and Bridges made at the time of the hearing.) Regulations and control over working people (as proposed in the Ordinance)"will not solve the problems of a shrinking job market..." He blamed the Redevelopment Agency for chasing small "blue collar job" firms out of the city with its fancy redevlopment. He called for (as a started) a project of slum clearance and industrial activization in a certain blighted area. He stated further that the job conditions and security of minority workers could only be protected by union contracts.

[illegible] and security of minority workers could only be protected by union contracts.

Some Analysis--Our v[illegible]

In the above statements and actions around the ordinance we have before us all the problems posed at the beginning.

We start with the fact that we are concerned with the interests of the entire working class, organized and unorganized, youth and adults, men and women, Negro, Mexican-American, all minorities, as well as white. We know that unless there is the greatest unity of all sections, that labor will suffer. We know the key to moving the entire Labor movement forward is the breakthrough on jobs for minorities.

We look upon the organized section of the Labor movement as the strongest component of Labor. We want to do everything possible to strengthen that section and to counteract the attack being made upon it from a number of sources. It's weaknesses are plenty and must be corrected. But we must begin with the existing Labor movement. We recognize its weaknesses and drawbacks, not in order to become frustrated and paralyzed, but to help make changes. Here we are addressing ourselves primarily to make a change in the discriminatory hiring practices and helping to eradicate white chauvinism.

We must grasp the truth that the Labor movement does not create jobs. These can only come from the employers and their government. Therefore the major responsibility rests with the capitalist class. Further that discrimination in jobs is mainly the fault of the employers. If the employers wanted to, they could quickly change the situation.

The number of jobs are finally decided by the employers. This is true since not more than 25% of the workers in this country are organized. (some 36% in California.) All of the anti-poverty money and related progr[redacted]s have resulted in pitiful few jobs, so the government also share[redacted] the blame for the lack of [redacted]bs.

Just the same in this particular situation some unions are guilty of rank discrimination. These unions hide behind the "sanctity" of union contracts, reminiscent of the excuse they use to cross each other's picket lines. The jobs created by the Bay Area Rapid Transit project shows just where the unions are to be held responsible.

The Negro Peoples organizations in the East Bay proposed some months ago that a number of Negro and other minority workers should be trained for such jobs. The Alameda Central Labor Council approved and a Skills Training Center was set up.

However, the Alameda Building Trades Council refused to participate, saying they had enough people to fill the jobs and did not want the crafts flooded. Therefore, as the jobs open up they are filled through the union (overwhelmingly white) and the Negro workers can't even qualify since they are not trained for the skill.

It so happens that for the past several months, work in the building trades has been the slowest for years. Halls are filled with unemployed men anxiously waiting for the BART jobs. Now we have a classical situation. Negro workers are incensed that they can't get a job even on a government project and white workers are led to believe that the Negroes and other minorities are out after their jobs. Negro-white unity suffers; antagonism against unions develops among the Negro people and an attentive ear is given by white workers to every racist slander.

The employers strategy is obvious: First raise the chauvinism of the whites--promote the "backlash." Then in good time put forth another proposition 18; this time it will be indeed difficult to convince the Negro and other minority peoples to vote against any anti-labor measure.

It is not without good cause that the Labor movement fears interference by the capitalist government. The Taft-Hartly and Landrum Griffin laws, the court injunctions and Presidential intercession are examples enough. Any weakening of their job security is indeed a danger.

To a large extent the I.L.W.U. was prompted to take the position it did because of their experience with being sued under the law. Had the case been decided against the Union it would have meant a drastic revision in the hiring hall practices and as every one knows the I.L.W.U. is integrated.

What the unions don't realize is that they are only laying the groundwork for more governmental interference by refusing to face up to and fight discrimination and white chauvinism in their own ranks. They have not absorbed the lessons of the South where wages and conditions are the worst in the country and in some places in the South it is worth an organizer's life if he tries to organize.

The unions don't face up to the fact that unemployment is three times the rate among Negro workers than among the white. The "great boom and prosperity" has by-passed the Negro and other minority workers.

The situation in summary: The capitalist class is primarily responsible for discrimination, poverty and unemployment. The unions are legitimately concerned about their hiring halls, job security and the danger of anti-labor governmental bodies. The Negro and other minority people are justified in their critical attitude toward the unions insofar that the unions practice discrimination and are riddled with white chavinism.

Specifically the unions are guilty when they refuse to participate in training minority workers for skills and refuse to do anything about leveling off the disporportionate unemployment among minority workers.

It is well worthwhile at this point to recite certain facts. One: the Labor movement is not one solid racist group. There are splits about how to handle union discrimination, and there are a number of white unionists who work for integration. Two: historically the unions have played a leading progressive role in helping to establish the public school system and the breakthrough on organizing the unorganized, including million of minority workers, particularly in the 30's and 40's. They also fought for the unemployed at that time.

Proposals

These are certainly not final, complete or listed in order of importance.

1. Wherever possible local unions, District Councils, and leading individuals in the unions should differentiate themselves from the official position taken at the Board of Supervisors. Even Johns later statement should be criticized for failing to tackle those unions that discriminate and refuse to take in minority workers even on such tax paid jobs as BART.

2. A many sided and imaginative educational program has to be urged upon the labor movement, directed toward combating white chauvinism and the danger of a right-wing being built within the Labor movement. The Left need to conduct its own educational campaign. Not least important is education within its own ranks on such questions as, how do you combat racism and chauvinism with your fellow workers and in the unions.

The Party should issue material for mailing and distribution, and the People's World should be urged to carry a series of articles with organized distribution to union members.

3. Groups, Alliances, Caususes. There were a variety of proposals under this heading made in the panel and board.

One proposal was to help revive and strengthen Negro Caususes in the unions on the basis they would fight from within against chauvinism, job discrimination.

For the most part the discussion called for finding in each situation a common ground that would advance the interests of both Negro and white workers. Example: the struggle against discrimination of older workers. The struggle for democracy within the unions would be strengthened with a fight against discrimination. There is generally a movement going on throughout the the Labor movement against the old guard, against the suppression of rank and file participants.

This is engendered by the effects of mechanization and automation. The Convention Trade Union Resolution discussed the question of rank and file groups and our approach toward them.

4. Fight for jobs: A massive program for jobs for all is the key demand. The unions would join in and could be persuaded to agree to no discrimination.

In this connection we should take a critical, but positive attitude toward the "Freedom Budget" recently launched by the A. Phillip Randolph Foundation. On the positive side it calls for billions of dollars for many public projects (Note: we should get the details).

Such a program is the kind needed to even begin to tackle the problem.

The weakness is that the foundation says the "Freedom Budget" can be financed even with the war going on in Vietnam. That means higher taxes on the people, and would result only in increasing the "white backlash" with the propaganda that the whites have to pay for "them."

We must fight for the rich being taxed for such a program, with the taxes coming from corporation and rich individual's profits. We must also expose the lie that "we can do both--guns and butter." It is very important that the Labor movement takes a lead in this fight.

5. Support to independent struggles of Negro people for jobs: We should help influence the direction of their blows against the ruling class and its government. In specific instances where there is discrimination by unions we should not hesitate to support the demand and pressure of Negro organizatinns upon the unions.

It is entirely possiblw that certain union headquarters and job sites will be picketed. We should be prepared for this eventuality, but at all times work for understanding and unity.

The Negro Commission of the NCDCP in December, 1966, prepared a document entitled "Research Notes and Some Conclusions on the Black Power Slogan and Concepts". It was reported that this document was the basis of a discussion also at the "Black Power" Conference held December 16-17, 1966. This document is as follows:

Research notes and some conclusions on the

"Black Power" slogan and concepts

The specific and historical conditions feeding the growth of black nationalism and cohesion among the Negro people are; the national liberation movements on a world scale which has had tremendous effects on the mood and psychology of the Negro people here at home; the tremendous population shifts which have taken place among the Negro masses; the failure of the nation to absorb them into the society as a whole--the breakdown of the melting pot theory when applied to the Negro people; the growing resistance of the trade unions to take Negro workers into the unions--include them into the various apprenticeship training programs; to combat inner union job discrimination around hiring procedures, and to elevate those already in the unions to positions of trade union leadership; the worsening conditions of the Negro masses (the policies and practices of the police and state apparatus toward the Negro masses; the breakdwon of the old liberal-democratic-civil rights coalition.

When these developments are coupled with the beginning experiences in independent political action and new independent political forms through which this independent political action is beginning to express itself, we see that conditions are favorable for the further development of nationalism on the part of the American Negro people.

Here when we speak of nationalism we have in mind the growing national consciousness and cohesion on the part of the American Negro people and not the narrow, separatist nationalism of the black Muslim variety.

Historical oscillations between integration and separation

Throughout the history of the Negro people in the U.S. they have oscillated between the tendency toward the status of separate nationhood and of integration into the institutions of the United States.

They have been particularly influenced in this respect by the rise and fall of democratic waves of development in the United States and the world.

The extreme oppression under which the great body of slaves in the Americas lived and the fact that they came originally from many different tribal backgrounds and localities and spoke widely varying languages held back their ideological national bevelopment for many decades.

The United States Revolution of 1776 awakened moving desires of winning their freedom which they undoubtedly connected with being integrated citizens of the new republic.

Instead of setting them free, the revolution fastened the shackles of slavery even more firmly in the south. Then one of the oscillations which has been characteristic of American Negro national development took place.

The first generation or so after the revolution the Negro people experienced strong nationalist tendencies. Freedmen built many Negro institutions that had distinct nationalistic [illegible] the Negro church, Negro press, and the Negro fraternal and insurance movements are examples. These institutions did not have marked integrationist tendencies.

From about 1830 on, the intensity of the pre-civil war struggles against slavery sharpened. The Negro people played a key part in the momentous struggle and the approaching war re-generated integrationist concepts.

These integrationist tendencies came to a head not only in the several constitutinnal amendments of the post-war time (especially the Negro vote), but particularly in the reconstruction governments that were organized in the South right after the war. These governments were organized on the basis of integration of the Negroes with Americans generally on the principal of political equality--the concept of social equality being but poorly developed.

In 1876 this experience with integration came to a sudden end with the Hayes-Tilden campaign. The forces of monopoly capital, convinced that they had a workable control over the plantation owners, cold-bloodedly sold out the Negro people. For the next half-century, the Negro people were subjected to the most barbarious and brutal jim-crow oppression of all time. It was the period of wide-spread lynchings and of all the most terrible features of the jim-crow system. With few exceptions the Negro people had to fight along. Hundreds of thousands fled to the North.

It was during this half-century that the Negro people, deeply persecuted, developed their sharpest tendencies of independen Negro nationalism.

Although many Negro leaders continued to be integrationists, the most definite national expression was the movement led by Marcus Garvey.

Marcus Garvey.

For several years following 1916 the Universal Negro Improvement association had a profound grip on the Negro masses in the United States. It's plan for the Negro people was to migrate back to Africa. Garvey claimed two million members.

Even Booker T. Washington, who has been deeply critizised for his toting attitude toward the white rulers, had much nationalism in his ideological make-up. He was the founder of the National Negro Business League with its program of building the Negro Bourgeousie and Negro industry.

In the late 1920's the Communist Party adopted the theory that the Negro people in the South were a nation.

The New deal of 1930, the unionization of some two million Negro workers, the monumental interantional struggle against facism which culminated in the winning of World War II, and the tremendous growth of Socialist countries in Eastern Europe and Asia in the post-war period were vast democratic movements that had a profound effect upon the Negro people. Following the second World War the Negro people again developed a strong trend toward integration with the dominant institutions of the United States.

This did not mean, however, that they were finished with nationalism, or that they would develop only those tendencies which would be moving in the direction of integration.

The strong affinity of the Negro people for the colonial people of the world, the need to stress the Negro problem in every field (including trade-union leadership). The right of the Negro people to decent housing, to end discrimination in hiring present problems which would have to be dealt with within the context of the special national oppression of the Negro people.

The American Negro's identification with black people throughout the world

The Negro liberation movement in the United States has drawn great strength, pride and confidence from the national liberation movements throughout the world.

In half a century, the political face of our planet has changed fundamentally. This is the century of revolutionary upheaval and liberation of the working people--colonial emancipation is coming into its own.

In Asia the colonial system began to disintegrate immediately after the second world war.

"Africa Enflamed," "Liberation Hurricane Sweeps Africa," "Africa Smashes the Chains of Colonialism" were the newspaper headlines in the 1950's. These were the years of unprecedented upsurge in the national liberation movement. In the five years ending 1960 twenty-two independent African states had come into existence. Two more--Sierra Lenoe and Tanganyika acquired political independence in 1961; Algeria, Uranda, Ruanda, and Uganda by the end of 1962; and Kenya and Zanzibar by the end of 1963.

The struggles of these colored people has had a profound effect upon the struggles and the experiences of the Negro oppressed in the United States. A great deal of pride has been drawn from the fact that these new nations of color have gained their independence and are now participating in the world organization--the United Nations.

American Negroes take pride and dignity from the fact that colored people are governing themselves and are representatives of states. Almost all of the major civil rights leaders have had an opportunity to visit and to talk with leading spokesmen for the colored people throughout the world. Where they meet each other as brothers, as colored people of the world who have a great deal in common as formerly and currently oppressed people, they speak in terms of the common oppression and the common identity of black people throughout the world. There exists among them close feelings of kinship.

Negro Migration

Negro migration from the south started before the end of the 19th century and took on vast proportions during the war decades. There was a decline in the rate of flow during the 1930's but even the heavy unemployment rate of that period failed to check the Northward movement.

Prior to the first world war, Negroes in the U.S. were overwhelmingly a southern peasantry. As late as 1910, the census figures showed that some 80 per cent of the total Negro population was in the South--ninety per cent lived in rural areas.

The push was provided by an increase in productivity in agriculture owing to mechanization, more intensive methods of cultivation.

As a consequence, demand for farm labor l[illegible]ged behind increasin agricultu[illegible] output. It had reached [illegible]s peak in 1910.

Faced with declining demand for farm labor, farm laborers naturally looked cityward for the opportunity to earn a livlihood. Most of the immigrants from the South settled in Northern cities, but within the South itself there has been steady migration from country to city.

Negroes now form a substantial section of the urban working class. The three to one rural-urban ratio of 1910 has almost been exactly reversed. Today three out of four Negroes live in cities--approximately one out of two live in Northern cities. Eleven metropolitan areas have Negro populations between 200,000 and one million.

Population experts predict that by 1980, Afro Americans will constitute the majority in fifty of the nation's largest cities. In washington D.C. and Newark, New Jersey, Afro-Americans are already a majority. In Detroit, Baltimare, Cleveland, and St. Louis, they are one third or more of the population. In a number of others such as Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, and Oakland they constitute well over one-fourth of the population. There are more Afro-Americans in New York City than in the entire state of Mississippi.

Even where Negroes are not yet a majority as in Detroit and Oakland, their children now are well over fifty per cent of the school population. It is in the urban ghetto that Negro history will be made in the foreseeable future.

Melting Pot theory breaks down

Earlier immigrant groups coming from Europe to the United States and settling in the cities were able to start their climb up the economic ladder through the labor unions, public schools and control of political organizations.

Expansion in the total economy made room for them above and others were ready to take their place at the botton.

Few Negroes have been able to follow in the footsteps of earlier European immigrant groups. They have been forced to remain at the bottom of the economic ladder; there is neither room above nor anyone ready to take their place below. The civil rights revolution and its resulting reforms did help a few individuals, but did not advance the group.

The only rise in living standards for the mass of Negroes came as a result of the migration from the bottom of the Southern agricultural ladder to the bottom of the urban industrial ladder. Circumstances of the Negro workers relative to the white workers has grown worse. The Negro has borne the brunt of the deterioration of the services and facilities of the city--employment housing, transportation, health, education, police protection.

Employment

Roughly 15 years ago the number of unskilled jobs were stable and Negroes were able to hold their own in the total employment picture by replacing white workers who were moving up [illegible] ladder. As unskilled jobs and semi-skilled jobs are eliminated by mechanization, automation, and cybernation, Negro workers are being disproportionately hard hit.

Unskilled labor declined from 36% of the working force in 1910 to 20% in 1950, then dropped suddenly to 5% in 1960. This trend affects Negroes more than any other group, and since many authorities think that this technological revolution is in its early stages, the job situation among Negroes is likely to go on deteriorating.

The only jobs which will increase, and in which Negroes now dominate, are jobs such as servants, waitresses, cooks--the traditional service jobs which have added to the Negroes sense of inferiority.

As requirements for skilled jobs grows stiffer and as semi-skilled jobs decline, Negroes will face competition from whites to hold even these marginal jobs.

The median income of the Negro family is only 50 per cent of the white, and in the last ten years the Negro position relative to the white has declined--Negro masses today are in worse economic shape; live in worse slums and attend more highly segregated schools than in 1954.

More Negroes are unemployed today than in 1954. The gap between the wages of the Negro worker and the white worker is wider. While unemployment among white youth is decreasing, the rate among Negro youth has increased to 32%. Among young men--18 to 24--the national rate is five times as high for Negroes as for whites; and among Negro girls the rise is even more startling.

as for whites, and among Negro girls the rise is even more startling.

The restless, brooding young men without jobs who cluster in the bars in the winter and on the stoops and corners in the summer are the stuff out of which riots are made. The solution to riots lies in finding jobs for the unemployed and in raising the social and economic status of the entire Negro community.

In the South, which has for years been dependent on cheap black labor, the trend has been most vicious. Negro tenant and sharecroppers have been displaced by machinery and are now seasonal workers or migrants. Since 1957 the demand for agricultural labor in the south has dropped by 48%.

In the future the need for agricultural labor will continue to decline, and while this paper does not attempt to propose any solutions to the problems of the nadless farmers in the South it is certainly a question which we have to address ourselves in the near future.

Housing

Another important aspect of the social and economic problems facing the Northern urban ghettos is the fact that all are crowded and poor.

Harlem houses 232,000 people within 3 and 1/2 square miles. There are more than 100 people per acre. Ninety per cent of the 87,000 residential building are more than 33 years old--nearly half were built before 1900.

[illegible] were sponsored [illegible]

the condition of the new buildings is classified as poor. Eleven per cent are classified as dilapidated by the 1960 census--they need more repair than would be do not provide safe and adequate shelter. Thirty-three per cent are classified as deteriorated--they need more repair than would be provided in the course of normal maintenance. There are more people in fewer rooms than elsewhere in the city and the rent per room is often higher in Harlem than for better equipped buildings downtown.

The effects of overcrowded, unsafe, and deteriorating housing upon physical health are well documented.

On Schools

Sixty-five per cent of all first grade Negro students in this country attend schools which are from 90 to 100 per cent black. As estimated 88 to 90 per cent of the Negro pupils in the Southern states are still in totally segregated schools.

Negro children in ghetto schools tend to lose ground in I.Q. as they proceed through the schools and to fall further and further behind the standards for their grade level in academic performance. Today about 55% of Negro youth between 18 to 25 years of age are school drop-outs.

Schools in the ghettos have lost faith in the ability of their students to learn--and the ghetto has lost faith in the schools to lead and to teach.

A three year study recently concluded by the President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency decided that "in most cases (the)study showed that various aspects of the school system itself, rather than any qualities inherent in the students, were the chief factors causing students to leave high school."

factors causing students to leave high school."

The report also showed that "the American high school tends to be a white, middle class institution loaded against the Negro working-class pupil."

The study focused on Ann Arbor high school and four other unidentified Michigan schools "because they are exemplary of the national norm, rather than exceptions to the rule."

Immediate and total integration of the schools is not possible in cities with large and growing Negro population. As middle class whites desert the cities and the public schools, the quality of the schools does decline. Not because Negroes are inferior, but because the school system behaves as though they are.

White middle-class parents will not endure reversed bussing- that is, the transport of their children into the ghetto schools which Negroes themselves have said for years are inferior.

Desegregation of urban ghetto public schools will occur only if all of the schools in a district are raised to the highest standards so that the quality of education does not vary as to the income or social status of the neighborhood.

And so Negroes are pushed even further down in the social structure and locked into the ghettos.

It has often been said that in the urban ghettos policemen are regarded as occupation soldiers of an unsympathetic colonial government. For anyone who has ever had an opportunity to observe the behavior of cops operating in the black ghettos and to see young Negro militants (both male and female) in their fearless, defiant attitudes will agree that this is a fairly accurate discription of the relations.

In each case where uprisings have taken place in the black ghettos the pattern has been the same: An incident involving police harassment, brutality or shooting--street fighting between Negroes and white policemen; bottles, bricks, and Molotov cocktails--smashing of plate glass windows and looting--more cops and finally the National Guard to put down the uprising.

The brutality and the troops feeds the growth of black nationalism and is a factor in uniting the black people in the United States. The failure of state and federal governments to protect the Negro citizens in the exercise of their civil and constitutional rights and the United States racist policies in involving Negro youth in the military services and in foreign aggression again adds fuel to the fire of black nationalism.

Relative improvement in conditions of Negro middle-class and effects of tokenism.

The deterioration in the living conditions among the Negro people is only true of the Negro masses. The Negro middle class on the whole is doing very well. This group has, if anything a preferred position in the job market. U.S. imperialism has rather sharply raised the demand for this group. As I.F. Stone put it, one would be hard put to describe a person with better job opportunities than a newly minted Negro Ph.D.

tunities than a newly minted Negro Ph.D.

Business and industry, in the face of the civil rights revolution, have been reassessing their employment policies and hiring Negroes for offices and other salaried positions that they rarely held before. The same thing has been happening in government. Negroes are increasingly being placed in high-paying jobs that are near the cabinet level in government--Federal judgeships and the like.

The growth of the black bourgeoisie has been marked since the second world war. Between 1950 and 1960 the proportion of non-white families with income over $10,000 increased from 1% to 4.7%--a rate of growth close to three times that of whites.

The success of the civil rights movement and tokenism has deepened the gap between the Negro middle- and upper-classes and the Negro masses. As middle class Negroes are brought into the economic and political power structure they also become more acceptable in the middle- and upper-class suburbs.

This difference in class background and economic opportunities could very well account for some of the stresses and strains which now exist within the civil rights movement.

The black bourgeoisie has a material stake in the existing social order, but its loyalty is still doubtful because of the special disabilities imposed solely because of color.

If this loyalty can be secured the potential revolutionizing of the Negro protest movement can be forestalled through the placing of loyal Negroes in prominent positions.

The fact that the great mass of Negroes derives no benefit from tokenism does not mean that they are unaffected by it. One of the purposes of tokenism, and, to the extent that it succeeds, one of its consequences is to detach the ablest young men and women from their own people and thus to deprive the liberation movement of its best leadership material.

Even those who have no stake in the system and no hope of acquiring, may become reconciled to it if they come to believe there is a chance that their children or even their children's children may be able to rise out of their own degraded conditions.

Sigma Pi Phi, founded in Philadelphia in 1904, reflects most clearly the class distinction among the Negro people. E. Franklin Frazier in Black Bourgeoisie said, "It has become one of main expressions of social snobbishness on the part of the black bourgeoisie."

The fraternity provides no program of action, but it does provide a sense of belonging for its members. An important aspect of the organization's value is said to be that Negroes could enjoy friendship with persons of similar status without needing to be reminded continually of the every day problems of being a Negro.

From the time of the Abolitionist Movement to World War II, civil rights remained the cause of a small, predominently white reformist group whose influence was more a matter of persuasion than political power.

What changed civil rights almost overnight from a peripheral moral issue to a major domestic movement was the emergence of the Negroes themselves as a nationwide bloc.

Since World War II our domestic policies have been dominated by two political forces--the civil rights coalition and the Negro revolution.

Often these two movements have been so entwined as to be almost indistinguishable. They are often lumped together under the term "civil rights movement" when they are, in fact, distinct movements with different histories, constituencies, and goals.

The civil rights movement has been essentially concerned with the structure of law and social justice. Its goal has been to bring the legal and formal institutional structure of American society into closer conformity with constitutional principles. The civil rights coalition believes that what is good for democracy is good for the Negro and the Negro revolution believes that what is good for the Negro is good for democracy.

The supporters of the Negro movement and the supporters of the civil rights movement were not consistently divided along color lines. The foremost advocates of the strategy which bases the Negro future largely on the fulfillment of constitutional principles has been the Negro civil rights agencies. In recent [illegible] furnished much of the political muscle of the civil rights movement, but this had not radically changed the character of the civil rights movement. It was an alliance of the forces of la[redacted], humanism, religious rad[redacted]alism, and political liberalism and was dominated by a liberal political philosophy.

The civil rights movement caught the imagination of the politically starved youth of the late 1950's and early 1960's. It offered excitement, a break with the past, and a practical outlet for social idealism. To fair-minded adults it promised a long overdue correction of chronic injustice. For the indifferent, the opportunists, and the hostile it commanded political respect.

The civil rights coalition can point to some radical changes in the formal structure of American society--the reconstruction of the legal basis of civil rights; the fixing of federal responsibility to intervene where possible to enforce civil rights; and the establishment of equality before the law as the public policy of the nation.

Conflicts between the white liberals and the Negroes began when the militant direct action tactics (mass demonstrations, sit-ins, boycotts) were exported to the North.

Such tactics seemed suitable to conditions in the South but black militancy in general was a new experience for the white man. Some white liberal groups, the unions and the churches for example, had their own traditions of militancy and could understand what the Negro was doing; but the issue of aggressive tactics more and more distinguished whites from blacks within the civil rights coalition and militant Negro leadership.

coalition and militant Negro leadership.

The Negro's demand for special consideration was another source of tension, while the white coalition thought it was correcting an injustice by repairing the New Deal's failure to take in the Negro, the Negro himself found that the problem of unemployment had grown so serious that it could no longer be dealt with by the normal process of non-discrimination. The Negro demand for compensatory hiring and preferential treatment that was formulated to meet this situation turned out to be totally unacceptable to the liberals for it conflicted with the traditional liberal idea of equal opportunity and equal treatment of people according to their individual merits.

Secretary of Labor Wirtz announced that the government, in a complete reversal of its earlier practice was requiring information as to race on all its job applications.

Negro group pressure for jobs had countermanded one of the earlier achievements of the liberal coalition that had eliminated all reference to race and religion from the formal hiring procedure --an achievement which was once counted as a great victory for the forces of non-discrimination.

The Negro militant tends to see the present civil rights gains as the political patronage doled out to upper-class Negroes mortgaged to the Johnson administration.

The old coalition's program seems to have been achieved. Virtually everything that was seen by the liberals as legal civil rights has either been granted or has been accepted in principle, [illegible] civil rights coalition is [illegible] place is being taken by a new force in American life--the Negro movement.

The liberal berates the Negro militant whose aggressiveness he blames for the weakening of the coalition when, in fact, that coalition is dying from having performed his function.

Equality of opportunity has had little effect upon the seqregated lives of the vast majority of Negroes who are still forced to live in the ghetto. The great majority of ghetto dwellers are daily witnesses to the capacity of the ghetto to replenish itself at its core more rapidly than it can be skimmed off at the periphery by those few Negroes who fight their way to its outer edge.

No strategy can be regarded as realistic unless it recognizes that whatever additional gains the Negro can hope to achieve through the civil rights movement are not likely to help his economic predicament or radically reduce the overwhelming effect of the ghetto upon his life.

Until recently the liberal philosophy of the civil rights agencies provided the sole strategy for the Negro cause. Today the disillusionment with the liberal ideal of a color-blind society is strengthening the forces that are for a color conscious Negro movement.

This dilemma cannot be escaped by blaming Negro militants for alienating white supporters through their anti-white rhetoric. Even if every Negro in America daily professed his great love for whites the coalition would still be breaking up because it has fulfilled so much of the civil rights program which brought it together and because it has no program by which it can deal with the economic plight of the Negro masses. The answer lies in a new coalition program, organized around the cities, as that of the old coalition was organized around the Federal government.

old coalition was organized around the Federal government.

The liberals played a strategic role in uniting diverse groups in the New Deal coalitions which initiated the reforms of the last thirty-five years. At present the liberals are failing to perform a similar role in uniting the groups that comprise the cities.

For a more detailed treatment of the conflict of aims, goals, and interest, etc. of the civil rights coalition and Negro revolution see the last chapter of L. Bennett, Jr.'s book, Confrontation, Black and White.

He details the changing demands and goals which emerged within the movement with the advent of the sit-ins.

- How dissatisfied liberals became (both black and white) as the black masses began to participate.
- How strings were pulled and funds were manipulated to tone the movement down and to maintain liberals in leadership and control.
- Even how legitimate civil rights actions were turned into shams solely in order to placate the Negro masses.

A combination of all of these factors have in the recent past and will continue to feed the growth of national consciousness and identity among the oppressed Negro people. Likewise the early black nationalist groups, the best known of which is the so-called Black Muslims, and figures like the late Malcolm X have also influenced the Negroes perceptibly. The black nationalist tells the Negro he is somebody and that his salvation depends upon the proud acceptance of his own blackness.

During the last years and months before his untimely assination, Malcolm X had a tremendous influence on the black community especially the younger people. Malcolm X expressed the need for militancy and unity in the community; he directed attention to the poorest and most oppressed section of the black community. He was the first since the late Dr. DuBois to establish direct links with the new nations and movements in Africa. I believe a new analysis of his role and impact on the community is in order.

BLACK POWER

The following concepts defining the meaning of Black Power represent trends which have been developing over a period of years. They are the products of experiences in deeply racist areas. The increasingly close identification of SNCC and CORE with the poor and disinherited of the entire country began when SNCC moved from the campus to community organizing in 1961, and began to work with people who were very poor and very hungry.

Black Power--its approach to integration

Integration, color-blindness, is ultimately valid but we have to come to realize that we must live here and now. Integration is a subterfuge for white supremacy. No American social institution is truly color-blind. To be color-blind in a society where race is relevant is not to be free, but to be insensitive.

The cult of color-blindness is not only irrelevant, but seriously flawed. America couldn't simply be color-blind, it would have to become color-blind, and it would only become color-blind when we gave up our color. The white man, who presumably has no color would only have to give up his prejudices, we would have to give up our identity.

Thus we would usher in the great day with an act of complete self-denial and self-abasement. We would achieve equality by conceding racism's charge that our skin is an affliction; that our history is one long humiliation; that we are empty of distinctive traditions and any legitimate source of pride. We would cease to use the word "we" for we would concede that there is no "we" which can meaningfully refer to Negroes.

All this we were asked to do, and asked ourselves to do, at the very moment the movement was teaching us to love ourselves and making the name Negro a name to conjure with.

In the movement for equal rights we discovered a history--had not the slaves rebelled tirelessly against their former slave masters as we now rebelled? Suddenly we found heroes from our own past--Gabriel Prosser, Nat Turner, Denmark Vesey, Harriet Tubman, Charles L. Redman, Sojourner Truth, Samuel E. Carnis, Frederick Douglass, W. E. B. DuBois.

Integration as presently defined heightens the sense of inferiority of black people. Integration speaks not at all to the problems of poverty, only to the problem of blackness. Integration today means that the black man who makes it leaves his black brother behind in the ghetto as fast as his new sports car will take him.

The integration which would end in assimilation has never been the prime goal of the masses. Historically it has been the small [illegible] class which has [illegible] integration. The Negro masses could not care less about integration and could not afford it even if they did care.

Integration, moreover, speaks to the problem of blackness in a despicable w[illegible]. As a goal it has been [illegible]ed on the complete acceptance of the fact that in order to have a decent house or education blacks must move into a white neighborhood and send their children to a white school. This reinforces among both black and white the idea that white is automatically better and black is by definition inferior. Black people must have power to control their own school boards. In this case then, Negroes become equal in a way that means something and integration ceases to become a one-way street.

Only when the Negro community can muster enough political, economic, and professional strength to compete on somewhat equal terms will Negroes believe in the possibility of true cooperation and whites accept its necessity.

For integration, the Negro community needs to develop greater independence--a chance to run its own affairs and not to cave in whenever "the man" barks. If the black community succeeds in winning these rights it will respect and trust itself. But it cannot win the rights to human dignity without the ability to respect and cherish its own humanity.

Black Power--its approach to political action, community development, and pride in blackness

"Black Power" sometimes used interchangeably with "Black Consciousness" is a slogan; a political and a psychological technique for reaching and drawing together the most powerless group in America--the Negro poor.

Black Power is an attack upon the civil rights agencies whose solution to the race problem pre-supposes the disappearance of the ghetto but prescribes for this herculean task nothing more than equality of opportunity, and the one-by-one absorption of deserving Negroes into white society.

Black Consciousness places less stress on moving into white neighborhoods and putting more creative energy into changing the black ghettos from citadels of despair into monuments of hope. It means that all of the Harlems of the United States should be in the hands of the Harlemites--to create black politicians answerable to black constituencies and not to the white power structure downtown. Black Power is a black declaration of independence.

In such areas as Lowdnes where black men have a majority they will attempt to use it to exercise control. Where Negroes lack a majority, Black Power means proper representation and the sharing of control.

In Alabama, for example, Black Power will mean that if a Negro is elected sheriff he can end police brutality. If a black man is elected tax assessor he can collect and channel funds for the building of better roads and schools serving black people, thus advancing the move from political power into the economic arena.

Politically Black Power means what it has always meant--the coming together of black people to elect representatives and to force those representatives to speak to their needs. It does not mean merely putting black faces into office.

Black power is the means for black poor to get together, define their needs in the interest of the total black community Party, the Negro middle class, or the individuals designated to represent the black community.

Black people should be represented in places of power by people from the slums and cottonfields as well as members of the Negro middle-class. What is proposed is a new social field in which the black community would be the focus of black power, and which all individuals claiming to represent that community would have to seek their mandate from and recognize their dependence on the power bloc inside that community.

Today the political control of every ghetto is outside the ghetto. Black Power invites the black people to assume autonomy in the black community.

It means the creation of a power base from which black people can change statewide or nationwide patterns of oppression from pressure through strength instead of weakness. Carmichael says that one of the tragedies in the struggle against racism is that up to now there have been no national organizations that could speak to the growing militance of young, black people in the urban ghettos.

In some places such as Alabama, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, New Jersey independent organizing under the Black Panther symbol is in progress. The creation of a national Black Panther Party and the idea of independent political parties is sure to spread--both through the black belt areas of the South and the ghettos of the North.

Black Power means organizing black people so that they can have power communsurate with their numbers in their communities, states, and will wield power in the national government similar to what other groups have done and are presently doing.

what other groups have done and are presently doing.

Black Leadership

The need for psychological equality is the reason why SNCC today believes that blacks must organize in the black community. Only black people can convey the revolutionary idea that black people are able to do things themselves. Only they can help create in the community an aroused and continuting black consciousness that will provide the basis for political strength. Black people must do things themselves. They must get poverty money that they will control and spend themselves. They must conduct tutorial programs themselves so that black children can identify with black people. This is one reason why Africa has such importance. The reality of black men who are leaders in their own nations give blacks everywhere a sense of possibility of power which they do not now have.

As long as white people are there doing the work, the idea is perpetuated that only white people can do things.

Negroes now are insisting on being their own spokesmen to white people in the movement. Black Power is saying that instead of giving their time and energy and maybe their lives in the Negro community, it is now time and long overdue that whites turn to the essential task of working in the white community. It is there, SNCC points out, that the basic problem in race relations in America exists because the basic problem is white racism. It is [illegible] people who care, to attack that racism in its home ground, combating it and organizing white people in their community, labor unions, churches, etc.

Young Negroes learning to run their own show with white men supporting rather than dominating the various organizations should be interpreted as a sign of maturity.

Black Power is an attempt to instill pride in black American One of the main tasks of Black Consciousness is to affirm the beauty of blackness. It sees beauty in black skin, and thick lips and broad nostrils, and kinky hair. It rids our vocabulary of "good hair", "high yellow", and our medicine cabinets of bleaching cream.

SNCC is saying to Negroes that they must eliminate from their thinking and feeling the patterns put there by a society that is essentially built on the concept of the superior origin of the white man. It is saying that Negroes need to reject the unconscious idea that what is white is better and because they do live in a society that holds that idea they will only begin to think and feel differently when they realize their own history. It calls upon black folk culturally.

Black Power and self defense concepts

Most people in SNCC have rejected the idea of non-violence as a philosophy and in most cases are becoming critical of it as a tactic. They are saying--We black folk have a deep need to defend ourselves. Indeed we have an obligation. Black Consciousness carries with it the right of self-defense.

clousness carries with it the right of self-defense.

Frederick Douglass understood this more than a century ago. Reflecting on the time he turned on Covey, the cruel slave-breaker, and soundly thrashed him, Douglass writes, "This battle with Mr. Covey was the turning point in my career. I was a changed being after that fight. I was nothing before. I was a man now. I now resolved that however long I might remain a slave in form, the day had passed when I could be a slave in fact."

SNCC has not turned to advocating violence. Those who think this should realize that SNCC's emphasis on serious political organization is the opposite of advocacy of violence.

Effective independent political organization may be the last, best, and only hope of avoiding violence as a means of attacking the racial situation in America.

Black Power and the system

The foremost advocates of the Black Power concept maintain that for racism to die, a totally different system must be born.

Carmichael says that the society we seek to build among black people is not a capitalistic one. It is a society in which the spirit of the community and humanistic love prevail. We won't fight to save the existing society, in Viet Nam, or anywhere else. Our struggle for liberation is part of the great revolution sweeping the entire world--a revolution against all of the great white fathers in every nook and corner of this earth.

The colonies of the United States, and this includes the black ghettos within its borders--both North and South--must be liberated. The main highway to black liberation is through a [illegible] and galvinization [illegible] throughout the nation. Nothing short of this will achieve victory. We are just going to work in the way we see fit and on goals we define--not for civil rights, but for all our human rights.

Black Power and the building of new coalitions

Negroes as a minority will continue to need allies. A Negro movement based primarily on self-interest is a necessity but a Negro movement based exclusively on self-interest is doomed to failure.

As Carmichael says, "Until recently the struggle had to focus on the simple right to vote and organize. Now we are to the point where we can think about what to do with the vote."

It is rather obvious that in a country where Negroes represent only eleven per cent of the population and even in the South where Negroes constitute a majority in a limited number of counties only, that there must someday be coalitions with someone.

The question SNCC is asking at this point is coalition where, when, and with whom. It is saying that for a meaningful coalition to take place at least two conditions must exist. The people who have been powerless must create a power of their own or else there will be no coalition but only a situation in which they will be absorbed and controlled by those who have all the power. There must also be groups with kindred interests with whom to make a coalition.

We hope to see eventually a coalition between poor blacks and poor whites. This is the only coalition which seems acceptable to us. And we see such a coalition as the major internal instrument of change in a society.

Especially SNCC says white people must get to the task of organizing poor white people of the South who are also oppressed but who have been by-passed by the civil rights movement and thus left prey to their fears and to white racist groups and their propaganda.

Black Power advocates call for more than "pure and simple" participation in politics and black voting. It demands many things of black people--that they stop being ashamed of being black; that they move into a position where they can define what freedom is--what a white liberal is--what black nationalism is--what imperialism is--what power is. That they move to build a power base around the question of blackness, and that they move to build independent political, social, economic institutions that they can control and use as instruments of change.

The Negro lacks a network of unifying social traditions and this is why he must depend upon political action through color consciousness as the main instrument of solidarity. This solidarity entails a certain degree of separatism, but the separatism of a strengthened and enriched Negro community need be no more absolute than that, say, of a Jewish community. There is no reason, after all, why the Negro should not be able to live as most Americans do, in two worlds at once. One of them largely integrated and the other primarily separated.

SPLITS WITHIN THE CIVIL RIGHTS MOVEMENT

It has been said and often repeated that it was the "Black Power slogan" which caused the split within the civil rights movement. However it should be clear by now that the cleavage within the movement goes much deeper than the mere use of a slogan and that it is the result of conflicting attitudes and concepts which existed long before the slogan "Black Power" was projected on the Mississippi march last July.

The major reasons for the split in the movement are the existing differences around whether Negroes should remain a part of the old civil rights coalition and within the Democratic Party structure or whether the Negro masses should be called upon to develop more meaningful coalitions and move toward independent political action.

Whether Negroes should support or remain quiet about United States imperialism and the Viet Nam war or whether they should be called upon to resist the draft and help to bring the war to a halt.

Whether change should take place within the formal constitutional bounds of the racist capitalist system or whether change should be sought in the system itself.

Whether Negroes should pursue only passive non-violence in principle and tactics or whether non-violence should be supplemented with self-defense.

Whether Negroes should pursue solely an integrationist, assimilationist goal as an immediate aim or whether or not the drive for total integration should be coupled with the building of black pride, consciousness, and unity buttressed by independent political and economic strength.

Differences in attitudes regarding leadership for the black people's movement and what role is to be played by the Negro masses and the methods and tactics to be used in the struggle has also contributed towards the split.

Generally the leadership of the Urban League and the NAACP have aligned themselves with the civil rights coalition and the leadership of CORE and SNCC have become the spokesmen for the Negro revolution. Although differing on the role of non-violence, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, under Rev. Martin Luther King, joins CORE and SNCC in orienting toward the Negro masses rejecting imperialism and raising basic questions about the system. But, the alignment has not completely hardened. The last convention of the NAACP saw a major battle in which delegates successfully prevented the leadership from condemning the notion of Black Power and the movement's spokesmen.

All five of these groups are heavily influenced by their different constituencies and sources of support.

WEAKNESSES OF THE BLACK POWER CONCEPTS AS PROJECTED BY ITS LEADING ADVOCATES UP TO THIS POINT

One weakness is the lack of a commonly accepted definition of the meaning of the Black Power slogan (or concept). At present this slogan means different things to different people--it all depends on who is interpreting it.

The lack of a program for the movement is another. This includes the tendency to rely upon self-help programs within the Negro community as the sole solution to the economic problems of the Negro masses. A program is the major factor around which Black Power can be realized in practice. It is through the relationship between the concrete, day-to-day needs and the long term goals that the masses will come to understand the need to the economic and cultural fronts.

At present few Black Power advocates are able to make concrete suggestions when asked, "What should I do?" by activists in the various ghettos.

In spite of the fact that the overwhelming majority of the Negro people are of the working class, and the foremost advocates of the Black Power concept are orienting in the direction of the masses there are already strong indications that the Negro movement may take the path of petit bourgeois Negro nationalism.

In fact, programmatical approaches, thus far, are basically petit bourgeois with the one exception of community cooperatives of which Carmichael says, "When we urge that black money go into black pockets, we mean the communal pocket. We want to see money go back into the community and used to benefit it. We want to see the cooperative concept applied in business and banking. We want to see black ghetto residents demand that an exploiting landlord or storekeeper sell them, at minimal cost, a building or a shop that they will own and improve cooperatively; they can back their demand with a rent strike, or a boycott, and a community so united behind them that no one else will move into the building or buy at the store."

None of the recent speeches, articles, or books dealing with Black Power and the problems of Afro-Americans within the United States has had a clear recognition, to my knowledge, of the existence of social classes within the United States or the need to develop a class viewpoint and consciousness among the American working people--Negro or white.

Kenneth Clark, in Dark Ghetto, says that the American Labor movement is basically a vehicle by which the working man seeks to realize his aspirations to be a boss. That is a refutation of the Marxian premise of categorical cleavages between economic classes. Carmichael states that Negroes are poor only because they are black.

To successfully combat the potential danger of the black movement developing along petit bourgeois lines it is necessary that the class viewpoint and interest of the working masses at all times remain decisive. To inject such consciousness into the Negro movement it will be necessary that its leading cadres be armed with an understanding of the national question from a working class point of view.

Such a class understanding is also necessary to the Negro movement as a guideline for determining which class of white America has interests which are basically opposed to theirs, and to determine which classes can be looked upon as potential allies in a joint struggle based upon their own self-interest, even though they will still be infected with notions of white supremacy which are common to all white people in America regardless of their social class.

THE ROLE OF THE PARTY IN RELATION TO THIS WING OF THE NEGRO PEOPLE'S MOVEMENT

Marxism must view nationalism within the gi ven historical setting, and decides what attitudes we should take toward it.

Nationalism in itself is not necessarily a negative development. It can be very positive depending upon who raises it, in what period, and what class interest it serves.

This growth of Negro nationalism is a reflection of Negro political maturity and it poses many new questions of theoretical and practical concern for the Negro freedom movement and for our Party. It poses a need for re-examining and up-dating our theoretical position on the Negro Question in the United States.

The national liberation struggles of today can no longer be appraised from the viewpoint of the bourgeois revolutions of the old world before World War I and the Russian October Revolution. Prior to that time the National question constituted a part of the world bourgeois democratic revolution; since then the national question has become a part of the world working class socialist revolution.

Therefore, national liberation movements must now exercise an independent role which objectively favors peace and the struggle against imperialism and the capitalist monopolies.

The struggle for political independence must enhance the struggle for economic and social well-being. Therefore, the national liberation movements must pay close attention to economic questions and their solution. They must elaborate both long term and short term economic programs and national liberation movements must combat imperialist and capitalist ideology among the masses; challenge red-baiting, and popularize scientific socialism.

Need for a class approach toward the oppressed Negro people

For many years the socialist party held that the Negro question was solely a class issue, and it did not especially concern itself with such national outrages against the Negro people as lynchings, and other manifestations of jim-crow. On the other hand, we in the Party, tended to go to the opposite extreme. For a period of time, in theory in not in practice, we tended to think only in terms of a Negro nation and to underplay the class aspects of the Negro question.

The class composition of the Negro people is of decisive importance in determining their ideology and actions and must therefore constantly be borne in mind. The Party cannot work at maximum efficiency in the Negro field unless, together with questions of race and nation, it has a clear line and a full understanding of the importance of the class question to the Negro people.

As the Negro people reach greater political maturity they progressively differentiate themselves along class lines. It is now high time, therefore, that the Party overcome its traditional and harmful one-sidedness in its work and build a balanced Negro program. One in which the questions of race, class, and nation [illegible] proper roles.

Along wi[redacted] the recent growth of blac[redacted] consciousness, there has also been i[redacted] the past few years a growing consciousness of the existence of the poor within the United States and you might say a "poor people's consciousness" among the poor, and they have moved to start organizing.

The need is to further develop this consciousness and to link them up with class consciousness and to show both, why people are poor in the first place (especially in the richest country in the world). And also why a more-equitable social system (Socialism) is needed in order to eliminate unemployment and poverty within the United States.

National liberation movements and oppressed people all over the world historically have put forth their own political slogans and demands. Black power is the slogan of the most politically advanced leaders of the oppressed Negro people. It is around this slogan that they seek to express both their political independence of monopoly capitalism and the organization of the Negro masses against their oppression.

The various substitute and counter slogans, i.e. "people's power," "human power," "black and white unity," etc. which have arisen in response to the "black power" slogan are no substitute for the black people's own slogans and should not be posed against their slogan.

People's power, human power and other such slogans have legitimacy only within the framework of a prior recognition of the right of the oppressed Negro people to further their own independent organizations and development and the need for coalition relationships among all groupings whose common interest is served through joint struggle against monopoly capital and imperialism.

In the interest of international working class unity and solidarity it is the responsibility and obligation of the working class and progressive forces of the oppressor nation to support such slogans and demands. It is the primary responsibility of the working class and progressive forces within oppressed Negro people's movement to put forth the slogans and the demands for unity with the working class of the oppressor nations.

In this regard the lack of emphasis now placed upon integration by the black power advocates, should be interpreted only as applying to national and community development of the Negro masses and not to the American society as such. Economically speaking the Negro people are not only reliant upon, but are bound to the American economy as a whole. The struggle for Negro inclusion into the trade unions, the various shops the schools of higher learning, the political life of the country, etc. constitute the very basis upon which the struggle for unity between the oppressed Negro people and the broader American working class and progressive movements can be realized in practice.

The fact that the Negro people are primarily of the poor and of the working class means that the struggle for Negro liberation therefore, should not be directed against the white working class and the white poor who are also exploited but against the ruling class which exploits the poor Negro and white workers in common.

Within this framework, however, the Negro worker and the unemployed have every right to expect that no racist or discriminatory bars be placed in their path as they seek full employment. Wherever any such anti-working class restrictions exist the Negro people have every right to organize their strength to level such bars. In doing so, they will be acting in the interests of the working class unity and in the best interest of the working class as a whole.

Against this background the question of building coalition relations and alliances should be approached as an on-going development, flowing from day-to-day struggles rather than through years of completely isolated separate struggles which will be followed by the sudden coalescing (on a certain date) of all the progressive, exploited and oppressed. Coalitions are built in struggle.

Marxism-Leninism should help to put more flesh and bone on the black power slogan, put more political and theoretical life into it, help to give it a Marxist-Leninist interpretation.

It should help to develop programs around which black power can be realized in practice--broaden and deepen its positive but too general concepts--offering a guideline around which the black masses can be mobilized in day-to-day struggles to improve their conditions of life.

It should help to impart to the movement not only class consciousness and class pride, but it should also work to bring trade-unionists from the ghetto and the farm workers into leadership of the movement. (There is a need for this especially in dealing with union discrimination rather than leaving this leadership to the petit bourgeois elements in the black community.)

Organizationally

The Party should have a thorough examination of its forces and finances and release cadre (especially Negro cadres) to work more closely with the black movement in the heart of the ghettos.

A well thought out political and economic program should be developed and such a program should be buttressed with basic educational and ideological programs designed to reach and influence the ghettos' leading activists.

Discussion groups and classes should be started right in the heart of the black community.

Discussion guides should be prepared and teachers trained. Special attention should be given to training persons coming out of and well acquainted with the language, moods, and tones, of the black masses.

We should plan toward establishing book stores in the heart of the ghettos and publish our own short pamphlets dealing with both current issues and theoretical questions facing this wing of the Negro movement.

We should aim to make it possible (financially) for some of our Negro comrades to be on the scene carrying out this program on a day-to-day basis.

THE NEXT SESSION OF THE CONFERENCE ON THE STRUGGLE FOR NEGRO RIGHTS AND AGAINST WHITE CHAUVINISM WILL DISCUSS THESE QUESTIONS:

1. The Civil War was a democratic revolution, led by the capitalists. With the defeat of slavery, reconstruction brought an upsurge of revolutionary democracy to the South. This upsurge was beheaded and smashed by the former slave owners and the Northern capitalists who betrayed the revolutionary gains of the Civil War. This betrayal by the northern capitalists coincided with the emergence of the United States as an imperialist nation. Since that time the Dixiecrat system has been a Major pillar of U.S. monopoly capitalism and imperialism, giving it a substantial economic, political and ideological base for control of the nation. Would you agree or disagree with this estimation?

2. The 17th National Convention defined the Negro people in the following way: "Though a specially oppressed part of the American nation, the Negroes in the United States are not constituted as a separate nation. They have the characteristics of a racially distinctive people or nationality. They are a component part of the whole American nation which is itself a historically derived national formation, an amalgam of more or less well differentiated nationalities." If we would agree that the Negro question is not one of an oppressed nation fighting for national-state sovereignity does this diminish the revolutionary import of the Negro people's struggle in the United States?

3. The slogan of the Negro-Labor Alliance is quite often used. Is this a correct slogan? Does such an alliance exist? Can it be developed if it does not exist? How would you characterize or sloganize the basic coalition necessary to win Negro freedom as the essential path toward Socialism by the United States working class?

4. The report will stress and give major emphasis to the struggle for Negro rights as the main effort in the struggle against white chauvinism. Is this a correct approach?

5. It is said that we do not have chauvinists in the Party, but that we do have people who are influenced by chauvinist ideas. Is this correct?

6. Can white workers be won to a struggle for Negro rights while they still retain their chauvinist ideas?

7. What are your ideas about the situation in San Francisco where the Labor movement opposed the fair hiring ordinance and supported the effort to nullify the contracts won by Ad Hoc Committee in the Palace sit-in struggles?

8. The program of action will center on the following issues:

1. The fight for jobs both against the discriminatory practices of unions and employers as well as for the creation of new jobs.

2. The fight for Negro representation in the Municipal elections in 1967, and for at least one new Negro congressman from this area by 1968.

3. Poverty and related issues:
--Welfare
--Education
--Housing

Do you feel that these are the key issues for mass struggle?

9. The Alameda County election results pose a seeming contradiction:

In 1964 the county-wide vote on proposition 14, for the repeal of the Rumford Fair Housing law was 60% for repeal and 40% against repeal.

In the 1966 elections, in the midst of a so-called white "backlash", Rumford received 50% of the votes in the same area. The report from the vote recount showed that in his main base, the 17th district, that in each precinct from 30 to 40 voters did not vote for the office of state senator. This would indicate that for the entire county Rumford received a very strong vote from white workers. How would you explain this contradiction of the failure to vote in the 17th of such a large number of people and the relative high vote in the white areas for the author of the Rumford law?

10. In Congress an all-out effort is being made to destroy Adam Clayton Powell politically, and in San Francisco the national War on Poverty office is attempting to seriously discredit the local council of the War on Poverty. This council is the only one in any major city which is controlled in its majority by the poverty area people, the director is Negro. Those making the attacks claim that their only concern is corruption in office. What really is involved in these attackes?

11. What is the relationship of racism to the present foreign policy of the Johnson Administration and the ultra-right?

The members holding this discussion were reported as TED PEARSON, FRANKLIN ALEXANDER, and JAMES PEAKE. During this discussion ALEXANDER said that in the San Francisco Bay Area the only DuBois club which is functioning actively is a Negro youth club operating in Oakland, California. He identified organizers of this club as JOEY HARRIS, CAROLYN BLACK and CASSANDRA WEAVER. ALEXANDER stated these three persons, together with a group called "The Sons of SOUL" from Merritt Junior College, Oakland, California, operated a freedom school during a recent boycott of Oakland schools. According to ALEXANDER, these persons were involved in stimulating riot activity recently in Oakland, California, along with MARGARET LIMA, daughter of NCDCP organizer MICKEY LIMA, and friends of hers.

See appendix for characterization of the DCA.

The National Committee to Abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee (NCAHUAC) distributed in the San Francisco Bay Area a letter announcing the intention of the HUAC to investigate uprisings of Negroes in Negro ghettos of the north. The letter charged that a preliminary investigation had already been under way. It was charged that any investigation by the HUAC could only "muddy" the understanding of these problems and dangerously feed discriminatory practices with its prejudgment of "red agitation" as the cause of the uprisings. It asked the recipients of the letter to join the NCAHUAC and to make contributions to the organization.

A leaflet enclosed with the letter stated, "We don't want HUAC in Hunters Point or Oakland and call upon Congressmen and public officials to stop the HUAC announced investigation of uprisings in northern ghettos." The leaflet charged that the Committee was led by white southern racists conducting an inquisition in black ghettos which would be farcical on its face if it were not so explosive. The statement is quoted as follows:

> "HUAC's history -- as a bulwark of segregation providing libel-free accusations against such civil rights leaders as the Rev. Martin Luther King, as the conductor of the ill-fated KKK 'investigation' that failed to deal seriously with the problems of Southern violence -- suggests that its investigation can only be a rigged investigation whose purpose is to feed the white backlash. Serious analyses of the social discontent that has caused the uprisings is needed by our society, not the superficial labelling that attributes them as the product of 'subversive' ideas. Any HUAC hearings will only muddy American understanding of our problems and explosively fan the flames of revolt in the urban ghettoes.
> "Although we may have disagreements among us over the tactics and strategy of the fight for racial justice in America, we are united in our belief that no governmental body such as HUAC should meddle with the civil rights movement's right of self-determination."

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

A. San Francisco Riots, September, 1966

The San Mateo CP Club held a meeting on October 7, 1966, at 352 Bancroft Way, Pacifica, California. At this meeting there was a discussion among the club members of the rioting in San Francisco and the part the CP had in the rioting. It was indicated that there were very few CP people actually engaged in the Hunters Point rioting but were on the fringes of the rioting. Club member ANNIE EDWARDS said it was regretable that the police shot an unarmed youth. However, club member BILL CULLEN stated he believed the parents should raise their children to respect and observe the law and this should have been done. Other club members, however, disagreed with this viewpoint. EDWARDS stated she had gone to the funeral of the boy who was killed and stated there was a Negro man at the funeral who had told others he had given several Negro youths wine and whiskey so they would start racial incidents and he could take advantage of the rioting by looting stores and then selling the loot.

SF T-7, 10/10/66

A meeting of the Miscellaneous Industrial Club of the CP of San Francisco was held at 1298 Haight Street, San Francisco, on October 11, 1966. During this meeting the chairman of the club, WALTER STACK, said he would like to hear comments from members regarding what they thought about the recent racial riots in September, 1966, at Hunters Point. STACK told those present he thought Mayor JOHN F. SHELLEY had done a good job and it took a lot of "guts" for the mayor to make the speech on television regarding the riots. STACK said through his contacts with CP leaders it had been decided the Party would not go out into the riot area and become involved. He stated the County Committee would draft a statement regarding the riot situation. STACK made the remark that it takes something such as the riots in Los Angeles and San Francisco before officials will really try to do something for underprivileged people. There was a general discussion concerning STACK'S remarks and many of the club members agreed with what he had to say.

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

A meeting of the CP Political Committees of Sonoma and Marin Counties was held at 1700 Chapman Lane, Petaluma, California, on October 13, 1966. ROSCOE PROCTOR was chairman of this meeting and he advised those present that there was a new organization known as the Committee for New Politics (CNP) being set up in San Francisco. He remarked that he thought this organization made a big mistake by not having Negro and labor support. There was a discussion concerning support for former Governor EDMUND G. BROWN and PROCTOR told those present he tried to get the CNP not to support an anti-BROWN resolution because the Negro and labor groups would be supporting Governor BROWN in his election and the CNP needs these two groups to have political power in California. MORRIS RAPPOPORT stated the CNP should organize with Negroes and labor and not wait until they were organized and then ask Negroes and labor to come in and join them.

SF T-3, 10/13/66

There is a Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) chapter at San Jose, California. The leadership of this CORE chapter has changed considerably. The chapter has a large membership list, however most of the people on this list have not been active with CORE since they signed on as members. The effective membership numbers approximately 25 persons and most of the members are Negroes. There are CP members in the CORE chapter but they do not figure in the leadership of the group. They are present only to capitalize on the successes of the organization but do not wish to be responsible for tactical failures in the group. There are six CP members in the San Jose area that belong to the San Jose Chapter of CORE.

SF T-14, 11/19-21/66

It was reported that ALBERT J. LIMA, ROSCOE PROCTOR and MORRIS RAPPOPORT were scheduled to meet at the home of ROSCOE PROCTOR in Oakland, California, to discuss Negro matters, and particularly the subject of "black power" and the part the Negro community can play in the CP peace program and what relationship the CP should have with the new organization called Committee for New Politics concerning Negro and peace matters.

SF T-3, 11/7/66

At a meeting of the Fillmore Club of the CP of San Francisco held November 30, 1966, it was announced that Fillmore Club members JUANITA WHEELER and AL THIBODEAUX had been involved in civil rights work, working with the San Francisco Chapter of CORE and the Freedom House in the Fillmore District.

SF T-15, 12/1/66

There is a chapter of the Southern Alameda County CORE (SACORE) in Alameda, California. JAMES FORSYTHE, a CP member in Alameda County, is chairman of this organization and he was promoting "Negro History Week" in the Hayward, California area.

SF T-3, 12/16/66

IV. MISCELLANEOUS

STOKELY CARMICHAEL, the advocate of "black power", appeared at Roosevelt High School, San Jose, California, on November 19, 1966. SOAPY MENDOZA, a San Jose minority group leader, read a prepared speech praising CHARMICHAEL'S cause. CHRMICHAEL'S speech was short, lasting about 20 minutes, but it was reported he spoke concisely and directly. His most dynamic comment was one in which he referred to his attitude toward his Selective Service Board. He commented he would welcome some time in prison during which he could read and prepare for his future role in the cause he now pursues. A question and answer period followed CARMICHAEL'S speech but the questions put forward by what appeared to be people sympathetic to CARMIACHEL'S ideas were answered by CARMICHAEL in a bragging manner. The audience was quite well balanced racially and there did not appear to be an overwhelming majority of either Negroes or whites. Many members of the San Jose State College Students for a Democratic Society were present.

"STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY is an association of young people on the left..., one bringing together liberals and radicals, activists and scholars, students and faculty. It feels the urgency to put forth a radical, democratic program counterposed to authoritarian movements both of Communism and the domestic Right.

During the 1965 National Convention of the SDS, the Preamble of the Constitution was amended to eliminate "counterposed to authoritarian movements both of Communism and the domestic Right."

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA COMMITTEE FOR PROTECTION OF FOREIGN BORN

The Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications, revised and published December 1, 1961, prepared and released by the Committee on Un-American Activities, United States House of Representatives, contains the following on pages 131-132 concerning the Northern California Committee for Protection of Foreign Born:

1. Cited as a "regional" organization of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. "The Committee on Un-American Activities found that in early publications the local affiliates frankly identified themselves as chapters of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born; the representation of themselves as independent groups came only after enactment of the Internal Security Act which would have required them, as affiliates, to register as Communist-front organizations.

   "Control of the local organizations  was made possible primarily by virtue of the fact that the leaders of the local groups were Communist Party members and therefore subject to the discipline of the party. The local affiliates  were actually little more than administrative staffs, whose purpose it was to implement the program of the Communist Party in their respective areas."

   The Northern California Committee for Protection of Foreign Born had headquarters in San Francisco. "The executive secretary was Mrs. GRACE PARTRIDGE, a former member of the State central committee of the Communist Party of California."

   (Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 1182 on Communist Political Subversion, August 16, 1957, pp 86, 87, 33, 34 and 64.)

   The American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

Title: COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN RACIAL MATTERS

Character: INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Synopsis: During meeting of National Committee, CP, USA, held in NYC, on 12/3-7/66, a report by HENRY WINSTON on the Negro question revealed much disagreement exists in Party as to whether Party should support Black Power doctrine. Meeting National Negro Commission, CP, USA, held in NYC, on 12/8/66, during which agreement was reached on nine points which are enumerated in details. Another meeting of National Negro Commission, CP, USA, on 11/16/66, heard HENRY WINSTON urge that Party participate vigorously in Poverty Program. In a letter dated 11/14/66, the Negro Commission, CP, USA, instructed all CP Districts to work toward the day when Negro Congressional representation will reach twenty members. According to a source, the CP, USA, looks favorably on groups like the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and attempts to connect with and influence and particularly strive to make contacts of a kind that will bring these individuals into the CP, USA. During meeting of NY District Committee on 11/20/66, GIL GREEN said Party should show how Negroes, Puerto Ricans and labor candidates could make break-throughs on all political levels. "The Worker", 12/18/66, carried an editorial which criticized recent US Supreme Court decisions regarding the Georgia Governors race and the JAMES HOFFA case. "Political Affairs," November,

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

A. Communist Party, United States of America (CPUSA)

1. Plans, Strategy Made at National Level of the Party

On December 3 - 7, 1966, a meeting of the National Committee, Communist Party, United States of America (CP, USA) was held at the Hotel Wellington, New York, New York, and it was during this meeting that a report on the Negro Question was presented.

According to the source, the Resolution on the Negro Question was referred by the 18th National Convention, CPUSA to the National Committee. It was apparent from the report given by HENRY WINSTON, the National Chairman of the Party on this subject, that the problem had not been resolved by the leadership. WINSTON's report was so jumbled and incoherent that it was difficult to follow any aspect of it. At one point he was in favor of Black Power and at another point he was not in favor of it. Similarly, he vacillated in regard to violence and non-violence in the civil rights movement.

WINSTON's report was followed by several speeches from the floor. JAMES ALLEN* urged that the CP become the champion of 'Black Power' and its use. JAKE GREEN*, CARL BLOICE* and TOM DENNIS* spoke similarly in its favor. ROSCOE PROCTOR, a member of the National Executive Board, CPUSA, vehemently opposed 'Black Power' and the CP's identity with it. JAMES JACKSON, a member of the National Board of the CP, also stated he did not want the Party to go all the way in supporting Black Power.

The factor in this regard which is causing the division of views is the qualitative change in the Negro movement since the National Convention, that is, the militant anti-white attacks which have been made against the "Uncle Toms", and the more moderate civil rights leaders, such as MARTIN LUTHER KING*, U.S.A. ROY WILKINS of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and WHITNEY YOUNG of the Urban League. The U.S.A. CP, USA, which has always asserted itself as the main support for the Negro people, is therefore, in a quandary as to which faction to now support. There were no motions concerning the Draft Resolution and if anything, the division between those supporting and rejecting Black Power was shown to be deeper, irreconcilable and accentuated.

While the Resolution on the Negro Question was accepted as "a basis for further working use of the Negro Question", it is tied with all kinds of strings.

December 12, 1966

On December 8, 1966, a CP National Negro Commission meeting was held at the Wellington Hotel, 55th Street and 7th Avenue, New York, New York.

ROSCOE PROCTOR acted as Chairman. After discussing the civil rights movement in all its aspects, agreement was reached on the following courses of action:

1. Full support of A. PHILIP RANDOLPH's Freedom Budget.
2. To fully examine the 1966 elections in order to determine the size of the Negro vote.
3. Set up Negro Commissions in the Far West, Mid West, East, South, and North, and to have Eastern and Western Regional Sections.
4. Elect 20 more Negro Congressmen in 1968, and push Negro representation in all jobs, organizations, trade unions, and government.
5. Bring CP literature to Negro communities and organizations.
6. Try to bring more Negro women into the CP.
7. Hold National Negro Commission meetings in cities outside of New York.
8. Get Negro youth into the CP.
9. Fight white chauvinism both in and out of the CP.

December 9-10, 1966

NY 100-153735

On November 16, 1966, a Communist Party National Negro Commission meeting was held at Academy Hall, 853 Broadway, New York, N.Y. The meeting was attended by 15 people, among whom were HOSEA HUDSON* and MILDRED McADORY*.

The meeting opened with a report by TED BASSETT* N.Y. on the Freedom Budget. In describing the Budget, the source said it was a proposal by A. PHILIP RANDOLPH, the President of the Negro American Labor Council (NALC), that the United U.S.A. States Government spend $186,000,000.00 to raise the lower income families in the United States, particularly Negroes, to a higher level.

During the discussion that followed, the group was in agreement that this so-called $186,000,000.00 budget could be considered only as a beginning in the war on poverty.

HENRY WINSTON, the National Chairman of the Party, told the group that the CPUSA should participate vigorously in any poverty program.

N.Y. ISHMAEL FLOREY* of the Afro-American Heritage Association spoke on the need to establish a closer relationship between the African people and Americans of African descent. It was his contention that the Negroes in Africa and in the United States are engaged in the same struggle for a greater share of the world's goods.

At the conclusion of his talk, FLOREY recommended that committees be organized throughout the United States which would bring about closer relationships between American Negroes and their brothers in Africa.

N.Y. CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT* announced that each CP District would be required to give a report on its Negro membership.

November 17, 1966

On November 21, 1966, the source furnished a document dated November 14, 1966, which he said was sent by the Negro Commission of the CPUSA to all CP Districts. The document was in regard to raising Negro Congressional representation to twenty members, and bore the signature of WILLIAM L. PATTERSON* N.Y. The document was as follows:

"Dear Comrades:

"The 1966 elections are over. The lessons are many and various.

"First of all, the frenzied efforts of the Conservatives and ultra-Rightists to manufacture a new racist weapon, the white backlash, did not have the success reaction expected.

"The backlash is artificially stimulated. The militancy of Negro citizens is founded on substance. City, State and Federal governments have failed effectively to act in response to democratic demands of Negro citizens. Their call that protective legislation be enforced and that guaranteed human and Constitutional rights be immediately rigidly applied has only gone unheeded. These governments utilizing the racist press and police officials have sought to create and bring into operation vicious mob resistance to peaceful demonstrations seeking to attain these ends. These reached their highwater mark in Chicago's suburbs.

"But election results in many states prove conclusively that Negro candidates can expect support from thousands of whites and can be elected.

"The task is to quicken the tempo of this step which not only makes for unity, but will do much to dispel frustration in the ghetto. Some of the results reflect the growing recognition of the monstrous immorality of racism; some an appreciation of mutuality of economic interests; all relect a growing political awareness that we must together face the crisis conditions and danger of war.

"This political growth can be stimulated through a program directed toward getting 20 Negro legislators in Congress in 1968.

"The time is ripe to prepare for such an avalanche. There are six Negroes there now. With the seating of Senator BROOKE of Massachusetts, there will be 7.

"The program calls for an additional 20.

"This is neither unreasonable nor impossible to attain.

"Michigan now has 2 Negro Congressmen. With comparable organizations, effort among unions, ghettos, slums and among churchmen, 2 Negro Congressmen from New York, Illinois and California are not an impossibility.

"In 16 other states steps should be taken at once to get Negro representation in the next Congress. We suggest for major consideration representatives from:

"Massachusetts	New York - 2
New Jersey	Connecticut
Maryland	California - 2
Virginia	Louisiana
Ohio	South Carolina
Illinois - 2	Michigan - 2
Missouri	Florida
Texas

"The Southern states will need special attention. The Northern, Eastern and Western States need immediate discussion on this question. That discussion should be introduced immediately.

"Ministerial alliances of all character should be approached as well as all clubs, fraternities and sororities and clubs can be set up for this particular purpose.

"This can stimulate participation in city and state politics."

NY T- 3

Attitude of CPUSA toward the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, the Congress of Racial Equality and related type groups in the Negro Mass Movement.

The Communist Party, USA (CPUSA) has always been interested in attempting to get connected with any movements or groups with the aim of entrenching its own leadership and drawing on that movement or group for members to join the CP. It is especially interested in the militant type of groups and consider these elements as already quite advanced ideologically in terms of recognizing the need for militant action. The CP considers such groups as only a step or two away from a logical realization that they are the type who should join the CP.

The CPUSA looks favorably on groups like the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and attempts to connect with and influence and particularly strive to make contacts of a kind that will bring these individuals into the CP.

The CP is especially interested in groups who have political issues, such as the Vietnam War, consistent with the viewpoints of the CP. Although fundamentally the CP is leery of the Black Power slogan, a slogan which contravenes the proper Marxist Theory on the Negro question, the CP equivocates and attempts to go along with the advocates of Black Power while making gentle criticism.

While the CPUSA itself is too cagey to publicly lead a campaign of open defiance against the draft, the nature of its propaganda, pro-Viet Cong line, and so called anti-War line, is such that it encourages and greets such activity undertaken by CORE, SNCC and other segments of the youth movement.

The CPUSA favors the growth and expansion of groups like CORE and SNCC precisely because of their attitude toward the Vietnam War and anti-Johnson administration policies generally, all of which coincide with the political viewpoints of the C.P.

At the same time the CP moves as carefully as possible in order not to compromise its so-called relationship with the moderate section of the civil rights and Negro movements, such as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) and the labor element led by A. PHILIP RANDOLPH.

2. Plans and Strategy Made at District and Lower Level Meetings of the Party

On November 20, 1966, a CP New York District Committee meeting was held in Suite 7, Hotel Manhattan, New York, New York. The meeting was chaired by GIL GREEN*, and he made a report, which was generally a review of the recent elections held in the State of New York and throughout the nation.

In acknowledging gains by the Republican Party, GREEN contended that the gains were made by the moderate wing of the Party and not by the far right in the Republican Party.

With regard to the results of the New York voting, GREEN said the ultra-rightists were defeated, while big money won for Rockefeller in New York. He said Mayor LINDSAY had lost in New York City on the Civilian Review Board and that due to this, the City, in a short time, would face a crisis with the civil rights issue.

GREEN was of the opinion that the Communist Party should set up committees to draw up a constitution on what New York State should have and how it should be carried out. He said the Party should show how the Negroes, Puerto Ricans and labor candidates could make break-throughs on all political levels.

In regard to the campaign of HERBERT APTHEKER* for Congress, GREEN said the Party made a gain in that it had at least one CP member on the ballot. However, the main weakness was that there were no Negro candidates on the CP ballot. He said the main work of the Party was in the Bedford-Stuyvesant area and that when they went in there, the Negroes said, "You white people leave us alone until you want something, and then you come to us and ask us to vote for you." GREEN said the Party should get around this by putting forth qualified Negro candidates.

November 22, 1966

On October 11, 1966, GIL GREEN and BLYDEN JACKSON* were in contact, during which time GREEN told JACKSON about a meeting scheduled for that afternoon at the A. Philip Randolph Institute in New York City. GREEN said the meeting, called by A. PHILIP RANDOLPH and BAYARD RUSTIN*, would be attended by civil rights leaders from the Bedford-Stuyvesant area of Brooklyn, New York, and would be devoted to finding ways to prevent the dissolution of the New York City Police Review Board.

GREEN instructed JACKSON to attend the meeting along with HERBERT APTHEKER . JACKSON, the source said, answered that he was informed by RUSTIN that it was unnecessary for them to attend. GREEN said he did not think it was good politics, but went along with JACKSON'S decision not to attend.

October 11, 1966

On November 9-13, 1966, CLARA MASSO, East Side Section Communist Party Organizer, New York District Communist Party, was scheduled to attend a National Conference in Washington, believed by the source to be sponsored by the Federation of Negro Women's Clubs.

According to the source, on November 1, 1966, MASSO discussed the Conference with HENRY WINSTON, who expressed delight in her plans to attend the Conference. And in fact, MASSO said there was such enthusiasm over her plans to attend that the National Office of the CPUSA had agreed to pay her expenses to attend the Conference.

3. Plans, Strategy revealed in Party Publications

On December 18, 1966, "The Worker", an east coast Communist publication, on page 3, contained an editorial entitled "Ominous Court Rulings", which commented on recent United States Supreme Court rulings dealing with the Georgia gubernatorial race and the JAMES HOFFA conviction. The editorial said the rulings underscored the urgency of re-establishing the labor-Negro-liberal coalition on an even stronger and more militant basis than ever before.

In the Georgia case, the editorial continued, "the Supreme Court, in a 5 to 4 decision, gave the go-ahead signal to the racists of that state to rule the state against the interests of the Negro people, labor and the majority of the people.

"With the dubious appeal to the 140-year old section of the Georgia constitution, adopted when that state was controlled by the slavocracy, the Supreme Court majority abandoned its previous one-man, one vote decision, and gave an illegally elected Georgia legislature dominated by white supremacists the opportunity to pick the vicious racist LESTER MADDOX as governor.

"In the Hoffa case, a Supreme Court majority of 4 to 3 gave its approval to use of criminal stoolpigeons to frame labor leaders, the Negro people and anyone who finds himself in opposition to the policies of the government.

"Both of these anti-democratic decisions are a danger signal. When conjoined with the temper of the JOHNSON administration and the alliance of reactionary Republicans and racist Democrats in the new Congress, it becomes clear that a solid united front of the forces of organized labor, the Negro people and the liberals is an urgent necessity if the interests of the American people are to be defended from the onslaught of their enemies and if the conditions of the nation are to be improved.

"The Supreme Court decisions make it evident that the American people cannot place their reliance solely on the courts to defend them from the conspiracies of the government, Big Business and the racists.

"It is clear that the only real defense can come from the exertion of the political and economic power of the American people. The most effective instrument for doing this in the past period has been the labor-Negro-liberal coalitions. Whatever social advances and political and economic gains have been won by the workers, the Negro people and the nation as a whole have been achieved not by any willing, altruistic grants from the government, the monopolies or the white supremacists, but by the concerted struggles of all forces of progress as expressed in the labor-Negro-liberal coalition."

In concluding, the editorial implores the Negro people, labor and all progressive forces to unite to meet these attacks.

The November, 1966 issue of "Political Affairs," self-described as the theoretical Journal of the Communist Party, USA, carried an article on page 15 entitled "Labor and Civil Rights in Chicago". The author of the article was JAMES WEST.* The following are some of the observations made by WEST in covering the topic:

U.S.A.

The struggles of the Chicago Freedom Movement led by Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING and AL RABY, WEST said, served to reveal the depth of the malignancy of racism which exists among sections of the white majority and forcefully to dramatize the urgency of combat against white chauvinist ideology and for ideas and policies of unity of Negro and white in their mutual interest.

A reactionary-racist offensive, WEST continued, was mounted under anti-Negro, anti-Communist and white power slogans which signalized the danger of the ultra-Right winning some semblance of mass base through manipulation of fear and confusion in a number of white areas. That menace, WEST said, was further signalized by the outcome of the Georgia and Maryland gubernatorial primaries and storm signals elsewhere in the country.

That reactionary resurgence, WEST contended, concerns all democratic and peace-minded Americans, for the very forces which consciously and actively promote racism are the same ones that most loudly demand further escalation and widening of the war against Vietnam, up to and including a nuclear holocaust. It is these self-same ultras that have persistently aimed their heavy artillery against the labor movement, WEST said.

One of the problems with which the democratic forces, including Communists, must cope, WEST said, is a tendency in some quarters to place the onus of responsibility for racist violence on the victims of 300 years of racism--on the Negro people in general and the civil rights movement in particular. "The civil rights movement went too far", WEST reported the liberals as having cried after the riots.

By the same token, WEST wrote, President JOHNSON justifies the aggression of American troops in Vietnam.

"To these People", WEST wrote, "it is all right to be for civil rights so long as nothing meaningful is done which can actually win those rights, lest one call forth the anger of the racists. What is implicit here is the craven acceptance of the insidious white backlash concept so assiduously propagated by all the big business mass media".

To accept the concept involved in the term white backlash is to accept as right and just a position of white superiority over Negroes and to justify any and all methods employed by racists to put down attempts by all Negroes and their allies to rid "our" country of this shame, WEST observed.

An example of class-conscious people to find excuses for racist action is found in some trade unions, WEST wrote. It is their contention, he said, that the struggle against white supremacist ideas and actions is the province of the civil rights movement, not of the labor, peace and other movements.

In urging corrective action in order to bring about racial harmony, WEST said greater cohesion and unity of all the democratic forces were urgently needed, not only to enhance the effectiveness of each, but to produce the great preponderance and emphatic assertion of power required.

To help bring this new quality into existence, Communists along with other progressives must address themselves also to a number of ideological problems, WEST contended.

WEST proposed that a vigorous assault on bigotry and racist ideology be mounted. In the fight for open housing, there is a great need for concrete, mass, popular educational material which effectively exposes the lies about property values being depressed.

In concluding his premise, WEST said that in working among trade unions, it is necessary continually to relate the struggle against racism with the struggle against the ultra-right. The labor movement is in the fore of all mass organizations in the struggle against Rightist reaction. There are no great obstacles to winning acceptance and understanding of the idea that the struggle against reaction and racism are one, WEST said.

In the midst of these rising struggles for civil and labor rights, for Negro-white unity and against racism, Communists, WEST said, will patiently and tirelessly develop among their fellow workers the ideas of unity and brotherhood, of a society which abolishes insecurity and its fears because it is free from the exploitation of man by man and the oppression of people by people-the idea which makes socialism, Marxism-Leninism, the hope and inspiration of oppressed peoples everywhere.

B. Other Communist Groups

PROGRESSIVE LABOR PARTY (PLP)*

The September 27, 1966, issue of "Challenge", self-described as a monthly newspaper published by the PLP in New York City, page 6, carried an article captioned, "New York Cops --- Not Fancy But They're Brutal".

This article claims to have eyewitness accounts of how the New York City Police had treated a man in the Horn and Hardart cafeteria because the man took some extra napkins out of the napkin holder. The article claims that this individual was arrested and his head banged against a glass door by the police.

The October 11, 1966, issue of "Challenge", page 3, carried an article captioned "Frisco Fights Back!" The authors of this article are not identified but the article claims the police and "killer cops" started the "rebellion" in San Francisco and the people reacted in self-defense.

The article claims that the police were shooting directly into crowds of unarmed demonstrators and used billy clubs to beat the people to the ground.

The October 11, 1966, issue of "Challenge" page 3, also carried a reprint of a telegram which was sent from the Harlem PLP branch to the San Francisco PLP branch.

This telegram is quoted as follows:

"We of the Harlem branch of the Progressive Labor Party extend to all of our comrades and friends our deepest admiration for the position of unity through revolutionary example in your confrontation with the National Guard during the recent rebellion of our black brothers and sisters in San Francisco".

The November 1, 1966, issue of "Challenge", page 3, carried an article captioned, "G.O.P. Slum Lord and Two West Side Murderers".

This article attempts to show that any one who tries to oppose the managing agent of a building at 410 West 110th Street, New York City, gets killed.

The article claims that two people within the last six months were murdered in the building, both of whom had opposed managing agent DANIEL SOSKIN.

The article claims that the landlord, MAURICE STAHL, is a pal of Mayor LINDSAY and is paying off the police and is also mixed up in the rackets in New York City.

SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY (SWP)

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

On July 8, 1966, NAT WEINSTEIN, was introduced as a National Committee member of the SWP at a meeting on Black Power in Seattle, Washington. WEINSTEIN stated at this time that 'Black Power' is racism in reverse. He related that Negroes must be progressive and, in relation to the Black Panther Party, they must build their own Lowndes County Freedom Movement in Alabama. He related that the Negroes must have their own black policy candidate.

He further related that he was a "revolutionary socialist" and that under the socialist system, suppressed sections of society can transform society. He stated that the oppressed people have the future of the human race in their control and that this is 'Black Power.' WEINSTEIN related that he would defend black nationalism, integration, or the rejection of it. He further related that there will be a new kind of separation exclusively for Negroes, which will be financed and led by responsible Negroes.

WEINSTEIN further related at this time that rejection of non-violence is another aspect of Black Power, inasmuch as non-violence has never worked in the world and has never eliminated assassinations and beatings and is wrong.

WEINSTEIN further related at this time that Negroes cannot win their freedom in the framework of capitalism and that when Negroes run their own candidates, it will be a progressive political movement for them. He further related that in any race between capitalism and socialism, it would be impossible for capitalism to survive.

On September 3, 1966, lectures were presented at the West Coast Vacation School, sponsored by the San Francisco and Oakland branches of the SWP, on the topic of the Black Panther Party in Lowndes County, Alabama. The SWP member presenting this lecture stated that she had gone to this county in order to get the feel of the people and to find out first hand what the situation amounted to in this area. This SWP member presented a background of the Black Panther Party in Alabama and stated that the SWP had gotten permission to print a pamphlet on the Black Panther Party. It was further stated at this time that the SWP had a good working relationship with the Lowndes County organization and suggested that any SWP member who could possibly visit this area, should take advantage of this situation.

The election campaign of PAUL BOUTELLE, SWP candidate for Attorney General in New York State, was discussed at the August 25, 1966, membership meeting of the SWP - NYL. CLIFTON DE BERRY, a Party member and campaign manager for BOUTELLE, spoke at length and in detail concerning this candidacy and what it meant to the SWP. DE BERRY stated that he and other Negro SWP members were doing particular work in BOUTELLE's campaign although they were relating it to the SWP's entire election campaign. DE BERRY stated that because the new slogan of the Negro people is "Black Power," in DE BERRY's estimation, BOUTELLE's candidacy had special meaning.

DE BERRY stated that on this occasion the SWP would really have "follow-up" after the election is over inasmuch as the Party is now going to find out the number of Negroes in Harlem who subscribe to "The Militant," and that the Party hopes to form a "campaign committee" including those particular subscribers.

DE BERRY further stated that the SWP will also train each of its Negro members to become effective street-meeting speakers as a result of this election campaign. DE BERRY remarked that there are many Negro "militants" in Harlem whom the SWP expects to reach during this campaign and that the Party is confident that it will reach more of these people because of the new moves currently transpiring in the "Negro struggle".

DE BERRY related that MALCOLM X* and his followers opened many doors for the SWP in Harlem, New York City, and that the militants and nationalists in Harlem would support the SWP election campaign. However, the Party did not know what form this support would take. DE BERRY commented that the SWP had made inroads in Harlem through PAUL BOUTELLE and stated that the Party intends to build a "black Marxist revolutionary cadre" as a result of this campaign.

DE BERRY continued that an SWP member from Newark had agreed to help the Party in New York City in this election campaign in order to build this cadre and that all Negro SWP members now meet regularly together.

DE BERRY further stated that there are currently many "black militants" in and around the W.E.B. Du Bois Clubs who have "no business being there" and that the Party would try to win them to its ranks instead. According to DE BERRY, the SWP would hold street meetings with Negro speakers in Brooklyn and Bronx, New York City, together with Westchester County, New York, during this campaign.

Workers World Party (WWP)*

WILLIE MAE MALLORY

N.C.I.

At the WWP National Conference held September 3-5, 1966, in New York City, MAE MALLORY* discussed the situation of the American Negro stating that many Negroes feel that Russia is a racist government as Russia is not helping the North Vietnamese. She stated that 'Black Power' in this country is growing in terms of Black Nationalism rather than socialism. MALLORY stated that the workers of America should be made to see what a great country this could be if it were a socialist country.

N.Y.

In giving the summation of the September 3, 1966, session of the WWP National Conference, SAM BALLAN* stated that the potential for Black Power in this country is great. Through unions, the Negroes must learn to take over and lead. According to BALLAN, strong Marxist leaders must be developed or the Negroes must join with a truly revolutionary left organization.

At the September 4, 1966, session of the WWP National Conference, MAE MALLORY stated she had recently received a telegram from ROBERT FRANKLIN WILLIAMS*, in China, in which he stated he had been invited to speak at the People's Hall in Peking. She also mentioned that she had been asked to go to Alabama, to campaign for the Black Panther Party, but had refused as she had a great deal of work to do in Harlem, her own community.

September 9, 1966

The August 4, 1966, issue of the "Workers World"* contained an article entitled, "Rebellion of Black GIs" which alleged that "Washington is desperately trying to conceal the most criminal type of brutality against black troops in Vietnam". The article concluded as follows:

"Washington and the Pentagon, by impressing more and more Black youth into an army which is an exact replica of the racist tyranny in the United States, down to the last detail of brutality, are packing the power of a revolutionary time bomb which could one day blow United States imperialism's war effort in Vietnam to pieces".

The October 6 1966, issue of the "Workers World" contained an article entitled "Green Light for Racists", which stated that "the rise of Maddox", candidate for Governor of Georgia, "symbolizes and is the result of a shift by the entire racist United States ruling class both North and South, away from the policy of tokenism and towards a campaign of unmasked terror against the Black People".

The October 20, 1966, issue of the "Workers World" contained an article entitled, "'White Backlash' Is a Whip Made in United States of America by Racist Ruling Class" which argued that the so-called "White Backlash" was being used as a threat to keep the Black People permanently imprisoned "in the ghetto compounds."

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL ORGANIZATIONS

A. CONGRESS OF RACIAL EQUALITY

The Congress of Racial Equality will be referred to as CORE in this report unless reference is being made to a chapter of CORE. The designation then will be preceded by the name of the chapter.

1. NATIONAL CORE

a. Location

On October 13, 1966, Mr. DON SMITH, Public Relations Director, National CORE, 200 West 135th Street, New York, New York, advised Special Agents (SAS) VINCENT J. ASCHERL and JAMES D. BRODY that CORE's National Office has been located on the second floor at 200 West 135th Street, New York, New York, for the past month, National CORE having last occupied office space at 38 Park Row, New York, New York.

b. Officers

Mr. DON SMITH further advised that the current officers of National CORE are as follows:

FLOYD B. McKISSICK, National Director
LINCOLN LYNCH, Associate National Director LINCOLN ORVILLE LYNCH
JAMES McCAIN, Special Assistant to National Director
DON SMITH, Public Relations Director

On November 4, 1966, JAMES T. McCAIN, Sumter, South Carolina, advised a SA of the FBI that he has resigned his position as Associate National Director of CORE. JAMES McCAIN

c. Membership

On November 15, 1966, Mr. DON SMITH, previously mentioned, advised SAS VINCENT J. ASCHERL and [redacted] that CORE has a national membership of 80,000 individuals. b6 b7C

The September 17, 1966 issue of the "New York Amsterdam News", a New York City Negro weekly newspaper, on pages one and two, contained an article entitled "Says CORE Rolls Not Bad Off." According to this article, FLOYD McKISSICK, National Director of CORE, indicated that CORE has not suffered a decline in white membership. This article reflected that according to McKISSICK, "Our racial membership in June, 1966 was 40 per cent white and 60 per cent black. Today, our black membership has increased by 15 per cent while our white membership has not declined." McKISSICK also indicated that CORE membership has increased significantly among middle class Negroes as well as the Negro masses.

d. Chapters

On November 15, 1966, DON SMITH, previously mentioned, advised that there are 200 CORE chapters in the United States and 16 of these chapters are in the New York City Metropolitan area.

e. Objectives

On October 13, 1966, DON SMITH, previously mentioned, advised that CORE has, as its primary objective, the implementation of the Black Power philosophy advocated by FLOYD McKISSICK, National Director of CORE. SMITH further advised that this philosophy is to be implemented through a six point program which calls for: (1) development of economic power, (2) development of political power, (3) development of Negro leaders, (4) improvement of the Negro's self-image, (5) protection for its people in various areas throughout the United States, particularly in the civil rights field in the South, and (6) development of a consumer bloc program.

SMITH stated that CORE's concept of Black Power is the black people's use of their talents in those areas where they can make their influence felt to be most advantageous for the Negro. SMITH further stated that the Negro has a tremendous source of power for obtaining benefits for himself. SMITH added that this source has been untapped for years and it is the function of CORE to make the Negro aware of this source of power. SMITH advised that this power can be utilized through the six points which are outlined above. SMITH further advised that these same six points have been frequently employed by other one-time minority groups in United States history. SMITH related that it is time that the Negro realizes that he can accomplish the same.

SMITH related that just as the Protestants are composed of over 300 divergent sects or beliefs, so too in the Black Power Movement, there are divergent groups. SMITH added that while CORE is an organization which always has and still does advocate the doctrine of non-violence in attaining its goals, there are other organizations within the Black Power Movement which would almost certainly advocate violence toward attainment of a common goal with other Negro groups. SMITH indicated that such a group as the Five Percenters, for example, would sharply disagree with CORE's advocacy of non-violence, but would completely agree with the end to be attained - namely, the overall betterment of the black man.

On August 8, 1966, Detective WILLIAM DUNN, Bureau of Special Services, New York City Police Department, advised Special Agent [redacted] that the Five Percenters are a street gang made up of young Negro teenagers who have no respect for law and order. The Five Percenters operate mainly in the Harlem section of New York City and the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, New York.

f. No Information Regarding Communist Infiltration of CORE on Part of DON SMITH

On October 13, 1966, DON SMITH, previously mentioned, advised that he has no knowledge of any CP influence or control in CORE. SMITH further advised that, undoubtedly, when the various civil rights groups were just emerging some years ago to participate in the social revolution, many CP or CP oriented groups attempted infiltration into various civil rights groups. However, according to SMITH, these attempts were unsuccessful and today there is no known evidence of CP or other subversive influence.

The Southern Christian Leadership Conference will be abbreviated by the initials SCLC. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR. is President of the SCLC, which is headquartered in Atlanta, Georgia.

On October 5, 1966, at 1:47 p.m., Special Agents (SAS) of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) observed STANLEY LEVISON enter the building at 1841 Broadway, New York, New York, wherein his office is located. He was followed by JACK O'DELL at 2:12 p.m., and by CLARENCE JONES at 2:17 p.m.

N.Y.

On October 11, 1966, a person believed to be DOUGLAS PUGH, Assistant Executive Director of HARYOU-ACT, contacted CLARENCE JONES regarding the advisability of PUGH attending the meeting of MARTIN LUTHER KING and his advisers to be held in Atlanta, Georgia, on October 13, and 14, 1966. PUGH explained that his interest in attending the meeting is because he believes the Ford Foundation is interested in finding out what role it can play now in the Civil Rights Movement. He added that it might be meaningful for him to sit in on the discussions since they have the entry to the Ford Foundation through himself.

October 11, 1966

On October 11, 1966, CLARENCE JONES told STANLEY LEVISON that DOUGLAS PUGH had informed him that MC GEORGE BUNDY and the Ford Foundation are quite interested in MARTIN LUTHER KING and the SCLC. According to JONES, PUGH said one of the policy discussions of the Foundation is concerned with the programs they might finance in the Civil Rights Movement and that PUGH was directed to see if he could sit in on the discussions that KING and his advisers would be having.

LEVISON stated that he had spoken with an individual from the Ford Foundation for several hours and was told the same thing, that they are interested. LEVISON said he was told that BUNDY wants to give something to the SCLC because he wants to keep his relationship with Senator ROBERT KENNEDY of New York, hoping that when KENNEDY "gets in" BUNDY will be called back at a high level.

LEVISON said he talked to KING about what kind of proposals to make to the Ford Foundation and that LEVISON raised the matter of voter registration in the South on the basis that there is much work to be done and foundations used to support this. He said KING felt this was a top priority for them.

LEVISON felt that PUGH should be invited when they discuss voter registration and its significance in the South. He said JONES should tell KING this and that they should schedule this discussion for a specific day and invite PUGH to be there for it.

October 11, 1966

CLARENCE JONES, HARRY WACHTEL, and STANLEY LEVISON made reservations on Eastern Airlines Flight 103, departing at Kennedy Airport, New York, at 6:05 p.m., October 12, 1966, and arriving Atlanta, Georgia, at 7:05 p.m., October 12, 1966. STANLEY LEVISON and CLARENCE JONES planned to stay at the University Plaza Hotel, 635 Fair Street, Atlanta, Georgia. Their purpose in going to Atlanta was to attend a meeting of the SCLC's advisers.

NY T-19
October 10 and 11, 1966

On October 15, 1966, STANLEY LEVISON and BAYARD RUSTIN were in contact regarding the question of Black Power and a statement which appeared in "The New York Times" on October 14, 1966, concerning this issue. LEVISON said that when he asked MARTIN LUTHER KING the reason for his positive reply to the question, "Do you endorse the statement issued by other civil rights leaders?", he replied, "I thought we agreed that this is what I would say." LEVISON added he then reminded KING of what he had told him earlier, saying he should say he found nothing in it that he did not agree with, but his own statement to the press was his feeling on the matter. LEVISON explained that the statement was different from the endorsement.

LEVISON commented that "The New York Times" article by GENE ROBERTS was placed in the paper intentionally for they apparently wanted him (KING) to take that position.

RUSTIN said KING had to make up his mind publicly and state whether he endorses the statement or not. LEVISON explained with regard to KING's position that it could be that there was only a certain margin of difference between KING and the others, and KING differs only in the fact that he did not want to ignore or isolate those who have an erroneous slogan at the present time.

RUSTIN mentioned that he had talked to FLOYD MC KISSICK, Director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), that morning, and his position was that he just did not know why they continue telling "white folks" what their purposes are, and they have been telling the whites for too long what they believe.

RUSTIN made the observation that KING would be in a jam when hundreds of Negroes in the country would be endorsing and signing a statement of this nature if his name was not on it. He said in his opinion that it was a very serious mistake for KING. LEVISON explained that it was his feeling that KING would not sign the statement no matter how many were going to sign it. RUSTIN commented that one cannot continuously put himself in the middle this way, and that was what KING had done again. RUSTIN said that was bad with a large segment of white liberals, and it was also bad with the Negro middle class. LEVISON said he was not convinced of that but added that it may be bad with some white liberals.

LEVISON suggested that RUSTIN should write to KING about this situation. LEVISON mentioned that he had talked about arranging a trip for KING and his wife to Africa and Latin America and place emphasis on the theme of KING's interest in the poor of both white and black, in order that when he returned, he could be the spokesman for both white and black poor.

ANDY YOUNG

October 15, 1966

On October 15, 1966, LEVISON was in contact with ANDREW YOUNG, Executive Director, SCLC. LEVISON acquainted YOUNG with the story in "The New York Times" that "Doctor King Endorses Racial Statement, Backs Negro Repudiation of Black Power Concept". LEVISON suggested that KING had to write a letter to "The Times" in which he could clearly define where he stood. YOUNG made the suggestion that they needed to say that the press came out and defined the context of the statement in the press and gave a misleading effect to it and the press should not continue to do this. LEVISON said that RUSTIN felt that KING could not stay in the middle; it could do him tremendous harm. LEVISON said he told RUSTIN that KING wanted to be in the middle. LEVISON also suggested that they could also say that KING was endorsing the four principles of that statement.

With regard to the statement to which reference is made, on October 14, 1966, "The New York Times" on page 27, carried an article which was captioned "7 Negro Leaders Issue a Statement of Principles Repudiating 'Black Power' Concepts". Although KING was not one of the signers of the declaration, that statement quoted Dr. JOHN MORSELL, Assistant National Director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), U.S.A. as having said that the absence of KING's name was not a rejection by KING of the statement.

The four principles in the statement to which LEVISON referred are:

"We are committed to the attainment of racial justice by democratic process".

"We repudiate any strategies of violence, reprisal or vigilantism, and we condemn both rioting and the demagoguery that feeds it".

"We are committed to integration, by which we mean an end to every barrier which segregation and other forms of discrimination have raised against the enjoyment by Negro Americans of their human constitutional rights".

"As we are committed to the goal of integration into every aspect of the national life, we are equally committed to the common responsibility of all Americans, both white and black, for bringing integration to pass".

YOUNG explained that he felt that KING in his statement should say that while he realized the role of the Urban League and the NAACP, he never thought his role to be synonymous with theirs, and that while he understood the frustrations of the black people and their disillusionment with the administration, he was not ready to give up. LEVISON agreed with YOUNG. YOUNG indicated that he believed that the administration was trying to divide "us", but that KING was not ready to say so. LEVISON indicated that he would like to get something in "The Times" by Monday.

October 15, 1966

The "New York Times", Monday, October 17, 1966, on page 42, carried an article captioned "Dr. King Clarifies His Stand". In it KING is reported to have endorsed the four principles contained in the October 14, 1966 statement of the seven Negro leaders. He said, however, that he did not endorse the manifesto because he feared it might be interpreted by the press and public as an attempt to "excommunicate" from the civil rights movement such black power-oriented organizations as the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and ... CORE.

On October 15, 1966, STANLEY LEVISON and MARTIN LUTHER KING were in contact. LEVISON mentioned the article in "The Times" about KING's endorsement of the statement and KING replied, "That just shows you how you can get into a bind". LEVISON said he was convinced that RUSTIN did that; and he thought that RUSTIN wanted to box KING in. LEVISON suggested that the way to handle the matter was to send a letter to "The Times" acknowledging the endorsement of the statement, but adding that the endorsement was of the four principles that KING had always accepted; however, the press had chosen to read this act as a rejection of the Black Power concepts and the organizations and this he could not accept and must clarify what his position was, rejecting Black Power as a slogan and any injury it might cause, but not rejecting the need for participation and power of Negroes.

7.

KING said he thought that would be the only way out, and he added that what bothered him was that when he made tactical errors, it was usually when he was trying to deal with RUSTIN. LEVISON commented that KING would have to rethink the business of treating RUSTIN as an adviser. KING indicated that it made him look as if he did not have any integrity especially after he told FLOYD MC KISSICK of CORE that he did not sign the petition. KING said he must be in a position where he would not be lumped in with ROY WILKINS of the NAACP and WHITNEY YOUNG of the Urban League.

October 15, 1966

On October 15, 1966, CLARENCE JONES made the following observations in regard to a statement which appeared in newspapers and which dealt with non-violence:

MARTIN LUTHER KING not only refused to sign the statement, but BAYARD RUSTIN was the one who played the role. What happened was that the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO) working through RUSTIN, and the Administration working through WHITNEY YOUNG, head of the Urban League, tried to come up with this kind of statement. RUSTIN was prepared to present it to KING but KING would not sign it.

KING said he did not agree with ~~STOKELY~~ CARMICHAEL* U.S.A. on everything but CARMICHAEL does articulate what many of the young people feel. KING asked RUSTIN how he, KING, could have their respect and continue to have a dialogue with them if he signed some statement "by some Mickey Mouse Negroes".

FLOYD MC KISSICK had contacted KING and said he was grateful that KING did not sign the statement.

KING does not want to be cut off from the young people. KING has been working with youth gangs in Chicago, and he knows these gangs reflect the way CARMICHAEL feels. KING knows he can go into a room with these gangs and carry on a discussion with them.

On October 15, 1966, CLARENCE JONES introduced DOUGLAS PUGH to MARTIN LUTHER KING. JONES described PUGH as the person who has a substantive role in the planning of the Ford Foundation concerning poverty and civil rights. JONES said he felt it was important for KING to talk with PUGH.

PUGH told KING that he had spoken to JONES about MC GEORGE BUNDY, who is ready to move in the civil rights field. KING noted that he was scheduled to meet with BUNDY on Tuesday, October 18, 1966, after which he wants to work out a proposal which will be helpful to the Ford Foundation. PUGH suggested that in KING's meeting with BUNDY the conversation should be broad and imaginative and that KING should talk in terms of big money. PUGH noted the White House Conference on civil rights had suggested a ten year program which has to be financed.

KING suggested that he meet with PUGH after his discussion with BUNDY. PUGH stated that KING could reach him at the Ford Foundation which he recently joined after having worked with HARYOU-ACT and the anti-poverty program.

On October 18, 1966, STANLEY LEVISON and MARTIN LUTHER KING were in contact. KING related that he had had a meeting with MCGEORGE BUNDY of the Ford Foundation earlier in the morning in the office of HARRY WACHTEL. KING said the meeting went very well and in fact, the Foundation plans to send some personnel to Atlanta to work out the proposal concerning voter registration in the South.

KING said BUNDY would present the proposal on voter registration to his Board in December, 1966. BUNDY, according to KING, is convinced that the Foundation will make a large grant to the SCLC.

KING then reminded LEVISON of the meeting scheduled for 2:30 p.m. that date in his suite at the New York Hilton Hotel. KING said Dr. KENNETH CLARK, psychology professor at City College, New York, New York, CLARENCE JONES, and ANDY YOUNG would be there to meet with him. LEVISON said he would be there without fail. KING told him to come to Room 3121.

On October 18, 1966, at 2:07 p.m., SAS of the FBI observed STANLEY LEVISON enter the New York Hilton Hotel elevator bank which services the 31st floor. He was observed getting off the elevator at 2:12 p.m., from which he walked to the telephone booth in the lobby where he made several telephone calls. As he was getting ready to get on the elevator at 2:29 p.m., LEVISON met MARTIN LUTHER KING and ANDY YOUNG, who were also waiting for the elevator. They got on the elevator at 2:31 p.m. At 2:36 p.m., Dr. KENNETH CLARK was observed taking the same elevator. He was followed by CLARENCE JONES at 2:36 p.m.

On October 23, 1966, STANLEY LEVISON was in contact with JESSE JACKSON, SCLC staff member assigned to Operation "Bread Basket" in Chicago.

JACKSON said he was concerned if LEVISON was planning to come to Chicago next week since he and Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING were supposed to have lunch on Thursday, October 27, 1966, with some Negro press writers, and on Friday, "Bread Basket" meets. LEVISON promised to be there on Tuesday and would work with JACKSON on Tuesday and Wednesday. JACKSON told LEVISON he should come to 5748 Kinpark Avenue, which is located two blocks from the University of Chicago.

LEVISON, in diverting his attention from Chicago to Houston, Texas, said CAROL HOOVER, SCLC field worker, was in Houston working on the SCLC project. He said even though HOOVER has had experience in such things, she should have some supervision because the project is so important to the SCLC.

He described the project as one which has never been undertaken before, and it entails turning to the community and organizing things in the community so that "you are solidly resting on the Negro community".

JACKSON mentioned addressing the American Jewish Congress (AJC), on October 22, 1966, and came away feeling that the relationship with the AJC had not been sufficiently appealed to; that it was necessary to cultivate relationship with the rabbis all across the country. LEVISON replied that reaching the rabbis was not always effective for reaching a slum landlord, because a slum landlord often does not go to a synagogue. LEVISON said he is on the National Executive Board of the AJC, and for the past couple of weeks the Board has been meeting with the new National President, a rabbi from Cleveland by the name of LELYVELD. This rabbi, LEVISON said, was beaten up in Mississippi; he has taken the position that he will not back up because of Black Power", but on the contrary, wants to understand it. In fact, according to LEVISON, LELYVELD had discussions with FLOYD MC KISSICK, Director of CORE, about the topic. LEVISON described LELYVELD as an untypical white liberal since he was not running away or using Black Power as an excuse for diminishing his interest.

Continuing, LEVISON said the thing about LELYVELD that surprised him was that he is an apologist for 'Black Power'. LEVISON said when he, LEVISON, argued that the term Black Power' is not a good slogan but stressing at the same time the need for power and the need for black consciousness, LELYVELD argued that the term "Black Power" is a good slogan. LEVISON said that meant that LELYVELD has a pretty advanced type of thinking. LEVISON said other Jewish groups gravitate toward the NAACP, because it is a case of middle class liking middle class.

The area LEVISON would like to see tapped for support, financial and otherwise, is the Negro community itself. According to him, the Negro community is where there is plenty of money but no one has organized any type of mechanism for getting it, and that one who does this is going to do something revolutionary. He explained that many Negroes do not belong to any social club which raises money for the Negro movement or to churches, but would be willing to give money if they were approached.

LEVISON said he was working on a plan to bring the Negro press to a level of real acceptability and get them tied up to SCLC objectives, and for that he has called a meeting for Thursday, October 27, 1966, in Chicago. He said he would also get together with some insurance representatives and leaders to explain to them that they, along with the "Negro preacher", could have a substantial drive to increase the dividends for their companies. In doing so, a kickback percentage of the gross would in given time go to the SCLC.

In a similar move, CLARENCE JONES has started a program like this for his insurance company, the Intra-American Insurance Company of New York, New York. His program is in conjunction with the AME Church in New York City. The plan, according to LEVISON, works as follows: the church gets the application signed by its members and gets ten per cent of the first year'scommission and one per cent thereafter.

In regard to other SCLC fund raising activities, LEVISON and JACKSON expressed dismay at MARTIN LUTHER KING's plans to go to Jerusalem next year. LEVISON's opposition is due mainly to the efforts of some to commercialize the venture, and to portray the SCLC as a religious oriented organization. In doing so, LEVISON said, many Negroes would feel that they would not want to become affiliated with a church group.

During their contact, JACKSON mentioned that KING would be in New York on Friday, October 28, 1966, but said he did not know the nature of his trip. JACKSON said he would be in New York on Monday, October 31, 1966, to meet with people supporting Operation "Bread Basket".

Finally, the subject of travel costs of SCLC officials who travel from one place to another to speak came up. JACKSON said he wanted to deal with the issue since it costs the SCLC a lot of money to pay for their jaunts. LEVISON said in reply that he flies back and forth at will, never charges the SCLC, never has to ask for permission because he pays his own travel.

On October 23, 1966, STANLEY LEVISON and CLARENCE JONES were in contact. LEVISON wanted to know if JONES had been successful in contacting JAMES HOFFA of the Teamsters. JONES said there was a possibility that MARTIN LUTHER KING would have an appointment with HOFFA this week in Chicago. JONES remarked that PAUL O'DWYER, New York City Councilman, told him that HOFFA, like other trade unionists, was afraid of the "white backlash" within his ranks. LEVISON said HOFFA needs KING. JONES said KING apparently has reservations about HOFFA and that LEVISON had better set him straight. LEVISON said: "I'm not going to tell him, I'm going to kick his head in". LEVISON referred to the great importance of the Teamsters Union and the fact that KING was too innocent in this area. LEVISON said he would talk to KING about this in no uncertain terms.

On October 24, 1966, STANLEY LEVISON and Reverend JAMES BEVEL, Administrator of the SCLC Chicago project, were in contact.

LEVISON said a group of students desired BEVEL to speak at the Library Mall on the University of Wisconsin campus at Madison, Wisconsin, on November 6, 1966. According to LEVISON, BEVEL's appearance would be in connection with a public rally at 3:00 p.m.

BEVEL, after being informed that his expenses would be paid by LEVISON, said he would be willing to appear. LEVISON then furnished him the names of WALTER LIPMAN and ROBIN DAVID as individuals he should contact upon arriving in Madison.

On October 31, 1966, STANLEY LEVISON and CLARENCE JONES were in contact concerning MARTIN LUTHER KING's plans to meet with JAMES HOFFA. LEVISON said he had learned from KING that he would not be able to meet with HOFFA that week unless HOFFA could meet on Tuesday or Saturday of that week. LEVISON said KING was prevented from a meeting on any other date that week because of commitments in Pittsburgh and Chicago. With regard to his commitment in Pittsburgh, KING is to address a group at the University of Pittsburgh on November 2, and is to hold a meeting in Chicago on November 3, 1966, with people from various sections of the country.

On October 31, 1966, CLARENCE JONES was in contact with PHILIP SHIPSER of the Teamsters Union to ascertain if HOFFA would be willing to meet with KING on Tuesday, November 1, 1966. SHIPSER said it was impossible for him to do so this week, but suggested JONES contact KING to see if a meeting on November 9 or 10 would be agreeable, and if not, then one day during the week of November 14th. JONES said he would contact KING and then advise which day would be preferable. U.S.A.

RICHARD RUSSELL CONN.

KING said he recently met with DICK RUSSELL, whom he described as a multi-millionaire, a militant opponent of the war in Vietnam, and a former supporter of the Urban League and the SCLC. RUSSELL, KING said, later switched his support from the SCLC to CORE and to the SNCC when these organizations became more active in anti-Vietnam activities. RUSSELL has now become disenchanted with these organizations and would like to resume his association with the SCLC, KING remarked.

KING went on to remark that RUSSELL wanted him to serve on the Board of the "New Politics", since he is so actively involved with the organization. LEVISON cautioned KING to be very reluctant in becoming a member, since the Board is composed of people like Dr. BENJAMIN SPOCK, renowned baby specialist. LEVISON said SPOCK and others like him were the kind of people who could guide KING in the wrong direction. U.S.A.

KING said RUSSELL was in favor of organizing a new company which would be half owned by the SCLC. It would be the type company that would sell products which the purchaser could buy knowing that the profits would go to the SCLC. In trying to determine what type company would be more profitable, RUSSELL suggested a retail record and stereo tape marketing operation. LEVISON was reluctant to give his approval for such a venture, adding instead, that he would like to consider the matter in great detail before so doing. KING said he expected to go to RUSSELL's house in the early Spring to attend a fund raising affair which he has planned. RUSSELL, KING said, has promised him $25,000.00 from the affair. KING mentioned that RUSSELL is reputed to be worth eighty million dollars.

In discussing other ways by which the SCLC could raise funds, KING and LEVISON mentioned that there was a plan to sell sermons for radio dissemination. This plan, LEVISON said, could bring in more than $100,000.00 a year. The problem facing them is to get a sermon writer, since there is such a big backlog of sermons.

N.Y. On October 29, 1966, LEVISON and his brother, ROY BENNETT*, were in contact on that date. LEVISON told him of plans to make MARTIN LUTHER KING a radio minister, "purely", LEVISON remarked, for the money which the SCLC could get by "conning" advertisers, particularly those which sell to Negro communities.

They also discussed the possibility of opening a retail record business for the benefit of the SCLC. BENNETT expressed disappointment because he said the retail record business was not a very good venture to begin with.

LEVISON mentioned that KING was considering membership on the Board of the "New Politics" group. BENNETT said the "New Politics" group centers around ARTHUR WASSOW, a resident of Washington, D. C. He also opined that the "New Politics" group is made up of "screwy" people in addition to being a dangerous group of very naive people who would probably move to the "left", particularly in the international area. BENNETT said KING should not become a part of this group.

JUNIUS GRIFFEN NY T- 18
October 29, 1966

On October 21, 1966, JUNIUS GRIFFIN, Publicity Director of the SCLC, and STANLEY LEVISON were in contact. GRIFFIN said he had been notified that the SCLC's charter in New York State had been revoked because the organization had failed to comply with Article 10-A of the Social Welfare Law, which requires registration by a charitable institution engaged in soliciting funds in the State. As a result of having been so notified, the SCLC will have to re-register GRIFFIN said.

LEVISON said he was notified that their charter had been revoked and that he had already commenced the necessary procedures to correct this situation. In order to do this, it will be necessary to prepare and submit an annual report to the State of New York. Along with the application containing the signatures of MARTIN LUTHER KING and RALPH ABERNATHY, Secretary-Treasurer of the SCLC, will be the annual report, LEVISON said.

On November 3, 1966, CLARENCE JONES and MARTIN LUTHER KING were in contact, the source advised. JONES asked KING if he had decided when the SCLC conference would be held. KING said he had decided that it should be held subsequent to the elections on Tuesday, November 8, 1966, so therefore, had scheduled it for Sunday, November 13 through 16, 1966.

KING then referred to a recent conversation he had with ANNE FARNSWORTH, and said he had received a promise from her to make a contribution in stocks to the SCLC. He said he did not know how much the contribution would amount to, but was of the opinion that it would be a considerable one.

Another recent contribution, according to the source, came from DICK RUSSELL, who gave KING $5,000.00. JONES acknowledged that he had heard about RUSSELL's contribution from STANLEY LEVISON, since he recently had discussed RUSSELL's willingness to set up a business for the benefit of the SCLC with STANLEY LEVISON. And as a consequence of RUSSELL's offer, LEVISON will meet with JONES next week to discuss the offer.

November 3, 1966

On November 3, 1966, JONES and STANLEY LEVISON were in conversation on that date regarding SCLC matters. The first matter considered was the luncheon appointment on November 9, 1966, between MARTIN LUTHER KING and JAMES HOFFA, the President of the Brotherhood of Teamsters). JONES related that he had been successful in arranging the meeting for noon on that date and that it would take place in HOFFA's office in Washington, D.C.

JONES told LEVISON of his recent contact with KING, during which time they discussed the matter of JESSE JACKSON, the head of the SCLC's operation bread basket in Chicago, Illinois, and how his salary would be paid. JONES said the difficulty over his salary was a question of which organization should actually pay him. LEVISON suggested he meet with JONES over the weekend to discuss this matter as well as other SCLC business. This suggestion was agreed to by JONES, but no date was set.

Finally, the source said, LEVISON and JONES talked about the Staff Conference of the SCLC which was scheduled to be held on Sunday, November 13-16, 1966. Both men agreed that in view of SCLC's financial difficulties, they did not think it wise to hold such a meeting at that time. In fact, LEVISON said the SCLC's decision to have so many people attend the meeting and to pay their travel and other expenses to Atlanta, Georgia was untenable. LEVISON said he had reservations about attending and was considering making a suggestion to postpone it until the SCLC could pay off some of its obligations. He said if it did not start to pay some of its creditors, he expected law suits at any time.

On November 8, 1966, CLARENCE JONES, STANLEY LEVISON, MARTIN LUTHER KING, and ANDREW YOUNG were in conference concerning an article appearing in the "Daily News", a New York newspaper of November 8, entitled "King Woos Hoffa Dollars for his Rights Campaign." KING became disturbed over this article and the possible reflection of association with HOFFA on the civil rights movement and on KING himself. LEVISON and JONES attempted to persuade KING that the article in its context resolved the problem, in that the primary reason for the meeting was that the teamsters have a Negro membership of four hundred and fifty thousand and is the largest organized group of Negroes in the nation. KING maintained that to represent the meeting as anything other than an appeal for funds would be dishonest, and the fact that he would be associating with a crook and a criminal would be in complete opposition to his role of "Man of God". KING also feared that association with HOFFA might alienate other labor leaders.

KING refused to be placated and insisted that before going through with the meeting, he would first have to consult with WALTER REUTHER and RALPH HELSTEIN for U.S.A. their opinions. U.S.A.

Eastern Airlines Flight 130 on which KING would arrive in Washingtom, D. C. at 11:29 a.m., November 9, 1966. A party of five, including JONES, KING and LEVISON, were then proceeding to the meeting with HOFFA by limousine.

On November 8, 1966, a conference took place between MARTIN LUTHER KING and his advisers; namely, STANLEY LEVISON, CLARENCE JONES and ANDREW YOUNG. Their conference was in regard to the meeting scheduled for November 9, 1966, between KING and JAMES HOFFA and in that regard, KING said RALPH HELSTEIN had advised against the meeting in view of the newspaper article in the New York "Daily News" to the effect that KING was to meet HOFFA to get funds. HELSTEIN, according to KING, was of the opinion that to go through with the meeting would alienate friends in other unions and raise some questions as to what deal was made between KING and HOFFA. KING said he would feel better if he could get out of the meeting.

LEVISON, in view of KING's reluctance to meet HOFFA, said KING should send HOFFA a telegram expressing his regrets for not being able to meet at this time. LEVISON also told JONES that he should contact SHIPSER and have him talk to HAROLD GIBBONS of the Teamsters and try to arrange a meeting between GIBBONS and KING.

KING said he was to be in Washington on November 9, 1966, and that JONES and SHIPSER should also come to Washington so that YOUNG could explain to SHIPSER why KING could not meet HOFFA.

On November 9, 1966, CLARENCE JONES and ANDREW YOUNG were in contact during the early morning. JONES took the opportunity to reveal to YOUNG the contents of a telegram he was sending to JAMES HOFFA explaining why KING could not meet him on November 9, 1966.

The telegram, attributed to KING, was in substance as follows:

KING said recent events in Chicago involving a jurisdictional dispute over the organization of hospital workers and the unfortunate article which appeared in the "Daily News" characterizing their meeting as merely an appeal for funds on his part, made it necessary to postpone their luncheon until a more favorable time. Continuing, the telegram pointed out that KING was of the opinion that such a meeting would be misinterpreted by other unions involved in the SCLC Chicago Project. KING said he had hoped that that conflict in Chicago would have been easily resolved, but that his optimism was shattered by a report he received yesterday from Chicago. KING said in closing that in view of the large Negro membership in the Teamsters, he looked forward to meeting HOFFA in the near future.

JONES told YOUNG that it was important to him that he meet with the attorney to smooth over things and that he felt that YOUNG should also meet with the two of them. JONES said he would bring him on the plane to Washington, and then all three of them could confer when they arrived there. YOUNG agreed to meet JONES and the attorney at 11:30 a.m., November 9, 1966, at the National Airport, Washington.

On November 9, 1966, SAS of the FBI observed CLARENCE JONES and an unknown male board the 10:00 a.m. Eastern Airlines Shuttle at La Guardia Airport, New York en route to Washington.

On November 11, 1966, CLARENCE JONES and STANLEY LEVISON were in contact during the evening. The contact was to permit JONES to relate to LEVISON what transpired during his two day meeting with the Teamsters. The following is in substance, what took place, according to JONES:

JONES, MARTIN LUTHER KING, President of the SCLC, JAMES HOFFA, President of the Teamsters, HAROLD GIBBONS, Assistant to HOFFA, met on Thursday, November 10, to discuss problems of the SCLC, particularly those concerning the Chicago operations. JONES said they agreed to cooperate in matters concerning the SCLC. Financial support to the SCLC was promised by the Teamsters after GIBBONS pointed out that it was much easier for the Teamsters to sustain the SCLC on a continuing basis than make an outright contribution. GIBBONS said it was nothing for the Teamsters to provide fifty thousand dollars on a periodic basis in a cooperative program with SCLC.

In describing HOFFA's attitude during the meeting, JONES said he took a very statesmanlike attitude towards the jurisdictional dispute in Chicago. HOFFA promised to enter the dispute on a cooperative basis and agreed that "However the jurisdiction falls on the nature of the work, that's the way they will take it, even if they only get fifteen to twenty per cent of the workers."

LEVISON inquired as to what impression HOFFA made on KING. JONES said he, JONES, did not get a chance to find out as they went their own way when the meeting broke. However, in JONES' mind, he, JONES, has never met anyone as tough as HOFFA.

JONES said HOFFA wants to have an association with the Civil Rights Movement where the Teamsters are involved in organizing workers as he feels there is no trade union movement in this country. In fact, HOFFA said the Teamsters are out of the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO), "not because they are bandits, but because the Teamsters refuse to ride around in Cadillacs as part of the labor aristocracy".

JONES said during the meeting a committee was organized whose purpose will be to handle matters of mutual concern which arise between the SCLC and Teamsters. JONES said HOFFA designated GIBBONS to chair the committee.

LEVISON and JONES agreed to meet on Sunday, November 13, 1966, in order that JONES might furnish in greater detail what took place during his meeting in Washington. It was decided that LEVISON and his wife would go to JONES' house for the afternoon.

STEIN said the SCLC was suffering a severe difficulty in financing its operations, thus necessitating this type of an arrangement. GA.

KANTER, in elaborating on the fund raising program to be presented by the organization, said there would be a seminar following speeches by FLOYD MC KISSICK, National Director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), JAMES FARMER, former National Director of CORE, and JAMES MEREDITH. After hearing this, LEVISON said the SCLC would not furnish speakers to participate because it was an affront to the SCLC to follow the other speakers. KANTER was told by LEVISON to inform the organization that the SCLC did not have speakers available for such a seminar, in view of the fact that it did not have adequate time to prepare them.

LEVISON was asked if he had given any more thought to the Christmas card idea. He told KANTER that he had studied the card entitled, "The Children of Birmingham", but said he had not decided whether it should be sent out by the SCLC. He said he was conferring with a friend of his who is knowledgeable on copyright matters, and upon getting her decision would decide whether the card should be mailed.

LEVISON mentioned to KANTER that he had recently conferred with JESSE JACKSON, and had learned that JACKSON was getting some good results from Negro businessmen in Chicago, Illinois, on pledges of $500.00 and $1,000.00 a year. JACKSON mentioned to LEVISON that he urgently needed some sort of plaque he could give these businessmen in return for their gifts. November 30, 1966

On November 30, 1966, LEVISON and DICK RUSSELL were in contact concerning MARTIN LUTHER KING's appearance before the Senate Hearings concerning urban problems being conducted by Senator ABRAHAM RIBICOFF. LEVISON noted that since KING is to appear on December 15, 1966, MICHAEL MILLER was having a few people together on December 6, 1966, to discuss and prepare a few things for KING. RUSSELL indicated that he would be pleased to attend this meeting.

LEVISON told RUSSELL his work on "Freedom Brands" trademark was progressing nicely and that it would be published through distributors with a royalty for the SCLC.

November 30, 1966

On November 30, 1966, STANLEY LEVISON told MARTIN LUTHER KING that he had completed the paper on the guaranteed annual wage and wanted to know where he should send it. KING told LEVISON to send it to CHAUNCY ESKRIDGE, a Chicago Ill. attorney.

LEVISON mentioned an article which appeared in the December, 1966 issue of "McCalls" magazine and said JOAN DAVES, Publishers Representative, was very upset because she was not contacted before. In describing the article LEVISON said it had to do with the SCLC and KING. KING said the article was actually written by JULIUS GRIFFEN, Public Relations Director of the SCLC, and that $500.00 was received by the SCLC for the article.

KING and LEVISON discussed the possibility that WYATT WALKER, the former Executive Director of the SCLC, might return to the SCLC. LEVISON pointed out that WALKER's position as President of the Educational Heritage Company was terminated a short time ago and that he is now Chairman of the Company. LEVISON said WALKER could not live on the salary he receives as Chairman, and therefore, was considering a return to the SCLC. KING acknowledged that WALKER had made mention of the fact that he would consider returning to the SCLC, and that KING was considering placing WALKER in charge of the Chicago operations of the SCLC. LEVISON expressed disappointment in hearing this, pointing out that he did not think WALKER could fill the bill in view of his shortcomings.

KING mentioned that he had recently received word from Sweden that they have $2,500.00 which they would send to him in December.

December 8, 1966

On December 12, 1966, MARTIN LUTHER KING and STANLEY LEVISON were in contact in reference to KING'S testimony before the Senate Committee on urban affairs headed by Senator ABRAHAM RIBICOFF. LEVISON commented that he would meet with MICHAEL MILLER on December 12, 1966, and that they would complete their work on December 13, 1966, and would then submit their work for KING'S comments and observations.

KING stated that he was still thinking about what he should say to the Committee since he did not want to repeat what other civil rights leaders had said. LEVISON agreed that it was a problem, but said material coming from academic people which makes mention of the inequality of the distribution of income would be something new. LEVISON stated that the guaranteed income which KING would testify to would be new. LEVISON noted that despite prosperity in the country, the problems of the cities were not being solved, and therefore, the guaranteed annual income would be a positive suggestion.

KING noted that he must repeat what others testified to; that the war in Vietnam was standing in the way of implementing the things that he urged. He indicated that he must be strong on that point, since it was an open invitation to confusion, chaos, disruption, and riot. LEVISON said KING'S testimony would have to be analytical and passionate at the same time. They agreed that something could be done with the guaranteed annual income, giving facts and figures to support their position.

On December 13, 1966, STANLEY LEVISON and MARTIN LUTHER KING conferred. They decided that KING, LEVISON and ANDREW YOUNG would meet in KING's hotel suite at the New York Hilton Hotel, New York City, on December 14, 1966, to go over KING's testimony before the Senate Committee on urban matters on Thursday, December 15, 1966. At LEVISON's suggestion, KING agreed that MICHAEL MILLER of the Ford Foundation should also attend. On December 14, 1966, STANLEY LEVISON and CLARENCE JONES were in contact concerning KING's appearance before Senator ABRAHAM RIBICOFF's committee on December 15, 1966. LEVISON desired some figures concerning population which JONES had compiled. JONES' figures reflected that 78 of the largest cities in the United States now have a Negro population of 20 to 25 per cent and that by 1970, 25 of these cities will have a Negro population of over 50 per cent. It was JONES' opinion that the financial and business communities in these cities will not abandon the inner urban center of the happenstance of the ghetto, but will solve the problem of the ghetto rather than turn the city over to the black majority. JONES felt that the political structure would be dominated by the particular urban character of the population.

December 14, 1966

On December 20, 1966, STANLEY LEVISON was in conference with THOMAS OFFENBERGER of the SCLC Public Relations Office. OFFENBERGER mentioned that the SCLC had received an inquiry from "The New York Times" and "The Washington Post" as to whether the SCLC desired to run an advertisement in the economic review section of these publications in January, 1967. LEVISON instructed OFFENBERGER to make certain that no advertisement appeared, since to do so, would tend to give the impression to the public that the SCLC was well-off financially.

OFFENBERGER noted that MARTIN LUTHER KING had turned over the reigns of the SCLC on December 19, 1966, and went to Chicago, Ill., for a press conference concerning the housing project he plans to undertake in that city. After the press conference, King was scheduled to take off for some time.

OFFENBERGER noted that due to KING'S efforts in writing his book, the fund raising projects of the SCLC in Houston, Texas and South Carolina, had been postponed until March, 1967.

HARLEM FREEDOM FORUM
Also known as Harlem Freedomways Forum, Freedomways Forum

A source advised on May 18, 1962, that WILLIAM ALBERTSON had contacted LILLIAN MARTINEZ during May, 1962, at which time he requested her to take the assignment of forming a new organization, the formation of which had been previously discussed at Harlem Communist Party (CP) meetings. This organization would be called Freedomways Forum and in appearance would be a non-CP organization, but in effect would be a new front for the Harlem CP through which all Harlem CP work would be accomplished.

The source advised on November 6, 1963, that a meeting of a committee specifically selected by the 11th Assembly District Club of the Harlem CP was held at 2235 5th Avenue, New York, New York, on November 1, 1963, at which a definite decision was made to establish the Freedomways Forum which would be known as the Harlem Freedomways Forum (HFF). It was unanimously agreed that the HFF would be a broad front formed by the CP not only to discuss the problems of the community but also to serve as a source of recruitment of new members for the CP.

The source advised on September 16, 1964, that at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the HFF held at 799 Broadway, New York, New York, on September 14, 1964, it was decided to change the name HFF to Harlem Freedom Forum (HFF).

The source advised on May 20, 1965, that there was no established headquarters for the HFF at that time, and that meetings of the HFF were held at the homes of various members.

The source advised on May 20, 1966, that the HFF had cancelled its Post Office box and was no longer holding meetings or engaged in any activity. The source also advised that the leaders of the HFF had agreed they would reactivate that organization if and when it suited their purpose.

ORGANIZATION OF AFRO-AMERICAN UNITY, INCORPORATED (OAAU)

On June 28, 1964, MALCOLM X LITTLE, founder and leader of the Muslim Mosque, Incorporated (MMI), publicly announced the formation of a new, all Negro, militant civil rights action group to be known as the Organization of Afro-American Unity (OAAU), with himself as Chairman. This announcement was made at a public rally held at the MMI in the Audubon Ballroom, Broadway and 166th Street, New York City.

A printed and published statement of basic OAAU aims read by MALCOLM X at this meeting indicates that it shall include "all" people of African descent in the Western Hemisphere, as well as "our" brothers and sisters on the African continent. It is patterned after the "letter and spirit" of the Organization of African Unity established (by African heads of States) at Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, in May, 1963.

A recording of the remarks of MALCOLM X at this meeting indicates that the aim of the OAAU is to eliminate differences between Negroes so they can work together for "human rights," while the initial objective is to "internationalize" the American civil rights movement by taking it to the United Nations. LITTLE condemned the non-violent civil rights movement and claims that Negroes should be taught to protect themselves, when and if necessary. The OAAU will sponsor a program for Negroes of Education, politics, culture, economics, and social reform.

MALCOLM X was assassinated on February 21, 1965, while addressing an OAAU rally at the Audubon Ballroom, New York City.

On February 28, 1966, a confidential source advised that the president and head of the OAAU is ELLA COLLINS, a half-sister of the late MALCOLM X, who resides in Boston, Massachusetts.

PROGRESSIVE LABOR PARTY

A source advised on April 20, 1965, that the Progressive Labor Party (PLP), formerly known as the Progressive Labor Movement (PLM), held its first national convention April 15-18, 1965, at New York City, to organize the PLM into a PLP. The PLP will have as its ultimate objective the establishment of a militant working class movement based on Marxism-Leninism.

The "New York Times" City Edition, Tuesday, April 20, 1965, page 27, reported that a new party of "revolutionary socialism" was formally founded on April 18, 1965, under the name of the PLP. The PLP was described as an outgrowth of the PLM. Its officers were identified as MILTON ROSEN, New York, President, and WILLIAM EPTON of New York, and MORT SCHEER of San Francisco, Vice Presidents. A 20-member National Committee was elected to direct the party until the next convention.

According to the article, "The Progressive Labor Movement was founded in 1962 by Mr. ROSEN and Mr. SCHEER after they were expelled from the Communist Party of the United States for assertedly following the Chinese Communist line."

The PLP publishes "Progressive Labor," a bimonthly magazine, "Challenge," a biweekly New York City newspaper, and "Spark," a west coast newspaper.

The June 1, 1965, issue of "Challenge," page 6, states that "this paper is dedicated to fight for a new way of life-where the working men and women own and control their homes, factories, the police, courts, and the entire government on every level."

The source advised that the PLP utilizes the address of General Post Office Box 808, Brooklyn 1, New York, but also utilizes an office in Room 622, 132 Nassau Street, New York City, where PLP publications are prepared.

REVOLUTIONARY ACTION MOVEMENT (RAM)

On November 3, 1964, a source made available a document entitled "The Revolutionary Action Movement Manifesto", the document having been obtained by the source from an individual known to be a member of the Revolutionary Action Movement (RAM).

This document stated, in part, that RAM was officially organized in the Winter of 1963 by Afro-Americans who support the revolutionary objectives of ROBERT F. WILLIAMS, who was then residing in Cuba, and his concept of organized violence to achieve the liberation of the Afro-American people in the United States. This Manifesto disclosed that RAM had oriented its program to one of education and political revolution and the organization of a "black" political party with revolutionary objectives, having recognized the need for a "black revolution" that could and would seize power. RAM philosophy is described in this document as one of revolutionary nationalism, that is, one involving the struggles of the non-white races of the world against exploitation and enslavement by the white capitalist and imperialist nations.

Regarding WILLIAMS, it should be noted that on August 28, 1961, a Federal warrant was issued at Charlotte, North Carolina, charging him with Unlawful Flight to Avoid Prosecution for the crime of kidnapping. Subsequent to the issuance of this warrant, WILLIAMS fled the United States to Cuba, where he published a monthly newsletter entitled "The Crusader" from Havana. As of December, 1966, WILLIAMS was residing in Peking, China.

This source, in September, 1964, advised RAM is dedicated to the overthrow of the capitalist system in the United States, by violence if necessary, and to its replacement by a socialistic system oriented toward the Chinese Communist interpretation of Marxism-Leninism. RAM is entirely non-white in membership, clandestine in nature, and owes its primary allegiance to the "Bandung World", that is, the non-white races of the world rather than to any national entity, as such.

On November 16, 1964, a second source advised he learned recently from an RAM member that the organization began in Detroit, Michigan, largely under the impetus of DON FREEMAN, described as the "Father" of RAM and referred to as RAM's "Black Stalin". FREEMAN served as RAM Chairman, with MAXWELL STANFORD, now residing in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, serving as RAM Field Chairman.

On January 23, 1967, a third source advised that the RAM still remains active, however, there is no formal headquarters, as such, for the RAM.

Attached hereto are two throwaways distributed at this affair.

On February 9, 1967, Source #2 made available a throwaway indicating that a meeting sponsored by the Friday Night Socialist Forum (FNSF), would be held on February 10, 1967, at 3737 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan. According to the throwaway, the purpose of this meeting was to "explain -- the strike to support Powell", and at this meeting members of the United Strike Committee to Support Powell would be the principal speakers.

On February 9, 1967, Source #3 advised that Thomas Dennis, State Chairman of the Michigan District Communist Party, spoke at an affair sponsored by "The Worker", which was held on January 28, 1967, at Detroit, Michigan. Source #3 advised that approximately 75 individuals were in attendance at this affair and that Dennis, during his speech, strongly endorsed the forthcoming strike of Negroes on February 13, 1967, protesting the refusal of the U. S. House of Representatives to seat Congressman Adam Clayton Powell. Dennis urged all those in attendance at this affair to participate in the strike by remaining away from their places of employment, keeping their children home from school and not patronizing any local businesses on February 13, 1967.

Source #3 further advised that Dennis stated during his speech that if the strike on February 13, 1967, was successful, it would paralyze the City of Detroit, especially local postal service, transportation facilities and production in the auto industry.

"The Worker" is an East Coast Communist publication.

On December 8 and 9, 1966, Source #4 advised that Thomas Dennis was elected to the National Board of the Communist Party, USA, at a National Committee meeting of the Communist Party, USA held on December 7, 1966, at New York City, New York.

To Protest Refusal of United States House of Representatives, Washington, D.C., to Seat Representative Adam Clayton Powell, New York City, New York, Sponsored by the United Strike Committee, Detroit, Michigan
February 13, 1967

Reference is made to Detroit letterhead memorandum dated February 10, 1967, captioned as above.

All sources hereinafter referred to, including those utilized in the appendix, have furnished reliable information in the past.

On February 13, 1967, Source #1 and Source #2 advised that at a meeting sponsored by the Friday Night Socialist Forum (FNSF) held on February 10, 1967, at 3737 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, Richard Henry, an officer of the United Strike Committee, was the featured speaker.

According to Source #1 and Source #2, Henry was introduced to the audience by Evelyn Sell, organizer of the Detroit Branch of the Socialist Workers Party (DBSWP). Approximately 32 individuals, the majority of whom were white, were in attendance at this affair. Henry urged those in attendance to support the nationwide strike on February 13, 1967, in support of Representative Adam Clayton Powell from New York City. Henry indicated during his speech that Powell had been refused a seat in Congress inasmuch as he enjoyed too much power and "the whites" were afraid of him.

Characterizations of the FNSF and the DBSWP are contained in the appendix attached hereto.

Re: Nationwide General Strike,
February 13, 1967

On February 13, 1967, Detroit sources who have knowledge of activities concerning the Ford Motor Company, the General Motors Corporation and the Chrysler Corporation in the Michigan area advised that the strike in no way affected production in any of their facilities in the State of Michigan. These sources indicated that in many instances at particular facilities which employ a substantial number of Negroes, absenteeism on this date was less than normal.

On February 13, 1967, Source #1, who is familiar with the overall operations of the various departments in the City of Detroit, advised that absenteeism on this date was less than normal. Source #3 advised that the Department of Public Works reported only 58 employees on sick leave this date, while there were 111 on sick leave the past Monday. Absenteeism at Receiving and Herman Kiefer Hospitals, both of which are operated by the City of Detroit, was less than average on this date. In addition, Source #3 advised that the Detroit Department of Street Railways, which organization is responsible for transportation in the City of Detroit, had 17 less employees absent on this date than on the previous Monday.

Source #3 advised that the Detroit Board of Education reported no excessive absenteeism among employees, teachers or pupils in the Detroit Public School System on this date.

On February 13, 1967, Detective Lieutenant George Rollins, Special Investigations Bureau, Detroit, Michigan Police Department, advised that the People Against Racism Committee picketed the Lafayette Building located in the downtown Detroit area, in which building the Democratic State Central Committee headquarters are located, from approximately 4:00 P.M. to 6:00 P.M. on this date, to protest Michigan Democrats in the U. S. House of Representatives who voted to unseat Adam Clayton Powell. He stated that the People Against Racism Committee is a recently formed organization under the ostensible leadership of Frank Joyce, a male caucasian, who in the past has participated in numerous civil rights demonstrations

A maximum of 15 individuals participated, all of whom were caucasians, and the picketing was peaceful and without incident.

Attached hereto is a throwaway distributed during the course of the picketing demonstration.

On February 14, 1967, Source #4 advised that during the afternoon of February 13, 1967, a conference sponsored by the United Strike Committee was held at the Central United Church of Christ, 7625 Linwood Avenue, Detroit, Michigan. The purpose of this conference was to assess the strike and make plans for a possible future strike. Source #4 advised that the conference was sparsely attended with a maximum of 50 individuals present, the majority of whom were Negroes. A nationwide economic boycott was tentatively planned at this conference for March 23, 1967. In connection with the proposed boycott on March 23, 1967, there was no indication that individuals participating would be requested to remain away from their places of employment on this date.

Source #4 further advised that at this conference plans were made for a nationwide boycott of the purchase of 1967 and 1968 model cars of the General Motors Corporation. The reason given for this boycott was the fact that former General Motors employees, who now hold high level positions in the U. S. Government, are supporting the war in Vietnam.

On February 14, 1967, Source #5 advised that a mass rally, sponsored by the United Strike Committee, was held at Ford Auditorium, Detroit, Michigan, on February 13, 1967, during the approximate period from 7:30 P.M. to 10:20 P.M. A maximum of 900 individuals, the majority of whom were Negroes, were in attendance at this rally, and it was announced that $971.00 was collected at this rally. The first portion of the rally was devoted to entertainment by local Negro entertainers as well as Negro comedian Dick Gregory.

February 13, 1967

The organizers of the United Strike Committee, Reverend Albert B. Cleage, Reverend James Wadsworth, President of the Detroit Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), and attorney Milton Henry were introduced to those in attendance at this rally and all commented briefly.

Reverend Cleage, during his speech, indicated that it was a great day for "blacks" and described Negroes opposed to the strike as "Uncle Toms". Cleage indicated that fifty per cent of the school children were out of school on February 13, 1967, however, "they did not miss anything because the schools doesn't teach them anything anyway".

Reverend Cleage further indicated that 70 cities throughout the United States have established local strike committees and that in the future additional nationwide strikes would or could be held on a variety of issues such as employment, education and housing.

Source #5 further advised that Dick Gregory, Honorary National Chairman of the United Strike Committee, spoke at this rally and urged all those in attendance to participate in a nationwide economic boycott scheduled to be held on the day before Good Friday, March 23, 1967, throughout the United States. According to Gregory, this boycott will be aimed at keeping children out of school and banning shopping on this date. He indicated that supporters of this boycott will not be asked to remain away from their places of employment on this date. In addition, Gregory, during his speech, requested all in attendance to refrain from purchasing automobiles until the war in Vietnam is over. He intimated that the General Motors Corporation had attempted to intimidate their Negro employees from participating in the strike by threatening them with disciplinary action. Gregory stated that General Motors cannot intimidate the United Strike Committee like they did Ralph Nader, a critic of the automobile industry.

Source #6 advised during May, 1964, that on May 22, 1964, Milton Henry spoke at a meeting of the FNSF, held at 3737 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan. Henry spoke on the topic "Proportioned Underground Warfare". Henry, during his speech, advocated the formation of a Negro underground apparatus capable of performing acts of sabotage, destruction of government property and actual killing in order to secure full Negro rights.

Source #7 advised on February 27, 1964, that Reverend Albert B. Cleage, Jr. is State Chairman of the Michigan Committee for a Freedom Now Party, which is an adjunct of the National Committee for a Freedom Now Party.

The "New York Times", August 24, 1963, page 1, carried an article entitled, "An all-Negro Party for '64 is Formed". The article related that a national all-Negro political party was being organized. It hoped to run its own slate in the congressional and local elections in 1964. A tentative national committee had opened offices at 81 East 125th Street, New York City, under the acting chairmanship of Conrad J. Lynn, a Negro lawyer who specializes in civil rights cases.

A leaflet entitled, "A Call for a Freedom Now Party" was publicly circulated in the summer of 1963 and called for the formation of a Freedom Now Party 'with an all-black slate and a platform for liberation'.

The May 8, 1963, issue of "The Journal News", a newspaper published daily in Nyack, New York, contains an article which reveals that Conrad J. Lynn stated at a hearing of the House on

Powell Work Boycott Ignored by Negroes

Detroit Negroes today ignored a call for a work and purchasing boycott in support of U.S. Rep. Adam Clayton Powell.

Attendance was reported normal, or even better than normal, by stores, factories, schools and city departments with heavy Negro employment.

Strike leaders had hoped for an absentee rate of 80 percent.

The failure of the boycott call was seen as a victory for moderate Negro leaders.

Among the moderates urging Negroes to ignore the boycott were Horace Sheffield, executive vice-president of the predominantly Negro Trade Union Leadership Council, and Francis Kornegay, head of the Detroit Urban League.

SHEFFIELD HAD predicted the failure of the boycott.

"The whole concept is ridiculous and I'm saying that the people will act as though they feel it's ridiculous," he said last night in a television debate with strike supporters.

Kornegay said, "A strike isn't going to give a Negro a job."

Detroit strike chairman is the Rev. James Wadsworth, president of the Detroit Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), who was rebuffed by the NAACP executive committee for supporting the strike.

Wadsworth said the strike was designed to protest "the double standard" in which Negroes have to live in our country" which, he contended, led to Powell being denied his seat in Congress on charges of misusing public funds.

General Motors Corp. reported job attendance better than normal for a Monday. The company Saturday had notified union representatives that absentees would be expected to provide acceptable reasons for absences.

CHRYSLER CORP. and Ford Motor Co. also reported absenteeism no greater than normal.

DSR General Manager Lucas Miel said the boycott had "no effect whatsoever" on the city's transportation system.

"In fact, less DSR employes were absent than usual," he said.

Out of 1,530 bus drivers scheduled to work today, only 20 reported in sick, as compared to 26 a week ago and 31 two weeks ago.

Only six of 400 maintenance men were absent from work, also less than the normal absentee rate.

Attendance higher than normal was reported in the Detroit DPW and Water departments.

"If there's a demonstration, I haven't seen it," said Fred J. Romanoff, Mayor Cavanagh's executive secretary.

DR. CHARLES WOLFE, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of administration, said there were no more than the normal number of absentees among teachers.

School administrators at Northern and Southwestern High schools and Roosevelt Elementary School said student attendance appeared normal, although they could not be certain until official attendance reports were filed later in the day.

"The hallways look as crowded as usual," said John Rudden, Southwestern's principal.

Mrs. Jessie Kennedy, principal of Northwestern High School, 6300 Grand River, reported "better faculty attendance than normal."

She said there was only one teacher "who might possibly be absent today because of the boycott."

Student attendance, she said, was "normal for a Monday morning."

At Estabrook Elementary School, 6016 Linwood, Miss Elizabeth Sowell, principal, reported the school's faculty, which is more than 50 percent Negro, were all there.

Miss Sowell described the student attendance as "normal for a Monday morning in snowy weather."

ONLY REV. WADSWORTH, a community agent, was reported absent among the staff of Miller Junior High School.

The Rev. Albert B. Cleage Jr., a strike leader, said he would not comment on the boycott failure until after the United Strike Committee met today in the Central United Church of Christ, 7625 Linwood.

Dick Gregory, national strike chairman, was scheduled to headline a free "Victory Show" at 6 p.m. today in Ford Auditorium.

The boycott call originated in Detroit but its leaders were vague about whether they expected it to be felt outside the Detroit area, in such cities as Flint and Muskegon. They had originally predicted it would become nationwide in scope.

THE CLOSING of a service station in a Negro neighborhood was the most visible effect of the strike call in Muskegon.

The largest Muskegon area employers reported attendance was about normal — and in some cases better — for a Monday. The firms include Continental Motors, Inc., Lakey Foundary, and Cambell-Wyant Foundary, which together employ about 3,900 Negroes out of a total of 9,500 workers.

Muskegon Heights High School, whose student body is about 60 percent Negro, reported absenteeism running about 25 percent, or slightly higher than normal for Mondays. Elementary schools in the area reported attendance about normal.

RESEAT ADAM CLAYTON POWELL

We believe that the ouster of Adam Clayton Powell from his position as Chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee and the denial of his seat pending the outcome of an investigation into his conduct is a typical example of American racism and white supremacy. It is a clear case of the application of different standards to Negroes from those which are applied to whites. There is no question but what other Congressmen at present and in the past have been guilty of conduct equally as reprehensive as that with which the Harlem Representative is charged.

We believe that the Democratic Party must take responsibility for the unseating of Adam Clayton Powell as well as the seating of the illegally elected Democrats from Mississippi despite the 1965 Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenge of their right to be seated. Any system which allows such an inversion of values must be changed.

We believe that if anyone deserves to be unseated it is those Democrats, from Michigan or anywhere else, who voted to unseat Adam Clayton Powell, thereby denying the residents of Harlem their duly elected Representative. This group includes:

JAMES G. O'HARA - Led the fight to remove Adam Clayton Powell from his Chairmanship

MARTHA GRIFFITHS - Dem., 17th District; voted to unseat Adam Clayton Powell

LUCIEN NEDZI - Dem., 14th District; voted to unseat Adam Clayton Powell City's Negroes Ignore Strike-for-Powell Call

Absentee Rate Shows No Rise

BY DON LENHAUSEN
Free Press Staff Writer

Reports of normal attendance at auto factories, city departments and schools Monday indicated a failure for what had been called the nation's first Negro general strike.

However, a strike leader challenged the reports and claimed the strike had been honored by at least 15 percent of the city's Negroes.

Attorney Milton Henry, one of three strike chairmen, termed the experiment a success.

HIS UNITED Strike Committee had urged Negroes to stay away from work, schools and stores in a protest over treatment of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell. The Harlem Democrat had been stripped of his committee chairmanship and denied his House seat pending completion of an investigation into his activities.

Henry said the strike was supposed to be nationwide, but that he had not received reports on its progress outside the Detroit area.

Strike leaders had predicted that nearly 55 percent of the Negro workers in Detroit would stay off their jobs. They had noted, however, that the "effort lies not in numbers but in the fact that we are introducing a new, needed and important weapon into the fight for freedom—the general strike."

Gregory

Henry

Chrysler Corp., Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp., the largest employers of Detroit Negroes, all reported normal absenteeism—at factories in Michigan.

"At some locations it was even lower than normal," said a Ford spokesman.

The story was the same in four city departments — Water, Parks and Recreation, Public Works and the DSR—which employ many Negroes.

"In fact it looks like there was an extra effort to be in attendance by all employes," said Lucas S—rel, DSR general manager.

He said only 20 of the department's 1,530 drivers were absent, compared with 26 a week ago and 31 two weeks ago. He said only six of about 400 maintenance workers were absent.

ROBERT E. TOOHEY, public works commissioner, said only 58 of 4,300 employes were absent, compared with 111 last Monday.

The Water Department, with 1,800 employes, reported "a little less absenteeism than last week." Gerald J. Remus, general manager, said supervisors were sent out to check all employes who called in sick. All who did were sick, Remus said.

Dr. Charles J. Wolfe, an assistant superintendent of Detroit schools, said teacher and pupil absenteeism were normal in all but two of the city's 325 public schools. He said it was slightly higher than average for pupils at Angell and Moore elementary schools, both in Negro neighborhoods.

Henry said spot checks by committee workers indicated that at least 20 percent of Negroe pupils stayed home, and that 90 percent of the teachers at Pattengill School, 8411 Northfield, were absent.

John Mosley, Pattengill principal, said that only five of the school's 60 teachers were absent.

No unusual absenteeism was reported by factories in Muskegon, which strike leaders had predicted would join Detroit in a strong showing.

Henry said that the general strike method would be adopted by Negroes elsewhere as a means of getting "full and complete freedom from white folks."

He said more Negroes didn't strike because of a combination of reasons, including lack of support by some Negro leaders and the news media.

RESULTS of the strike were assessed by Henry and other leaders in their headquarters at Central United Church of Christ, 7625 Linwood. The other two chairmen are the Rev. James Wadsworth and state Rep. Jackie Vaughn. Comedian Dick Gregory was honorary national chairman.

A post-strike rally was held Monday night at Ford Auditorium. About 1,200 persons attended.

Henry told them the strike involved more Detroit Negroes than "ever participated in any picket lines or direct action activity."

The Rev. Albert B. Cleage Jr., another strike leader, declared: "They (the white leaders) may say the strike's a flop but it's just the beginning."

The committee has called another local strike for March 23, and said Negroes in numerous communities across the nation will participate.

The March 23 effort, one day before Good Friday, will be aimed at keeping children out of school and banning shopping. Supporters will not be asked to stay off jobs.

COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN RACIAL MATTERS
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

On February 15, 1967, NY T-1 advised that the Communist Party, U.S.A. (CP, USA) Negro Commission at a meeting on December 8, 1966, at New York, New York, was informed of and expressed agreement with CP plans to hold a large Afro-American conference in the spring of 1967 in New York, New York. The purpose of the Conference will be to aid the emerging nations of Africa and to protest against the imperialistic policies of the United States. The Conference ostensibly will be sponsored by a large number of well-known civil rights and anti-imperialist leaders. ISHMAEL FLORY, a CP member from Chicago, Illinois, is working on plans for the Conference.

A Draft of a Call to a National Conference of Solidarity with Free Africa has now been prepared and a copy is attached to this memorandum. It indicates that the Conference, to be held from May 19 through 21, 1967, at New York, New York, will be against colonialism and neo-colonialism, for complete freedom and unity, against apartheid and discrimination, for world peace and friendship, and against racism in Africa, America and the World.

NY T-1 advised that this National Conference is a serious endeavor by the CP, USA to obtain a new foothold among the Negro masses through development of a high feeling of anti-imperialism against the United States and by utilizing the general African situation which is characterized by a struggle against colonialism and imperialism.

Draft of Call - Before First Printing *

This is the age of Africa's emergence from the yoke of imperialist bondage to the oppressors and colons from overseas. The struggle against imperialism has weakened colonialism to the extent that many African peoples have been able to secure their national independence. In respect to some of the new countries - like Egypt, Algeria, Mali, Tanzania and Guinea - independence has been consolidated by freedom from entanglements in the economic and diplomatic web of relations with the imperialist powers. With others, independence is still nominal; they have won the form but not the substance of freedom.

Still colonialism, though mortally wounded, is not dead. Like a vampire, it still feeds on the blood of some 60 million Africans who populate countries still enslaved in its system - Mozambique, Angola, Rhodesia, South Africa, Portuguese Guinea, Sao Tone, Principe, Ifi, Fernando Po, Cape Verdes and French Somaliland.

The imperialist powers with their vast business and banking operations and their military bases located inside the newly independent countries, have never reconciled themselves to their losses and continuously strive to turn the clock of history back. Their system of subversion and undermining of the African states' sovreignty has come to be known as NEO-COLONIALISM. Neo-colonialism would retain the wealth of the new countries in the hands of foreign business monopolies as was the case under the old colonial regimes. Neo-colonialism would keep the new states tied to the war chariot of the foreign policy of the United States and other Western powers. It is the practice of the neo-colonialists to seek the overthrow of popular governments in Africa's new states as was the case in the Congo and in Ghana, and to set up regimes of puppets and stooges of the foreign imperialists.

FREEDOM-LOVING AFRICANS need our help. And we need the strength for liberty and equality in the world which a strong free Africa will bring.

WE CAN HELP BY —

First of all, getting to know more about the new states and peoples of Africa. THE CONFERENCE FOR SOLIDARITY WITH FREE AFRICA will have a special panel session devoted to this theme:

I. AFRICA'S NEW STATES AND STATESMEN

Then, there will be a panel on the topic of:

II. AFRICAN ROOTS OF OUR HERITAGE OF CULTURE AND HISTORY

Still, another panel will address itself to the questions of trade relations and opportunities for business developments and tourism with the new African states - especially between Africans and Americans of African heritage. The topic will be:

* This is a tentative draft before the first printing of the call. It is open to suggestions, modifications and additions, including place, time and special events for the occasion. Suggestions are welcome while the preparations for the conference are in process of development and completion. Initiators and sponsors will be listed on the call when it is finally printed for mailing.

III. ON FOREIGN TRADE AND FREEDOM

Certainly of high interest to all who toil in the vinyards of the cause of civil liberties, civil rights, Afro-American or Negro freedom and labor will be the panel discussion devoted to:

IV. LESSONS OF THE AFRICAN AND AFRO-AMERICAN or NEGRO FREEDOM STRUGGLES

The relations between the fight for world peace and the requirement for freedom from oppression engages the thought and energies of all freedom fighters. The final panel will devote itself to the role of:

V. THE AFRICAN STATES AND THE CAUSE OF WORLD PEACE

Finally, a full and PLENARY SESSION of the SOLIDARITY WITH FREE AFRICA CONFERENCE will consider resolutions and proposals for follow-up or action by interested delegates. The theme of this session should be:

LET US PROMOTE SOLIDARITY WITH A FREE AND UNITED AFRICA AND AFRICAN-AMERICAN PEOPLE TO PEOPLE FRIENDSHIP.

This session will examine the question of carrying forward the purposes of the Conference on a continuing basis through the establishment of some kind of association of American Friends of Free African States.

WHO MAY ATTEND..

The Conference is open to all organizations and individuals interested in furthering the cause of African unity and freedom and of African-American Friendship: men and women; youth and adults; black and white. Trade unions, colleges, churches, civic and social clubs and organizations are earnestly urged and appealed to to send delegations.

MEMORANDUM: Re., National Conference of Solidarity with Free Africa

FROM: Ishmael Flory, [redacted] W. 63rd St., Chicago, Illinois [redacted]621

To

To some of my personal friends I am sending this memorandum. It is in reference to a Call for a National Conference on Solidarity with Free Africa. For your consideration, I submit the following thoughts and suggestions. I would appreciate hearing from you.

1./ Please note the enclosed draft of the Call. This is perhaps the last draft before the Call will go to its first printed form.

a. On the Call will be a list of Initiating Sponsors, which already include Mrs. Christine Johnson, President of the African-American Heritage Ass'n; Mr. Geo. Murphy, Jr., Journalist; Mr. Charles Howard, United Nations Syndicated Columnist; Mr. John Henrik Clarke, African Scholar and writer and of Freedomways; Calvin Hicks, writer, and other national figures.

b. It will also contain on the first printed form A Partial List of Sponsors. The final printed form will have the full list of national sponsors. It is desirable, and would be helpful, to begin already to procure sponsors for the Partial List, the names of which, along with others will be on the final printed Call.

2. We think it desirable and in the interest of freedom and peace that you and your friends become sponsors, and that steps be taken immediately to get sponsors where you can. A form for sponsors is enclosed. More draft Calls and Forms are sent on request.

3. Mrs. Christine Johnson, Chm Pro Temps of the Initiating Sponsors, will formally and in writing, appeal to potential sponsors where desirable and recommended. It would indee be helpful for you and your friends to send names and addresses of persons and/or organizations in your area, city or state, to whom such appeals should be sent.

4. It is likely to be helpful to establish committees on the Conference in your ares, city or state.. We should "beat the bushes" for delegates from all cities, small and large.

5. It is likely to be helpful to find an interested and responsible person to work concentratedly on the Conference in your area, city or state.

6. There are two occasions for special emphasis on building the Conference:

a. Negro History Week, Feb. 12 - 19, 1967 It would seem desirable if some work and/or publicity were possible and forth-coming in your area.. This could be a public expression, by individuals or organizations, of support for the success of the conference Africa Freedom and its relation to World Peace and Victory over Racism and Neo-colonialism, etc.

b. Africa Freedom Day, April 15 (Established at the Accra All-African Peoples Conference, 1959.) In connection with building the Conference Delegates, and showing solidarity with Africa Freedom and Unity, with its relation to world peace, it seems desirable to hold unity meetings on the issues of African freedom and independence. Public statments by individuals and organizations might be issues. All press in areas should be called upon to take note of Africa Freedom Day. This occasion should be a period of check-up as to progress in building delegations from your area to the Conference.

7. Special efforts should be make to relate the Conference to the Trade Union Movement in the U. S. The metal industries and union, ferrour and non-ferrous, are vitally affected by developments in Africa. Creative thinking ought to be applied in this area.

I am sure that Mrs. Christine Johnson, 4349 S. Parkway, Chicago, Ill., 60653, will appreciate all the help you and others can give, and will do, to help make this Conference the biggest and most significant since the 1963 March on Washington.

Remember Joseph Cinque! Remember Crispus Attucks! Nat Turner and Denmark Vesey! Shields Green with John Brown! Remember Douglass, Tubman, Garvey and Robeson! DuBois! Long live the African liberation movement! FORWARD IN UNITY FOR AFRICA UNITY, FREEDOM AND WORLD PEACE!

Fraternally yours

To Mrs. Christine Johnson
4349 S. Parkway

Re: Negro Congressmen

"Dear Comrades:

"November 14th, 1966 this Commission sent out a communication dealing with the question of increasing Negro representation in the next Congress. The statement was based on discussion and decisions of the last National Committee meeting which concluded that a zealous and systematically pursued pre-electoral campaign could prepare the way to raise the number of Afro-American congressmen to at least 20 in the next Congress campaign of 1968.

"The letter stated that: 'In 16 other states steps should be taken at once to get Negro representation in the next Congress. We suggest for major consideration representatives from Massachusetts, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, Illinois, Missouri, Texas, New York, Connecticut, California, Louisiana, South Carolina, Michigan and Florida.'

II. GENERAL RACIAL CONDITIONS

Los Angeles, California

In the "Los Angeles Sentinel", Los Angeles Negro newspaper, of February 2, 1967, page A2 and February 9, 1967, page B16, were articles reporting a benefit dinner and dance at the Cocoanut Grove, Ambassador Hotel, Los Angeles to raise funds for the Opportunities Industrialization Center, (OIC). The center was funded in early 1966 by a $450,000 Ford Foundation grant and is involved in vocational training in poverty areas of Los Angeles. The affair is part of a program to raise $100,000 to keep the OIC in operation. Numerous local dignitaries and Hollywood [illegible], headed by Milton Berle, volunteered their presence to make the dance a success.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of February 6, 1967, II-1, was an article reporting that Los Angeles intends applying for a Federal grant under the "Model Cities Program" of the Federal Government. Los Angeles intends using the money to help redevelop an area called Green Meadows South, approximately one mile west of the Watts area. The goal is to upgrade the social, physical and economic status of the area by offering training, setting up an industrial park, a program to improve residences, some land clearance and improvement in city services. Funds are expected to come from the Federal Government and some local sources. If successful, lessons learned in the area will be applied to the redevelopment of other areas of Los Angeles.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of February 7, 1967, II-3, was an article reporting a massive 1.8 million dollar anti-poverty program to train 1,500 persons in Los Angeles, to be operated by the Teamsters Union was finally approved by the Federal Government. Dan Sanburn, Director of the program stated this was the first major attempt by a labor union to be the training agency for entry into its industry. The project is to be funded by the Manpower Development and Training Act.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of February 7, 1967, II-1, was an article reporting that Dr. Maurice Dawkins, former Los Angeles minister and associate director of Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), announced the organization was seeking 50,000 part-time unsalaried persons to work among the poor in the Los Angeles area. He stated VISTA was the "maximum efficiency, minimum cost" program in the poverty war.

In the "Los Angeles Herald Dispatch", a Los Angeles Negro newspaper, issue of February 9, 1967, page 1, was an article reporting that Norman Earl Richmond and Karl Von Key are scheduled for trial in United States District Court, Los Angeles on February 27, 1967, having been indicted for failing to report for induction. The article reported that Robert L. Brock and his organization, the Self-Determination Committee were helping the two men in their defense, using the argument that since Negroes came to the United States as slaves, they are not citizens, but colonial subjects and are therefore not subject to military obligations to the United States.

In the "Los Angeles Sentinel" of February 9, 1967, page 4A, was an article reporting favorable opinion of the appointment of Thomas L. Reddin as Chief of Police for Los Angeles. The article pointed out Reddin indicated he was opposed to civil disobedience but also stated there was no easy solution to crime in minority areas, and they needed many programs to upgrade the people to solve their problems.

The article noted that Reddin was "people-orientated".

In the same issue of the "Los Angeles Sentinel", page 6A, was an article by Wesley R. Brazier, local head of the Urban League, concerning Chief Reddin. Brazier listed the qualities Reddin would need to succeed as Chief of Police, and pointed out that improving police-community relations resting with minority communities as well as with the police. Brazier pledged to work closely with Chief Reddin.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of February 14, 1967, III-15, was an article reporting an experimental program to train poverty area residents as executives, capable of operating companies hiring 10 to 100 employees. The program is being administered by the Los Angeles Area Economic Development Agency (LAAEDA) and the Litton Industries, Inc. The LAAEDA sponsored three Small Business Development Centers in Los Angeles. The primary purpose is to make trainees eligible for Small Business Administration loans in the future. Litton Industries indicated they would consider hiring those who did not desire to go into a small business.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of February 15, 1967, I-13, was an article reporting that William Bolte, a union employee of the Research Department of the Economic and Youth Opportunities Agency (EYOA) had criticized E. O. Birge, management analyst from the National Archives, for recommending a reduction in certain EYOA positions from 293 to 212. Bolte accused the analyst of "sketchy" investigation and stated adequate research could not be conducted by an agency outside the EYOA. Birge replied he had conducted 2,000 interviews while making his study and denied he had made "pre-determined conclusions" regarding his study.

III. CURRENT EVALUATION OF VIOLENCE POTENTIAL

Los Angeles, California

On February 3, 1967, Source one, [redacted] advised the Destiny Charity Association (DCA) had been making efforts to secure financing for a youth center in the Watts area, however, when the Westminster Neighborhood Association (WNA) heard about this, they decided to build a youth center and were successful in obtaining the property and financing from John Factor. Source stated the DCA group had been fighting a request by the WNA for a zone variance so that they could build the center. b7D

In the "Los Angeles Times" of February 6, 1967, II-6, was an article reporting that John Factor, Beverly Hills businessman, was donating the land, structure, and initial operating expenses for a community center in the Watts area which it was estimated would cost about 1 million dollars. On completion, Factor stated he would deed the center to the First AME Church, headed by Reverend H. H. Brookins. The proposed center is to be at Lou Dillon Street and Imperial Highway.

Source two, [redacted] on February 9, 1967, advised the DCA had held a meeting to protest the re-zoning by the Los Angeles City Council in favor of the center to be built by the WNA. The meeting was held at Will Rogers Park, 103rd Street and Central Avenue, Los Angeles, at 1 p.m., on February 8, 1967. Source advised "harsh words" were exchanged by the groups, however, there was no violence, no incidents, and no arrests. Source expected no racial violence as a result of the competition between these groups.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of February 11, 1967, II-12, was an article reporting that at least 80 residents in the neighborhood of a proposed Watts community center were opposed to the building of the center because they felt it might not be properly supervised and complained of "monied persons and political favorites who have continiously exploited our community".

In the "Los Angeles Times" of February 12, 1967, section A, page B, was an article reporting that John Factor was mystified over opposition to the proposed Watts Community Center he had agreed to build. Factor stated he was concerned about Watts as he had lived in poverty and had been discriminated against. Reverend H. H. Brookins stated the center would fill a need since city recreational facilities closed at 9 p.m., and were "bureaucratically controlled", while the center expects to remain open until mid-night or 2 a.m. with a variety of activities attractive to young people.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of February 13, 1967, II-10, was an article reporting that some youths who had helped set fires and who rioted during the Watts riot, had helped in ground-breaking ceremonies for the projected John Factor Watts Community Center. The youths belong to an organization called "Young Men for Total Democracy", headed by Bob Simmons and John Butler. Former Governor Edmund G. Brown and former Lieutenant Governor Glenn M. Anderson were at the ceremonies. The article reported construction could not proceed unless the county granted a zone variation.

On January 13, 1967, Source three advised there was a meeting of the Communist Party, USA, Marxist-Leninist (CP,USA,M-L) (see appendix) on January 7, 1967, at 9122 South Compton Avenue, Los Angeles. Source advised this is the address of the Workers International Bookstore. Source stated Michael Laski, head of the CP,USA,M-L conducted a class in Marxism-Leninism. He then discussed the formation of People's Armed Defense Groups (PADG) in general terms. He suggested the use of force and the need for the PADG to wear uniforms and carry weapons. Seven Negroes present indicated general disapproval of the PADG, and one male Negro, not identified, stated he felt Negroes were being used, and their lives being endangered by such a group. Laski argued with these men for approximately 30 minutes, with no conclusion being reached.

Also on January 13, 1967, source three advised there was another meeting of the CP,USA,M-L on January 9, 1967 at 9122 South Compton Avenue, Los Angeles. Michael Laski stated he had offered to continue his educationals with the group of Negroes present on January 7, 1967, however, the Negro man with whom he had argued rejected all his overtures and no further contacts are expected with this group of Negro people. None of the seven Negroes were present at this meeting. Laski then proposed that the members wear uniforms while working in the bookstore with a hammer and sickle insignia. He stated this would set an example and reflect authority to the proletariat. Source was of the opinion that Laski was "getting no where" with his conception of the PADG, and stated Laski was considering moving the bookstore and headquarters of the CP,USA,M-L out of the Negro district of Los Angeles.

On February 14, 1967, Source one advised Laski appears to have completely failed to create the PADG in the Negro area of Los Angeles, and while he is an extremist who attempts to create strife wherever possible, his violent attitude hinders him from being successful. Source one further advised the racial situation appears generally calm in the Negro areas of Los Angeles, especially since the appointment of Thomas Reddin as Chief of Police, but stated violence could errupt at any time from a traffic arrest or other minor disturbance involving Negroes and the police.

Pasadena, California

In the "Los Angeles Times" of February 8, 1967, II-1, was an article reporting that a 15 member citizen's committee, formed in December, to study ethnic distribution in Pasadena high schools, had presented recommendations to the Board of Education for Pasadena to improve its racial imbalance, or they would have a situation similar to many Eastern cities.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of February 13, 1967, II-1, was an article reporting that Pasadena officials and realtors were "puzzled" by the warning of the above citizen's committee. Officials of groups mentioned in the report stated they had not been consulted and had not received copies of the report. The head of the Pasadena Board of Realtors stated if the effect of the report was to accentuate differences it could do more harm than good.

VI. EXISTENCE OF CHANNELS OF COMMUNICATION BETWEEN MINORITY LEADERS AND LOCAL OFFICIALS

He stated they should learn the colloquial language of the Negro area, should assign room monitors to help discipline, and make visits to the homes of students where possible.

VII. OBJECTIVES SOUGHT BY MINORITY COMMUNITY AND POSSIBLE POINTS OF CONTENTION

In the "Los Angeles Sentinel" of February 2, 1967, page 6A, was an article by Archie W. Hardwick, head of the WNA, pointing out that the economic gap between the Negro and the white communities would not close until Negroes played a greater role in business. He objected to the transfer of the Small Business Development Centers from the Office of Economic Opportunities to the Small Business Administration. He stated this caused new loan restrictions to go into effect, slowing down the program of encouraging Negroes to enter small businesses.

VIII. REACTION OF LEADERS AND MEMBERS OF THE COMMUNITY TO MINORITY DEMANDS

In the "Los Angeles Herald Examiner" of February 8, 1967, B-1, was an article reporting Chief of Police Thomas Reddin promised he would regularly visit Watts in a personal effort to improve police-community relations. Reddin made the promise at a fund raising campaign for the South Central YMCA.

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

SA T-1 (10/6/66)

At a Communist Party (CP) Club meeting held in San Antonio on October 4, 1966, one of the points on the agenda was "black power". JAMES SAGER talked about 25 minutes on this topic. He gave a concise analysis of the meaning of the term. He read from National Guardian an article by STOKLEY CARMICHAEL and from an article entitled "Black Power", by JAMES JACKSON in Political Affairs. SAGER said that CARMICHAEL was more militant. He said that JACKSON says that the community projects should be coordinated. According to JACKSON, black power does not mean violence. SAGER tended to agree with JACKSON, but recommended the National Guardian article by CARMICHAEL.

SA T-2 (10/4/66)

This source can substantiate in part the information furnished by SA T-1 above concerning the CP Club meeting of October 4, 1966.

SA T-2 (9/7/66)

On September 9, 1966, at a CP Club meeting in San Antonio, Texas, attended by JAMES SAGER, SR. he was elected Educational Director for the CP Club.

(It should be noted that JAMES SAGER, SR., is identical to the JAMES SAGER mentioned above.)

NATIONAL GUARDIAN

"Established by the American Labor Party in 1947 as a 'progressive' weekly  Although it denies having any affiliation with the Communist Party, it has manifested itself from the beginning as a virtual official propaganda arm of Soviet Russia."

(Committee on Un-American Activities, report, "Trial by Treason: the National Committee to Secure Justice for the Rosenbergs and MORTON SOBELL," August 25, 1956, P. 12).

POLITICAL AFFAIRS is self-described as the theoretical journal of the Communist Party, United States of America.

SA T-2 (10/19/66)

At a CP Club meeting held on October 18, 1966, in San Antonio, Texas, one of the points on the agenda was education - "black power" led by JOHN STANFORD.

STANFORD led the educational dealing with "Black Power." He stated he would like to get an analysis from the group present as to the importance of "black power" and whether or not the position taken by STOKLEY CARMICHAEL was correct.

It was pointed out by two others that the present CP line was to the effect that both Negroes and whites should work together and these two agreed with this promise.

Another person present disagreed and gave as an example the recent Second Annual W. E. B. DuBois Clubs of America (DCA) Convention which was held in Chicago. At this convention, the Negro representatives present indicated that they did not want any help from the whites and further that they wanted to control DCA. This other person stated it appeared to him that the "Black Power" concept was something that the Negro people wanted and they did not want to work with the whites. To everyone's amazement, JOHN STANFORD agreed with this person that the Negro concept of "Black Power" was correct.

According to source, it is to be noted that STANFORD was taking notes during this discussion and stated he would compile a report to be submitted to the National CP Office.

This source can substantiate in part the information furnished by SA T-2 concerning the CP Club meeting of October 18, 1966.

SA T-2 (11/20/66)

On November 18, 1966, A CP Club meeting was held in San Antonio. JOHN STANFORD indicated that he had received information from the National Office of the CP that they were to try to select Negro candidates for Congress and Texas was one of these areas designated by the National Office to try to run a Negro for Congress.

SA T-2 (6/27/66)

On June 26, 1966, during the 18th National CP Convention, JOHN STANFORD was elected a member of the National Committee of the CPUSA.

SA T-2 (5/29/66)

Informant advised that at the Texas CP Convention held in San Antonio, Texas, on May 29, 1966, JOHN STANFORD was elected chairman of the CP of the State of Texas.

SA T-1 (12/1/66)

At a meeting of the State Committee of the CP of Texas which was held in San Antonio on November 27, 1966, in discussing the elections in Texas recently, JOHN STANFORD said there was a need to get back to the coalition composed of the Negro, liberal, and Mexican-American elements.

Later in the meeting, one of the points on the agenda was the National Committee meeting which will be held in the near future. STANFORD said that Texas will be represented at the National Committee meeting. He also said that the National Office is sending out too much data for discussion and that there was not enough time to digest and prepare this data. STANFORD did comment that the Party should work for more Negro Congressmen and pointed out that Houston has a Negro woman legislator. He said that she could possibly be a candidate for the U. S. Congress.

SA T-2 (12/14/66)

On December 13, 1966, three members of the National Committee, CPUSA, including JOHN STANFORD, met in San Antonio to discuss the results of the recent National Committee meeting. One of the points on the agenda was GUS HALL's report at the National Committee meeting. STANFORD discussed this. All three National Committee members present agreed that HALL's report was a good report. STANFORD pointed out that in line with HALL's report, the CP in Texas is going to have to concentrate on their Negro community for recruitment. He stated that they are not only going to have to concentrate on them politically, but for all such work in mass organizations.

COMMUNIST INFLUENCE
IN RACIAL MATTERS
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, on February 24, 1967, made available the following letter:

"FROM: Negro Commission February 17, 1967
TO: Districts and all Negro leaders

"Re: Menacing Activities of House Committee on Un-American Activities

"In a ruling in which it decided that the American Nazi party did not constitute a threat to the security of the United States, the House of Representatives Committee on Un-American Activities has once again offered evidence that this House body is an agency of American reaction and ought in the interest of democracy to be immediately abolished.

"The inquiry into the activities of the American Nazis was ordered in 1965. After two years the Committee chairman, Edwin E. Willis, a racist from Louisiana, finds the Nazis to have fewer than 50 active members some of whom are 'afflicted with poverty, mental problems, dissension and homosexuality' and therefore to be no threat to the security of the state.

"Attempts to belittle the danger of American terrorists after what is obviously a casual inquiry in many respects resembles the examination of comparable German committees into the status of the early Hitler gangsters who later deluged Europe in blood. The existence of terrorist groupings openly declaring their hatred of democracy and of Negroes, Jewish people and the labor movement constitutes a present ideological, if not a present political menace. During reaction's frenzied efforts to whip up a white backlash the American Nazis represented a major force for American reaction in the last elections.

"The position of the Un-American Activities Committee therefore is not an underestimation of the threat of this vicious segment of the ultra-Right, but rather an attempt to divert attention from its criminal activities in an effort to nurture it and to assure and protect its growth. The Minute Men, a group of armed terrorists engaged in the bombing of the headquarters of progressive organizations; the KKK and every other terrorist grouping in the USA have found in the Un-American Activities Committee a source of aid and comfort which at the same time has challenged every individual and organized body that sought to end terror as a factor in social relations in the USA.

"The continued existence of the Un-American Committee as an adjunct of the Judicial branch of the Federal government, with its cynical and arrogant acts or passivity in the face of the growing terror, is a grave danger to the rights of labor, the Negro citizenry, the peace forces and thus to national unity, due process of law and Constitutional government.

"An effective reaction of labor to this gross defense of terrorists could well be the mobilization of protest from every possible American citizen seeking equality of rights and opportunities for all. Such a step would be consistent with the statement of Walter Reuther and the UAW which calls on labor to '... work as a responsible member of the community to help solve the problems of the total community and improve the quality of life for all people, acting always in the knowledge that labor can make progress only as it shares in the general progress of the entire community and the entire nation.'

"The position taken by the Un-American Committee is not new. It reflects, however, the increasing efforts of reaction to mount an offensive on the fronts of ideology and of politics and to mobilize community sentiment behind its drive against democracy. It presents at the same time greater opportunity to develop the unity of labor and the Negro people. That opportunity must not be neglected. Attention of all organizations should at once be called to the cynical position taken by that vicious committee. Community editors should be made aware of it.

"Comradely yours,

For the Negro Commission,

William L. Patterson,
Chairman"

Red Role in Riots Here to Be Probed

BY TOM LEACH
[CHICAGO'S AMERICAN
Washington Correspondent]

WASHINGTON — Investigators for the House committee on un-American activities will be in Chicago next month to determine to what extent communist influence has been used to promote and prolong civil disorders there, it was learned today.

A preliminary inquiry by the committee found that Chicago was one of several cities where there was evidence of communist subversion behind the summer riots.

A spokesman said that the probe may take as long as 6 months.

Committee investigators said several known Communists were present at Chicago disturbances during the past 2 years.

The committee also is interested in checking out charges of police brutality made by some demonstrators. So far, the committee has found very little substantiation of brutality charges, it was learned.

If the investigations warrant it, the House committee may hold hearings on the riots.

A preliminary inquiry has been made into more than 70 disturbances thruout the country during the past 2 years.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES
INFORMATION CONCERNING

Enclosed herewith to the Bureau are two copies of a clipping from the 2/14/67 edition of the "Chicago's American," a newspaper of general circulation in the Chicago area, by the newspaper's Washington correspondent TOM LEACH. Said article indicates investigators for the House Committee on Un-American Activities will be in Chicago next month to determine to what extent communist influence has been used to promote and prolong civil disorders in Chicago. Article further indicates a preliminary inquiry by the Committee found that Chicago was one of several cities where there was evidence of communist subversion behind the summer riots. According to the article Committee investigators said several known communists were present at Chicago disturbances during the past two years.

Referenced airtel of 8/12/66 set forth a summary of information developed concerning major racial disturbances which have occurred within the Chicago Division, beginning with "RACIAL DISTURBANCE, FOREMOST LIQUOR STORE, DIXMOOR, ILLINOIS, AUGUST 15-17, 1964;" and ending with "DISTURBANCE, VICINITY OF ROOSEVELT ROAD AND THROOP STREET, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, JULY 12, 1966." Said summary set forth characterizations on individuals and organizations which were found to have been involved in such disturbances and on whom pertinent subversive data was found in Chicago files.

The Chicago Office has received no inquiries from the HCUA concerning this matter. Additionally, WILLIAM J. DUFFY, Director, Intelligence Division, Chicago Police Department, advised on 2/15/67 that his Unit has furnished no information recently to investigators for the HCUA relative to racial disturbances which have occurred in the Chicago area during the past two years.

Chicago is following this matter and the Bureau will be advised of any pertinent information developed.

The Bureau is respectfully requested to advise Chicago of any information bearing on this matter developed through liaison.

Francis McNamara, Staff Director, HCUA, advised on 1-13-67 that HCUA is doing research on the involvement of subversive elements into the various riots looking toward possible hearings at a later date. (See Jones to Wick memo 1-16-67 captioned HCUA).

Albuquerque's report for the period 11/1/66 through 1/31/67, is as follows:

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

No information available.

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

No information available.

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

No other information available.

Informants have advised that PAT BLAU BLAWIS was elected to the National Committee at the 18th National Convention of the CP, USA, held in New York City in July, 1966. On her return to Albuquerque, New Mexico, PAT BLAWIS indicated she planned to start holding regular CP meetings and set up a CP organization for the State of New Mexico. Re-organization of the CP, USA, in the State of New Mexico, reportedly held in abeyance in the fall of 1966 because of illness of PAT BLAWIS' mother and in the early part of the winter of 1966, held in abeyance because of injury to JOHN BLAWIS, husband of PAT BLAWIS. As of January, 1966, reportedly there was no formal CP organization functioning in the State of New Mexico.

All available information has been reviewed by the Albuquerque Office and no indications were noted of any Communist influence in racial meetings in the State of New Mexico during the above period.

On the Slogan and Concept of "Black Power" DOCUMENT

A Discussion Paper

By Roscoe Proctor

In the next decade all indications are that Negro national consciousness (black nationalism) will undergo an explosive growth within the United States. Negro migration to the cities, the cities' growing deterioriation, the failure of society (including the trade unions) to fully integrate Negroes, the worsening economic conditions of the Negro masses, and the growing relations of the Negroes with colored people on a world scale will help to feed black nationalist tendencies and growth.

The history of the American Negro has been one of oscillation between their own development toward separate nationhood and integration into the main stream of American life.

The Revolution of 1776 awakened their desire of being integrated citizens of the new Republic. The results were that slavery was fastened even more firmly upon them in the South. Following the Revolution, freedmen in the North initiated the building of many all-Negro institutions such as Negro churches, press, and fraternal and insurance movements.

The American Civil War and the pre-war struggles against slavery regenerated integrationist concepts among Negroes and the post-war Reconstruction governments of the South were organized on the basis of their being integrated with Americans generally.

This experience with integration came to a sudden end with the Hayes-Tilden presidential campaign compromise of 1876.

The organized terror of the Ku Klux Klan, widespread Negro lynchings and other oppressive features of the "Jim-Crow" system following the defeat of Reconstruction led many Negroes to flee to the North and to develop their sharpest tendencies of independent Negro nationalism under the leadership of Marcus Garvey and the universal Negro Improvement Association.

The New Deal of the 30's, the unionization of some two million Negro workers, the international struggle against fascism and the growth of socialist countries in Eastern Europe following World War II were democratic struggles which again developed strong integrationist trends among American Negroes.

Negro disillusionment with the results of many militant struggles and human sacrifices over the past fifteen years, plus the developments mentioned earlier constitute the basis upon which black nationalism will again be built in the United States.

Negro Identification with Black People Throughout the World

"Africa Enflamed," "Liberation Hurricane Sweeps Africa," "Africa Smashes the Chains of Colonialism" were the newspaper headlines in the 1950's. These were the years of unprecedented upsurge in the national liberation movement. In the five years ending 1960 twenty-two independent African states came into existence. Two more--Sierra Leone and Tanganyika--acquired political independence in 1961; Algeria, Uranda, Ruanda, and Uganda by the end of 1962; and Kenya and Zanzibar by the end of 1963.

American Negroes take pride and dignity from the fact that colored people are governing themselves and are representatives of states. Most major civil rights leaders have visited and talked with leading spokesmen for colored people throughout the world. They meet as brothers, as colored people of the world who have a great deal in common, they speak in terms of the common oppression and the common identity of black people throughout the world. There exists among them close feelings of kinship.

Negro Migration

Negro migration from the South started before the end of the 19th century and took on vast proportions during the war decades.

As late as 1910, the census figures showed that some 80 per cent of the total Negro population was in the South--90 per cent lived in rural areas.

Today three out of four Negroes live in cities--approximately one out of two live in Northern cities. Eleven metropolitan areas have Negro populations between 200,000 and one million.

Population experts predict that by 1980, Afro-Americans will constitute the majority in 50 of the nation's largest cities. In Washington, D.C. and Newark, New Jersey Afro-Americans are already a majority. In Detroit, Baltimore, Cleveland, and St. Louis, they are one-third or more of the population. In a number of other cities, such as Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Oakland they constitute well over one-fourth of the population. There are more Afro-Americans in New York City than in the entire state of Mississippi.

Even where Negroes are not yet a majority, as in Detroit and Oakland, their children are now well over 50 per cent of the school population. Historically it has been in the urban ghettos where nationalism has flourished. It is here that Negro history will be made in the foreseeable future.

Melting Pot Theory Breaks Down

Through the labor unions, public schools, and control of political organizations, earlier immigrant groups have been able to move up and out of the ghettos. Although a few have benefited from the pressures of the civil rights movement, Negro migrants in general have not been able to follow in their footsteps.

The only rise in living standards for the mass of Negroes came as a result of the migration from the bottom of the Southern agricultural ladder to the bottom of the urban industrial ladder. Circumstances of the Negro workers relative to the white workers have grown worse. The Negro has borne the brunt of the deterioration of the services and facilities of the city--employment, housing, transportation, health, education, police protection.

Although capitalism has always militated against its working class moving upward and there still exists a large section of the white working class that is poor, what we are witnessing today is the classic Marxist view of the impoverishment of the masses with the Negro American making up the largest percentage of this group.

Current Employment Status of Negroes

More Negroes are unemployed today than in 1954. Since 1910 the percentage of unskilled labor in the United States has dropped from 36 per cent to 5 per cent of the working force. As unskilled and semi-skilled jobs are eliminated Negro workers are being disproportionately hard hit.

The gap between the wages of the Negro worker and the white worker is wider. The median income of Negro workers is only 50 per cent of whites. While unemployment among white youth is decreasing, the rate among Negro youth has increased to 32 per cent. Among young men 18 to 24 the national rate is five times as high for Negroes as for whites, and among Negro girls the rise is even more startling.

The solution to riots lies in finding jobs for the unemployed and raising the social and economic status of the entire Negro community.

In the South, the trend has been most vicious. Negro tenant and share-croppers have been displaced by machinery and are now seasonal workers or migrants. Since 1957 the demand for agricultural labor in the South has dropped by 48 per cent.

In the future the need for agricultural labor will continue to decline, and while this paper does not attempt to propose any solutions to the problems of the landless farmers in the South it is certainly a question which we have to address ourselves to in the near future.

Housing Conditions Among Negroes

Negroes live in worse slums today than in 1954. The following study made on Negro housing conditions in Harlem (contained in Kenneth Clark's book, Dark Ghetto) is indicative of housing conditions forced upon Negro urban dwellers throughout the United States.

Harlem houses 232,000 people within 3-1/2 square miles. There are more than 100 people per acre. Ninety percent of the 87,000 residential buildings are more than 33 years old--nearly half were built before 1900.

Thirty-three per cent of the buildings are classified as deterioriated. There are more people in fewer rooms than elsewhere in the city and the rent per room is often higher in Harlem than for better-equipped buildings downtown.

The effects of overcrowded, unsafe, and deteriorating housing upon physical health are well documented.

On Schools

Negroes attend more highly segregated schools today than in 1954. "Sixty-five per cent of all first grade Negro students in this country attend schools which are from 90 to 100 per cent black. An estimated 88 to 90 per cent of the Negro pupils in the Southern states are still in totally segregated schools.

"Negro children in ghetto schools tend to lose ground in I.Q. as they proceed through the schools and to fall further and further beyind the standards for their grade level in academic performance. Today about 55 per cent of Negro youth between 18 and 25 years of age are school drop-outs.

"Schools in the ghettos have lost faith in the ability of their students to learn--and the ghetto has lost faith in the schools to lead and to teach."[1]

A three year study recently concluded by the President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency decided that "in most cases (the) study showed that various aspects of the school system itself, rather than any qualities inherent in the students, were the chief factors causing students to leave high school."

The report also showed that "the American high school tends to be a white, middle-class institution loaded against the Negro working-class pupil."

Immediate and total integration of the schools is not possible in cities with large and growing Negro population. As middle-class whites desert the cities and the public schools, the quality of the schools does decline. Not because Negroes are inferior, but because the school system behaves as though they are.

White middle-class parents will not endure reversed bussing--that is, the transport of their children into the ghetto schools which Negroes themselves have said for years are inferior.

Desegregation of urban ghetto public schools will occur only if all of the schools in a district are raised to the highest standards so that the quality of education does not vary as to the income or social status of the neighborhood.[2]

Police and State Apparatus

It has often been said that in the urban ghettos policemen are regarded as occupation soldiers of an unsympathetic colonial government. For anyone who has ever had an opportunity to observe the behavior of cops operating in the black ghettos and to see young Negro militants (both male and female) in their fearless defiant attitudes will agree that this is a fairly accurate description of [illegible]

In each case where uprisings have taken place in the black ghettos the pattern has been the same: An incident involving police harassment, brutality or shooting--street fighting between Negroes and white policemen; bottles, bricks, and Molotov cocktails; smashing of plate glass windows; looting--more cops and finally the National Guard to put down the uprising.[3]

Police brutality and the troops, the failure of state and federal governments to protect Negro citizens in the exercise of their civil and constitutional rights, and the United States racist policies in involving Negro youth in the military services and in foreign aggression again adds fuel to the fire of black nationalism.

The Negro and Vietnam

"In the past, individual Negro leaders have opposed various foreign policies and particular acts of aggression by the government, but never before have entire organizations of the Negro people--as is the case in respect to SNCC and CORE--come out in unequivocal denunciation of a war. In addition to Carmichael and McKissick, Reverend Martin Luther King has come out against the war which Johnson's government wages in Vietnam. A growing number of Negro youth defy the draft boards, the army induction centers, and resist serving on 'hunt and kill' missions against the people of Vietnam." (James Jackson)

Relative improvement in conditions of Negro middle class and the effects of tokenism

The deterioration in the living conditions among the Negro people is only true of the Negro masses. The Negro middle class on the whole is doing very well. This group has, if anything, a preferred position in the job market. U.S. imperialism has rather sharply raised the demand for this group. As I. F. Stone put it, one would be hard put to describe a person with better job opportunities than a newly minted Negro Ph.D.

Business and industry, in the face of the civil rights revolution, have been reassessing their employment policies and hiring Negroes for offices and other salaried positions that they rarely held before. The same thing has been happening in government. Negroes are increasingly being placed in high-paying jobs that are near the cabinet level in government--federal judgeships and the like.

The growth of the black bourgeoisie has been marked since the second world war. Between 1950 and 1960 the proportion of non-white families with income over $10,000 increased from 1 per cent to 4.7 per cent--a rate of growth close to three times that of whites.

The success of the civil rights movement and tokenism has deepened the gap between the Negro middle and upper classes and the Negro masses. As middle-class Negroes are brought into the economic and political power structure they also become more acceptable in the middle- and upper-class suburbs.

The black bourgeoisie has a material stake in the existing social order, but its loyalty is still doubtful because of the special disabilities imposed solely because of color.

If this loyalty can be secured the potential revolutionizing of the Negro protest movement can be forestalled through the placing of loyal Negroes in prominent positions.

The fact that the great mass of Negroes derives no benefit from tokenism does not mean that they are unaffected by it. One of the purposes of tokenism, and to the extent that it succeeds, one of its consequences is to detach the ablest young men and women from their own people and thus to deprive the liberation movement of its best leadership material.

Even those who have no stake in the system and no hope of acquiring, may become reconciled to it if they come to believe there is a chance that their children or even their children's children may be able to rise out of their own degraded conditions.[4]

The Break-Up of the Old Democratic Party-Labor-Liberal Coalition

From the time of the Abolitionist Movement to World War II, civil rights remained the cause of a small, predominantly white reformist group whose influence was more a matter of persuasion than political power. What changed civil rights almost overnight from a peripheral moral issue to a major domestic movement was the emergence of the Negroes themselves as a nationwide bloc.

Since World War II our domestic policies have been dominated by two political forces--the civil rights coalition and the Negro revolution. Often these two movements are lumped together under the term "civil rights movement" when they are distinct movements with different histories, constituencies, and goals.

The civil rights movement has been essentially concerned with the structure of law and social justice. Its goal has been to bring the legal and formal institutional structure of American society into closer conformity with constitutional principles.

The civil rights coalition can point to some radical changes in the formal structure of American society--the reconstruction of the legal basis of civil rights; the fixing of federal responsibility to intervene where possible to enforce civil rights; and the establishment of equality before the law as the public policy of the nation.

Conflicts between the white liberals and the Negroes began when the militant direct action tactics (mass demonstrations, sit-ins, boycotts) were exported to the North. Such tactics seemed suitable to conditions in the South but black militancy in general was a new experience for the white man. The issue of aggressive tactics more and more distinguished whites from blacks within the civil rights coalition and militant Negro leadership.

The Negro's demand for special consideration was another source of tension. While the white coalition thought it was correcting an injustice by repairing the New Deal's failure to take in the Negro, the Negro himself found that the problem of unemployment had grown so serious that it could no longer be dealt with by the normal process of non-discrimination. The Negro demand for compensatory hiring and preferential treatment that was formulated to meet this situation turned out to be totally unacceptable to the liberals for it conflicted with the traditional liberal idea of equal opportunity and equal treatment of people according to their individual merits Virtually everything that was seen by the liberals as legal civil rights has either been granted or has been accepted in principle at least.

The liberal berates the Negro militant whose aggressiveness he blames for the weakening of the coalition when, in fact, that coalition is dying from having performed its function.

Equality of opportunity has had little effect upon the segregated lives of the vast majority of Negroes who are still forced to live in the ghetto. The great majority of ghetto dwellers are daily witnesses to the capacity of the ghetto to replenish itself at its core more rapidly than it can be skimmed off at the periphery by those few Negroes who fight their way to its outer edge.

No strategy can be regarded as realistic unless it recognizes that whatever additional gains the Negro can hope to achieve through the civil rights movement are not likely to help his economic predicament or radically reduce the overwhelming effect of the ghetto upon his life.

Until recently the liberal philosophy of the civil rights agencies provided the sole strategy for the Negro cause. Today the disillusionment with the liberal ideal of a color-blind society is strengthening the forces that are for a color-conscious Negro movement.

The coalition is breaking up because it has fulfilled so much of the legal aspect of the civil rights program and have no program by which it can deal with the economic plight of the Negro masses. The answer lies in a new coalition program, organized around the cities, as that of the old coalition was organized around the federal government.

The liberals played a strategic role in uniting diverse groups in the New Deal coalitions which initiated the reforms of the last 35 years. At present the liberals are failing to perform a similar role in uniting the groups that comprise the cities.[6]

A combination of these factors have in the recent past and will continue to feed the growth of national consciousness and identity among the oppressed Negro people. Likewise the early black nationalist groups, the best known of which is the so-called Black Muslims, have also influenced the Negroes perceptibly. The black nationalist tells the Negro he is somebody and that his salvation depends upon the proud acceptance of his own blackness.

During the last years and months before his untimely assassination, Malcolm X had a tremendous influence on the black community, especially the younger people. Malcolm X stressed the need for militancy and unity in the community; he directed attention to the poorest and most oppressed section of the black community. He was the first since the late Dr. Du Bois to establish direct links with the new nations and movements in Africa. I believe a new analysis of his role and impact on the community is in order.

From both the civil rights coalition and the Negro movement over the past few years have come many fine and militant fighters in the cause of the people, many of whom were introduced to political thought and struggle for the first time. This includes most of the black militants who are now emerging as the major proponents of the "Black Power" slogan and concepts.

Total integration is a recognized, valid concept and is the ultimate goal of most Black Power advocates. Their desire to build Black Power reflects a practical recognition of a necessary process through which a genuine integration can be achieved.

"We found that the cult of color-blindness is not only irrelevant, but seriously flawed." We learned that "America couldn't simply be color blind, it would have to become color-blind and it would only become color-blind when we gave up our color."[7]

Equality would be achieved by denying the dignity of having a black skin or a black history. Black people were expected to deny their blackness just at the time that they were discovering that black men and women had played a leading role in shaping history. Gabriel Prosser, Nat Turner , Denmark Vesey, Harriet Tubman, Charles L. Redman, Sojourner Truth, Samuel E. Carnis, Frederick Douglass, W.E. B. Du Bois were American heroes and they were black.

"Integration, moreover, speaks to the problems of blackness in a despicable way. As a goal it has been based on the complete acceptance..that...to have a decent house or education blacks must move into a white neighborhood and send their children to a white school. This reinforces... the idea that white is automatically better and black is by definition inferior."[8]

When the Negro community has political, economic and professional strength and can compete on more equal terms, black people will see the possibility of cooperation and whites will see its necessity.

"For integration, the Negro community needs to develop greater independence--a chance to run its own affairs and not to cave in whenever 'the man' barks... it cannot win the rights to human dignity without the ability to respect and cherish its own humanity.[9]

"The Negro...must depend upon political action through color consciousness as the main installment of solidarity. This solidarity entails a certain degree of separatism, but the separatism of a strengthened and enriched Negro community need be no more absolute than, that, say of a Jewish community. There is no reason, after all, why the Negro should not be able to live as most Americans do, in two world at once. One of them largely integrated and the other primarily separated."[10]

The "Black Power" slogan (black consciousness) is a means for reaching and bringing together the Negro poor--both politically and psychologically.

"Black consciousness sees...beauty in black skins and thick lips and broad nostrils, and kinky hair. It rids our vocabuliaries of 'good hair,' high yellow, and their medicine cabinets of bleaching cream."[11]

It is an attack on the civil rights agencies who advocate equality of opportunity and absorption of deserving Negroes into white society but who have no program for eliminating poverty in the ghetto.

Black power advocates would put emphasis on rebuilding the black ghettos "from citadels of despair into monuments of hope."[12]

"In Alabama...if a Negro is elected sheriff he can end police brutality, if a black man is elected tax assessor he can collect and channel funds for the building of better roads and schools serving black people, thus advancing the move from political power into the economic arena."[13]

Black power means uniting the black community politically to elect black representatives from the slums and cottonfields as well as from the Negro middle-class representatives which will be responsible to such constituencies.

"Black Power invites the black people to assume autonomy in the black community.

"It means the creation of a power base from which black people can change state-wide or nationwide patterns of oppression from pressure through strength."[14]

Black Leadership

"The need for psychological equality is the reason why SNCC today believes that blacks must organize in the black community...Only black people can convey the revolutionary idea that black people are able to do things themselves. Only they can help create in the community an aroused and continuing black consciousness that will provide the basis for political strength. Black people must do things themselves.

They must get poverty money that they will control and spend themselves. They must conduct tutorial programs themselves so that black children can identify with black people....

"As long as white people are there doing the work, the idea is perpetuated that only white people can do things."[15]

Black Power and Self Defense Concepts

Many of the Black Power advocates take issue with the "non-violent" concept. They feel that the black consciousness concept implies both a need and an obligation that blacks defend themselves.

Advocacy of self-defense should not be confused with advocacy of violence. The strong emphasis placed by SNCC on political organizing as a means of avoiding violence is proof of this.

"Effective independent political organization may be the last, best, and only hope of avoiding violence as a means of attacking the racial situation in America."[16]

Black Power and the System

The foremost Black Power advocates maintain that for racism to die, a totally different system must be born.

"The society we seek to build among black people is not a capitalistic one. It is a society in which the spirit of the community and humanistic love prevail. We won't fight to save the existing society, in Vietnam, or anywhere else. Our struggle for liberation is part of the great revolution sweeping the entire world--a revolution against all of the great white fathers in every nook and corner of this earth.

"...We are just going to work in the way we see fit and on goals we define--not for civil rights, but for all our human rights."[17]

Black Power and the Building of New Coalitions

"Until recently the struggle had to focus on the simple right to vote and organize. Now we are to the point where we can think about what to do with the vote." [18]

Negroes in this country constitute eleven per cent of the total population, and have a majority only in a few counties in the South. For this reason they will continue to need alliances with other sectors of the population, but with whom is the question SNCC asks. SNCC says that for a meaningful coalition to exist two conditions must be fulfilled, there must be internal power within each group and the groups must have kindred interests.

"We hope to see eventually a coalition between poor blacks and poor whites. This is the only coalition which seems acceptable to us. And we see such a coalition as the major internal instrument of change in a society."[19]

It is at this point that SNCC would direct white people to begin organizing poor white people of the South who have been by-passed by the civil rights movement and left prety to the white racist groups and their propaganda.

Therefore Black Power advocates call for more than participation in electoral politics. It demands many things of black people--that they stop being ashamed of being black; that they move into a position where they can define what freedom is, what a white liberal is, what black nationalism is, what imperialism is, what power is; that they move to build a power base around the question of blackness; and that they move to build independent political, social, economic institutions that they can control and use as instruments of change.[20]

Splits Within the Civil Rights Movement

It has been said and often repeated that it was the "Black Power slogan" which has caused the split within the civil rights movement. However, it should be clear by now that the cleavage within the movement goes much deeper than the mere use of a slogan and had its origin in differing attitudes and concepts which existed long before the slogan "Black Power" was projected on the Mississippi march last July.

The major reasons for the split in the movement are the existing differences around whether Negroes should remain part of the old civil rights coalition and within the Democratic Party structure or whether the Negro masses should be called upon to develop more meaningful coalitions and move toward independent political action. Whether Negroes should support or remain quiet about United States imperialism and the Vietnam war or whether they should be called upon to resist the draft and help to bring the war to a halt. Whether change should take place within the formal constitutional bounds of the racist capitalist system or whether change should be sought in the system itself. Whether Negroes should pursue only passive non-violence in principle and tactics or whether non-violence should be supplemented with self-defense. Whether Negroes should pursue solely an integrationist, assimilationist goal as an immediate aim or whether or not the drive for total integration should be coupled with the building of black pride, consciousness, and unity buttressed by independent political and economic strength.

Differences in attitudes regarding leadership for the black people's movement and what role is to be played by the Negro masses and the methods and tactics to be used in the struggle has also contributed towards the split.

Generally the leadership of the Urban League and the NAACP have aligned themselves with the civil rights coalition and the leadership of CORE and SNCC have become the spokesmen for the Negro revolution. Although differing on the role of non-violence, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, under Rev. Martin Luther King, joins CORE and SNCC in orienting toward the Negro masses rejecting imperialism and raising basic questions about the system. But the alignment has not completely hardened. The last convention of the NAACP saw a major battle in which delegates successfully prevented the leadership from condemning the notion of Black Power and the movement's spokesmen. All five of these groups are heavily influenced by their different constituencies and sources of support.

Weanesses of the Black Power Concepts as Projected by Its Leading Advocates Up To This Point.

One weakness is the lack of a commonly accepted definition of the meaning of the Black Power slogan (or concept). At present this slogan means different things to different people--it all depends on who is interpreting it.

The lack of a program for the movement is another. Few Black Power advocates are able to make concrete suggestions when asked by activists, "What should I do?" A program is the major factor around which Black Power can be realized in practice. It is through the relationship between the concrete, day-to-day needs and the long term goals of the movement that the masses will come to understand the need to organize their political strength and make it felt on the economic and cultural fronts.

In spite of the fact that the overwhelming majority of the Negro people are of the working class, and the foremost advocates of the Black Power concept are orienting in the direction of the black masses there are already strong indications that the Negro movement may take the path of petit bourgeois Negro nationalism.

With the exception of the community cooperatives concept projected by Carmichael, most programmatical points suggested thus far are petit bourgeois in content aimed in the direction of building black owned small consumer businesses and in gaining employment for some individual sales people here and there through the use of the consumer boycott. There is also a tendency to rely upon self-help programs within the Negro community as the sole solution to the economic problems of the Negro masses.

The co-op concept could be a positive thing should it take roots in the Negro community. However, it alone cannot solve the problem of a source of basic raw materials, or heavy production industry, the basis upon which consumer industry is built.

None of the Black Power advocates seem to have a clear recognition of the existence of social classes within the United States or the need to develop a class viewpoint and consciousness among the American working people--Negro or white.

Kenneth Clark, in Dark Ghetto, says that the American Labor movement is basically a vehicle by which the working man seeks to realize his aspirations to be a boss. "That is a refutation of the Marxian premise of categorical cleavages between economic classes." Carmichael states that Negroes are poor only because they are black.

To successfully combat the potential danger of the black movement developing along petit bourgeois lines it will be necessary that the interest of the working masses at all times remain decisive and that the movement's leading cadres be armed with an understanding of the national question from a working class point of view.

Such a class understanding is also necessary to the Negro movement as a guideline for determining which class of white America has interests which are basically opposed to theirs, and to determine which classes can be looked upon as potential allies in a joint struggle based upon their own self-interest, even though they will still be infected with notions of white supremacy which are common to all

Marxists must view nationalism within its given historical setting, and decide what attitudes they should take toward it.

Nationalism in itself is not necessarily a negative development. It can be very positive depending upon who raises it, in what period, and what class interest it serves.

This growth of Negro nationalism is a reflection of Negro political maturity and it poses many new questions of theoretical and practical concern for the Negro freedom movement and for the Marxist movement.

This paper is intended to stimulate further discussion on theoretical aspects of the Negro Question in the United States in the hopes that such discussions will be finalized at a National Conference in the field of Negro work held this year.

Some guide lines:

The national liberation struggles of today can no longer be appraised from the viewpoint of the bourgeois revolutions of the old world before World War I and the Russian October Revolution. Prior to that time the National Question constituted a part of the world bourgeois democratic revolution; since then the National Question has become a part of the world working class socialist revolution.

Therefore, national liberation movements must now exercise an independent role which objectively favors peace and the struggle against imperialism and the capitalist monopolies.

The struggle for political independence must enhance the struggle for economic and social well-being. Therefore, the national liberation movements must pay close attention to economic questions and their solution, elaborating both long term and short term economic programs and goals.

Need for a class approach toward the oppressed Negro people

For many years the Socialist party held that the Negro Question was solely a class issue, and it did not especially concern itself with such national outrages against the Negro people as lynchings, and other manifestations of Jim-Crow. On the other hand, we in the Party, tended to go to the opposite extreme. For a period of time, in theory if not in practice, we tended to think only in terms of a Negro nation and to underplay the class aspects of the Negro question.[1]

The major class divisions to be found in the United States are also to be found in the Negro community: the bourgeoisie, the petit bourgeoisie, the small farmers, the working class. "Negro people as a people are the most proletarian of all the large nationality ethnic groups who make up the American nation. Over 85 per cent are of the working class." James Jackson - World Marxist Review

It is now time that the Left build a more balanced Negro program. One in which the questions of race, class, and nation all play their proper roles.

Along with the recent growth of black consciousness, there has also been in the past few years a growing consciousness of the existence of the poor within the United States and you might say a "poor people's consciousness" among the poor as they become organized.

The need is to further develop this consciousness and to link it with class consciousness and to show both, why people are poor in the first place (especially in the richest country in the world); and also why a more equitable social system (socialism) is needed in order to eliminate unemployment and poverty within the United States.

National liberation movements and oppressed people all over the world historically have put forth their own political slogans and demands. Black Power is the slogan of the most politically advanced leaders of the oppressed Negro people. It is around this slogan that they seek to express both their political independence of monopoly capitalism and the organization of the Negro masses against their oppression.

The various substitute and counter slogans, i.e. "people's power", "human power," etc. which have arisen in response to the Black Power slogan are no substitue for the black people's own slogans and should not be posed against their slogan.

People's power, human power and other such slogans have legitimacy only within the framework of a prior recognition of the right of the oppressed Negro people to further their own independent organizations and development and the need for coalition relationships among all groupings whose common interest is served through joint struggle against monopoly capital and imperialism.

The lack of emphasis now placed upon integration by the black power advocates, should be interpreted only as applying to black people's national and community development and not to the American society as such. Economically speaking the Negro people are not only reliant upon, but are bound to the American economy as a whole. The struggle for Negro inclusion into the trade unions, the various shops, the schools of higher learning; the political life of the country, etc. constitute the very basis upon which the struggle for unity between the oppressed Negro people and the broader American working class and progressive movements can be realized in practice.

The fact that the Negro people are primarily of the poor and of the working class means that the struggle for Negro liberation cannot be directed against the white working class and the white poor who are also exploited, but rather against the American ruling class which exploits the poor Negro and white workers in common.

Within this framework, however, the Negro worker and unemployed have every right to expect that no racist or discriminatory bars be placed in their path as they seek full employment. Wherever any such anti-working class restrictions exist the Negro people have every right to organize their strength to level such bars. In doing so, they will be acting in the interests of the working class unity and in the best interest of the working class as a whole.

Against this background the question of building coalition relations and alliances should be approached as an on-going development, flowing from day-to-day struggles rather than through years of completely isolated separate struggles to be followed by the sudden coalescing (on a certain date) of all the progressive, exploited, and oppressed. Coalitions are built in struggle.

Marxist-Leninists should help to put more flesh and bone on the black power slogan, put more political and theoretical life into it, help to give it a Marxist-Leninist interpretation.

It should help to impart to the movement not only class consciousness and class pride, and work to bring trade-unionists from the ghetto and the farm workers into leadership of the movement. (There is a need for this especially in dealing with union discrimination rather than leaving this leadership to the petit bourgeois elements in the black community).

The Left should help to develop programs around which black power can be realized in practice--broaden and deepen its positive but too general concepts--offering a guideline around which the black masses can be mobilized in day-to-day struggles to improve their conditions of life.

RACIAL MATTER

Reference is made to Chicago communication dated January 9, 1967.

A confidential source who has furnished reliable information in the past advised that he had obtained a copy of a piece of literature which had been maintained in the Congress of Racial Equality Office at 4043-45 South Prairie Street, Chicago, Illinois, which literature furnished information regarding a committee to save Congressman Adam Clayton Powell's seat in the Congress of the United States.

The following is information set forth in a piece of literature entitled "The Citizens Committee To Save Powell":

"This committee was established by A. Phillip Randolph in an attempt to move black men to action on the serious case that confronts Adam Clayton Powell, a Congressional leader who hails from Harlem, where he received 74% of the votes that sent him to Congress.

"Chapters of this committee have sprung up in all major cities. The CITIZENS COMMITTEE TO SAVE POWELL in Chicago was organized by the Reverend James A. Williams, pastor of the Mount Olive Missionary Baptist Church, 5512 S. Lafayette Avenue. Mr. Williams had the insight to invite militant civil rights groups to join him in this fight. Organizations that come out in support of Rev. Williams are: CHICAGO CHAPTER OF CORE (Robert Lucas, Chairman); ACT (L. Landry, Chairman & Douglas Andrews, West Side Chairman of ACT); AFRO-AMERICAN STUDENT ASSOCIATION (James Harvey, Chairman).... A tribute to Rev. Williams who is, himself, an aspirant for political office in Chicago (20th WARD Aldermanic candidates)."

This same source advised on February 10, 1967, that a meeting of the Congress of Racial Equality would be held on February 11, 1967, at which time Congressman Powell's position would be discussed and also ways to help Powell would be discussed. This same source advised on February 13, 1967, that at the meeting of February 11, 1967, no mention was made of Congressman Powell and that there are no future plans at the present time to assist Congressman Powell.

This same source and also confidential sources two, three, and four, all of whom have furnished reliable information in the past have advised on numerous occasions in January and February, 1967, that the efforts to help Congressman Powell in Chicago received very little support and at the present time there are no plans to demonstrate or to assist Congressman Powell in any way.

A copy of this communication is being furnished to the United States Attorney's Office, Chicago, Illinois; United States Secret Service, Chicago; and Region I, 113th MI Group, Evanston, Illinois.

Security Matter - C

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on February 27, 1967, that he had learned that Martin Luther King, the President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) and Stanley Levison were in contact on that date. Their principal purpose in conferring was to talk about a speech King had made in Beverly Hills, California on Saturday, February 25, 1967, during which time he urged the withdrawl of American troops from Vietnam.

Levison, in apprising King that his speech received front page coverage in Sunday's issue of "The New York Times", felt that no longer could it be said by the American people that King did not have the right to speak on Vietnam. In fact, according to Levison, King's appearance on a panel with four United States Senators, was the proper place for him to express his anti-war sentiments. Furthermore, he felt that King's voice was much more influencial when in the company of such prominent people as the four Senators.

Priority No. 1; Redirecting American Power", was conducted by "The Nation" Magazine, with headquarters in New York. An audience of over 1,5000 persons attended the all-day meeting at the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

Dr. King, the article reported, in the main speech of the day, contended that the United States' failure to submit its case against the North Vietnamese to the United Nations Security Council had "undermined the purpose of the U.N., caused its effectiveness to atrophy, and placed our nation in the position of being morally and politically isolated."

The United States' activities in Vietnam, King said, amounted to "supporting a new form of colonialism covered up by certain niceties of complexity."

In continuing his contention that the United States should get out of Vietnam, the paper reported King as having said: "The promises of the Great Society have been shot down on the battlefield of Vietnam.

"The pursuit of this widened war has narrowed domestic welfare programs, making the poor, white and Negro, bear the heaviest burdens both at the front and at home. The recently revealed $10-billion mis-estimate of the war budget alone is more than five times the amount committed to the anti-poverty programs. The security we profess to see in foreign adventures we will lose in our decaying cities."

King observed that "we" are willing to make the Negro 100 per cent of a citizen in warfare, but reduce him to 50 per cent of a citizen on American soil.

Security Matter - C

In concluding his remarks, King is reported to have commented that "we" are presently moving down a dead-end road that could lead to national disaster. "It", King said, "is time for all people of conscience to call upon America to return to her true home of brotherhood and peaceful pursuits. Those of us who love peace must organize as effectively as the war hawks."

The Country, according to King, still has a choice: "nonviolent coexistence or violent co-annihilation."

The paper article identified the four Senators who took part in the conference as Eugene J. Mc Carthy of Minnesota, George Mc Govern of South Dakota, Ernest Gruening of Alaska and Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon.

In continuing their conference, Levison and King then discussed King's newest book which Levison is helping write. In regard to the chapter dealing with what Levison described as broaching the question of admitting Red China to the United Nations, Levison agreed on a statement which King made to the effect that people should not be called Communists because they advocate the admission of Red China. He told King that he should also comment that spending more money on war than on social uplifting was causing the United States to approach spiritual death.

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised in April, 1964, that Stanley Levison was a secret member of the Communist Party, USA (CP, USA) in July, 1963. In late 1963, and early 1964, he criticized the CP for not being sufficiently militant in the civil rights struggle. Levison was described by certain CP leaders as being to the "left" of the CP in his position on civil rights. His differences with the CP, however, are merely tactical and he continues his ideological adherence to Communism. (S) (U)

CALIFORNIA NEGRO LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE
SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA
FEBRUARY 17-19, 1967

The "Sun Reporter," a Negro newspaper published by Dr. CARLTON B. GOODLETT in the Fillmore Section of San Francisco, a predominately Negro community, carried a news story and editorial in the issue of the paper of February 25, 1967, of a three-day Negro Leadership Conference. It was reported that penetrating insight, broad views and spirited debate characterized the weekend California Negro Leadership Conference on economic survival in an automated society; the conference was called a landmark for a more bold and realistic approach to the solution of problems confronting minorities and industry in vital areas of employment. On the level of interracial understanding, it was reported that the conference was an example of the most candid expressions.

It was stated that the conference was all the more notable because for the first time California Negro leaders convened to examine, confront, and re-define the right to work question. It was reported that BAYARD RUSTIN, described as a bold civil rights leader who organized the great Washington march in 1963, flew in from New York to make a ringing, passionate defense of the closed union shop, against open-shop advocate REED LARSON, knowledgeable Executive Vice-President of the National Right to Work Committee. At the conference LARSON charged that compulsory unionism is a major obstacle to full employment opportunities, and that it is often unfair to the individual worker, and that one of its strongest undemocratic elements is that union officers have seized arbitrary power and are generally immune to discipline or discharge from office by the rank and file.

On the other hand, it was reported, RUSTIN emphasized organized labor's record of aiding minorities in overcoming racial barriers to employment, but admitted there is discrimination in a minority segment of the labor movement. He stated that this is the core of the Negro problem and he charged that this segment includes the craft unions of skilled labor where minorities are shut out by cold bias. He charged that in all the craft unions throughout the country, only two per cent of its membership are Negroes and other minorities. RUSTIN stated that the remedy is that the Negro people must make their movement come to represent the majority will of the American people. In making this statement RUSTIN did not define the "majority will," but GOODLETT in reporting the speech assumed that he believes that it strongly favors equality of opportunity and justice for all.

It was concluded by those present that there is evidence to support the belief that such is not the case, locally or nationally. To back up this view the conference cited the fact that California voters in 1946 defeated a fair employment practices referendum and years later voted for discrimination in housing. Opposition to fair employment practices and open housing is still active in California, it was declared.

There was a discussion of the 1963 sit-ins at Auto Row in San Francisco and the demonstrations at the Sheraton Palace Hotel for increased employment of Negroes, and that the gains made as a result of these demonstrations were almost lost in recent months when labor tried to "renege" on agreements entered into as a result of these demonstrations. It was charged that the "last straw" was the coming into power of a conservative state administration at the recent California elections. The conference was convinced that biased craft unions, where higher earnings are guaranteed, continue to remain adamant against accepting minorities in the unions, but these minorities have the right to work, which leads inevitably to a re-examination of the right to work question.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

CALIFORNIA NEGRO LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE
SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA
FEBRUARY 17-19, 1967

There was a weighty discussion of the problems of youth, especially Negro youth, in not being able to obtain gainful employment. It was charged that bureaucracy in local and state government prevents the "taming of industrial giants," many of them blinded to the demands of economic justice, which blindness keeps the Negro at the bottom of the socio-economic scale.

However, it was recognized that the conference made possible a dialogue between Negro leaders and several officials of state and federal agencies which deal with the problems of minority employment and apprenticeship training programs. It was resolved that there must be a complete, common-sense change in philosophy, and government and private industry must re-think every element of the citizen's right to an income.

It was concluded that during the three-day conference it became obvious that there is a stern necessity for Negro leadership to hold a dialogue with the majority, and that a special meeting should be called soon for this specific purpose and insure more tangible results. The dominant theme from the conference was declared to be the need for unity among Negro leaders without which no effective progress is possible, and that tolerance, objective understanding and unity must run rampant among the Negro people to accomplish their purposes.

A source advised on January 15, 1947, that Dr. CARLTON GOODLETT was discussed at a meeting of the Dewey Davis Branch of the Professional Section of the Communist Party (CP) of San Francisco. The discussion ended with the conclusion that even though GOODLETT did not attend many meetings of this branch, he would be continued on the rolls of the CP because of the amount of work he did on the outside.

Re: Nationwide General Strike to Protest Refusal of United States House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. to Seat Representative Adam Clayton Powell, New York City, New York, Sponsored by the United Strike Committee, Detroit, Michigan, February 13, 1967

Reference is made to Detroit letterhead memorandum dated February 14, 1967 captioned as above.

It is to be noted that referenced Detroit letterhead memorandum contained information relative to a proposed nationwide economic boycott scheduled to be held on the day before Good Friday, March 23, 1967, throughout the United States. Further, that this boycott would be aimed at keeping children out of school and the banning of business establishments on March 23, 1967.

All sources hereinafter referred to have furnished reliable information in the past.

On March 8, 1967 source number one advised that on March 7, 1967 a mass rally co-sponsored by the United Strike Committee and the Inner City Organizing Committee was held at the Central United Church of Christ, 7625 Linwood Avenue, Detroit, Michigan. The purpose of this rally was to discuss the proposed nationwide economic boycott throughout the United States on March 23, 1967 in protest of the refusal of the United States House of Representatives to seat Congressman Adam Clayton Powell of New York City, New York.

Approximately 200 individuals, the majority of whom were Negroes, were in attendance at this rally. The rally commenced at 8:00 PM and was concluded at approximately 11:00 PM.

There were a number of speakers at this affair, all of whom urged those in attendance to support this nationwide economic boycott on March 23, 1967 by keeping their children home from school and not frequenting places of business on this date.

The two principal speakers at this affair were Reverend Albert E. Cleage, Jr., the organizer of the Inner-City Organizing Committee, and attorney Milton Henry.

Reverend Cleage during his speech urged those in attendance to wholeheartedly support the proposed boycott and indicated that he personally believed that the National Association for Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and the Urban League organizations were dominated and controlled by the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

According to source number one, attorney Milton Henry spoke and also requested those in attendance to support this proposed nationwide economic boycott on March 23, 1967 and further indicated during his speech that the United States was a racist, violent and hateful country. He indicated that he wished to build a nation apart from the United States and advocated the formation of a Mau Mau type organization in this connection.

Source number one advised that a collection was taken up at this rally and approximately $106.00 was raised to be utilized in connection with the proposed nationwide economic boycott on March 23, 1967.

Source number two advised during May, 1964 that on May 22, 1964 Milton Henry spoke at a meeting of the Friday Night Socialist Forum (FNSF) held at 3737 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan. Henry spoke on the topic "Proportioned Underground Warfare". Henry during his speech advocated the formation of a Negro underground apparatus capable of performing acts of sabotage, destruction of government property and actual killing in order to secure full Negro rights.

~~C O N F I D E N T~~ (U) I A L

Source number three advised on February 27, 1964 that Reverend Albert B. Cleage, Jr. is State Chairman of the Michigan Committee for a Freedom Now Party which is an adjunct of the National Committee for a Freedom Now Party.

The "New York Times", August 24, 1963 edition, carried an article entitled "An All-Negro Party For 1964 is Formed". The article indicated that a national all-Negro political party was being organized. It hoped to run its own slate in the congressional and local elections in 1964. A tentative National Committee had opened offices at 81 East 125th Street, New York City under the acting chairmanship of Conrad J. Lynn, a Negro lawyer who specializes in civil rights cases.

A leaflet entitled "A Call for a Freedom Now Party" was publically circulated in the summer of 1963 and called for the formation of a Freedom Now Party with an all-black slate and a platform for liberation.

The May 8, 1963 edition of "The Journal News", a newspaper published daily in Nyack, New York, contained an article which reveals that Conrad J. Lynn stated at a hearing of the House on Un-American Activities on May 6, 1963 that he had been a member of the Young Communist League from 1928 to 1931 and had been a member of the Communist Party from 1934 to 1937. Lynn said he left the Communist Party because he had been expelled after a trial because of his stand during the Trinidad oil workers strike of February, 1937, which he said went against the Party line.

Source advised on March 10, 1967, that at a meeting of the Political Action Committee of the Communist Party (CP) of Illinois which was held in Chicago, Illinois, on March 8, 1967, a discussion was held concerning Martin Luther King, Jr. Source stated that during this discussion it was indicated that at the present time there was a move underway to set up a National Peace Ticket for the 1968 Presidential election on which Martin Luther King would run for President of the United States. Source added that it was further indicated at the aforementioned meeting that to formulate plans for this National Peace Ticket, top leaders in the Negro movement from various areas of the United States are reportedly gathering in one of the southern states to discuss King's possible candidacy on the National Peace Ticket. However, according to source no additional details were mentioned with respect to the aforementioned matter. (U)

Source further advised that it was further indicated at this CP of Illinois Political Action Committee meeting that elements of the right wing of the civil rights movement, not further described, are endeavoring at the present time to force Martin Luther King out of Chicago, Illinois, this summer. It was stated that it was believed that the Daley machine (Mayor Richard Daley) is behind this move inasmuch as Mayor Daley, supposedly, has been approached by several leaders of the Democratic National Convention Committee to locate a site for the 1968 Democratic National Convention and that these people, in effect, have given Mayor Daley some kind of message that if Chicago is to be another Watts (Los Angeles, California, 1965 Watts riot) they would not consider holding the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago. Therefore, according to source, pressure is being exerted on Mayor Daley to see that this will not be the case. KU

According to source, it was also indicated at this meeting that it was believed that President Lyndon Johnson is making his influence felt in pressuring Martin Luther King to stay out of Chicago because of King's connection with the National Peace Ticket. Source added that it was opined by several of those present at this meeting that exponents of the move to expel King from Chicago are offering King a five state "bread-basket campaign" as an enticement to leave Chicago. However, according to source, it was stated that King is not expected to accept this offer. KU

Source also stated that it was commented at this Political Action Committee meeting that the civil rights movement, particularly the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations (CCCO) and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) are becoming convinced that the only way to effectively influence the political climate of Chicago is to organize along ward lines. It was added that King has been heard to state that he will tend to seek support in the future from the left element rather than, as in the past, be guided or influenced in policy making decisions from the right element. KU

Source stated that in addition to the discussion surrounding Martin Luther King, a discussion was also held at this Political Action Committee meeting concerning the forthcoming Mayoral election in Chicago. In this respect a discussion was held concerning the CP. giving full support to Dick Gregory's independent write-in campaign for the office of Mayor in Chicago. According to source there was some question as to how the Party could effect this support, however, it was agreed by those present that the Party should issue a statement in support of Gregory's campaign. Source added that a subcommittee was set up consisting of four members to draw up a statement which would reflect CP support for Gregory's Mayoral campaign. (U)

The source added that it was also considered at this meeting that the Party should try to inform Gregory to come up with some real issues in this campaign and that he, Gregory, should propose a definite program which would be attractive to the voters of Chicago. (U)

The source has furnished reliable information in the past.

Nationwide General Strike to Protest Refusal of U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., to Seat Representative Adam Clayton Powell, New York City, New York, Sponsored by the United Strike Committee, Detroit, Michigan, February 13, 1967

Reference is made to Detroit letterhead memorandum, dated March 8, 1967, captioned as above.

It is to be noted that referenced Detroit letterhead memorandum contained information relative to a proposed nationwide economic boycott to be held on the day before Good Friday, March 23, 1967, throughout the United States. In addition to the economic boycott, it was indicated that children would boycott educational institutions on this date also.

On March 23, 1967, sources of the Detroit Office, who have furnished reliable information in the past, furnished the following information relative to this matter:

Local Detroit educational institutions experienced no excessive absenteeism either among student or teaching personnel on this date. The elementary grade and junior high school students did not have classes on this date inasmuch as conferences had been scheduled on this date between teachers and the parents of the students in the Detroit public schools.

There was no indication from local merchants in the downtown Detroit area that they experienced any noticeable reduction in patronage on this date. These individuals indicated that generally the day before Good Friday is usually not as busy due to the fact that many religious institutions hold services on this date.

The majority of the Negro community of Detroit expressed very little interest in this economic boycott and this matter received little attention in the Detroit Negro community. Many responsible Negro leaders came out publicly against the boycott and urged other members of the Negro community to refrain from any participation or support.

RE: COMMUNIST PARTY, USA,
NATIONAL EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETINGS,
NEW YORK, NEW YORK,
MARCH 10-13, 1967

Si Gerson and Louis Weinstock did not attend the first session but did attend all other sessions.

Henry Winston, National Chairman, CP, USA, opened the meeting by introducing Danny Rubin, the National Organizational Director.

Rubin stated that the agenda for the sessions would be as follows:

A report by Arnold Johnson on the political scene;

A report by James Jackson on international communism;

A report by himself on the organizational structure of the CP, USA.

Rubin said that this would be the agenda for March 10, 1967.

Rubin then stated that on March 11, 1967 there would be a report by George Meyers, Chairman of the CP Trade Union Commission, on labor matters; and a report by Carl Winter on The Worker. The Worker is an east coast communist newspaper.

Rubin stated that on March 12, 1967 Tim Wheeler would report on communist youth.

Rubin stated that during the course of the sessions there would be a determination on the new Secretariat. Rubin said that the Leadership Committee, consisting of Gus Hall, Helen Winter, Ed Teixera, Henry Winston, and Jack Kling, would determine who was to be on the Secretariat.

Jack Kling then took over as Chairman for the day.

Arnold Johnson then gave an account of politi al activities in the United States going back to 1964. He reviewed the history of the civil rights movements and emphasized that the CP had to play a role in the upgrading of the Negro.

Johnson stated that the main task of the CP in the upcoming elections of 1968 was to penetrate all political parties wherever they might be. He urged comrades to actively engage in Democratic and Republican Party movements, in Negro political movements, and in trade union and various working class movements of a political nature. Johnson stated that the main aim of the comrade in politics was to follow whatever candidate moved closest to the CP line.

At the end of his talk, Johnson said that they should not forget to run CP candidates for political office whenever and wherever possible.

James Jackson then talked about the international communist movement since World War II. He said that communism had expanded greatly in Asia and in Latin and South America. He particularly praised the communist movement in Chile.

Jackson then severely criticized Mao Tse Tung, the leader of Red China, for his actions in setting up the Red Guards. Jackson said that the actions of the Red Chinese under the leadership of Mao Tse Tung was severely crippling the socialist movement all over the world.

Rubin then stated that the reports of Arnold Johnson and James Jackson were intended to be merely informative and would not be discussed by the group.

Rubin then talked about the organizational structure of the CP, USA. He said that the Party had failed on a national scale. He criticized CP clubs for not functioning properly. He pointed out that recruiting of new CP members was slow and uncertain and stated that the average CP district was not participating in community activities.

Rubin stated that some districts were so poorly run that the average CP member was not receiving any information from the leadership and was not holding meetings regularly or on time.

Rubin said that the National Headquarters of the CP had in some instances sent out directives to the districts and had received no answers or signs of activity from certain areas.

Rubin stated that the CP had to be built, had to be active in the every day struggle for peace and civil rights as well as trade union matters, and had to seek out persons to bring into the Party.

The rest of the first session was spent in discussion with everyone in agreement that Rubin's criticism was justified. The general opinion was that recruiting of new members was the major problem.

The first session was over at about 5:00 p.m.

The second session was begun at about 9:45 a.m. on March 11, 1967. Henry Winston again presided.

Rubin announced that Elsie Dickerson would act as Chairman for the day.

George Meyers, Chairman of the CP Trade Union Commission, then talked at length about his travels throughout the United States on behalf of the CP, USA, and his contacts with labor leaders and rank and file members of various unions.

Meyers stated that as a result of these various contacts, it was his opinion that the average working man was interested in higher wages, better working conditions, and any movement that would restrict automation.

RE: COMMUNIST PARTY, USA,
NATIONAL EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETINGS,
NEW YORK, NEW YORK,
MARCH 10-13, 1967

Meyers said that he felt that the comrades who were in trade unions should strive for a protest by their unions against the Vietnam War. He also felt that these comrades should work for Negro and white unity and, wherever possible, act in coalition with minority groups; such as, Mexican Americans, Puerto Ricans, and Negroes.

Meyers then requested that a national conference of trade union workers be held by the CP which would include comrades from all unions.

Meyers proposed that a labor secretary be set up in each CP district and a trade union commission be set up in each district.

Discussion on the report then followed. There was a lot of criticism of the report as being inaccurate and rambling. Many of those present felt that it was impossible to get the average rank and file union member to engage in any broad activity because their living conditions were too favorable at the present time.

Following the criticism, Gus Hall, who is the General Secretary, CP, USA, defended Meyers saying that he regarded the report as a close study of the American labor scene.

As a result of the discussion, it was decided that there would be a labor representative established for both the east and the west coasts and that a midwest trade union conference would be held in the near future.

Carl Winter then talked about The Worker. He said that although The Worker fund drive had gotten off to a good start it had recently bogged down and efforts should be made to get more money.

Winter then stated that it was his opinion that The Worker should once again resume daily publication and once a week issue a magazine. He said that he felt this could be done by raising the sum of $600,000 to $700,000. He suggested that efforts be made to contact 1,000 persons and persuade each of them to donate $1,000 to The Worker. Winter said that if this could be done, a daily paper could be established and a sufficient reserve set aside for emergencies.

There was little or no discussion on this report by Winter.

The second session ended at about 5:00 p.m.

During the evening of March 11, 1967, some members who were present at the National Executive Board Meetings attended a CP National Negro Commission meeting which was held at the home of William Patterson in Brooklyn, New York.

During the meeting, Claude Lightfoot read for about an hour from rough drafts of a book which he is writing and which concerns Negro history in the United States.

At the end of his talk Ted Bassett and William Patterson praised the reading as an accurate account of Negro history in the United States and a report that would be helpful to the Party in connection with the civil rights movement.

Of the fifteen to twenty other persons present, the majority criticized the report saying that it did not present a program of action which would appeal to the uneducated Negro in the ghetto.

It was decided that a subcommittee consisting of Blyden Jackson, Rasheed Storey, Alva Buxenbaum, and Claude Lightfoot would prepare a statement of action which would be helpful to the average Negro in his fight for civil rights and equal opportunity.

The third session of the National Executive Board meetings took place on March 12, 1967. In addition to those previously described as having been in attendance, there were six or seven additional young people. Among these young people were Jarvis Tyner, Hugh Fowler, Franklin Alexander, and Mike Zagarell.

Henry Winston opened the meeting at about 9:30 a.m. Ed Teixera was appointed as Chairman.

Tim Wheeler then talked about the youth movement. He said that there were sharp differences between the communist youth and the WEB DuBois Clubs (DCA). Wheeler said that the DCA was critical of Party programs, was too middle class, and was not interested in bringing into its organization representatives from the working class. Wheeler said that the DCA would participate in all types of demonstrations but would not necessarily follow the Party line.

Wheeler stated that the DCA had helped to build the CP by bringing into its organization young people who later became CP members. Wheeler said that these newly recruited CP members, however, rarely returned to help the DCA.

Hugh Fowler was then introduced as a national representative of the DCA.

Fowler said that Tim Wheeler's statements insofar as differences between the DCA and communist youth were accurate. He said that it was his opinion that the DCA had helped to build the CP by bringing young people into the DCA who eventually left it for the Party. Fowler said that this action was one way and that the CP, USA, and communist youth were not helping the DCA.

Fowler then stated that the national office of the DCA only had two members left and that by June he expected to be the only officer in the organization.

Fowler stated that a lot of persons who were in the DCA were not interested in Marxism as a political way of life and were not even interested in attending Marxist classes.

Fowler concluded his talk by saying that the DCA was in trouble and needed a lot of help from the CP, USA, and communist youth in particular.

There was a recess at about 1:00 p.m. and most of those present went to Town Hall located on Broadway to celebrate the anniversary of The Worker. The affair was celebrated by a talk from Henry Winston.

The third session was resumed later on in the afternoon and discussion on youth continued until about 9:00 p.m. The only decision of value that was made was to have the CP, USA, get a letter out to all CP districts requesting that efforts be made to reconcile differences between communist youth and the DCA.

The fourth and final session of the National Executive Board Meetings got underway at about 9:40 a.m. on March 13, 1967 with Winston again presiding.

At the outset of the session, Winston stated that he could report two triumphs for the communists. He said that the latest reports from France indicated that the French CP had gained supporters. Winston also stated that he was happy to report that James Meredith had decided not to contest Adam Clayton Powell in the Congressional election in Powell's district.

George Meyers was then selected as Chairman for the day.

At the outset of the meeting, there was considerable discussion on Carl Winter's report made at an earlier session and his proposal for the issuance of a daily paper for The Worker. No decision was reached, and Gus Hall suggested that final decision be made at a later National Executive Board Meeting.

RE: COMMUNIST PARTY, USA,
NATIONAL EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETINGS,
NEW YORK, NEW YORK,
MARCH 10-13, 1967

Gus Hall then announced that a new National Secretariat had been selected which would include Danny Rubin, Henry Winston, Gus Hall, James Jackson, Hyman Lumer, Arnold Johnson, George Meyers, Dorothy Healey, Carl Winter, Betty Gannett, and Helen Winter.

Hall then mentioned the name Mickey Lima, but it was not clear as to whether Lima was also considered to be a member of the Secretariat.

Hall then said that he was sorry to have to drop some people from the Secretariat. He said that the final decision as to who would be on the body would be up to the National Committee.

Gus Hall then talked about William Albertson. From the discussion that followed, it developed that Albertson was a former CP national leader who had been accused of acting as an informant for the police or the FBI and had been expelled from the Party.

Hall told the group that there had been a long and detailed investigation of the charges, and it appeared that Albertson was innocent. Hall said that it appeared as though a mistake had been made by the Party and should be rectified by bringing Albertson back into the CP.

Hall then stated that although Albertson could be brought back into the Party, he would have to answer charges in that he had published his expulsion from the CP after being specifically requested to keep it silent.

A heated discussion concerning Albertson then followed with some persons of the opinion that it was only fair to bring him back and others of the opinion that his return would cause many people who were not satisfied with the clearance of Albertson to leave the Party or reduce their activities.

RE: COMMUNIST PARTY, USA,
NATIONAL EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETINGS,
NEW YORK, NEW YORK,
MARCH 10-13, 1967

Gus Hall finally suggested that the discussion on Albertson be resumed at a later meeting.

Hall then summarized the four days and closed by saying that he felt that the discussions were of value and the reports of substantial worth.

The final session closed at about 3:20 p.m.

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Pages A1677-A1678. Congressman Fisher, (D) Texas, placed in the Record an address he delivered on March 18th before the annual meeting of the postmasters of the 21st Congressional District at San Angelo, Texas. The subject of the address was "Crime: America's No. 1 Domestic Problem." He cited statistics on the increase in crime and stated "J. Edgar Hoover says the increase in the number of enforcement officers has not kept pace with the population increase. He thinks that accounts for some of this. He has spoken of the rash of civil rights demonstrations, along with irresponsible leadership in that movement, as a major contributor. Mr. Fisher commented on crime and the race problem and demonstrations. He stated "And Mr. Hoover assures us that the Communists have joined in and encouraged these activities."

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on April 5, 1967, that information had come to his attention, which disclosed that Stanley Levison and an unknown male were in contact on that date. It was during their contact that Levison disclosed a recent contact between him and Rockefeller (believed to have alluded to Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York) about Venezuelan iron ore deposits which "they" (the Rockefeller interests) are negotiating with the Venezuelan Government.

According to Levison, after he and Rockefeller ended their business with regard to iron ore, Rockefeller asked him to arrange a meeting between Martin Luther King and himself, so that he, Rockefeller, could talk to him about his stand on Vietnam. Rockefeller, according to Levison, is in such disagreement with King that he feels he must talk to him.

It was Levison's feeling that Rockefeller's request was a real break, since King had mentioned on April 4, 1967, that he would like to confer with him about the situation in South America. King, Levison related, believes that South America will be the next Vietnam and therefore, wants to advise Rockefeller as to what action he should take to thwart it. Levison concluded his contact by informing the unknown male that he would contact King to determine when the meeting could be arranged.

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised in April, 1964, that Stanley Levison was a secret member of the Communist Party, United States of America (CP, USA) in July, 1963. In late 1963 and early 1964, he criticized the CP for not being sufficiently militant in the civil rights struggle. Levison was described by certain CP leaders as being to the "left" of the CP in his position on civil rights. His differences with the CP, however, are merely tactical and he continues his ideological adherence to Communism. (S) (U)

On April 6, 1967, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Stanley Levison and Harry Wachtel, New York advisors to Martin Luther King, Jr., were in conference concerning King's speech at Riverside Church, New York City, on April 4, 1967. (S) U

Wachtel thought the text of King's speech was solid and wants it printed for distribution. Levison felt the speech was too advanced for many Negroes and that it did not constitute the widest appeal. King, Levison feels, should not have spoken from the point of view of a Vietcong peasant. (S) U

It was Levison's belief that Andrew Young, Executive Director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), wrote King's speech, but Wachtel believes that "guy at Spellman" (Spelman College, Atlanta) wrote it. Wachtel felt the section of the speech about this country acting like Germany acted in the last war offended many people. Levison agreed, and commented King should realize he is dealing with the State Department and the Pentagon and not some stupid sheriff, and that if he did get people to stand on bridges in Vietnam, they would not be bombed, but instead there would be an invasion of North Vietnam, which King would be responsible for. (S) U

With regard to King's scheduled appearance before the Spring Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam on April 15, 1967, Levison is unenthusiastic, since he does not feel that King can capture that audience. (S) U

According to Levison, Bennett (Dr. John Bennett, President of Union Theological Seminary, New York City) and Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr (Professor Emeritus, Union Theological Seminary) have talked about getting ten thousand young men and their parents to go to Washington to turn in their draft cards. Levison felt they would violate the law if they do this. (U)

Finally, Wachtel mentioned that King will meet with Rockefeller (Governor Nelson Rockefeller, New York) on April 22 or 24, 1967, to discuss the Vietnam position of King.

Levison and Joan Daves (Publishers' Representative) were also in contact on April 6, 1967, during which Levison revealed that King will change his emphasis from peace to the Chicago Action Campaign after the middle of April. Levison also disclosed that a meeting dealing with tactics will be held in Atlanta in the near future. (U)

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised in April, 1964, that Stanley Levison was a secret member of the Communist Party, United States of America (CP, USA) in July, 1963. In late 1963 or early 1964, he criticized the CP for not being sufficiently militant in the civil rights struggle. Levison was described by certain CP leaders as being to the "left" of the CP in his position on civil rights. His differences with the CP, however, are merely tactical and he continues his ideological adherence to Communism. (S) (U)

Harry Wachtel is the Executive Vice President of the Gandhi Society for Human Rights, New York, New York. (u)

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished information in December, 1949, that Harry H. Wachtel, 41 Broad Street, New York, New York, was on a list of individuals carried as active members of the National Lawyers Guild. (u)

A characterization of the National Lawyers Guild is attached hereto. (u)

On March 5, 1944, another confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished information which revealed that the name Harry Wachtel was on a list of names, significance not known, which was maintained at the Headquarters of the Kings County Communist Party (CP) at 26 Court Street, Brooklyn, New York. (u)

Regarding Harry Wachtel's wife, Leonora, it is noted that the same confidential source furnished information on March 5, 1944, which revealed that her name and address were on a list of names of newly elected officers of the Bath Beach Club of the Kings County CP. (u)

With respect to the Gandhi Society for Human Rights, it is to be noted that this organization is an adjunct of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), of which Martin Luther King, Jr., is the president, and serves to raise funds for the SCLC. (u)

Reurlet 4/12/67.

In order to offset the preparation of CIRM and Cominfil of the Congress of Racial Equality reports, the New York Office should submit the next CIRM report on 6/1/67 and every 3 months thereafter.

NOTE:

The New York Office requested to stagger preparation of the Cominfil of CORE & CIRM reports. Both are due on 5/1/67. Since Cominfil of CORE is a section of the CIRM report, it would be logical to allow New York to submit the CIRM report 30 days later. The above letter grants New York permission to do so.

FROM: SAC, NEW YORK (100-153735)

SUBJECT: COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN RACIAL MATTERS
IS - C
(OO: NY)

With regard to the submission of the quarterly report in captioned matter, which is due to reach the Bureau on 5/1/67, the NYO has encountered considerable delay in its preparation. This delay has been due to the fact that the agent to whom the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) is assigned, is preparing an extensive report to be submitted to the Bureau by 5/1/67. As a consequence, this has prevented him from preparing his material for captioned case.

In addition to the effort being put in the preparation of the CORE report, other agents to whom inserts are assigned, have been engaged in matters relating to the VIDEM report, and planned demonstrations against the war in Vietnam, thus preventing them from working on captioned matter.

In order to offset these delays and to insure that the CIRM report will not be delayed in the future, due to the fact the CORE and CIRM reports are all due at the same time, Bureau approval is requested to permit the NYO to submit its next report on 6/1/67, and every 3 months thereafter. By staggering the dates of these reports, this delay could be eliminated.

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on April 13, 1967, that Stanley Levison and Martin Luther King, the President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), were in contact on that date, during which time they discussed King's Vietnam policy. It was in this regard that Levison apprised King as to what progress he had made in writing part of the speech he (King) will deliver on Saturday, April 15, 1967, when he addresses a gathering at the United Nations, which is being sponsored by the Spring Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam. (U)

Levison's part of the speech, which they discussed and which King enthusiastically accepted, was as follows: (U)

"Many sincere people argue, that we should withdraw unilaterally, and I (King) understand the logic of their position. I understand that when France withdrew from Algeria, she benefited not only the Algerians but herself. France earned far more prestige from withdrawal than she might have gained from total victory; but France was fighting in Algeria for years before her people learned that this way out was honorable. The majority of Americans have not yet learned this lesson. Realism compels us to look for a program they can support and which can end the fighting. I think there is such a program -- I believe almost a majority of Americans want the bombings to cease. Let us demand insistently that our Government honor Hanoi's promise to negotiate if the bombings cease." (U)

King thought Levison's part of the speech was written in a very beautiful style, and disclosed that he will use it without any change whatsoever. (U)

King then revealed to Levison the part of the speech he had prepared. According to King, he will state that the United States deliberately sabotaged the Geneva agreement by calling for elections in South Vietnam and providing that the Seventeenth Parallel was but a temporary line; that the United States deliberately put Premier Diem into power and kept him until it became tired of him, then replaced him with Premier Ky; and that the United States launched bombing raids against North Vietnam on the scale of World War II. (W)

Levison was of the opinion that King should get a sampling of Negro feeling, and suggested he get a private poll project under way to prove that a majority of Negroes want the war to end. King was agreeable to the suggestion, prompting Levison to promise that he would consider how to raise the necessary funds for such a venture. (W)

King revealed that he was in contact with Dr. Ralph Bunche on April 13, 1967, concerning Bunche's criticism of his Vietnam policy. And according to King, Bunche was very sorry for the remarks he had made and finally admitted it by saying: "Martin I want you to know I agree with everything you are saying about Vietnam. I am absolutely opposed to our policy." (W)

The statement made by Bunche, which criticized King, was reported in "The New York Times" of April 13, 1967. It was as follows: (W) N.Y.

"He (King) should realize that his anti-United States in Vietnam crusade is bound to alienate many friends and supporters of the civil rights movement and greatly weaken it -- an ironic twist for a civil rights leader." (W)

~~SECRET~~

Communist Influence in Racial Matters

In the April 14, 1967 issue of "The New York Times", on page 21, it was reported that Dr. Ralph Bunche issued a statement on April 13, 1967, in which he referred to a press release attributed to Martin Luther King in which he disavowed any intent to merge the civil rights and peace movements. Bunche said he was gratified to see King's disavowal of any intent to merge the movements, and that it took care of the issue to which he had directed his statement criticizing him.

King expressed disappointment with Bunche because he would not muster sufficient moral courage to come out openly and make the statement concurring with his position. He could not understand why he would not since, as King said, he is not an employee of the United States.

King will see Bunche on Saturday, April 15, 1967, following the speech at the United Nations. This fact prompted Levison to suggest to King that he make certain that newsmen photograph them with each other. Levison wanted this done for publicity reasons. He felt it was very important that Bunche had changed his position and now supports King.

The same source advised on April 14, 1967, that Stanley Levison and Gloria Kantor, an acquaintance of his, were in contact on that date. Their concern was over the demonstration and march to be held on April 15, 1967, in New York City. In reply to an inquiry as to whether Levison planned to march, he told Kantor he was planning to do so.

~~SECRET~~

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised in April, 1964, that Stanley Levison was a secret member of the Communist Party, United States of America (CP, USA) in July, 1963. [In late 1963 and early 1964, he criticized the CP for not being sufficiently militant in the civil rights struggle. Levison was described by certain CP leaders as being to the "left" of the CP in his position on civil rights. His differences with the CP, however, are merely tactical and he continues his ideological adherence to Communism.] (U)

APPROPRIATE AGENCIES AND FIELD OFFICES ADVISED BY ROUTING SLIP(S) OF Classification DATE 12/5/91 168-4212

On April 12, 1967, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Martin Luther King, Jr., President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), was in conference on that date with the following individuals: Harry Belafonte, prominent entertainer; Harry Wachtel and Stanley Levison, New York advisors to King; Andrew Young, Executive Assistant to King, and Cleveland Robinson, Secretary-Treasurer of Local 65 of the Wholesale - Retail Store Workers of America. The following is a resume of what transpired:

King prefaced his remarks by commenting that a campaign is underway to undermine his leadership in Negro communities because of his stand on Vietnam. King had in mind the criticism of Dr. Ralph Bunche, United States Representative to the United Nations, who reported to the press on April 12, 1967, that King should not try to lead both the civil rights movement and the crusade against the war.

Andrew Young reported that Bunche had agreed to meet with Dr. Benjamin Spock and King following Saturday's (March 15, 1967) march at the United Nations.

With regard to the criticism from Bunche, Belafonte remarked Bunche had never made a contribution to the civil rights struggle. As to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's (NAACP's) criticism of King, Belafonte said Roy Wilkins of the NAACP recently received an award from Secretary of State Dean Rusk, which accounts for the fact that they are in agreement.

Communist Influence in Racial Matters

Levison commented he was not in agreement that Saturday's event is the answer for King. It was his belief that the press will handle the event in the same manner as they handled other Negro reactions, but Levison said that Saturday would not be King's only chance to speak. It was his belief that Saturday's demonstration will be composed of ninety per cent white people, and therefore, King's advisors must insure Negro community support for King. Levison urged that a newspaper advertisement be run following Saturday's demonstration asking whether King can be active in the peace fight. (U)

Contrary to the opinions of his advisors, King thought Saturday would be most important since it will be the largest peace demonstration in the country. Wachtel agreed, but cautioned King not to rely on Saturday's demonstration as his opportunity to oppose the war, since many people will not respond due to the "red baiting atmosphere". (U)

King, in trying to suggest ways to bring about harmony among Negroes, said he would try to meet with A. Philip Randolph, President of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, and other Negro leaders to explain his position. He reiterated his belief that the criticism of him is an effort to get him and to undermine him, and offered proof of this by pointing to criticisms of him whereas no Negroes will attack Congressman Adam Clayton Powell. (U)

Wachtel, in agreeding with King's conclusion, said that they may even pull "J. Edgar Hoover's old stuff" out of the bottom of the bag. (U)

The conference ended with an agreement to meet again on Saturday night, April 15, 1967, at Belafonte's house, and that King should confer with Dr. Bunche and A. Philip Randolph. (U)

Communist Influence in Racial Matters

Following the aforementioned conference, King and Levison conferred privately since King wanted Levison's observations free from the others. In order to insure success on Saturday, Levison suggested having spots on the radio and will confer with Robinson about it. Levison cautioned against having these radio spots appeal to Negroes to follow King on Saturday because most Negroes do not want to become identified with this demonstration. (U)

King's speech, to be delivered at the United Nations on Saturday, April 15, 1967, was discussed, particularly the length of it. Levison advised King to cut out the parts dealing with history, defense and the United Nations. King agreed and asked Levison to prepare a paragraph stating that even though many people feel the United States should unilaterally withdraw from Vietnam and that no damage would be done to the United States' position and would, in fact, heighten prestige, King has concluded it will not be done, so his concern must be to bring the war to an end. (U) (U)

Levison advised King to retain the part in the speech that fifteen million Americans oppose the war in addition to those who are half-hearted about United States involvement. (U)

In trying to arrive at a decision as to what course King should follow after Saturday, Levison advised him to unite with people who have been isolated following their criticism of the United States, so he would be aligned with those who have power and who make a difference rather than be aligned with a fringe element as he is now. (U)

According to the source, Levison feels that King's peace position is so far advanced that it has isolated him the same way Paul Robeson's pro-Soviet position isolated him. (U)

~~SECRET~~

Communist Influence in Racial Matters

According to Jean Smith, a secretary at Communist Party Headquarters, New York City, Harry Belafonte had been a member of the Young Communist League (YCL) before coming into prominence as an entertainer. (U)

The YCL has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450. u

In June, 1950, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised he knew Paul Robeson to have been a concealed Communist Party member prior to 1945. u

~~SECRET~~

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised in April, 1964, that Stanley Levison was a secret member of the Communist Party, United States of America (CP, USA) in July, 1963. In late 1963 and early 1964, he criticized the CP for not being sufficiently militant in the civil rights struggle. Levison was described by certain CP leaders as being to the "left" of the CP in his position on civil rights. His differences with the CP, however, are merely tactical and he continues his ideological adherence to Communism. (S) (U)

THE FOLLOWING IS A RESUME OF WHAT THE PARTICIPANTS OFFERED.

KING PREFACED HIS REMARKS BY COMMENTING THAT A CAMPAIGN IS UNDERWAY TO UNDERMINE HIS LEADERSHIP IN NEGRO COMMUNITIES BECAUSE OF HIS STAND ON VIETNAM. KING HAD IN MIND CRITICISM OF DR. 5 APR 25 1967

MR DELOACH FOR THE DIRECTOR

RELAYED TO

ANDREW YOUNG, EXECUTIVE ASSISTANT TO KING, REPORTED THAT BUNCHE HAD AGREED TO MEET WITH DR. BENJAMIN SPOCK AND KING FOLLOWING SATURDAY-S MARCH AT UNITED NATIONS.

WITH REGARD TO CRITICISM FROM BUNCHE, BELAFONTE REMARKED BUNCHE HAD NEVER MADE CONTRIBUTION TO CIVIL RIGHTS STRUGGLE. AS TO NAACP-S CRITICISM OF KING, HE SAID ROY WILKINS OF NAACP RECENTLY RECEIVED AWARD FROM SECRETARY OF STATE RUSK, WHICH ACCOUNTS FOR FACT THEY ARE IN AGREEMENT.

LEVISON COMMENTED HE WAS NOT IN AGREEMENT THAT SATURDAY-S EVENT IS THE ANSWER FOR KING. IT WAS HIS BELIEF PRESS WILL HANDLE EVENT IN SAME MANNER AS IT HANDLED OTHER NEGRO REACTIONS. BUT LEVISON SAID SATURDAY WOULD NOT BE KINGS ONLY CHANCE TO SPEAK. IT WAS HIS BELIEF SATURDAY-S DEMONSTRATION WILL BE COMPOSED OF NINETY PER CENT WHITE, THEREFORE, THEY /ADVISORS/ MUST INSURE NEGRO COMMUNITY SUPPORT FOR KING. LEVISON URGED THAT NEWSPAPER ADVERTISEMENT BE RUN FOLLOWING SATURDAY-S DEMONSTRATION ASKING WHETHER KING CAN BE ACTIVE IN PEACE FIGHT.

END PAGE TWO

CONTRARY TO OPINIONS OF ADVISORS, KING THOUGHT SATURDAY WOULD BE MOST IMPORTANT SINCE IT WILL BE LARGEST PEACE DEMONSTRATION IN COUNTRY. WACHTEL AGREED, CAUTIONING KING NOT TO RELY ON SATURDAYS DEMONSTRATION AS HIS OPPORTUNITY TO OPPOSE WAR SINCE MANY PEOPLE WILL NOT RESPOND TO "RED BAITING ATMOSPHERE".

KING, IN TRYING TO SUGGEST WAYS TO BRING ABOUT HARMONY AMONG NEGROES, SAID HE WOULD TRY TO MEET WITH A. PHILIP RANDOLPH AND OTHER NEGRO LEADERS TO EXPLAIN HIS POSITION. HE REITERATED HIS BELIEF THAT CRITICISM IS EFFORT TO GET HIM AND TO UNDERMINE HIM, AND OFFERED PROOF BY POINTING TO CRITICISMS OF HIM WHEREAS NO NEGROES WILL ATTACK CONGRESSMAN POWELL.

WACHTEL, IN AGREEING WITH KING-S CONCLUSION, SAID THEY MAY EVEN PULL "J. EDGAR HOOVER-S OLD STUFF" OUT OF THE BOTTOM OF BAG.

THE CONFERENCE ENDED WITH AN AGREEMENT TO MEET AGAIN ON SATURDAY NIGHT AT BELAFONTE-S HOUSE, AND THAT KING SHOULD CONFER WITH DR. BUNCHE AND A. PHILIP RANDOLPH.

FOLLOWING AFOREMENTIONED CONFERENCE, KING AND LEVISON CONFERRED PRIVATELY SINCE KING WANTED HIS OBSERVATIONS FREE FROM OTHERS. IN ORDER TO INSURE SUCCESS ON SATURDAY, LEVISON SUGGESTED HAVING SPOTS ON RADIO AND WILL CONFER WITH ROBINSON ABOUT IT. LEVISON CAUTIONED AGAINST HAVING RADIO SPOT APPEAL TO NEGROES TO FOLLOW KING ON SATURDAY BECAUSE MOST NEGROES DO NOT WANT TO BECOME IDENTIFIED WITH THIS DEMONSTRATION.

KINGS SPEECH TO BE DELIVERED AT UN ON SATURDAY WAS DISCUSSED, PARTICULARLY THE LENGTH OF IT /APPARENTLY LEVISON HAS READ/. LEVISON ADVISED KING TO CUT OUT PART DEALING WITH HISTORY, DEFENSE AND THE UN. KING AGREED AND ASKED LEVISON TO PREPARE A PARAGRAPH STATING EVEN THOUGH MANY PEOPLE FEEL US SHOULD UNILATERALLY WITHDRAW FROM VIET-NAM AND THAT NO DAMAGE WOULD BE DONE TO US POSITION AND WOULD IN FACT HEIGHTEN PRESTIGE, KING HAS CONCLUDED IT WILL NOT BE DONE, SO HIS CONCERN MUST BE TO BRING WAR TO END.

LEVISON ADVISED KING TO RETAIN PART IN SPEECH THAT FIFTEEN MILLION AMERICANS OPPOSE WAR AS WELL AS OTHERS WHO ARE HALF-HEARTED ABOUT US INVOLVEMENT.

END PAGE FOUR

IN TRYING TO ARRIVE AT A DECISION AS TO WHAT COURSE KING WILL FOLLOW AFTER SATURDAY, LEVISON ADVISED HIM TO UNITE WITH PEOPLE WHO HAVE BEEN ISOLATED FOLLOWING THEIR CRITICISM OF US, SO HE WOULD BE ALIGNED WITH THOSE WHO HAVE POWER AND WHO MAKE A DIFFERENCE RATHER THAN BE ALIGNED WITH FRINGE ELEMENT AS HE IS NOW.

CONFERENCE ENDED WITH KINGS COMMENT THAT HE WOULD APPEAR ON NBC'S FACE THE NATION, SUNDAY, APRIL SIXTEEN NEXT.

ACCORDING TO SOURCE, LEVISON FEELS KING'S PEACE POSITION IS SO FAR ADVANCED IT HAS ISOLATED HIM THE SAME WAY PAUL ROBESON-S PRO-SOVIET POSITION ISOLATED HIM.

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on April 16, 1967, that information had come to his attention which disclosed that Stanley Levison was in contact with an unknown female on that date. His contact was in regard to Martin Luther King's appearance before "Face the Nation" earlier in the afternoon. (U)

According to the information the source was able to ascertain, the female wanted to know if Levison had witnessed King's appearance before the panel. Levison, in commenting that he had not, acknowledged, however, that he had met with King on Saturday night and had advised King how to answer the questions which would be put to him on the show. (U)

The unknown female, in commenting on the march which took place in New York City on Saturday afternoon, April 15, 1967, said Stokely Carmichael (the Chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC)) and other youth who spoke at the United Nations, gave her the impression that they were going to have a "nationwide reach into the young people all over the country" and it seemed to her that "these" organizations (SNCC and the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE)) ought to be ready to suggest to King that a coalition be agreed to between their organizations (SNCC and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC)). It was her contention that a coalition could be worked out if hundreds of workshops could be started by people from SNCC and the SCLC. (U)

Levison commented that after a meeting on Saturday, April 15, 1967, between King, himself and individuals who represented organizations less prone to non-violence (SNCC) and (CORE), it was decided that efforts would be made to persuade all organizations to adopt the non-violent philosophy. Consequently, according to Levison, there would be a coalition on specific issues. (U)

With regard to King's appearance before "Face the Nation", a Columbia Broadcasting System program, Sunday, April 16, 1967, "The New York Times", Monday, April 17, 1967, page 1, reported on Martin Luther King's appearance on that show, and his remarks during an impromptu news conference. During his appearance on the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) show, King declared that he was philosophically opposed to Communism.

He said: "I think it is based on a metaphysical materialism, at points an ethical relativism, a crippling totalitarianism in many instances and a denial of human freedom that I would not prefer."

King, according to the article, also disassociated the sponsors of the anti-war demonstration from the burning of draft cards and an American flag.

During his impromptu news conference, King warned that at least 10 cities across the country, including New York, "could explode in racial violence this summer".

Describing the cities as "powder kegs", King said "the nation has not done anything to improve conditions in these areas".

Included among the cities were Cleveland, Chicago, Los Angeles, Oakland, California, Washington, Newark and New York. He said there were other cities, which he did not name, in the South.

Title: COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN RACIAL MATTERS

Character: INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Synopsis:
Conference on Black Power held in December, 1966, was followed by another conference in January, 1967, on Black Power and White Chauvinism. Allegations made that white chauvinism exists in Communist Party and this is reason the Party has not been successful in the Negro community. ROSCOE PROCTOR, member of Communist Party National Committee recommended setting up Negro organizations in ghetto areas which met with opposition due to lack of funds. PROCTOR is reportedly going ahead with this plan in the Fillmore District of San Francisco. Communist Party Negroes were present at a Negro Conference on Black Power during January, 1967, and a former Young Communist League member was a featured speaker at Seventh Annual California Negro Leadership Conference held in February, 1967.

1) Plans made at District and lower-level meetings including expressions by local leaders and rank and file members.

It is noted that on December 19, 1966, a copy of a report of the Negro Commission, Northern California District of the CP, entitled, "Research Notes and Some Conclusions on the Black Power Slogan and Concepts", was furnished to this office. The report was prepared by ROSCOE PROCTOR, member of the National Committee of the CP, was read and evaluated at the CP "Black Power" Conference held December 16-17, 1966, at the "People's World" (PW) headquarters, 81 Clementina Street, San Francisco, California.

This report was set out in its entirety in FBI report dated January 26, 1967, and is not being repeated herein except for one portion which is set out subsequently for clarification purposes.

Mention of this report is being made here because it was the topic of discussion at CP club meetings and is the forerunner of another conference on the same subject matter.

On January 5, 1967, a meeting of the Fillmore Club of the CP was held at 830 Hayes Street, San Francisco, California. At this meeting a discussion took place on the Conference held by the Northern California District (NCD) CP on the subject of Black Power in December, 1966. It was decided that all should read ROSCOE PROCTOR's report on this subject to the Conference and then be prepared to discuss it at the next meeting. It was reported that the next conference on this subject would take place at the PW headquarters, 81 Clementina Street, on January 13, 1967, to which this club was sending two delegates.

SF T-1, 1/6/67

The PW is a west coast communist newspaper published weekly in San Francisco.

SF 100-53902
JTQ/rs

A meeting of the Fillmore Club of the CP was held January 12, 1967, at 411 Pierce Street, San Francisco, California.

A discussion was held on the coming conference, scheduled for January 13-15, 1967, at the PW headquarters. It was stated that the first part of this conference would be on white chauvinism. One of those present stated that the most important factor facing the Party today is White Chauvinism and that this disease is in every comrade. He said this is the reason why the Party has not been successful in the Negro community. He said that it is a widely-known fact that there are very few Negro people in the CP today and that the main reason for this is because many of the leading white comrades are confused with this problem.

He said the conference hopes to find a solution of how to build a Party among the Negro people. The Party plays an important role in civil rights but few Negro people know the importance of its role.

SF T-2, 1/18/67

On January 9, 1967, there was a meeting of the club chairmen of the San Francisco County CP held at 241 Frederick Street, San Francisco, California. At this meeting it was announced that on Friday and Saturday, January 13 and 14, 1967, a meeting would be held at the PW headquarters on Negro and White Unity. This meeting will be open to all members.

A discussion was held on Black Power and it was decided to continue working for the Negro minority, for if this is accomplished, other minorities will benefit.

SF T-3, 1/10/67

On January 13, 1967, the NCDCP met at the PW headquarters in San Francisco to discuss Black Power and White Chauvinism. At this session it was announced that the CP will back Congressman ADAM CLAYTON POWELL all the way in his dispute with Congress regardless of what he has said or done in the past and regardless of whether he wants CP support.

SF T-4, 2/7/67

On January 14, 1967, the second session of the CP Conference on White Chauvinism was held at the PW headquarters in San Francisco. The meeting broke up into various panels for discussion of specific phases of a paper read by MICKEY LIMA, Chairman of the NCDCP, on White Chauvinism the previous night.

After the panel discussions were completed, reports were given to the Conference. On the matter of White Chauvinism, it was generally agreed that at the present time it is difficult for whites and blacks to be entirely honest with each other in discussing this matter and that more conferences and more discussions are necessary to prepare both whites and blacks to discuss this matter truthfully. The subject foremost on everybody's mind was the effect of white chauvinism on the Party.

SF T-6, 1/16/67

On January 19, 1967, there was a meeting of the Fillmore Club of the CP at 411 Pierce Street, San Francisco, California. At this meeting a discussion took place on the Conference held the previous weekend by the NCDCP on the subject of Black Power and White Chauvinism, which was attended by several members of this club.

One of the club members who was present at both days of this Conference made several observations, some of which were: There are people within the Party who tend to be touchy about racial issues which are causing a silent split within the Party ranks; when it comes to taking action to solve some of these problems, the white comrades tend to shy away from participation in such Negro areas as Fillmore and Hunters Point; at the Conference MICKEY LIMA condemned the Negro comrades for not working harder for the betterment of their race, that they seemed to be satisfied to remain at the level that they are in at the present time; there are white comrades who openly accuse Negro members of nursing inferiority complexes and as a result feel that they are being prejudiced against by white Party members.

Another person observed that the racial problems existing in the Party are probably the main reason why the Party is not unified any more than it is today and that if these problems cannot be resolved among Party people then the Party members have no business trying to convince others to arrive at racial unity.

The club agreed that they should take a long look at themselves and maybe someday they can honestly say that there is no trace of white chauvinism in the Party. It was felt that all these things should be considered and resolved so that when the San Francisco County Conference is held in February or March a full understanding of the needs of the Party will be known.

SF T-1, 1/24/67

On January 20, 1967, there was a meeting of the "Black Caucus of the Bay Area CP Clubs" at 1919 Oregon Street, Berkeley, California. Plans were discussed at this meeting for opening a book store in one of the Negro ghettos of Oakland and assignments were given out to procure sponsors and funds for this purpose.

SF T-7, 1/27/67

On January 26, 1967, the CP Negro Commission met at the home of ROSCOE PROCTOR in Berkeley. PROCTOR announced that the District Committee of the CP wants to throw out the Negro Commission's report on organization in the Negro community on the grounds that the Party did not have the money to finance the idea. PLATT WILLIAMS, a member of the Commission stated that the Negro movement does not need the CP but that the Party needs the Negro and if the Party wants Negro members it should organize in the Negro community. The Commission voted six to one in favor of its report on organization in the Negro community being left in its overall report to the CP District Committee.

SF T-8, 2/16/67

The report of the Negro Commission of the NCDCP which was given at a CP Black Power Conference in December, 1966, contained certain recommendations which are set out herein to help clarify the above announcement by ROSCOE PROCTOR:

"Organizationally

"The Party should have a thorough examination of its forces and finances and release cadre (especially Negro cadres) to work more closely with the black movement in the heart of the ghettos.

"A well thought out political and economic program should be developed and such a program should be buttressed with basic educational and ideological programs designed to reach and influence the ghettos' leading activists.

"Discussion groups and classes should be started right in the heart of the black community.

"Discussion guides should be prepared and teachers trained. Special attention should be given to training persons coming out of and well acquainted with the language, moods, and tones, of the black masses.

"We should plan toward establishing book stores in the heart of the ghettos and publish our own short pamphlets dealing with both current issues and theoretical questions facing this wing of the Negro movement.

"We should aim to make it possible (financially) for some of our Negro comrades to be on the scene carrying out this program on a day-to-day basis."

On January 28, 1967, there was a meeting of the Negro Commission of the Southern California District CP at 1251 South Street, Andrew's Place, Los Angeles, California, at which ROSCOE PROCTOR of San Francisco, was present.

PROCTOR said he was going to start a center in the Fillmore area of San Francisco and that the CP is making inroads in the Negro community in San Francisco.

SF T-9, 2/3/67

An NCDCP Youth Conference was held at 81 Clementina Street, San Francisco, on Saturday, March 4, 1967. At this conference one of the youths complained that the Party is strangling the Du Bois Clubs by withholding financial support when there is a disagreement between the two. He cited the summer project where the Party agreed to give financial support to six Du Bois Club organizers. It was the decision of the Du Bois Club to place five organizers in the Negro ghettos and one in a working-class neighborhood. The Party withheld funds until the decision was changed to send five organizers to working-class neighborhoods and one to a Negro Ghetto.

HENRY WINSTON, National CP Committee member from New York, also spoke at this meeting. He said that the youth problem will be tackled in New York on March 10, 1967, when a Central Committee of 80 members will meet. He said the two main areas of concentration for the Party are working class and Negroes; both are receiving special attention. He went on to say that Negro freedom and equality are impossible under capitalism and that Negroes must be geared for battle to give them freedom.

SF T-4, 3/16/67

✓ A characterization of the W.E.B. Du Bois Clubs of America is contained in the Appendix.

On March 18, 1967, a CP Conference on Youth was held at California Hall, 625 Polk Street, San Francisco.

The Conference was called to hear MICKEY LIMA and ROSCOE PROCTOR report on a CP National Committee meeting which they attended.

LIMA reported that the beginning of the movement of youth and the left movement of youth in particular, was in the civil rights struggle. This movement is taking on new expressions, particularly among Negro youth in the ghettos where there is increased militancy. These young militants are not satisfied with the organizations and type of struggle that has won the court victories. They are looking for any forms to conduct an increasing struggle for their civil rights. No group has yet come up with an organizational form to satisfy these young militants, but they are very responsive to anyone who is trying to help them organize.

SF T-6, 3/24/67

II. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL ORGANIZATIONS

On Friday, January 20, 1967, the Negro members of the CP were scheduled to meet so that they could be agreed upon the CP line to be followed by the CP delegates scheduled to attend the Negro conference on black power called for January 27-29, 1967.

SF T-5, 1/23/67

On January 20, 1967, there was a meeting of the "Black Caucus of the Bay Area CP Clubs" at 1919 Oregon Street, Berkeley, California. One of the items discussed was the coming Bay Area Black Conference scheduled for January 27-29, 1967, at the Russian Center on Sutter Street, in San Francisco. It was stated that those desiring to attend the conference can have their expenses paid. They agreed to uphold the following positions at the conference:

Coalition Politics - The Caucus will go along with coalitions.

A Third Party - The Caucus feels the third party idea is the ultimate answer and that it will consist of Negroes, labor, peace groups, and socialists.

Labor - The Caucus will not go along with setting up Negro unions outside of the AFL-CIO but will go along with organizing the unemployed.

Civil Rights Stalemate - The Caucus feels the struggle must find some way of uniting, preferably under the socialistic Negro groups, such as SNCC.

SF T-7, 1/27/67

At a meeting of the Fillmore Club of the CP held February 2, 1967, at 830 Hayes Street, San Francisco, one of the members, JUANITA WHEELER, stated she was at the Black Power Conference which was held January 27-29, 1967, at the Russian Center. She stated that the CP made certain that about seven or eight Party youths attended the Conference and after the Saturday evening meeting some of the Party youth were able to meet with STOKELEY CARMICHAEL, National Leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), who spoke at the Conference.

SF T-2, 2/3/67

On January 30, 1967, a CP meeting was held at 653 Connecticut Street, San Francisco, California, for the purpose of hearing GEORGE MEYERS, Chairman of the CP National Labor Commission. MEYERS stated that labor unions are now facing a rash of anti-labor bills and the entire country is moving toward the right and since the labor leaders do not want to fight, there is now room for Communism to come back into the labor unions and become the militant leaders in the struggle for labor and for the Negro. He emphasized that this is the time to secure concessions from organized labor.

MEYERS went on to say that he feels sure the Negro people will not support the right to work laws and they will understand that their salvation lies in support for labor. He said it will be the role of the CP to explain to the Negro worker the danger of right to work legislation and also to go on the union floor and cry out there against right to work legislation.

SF T-5, 1/31/67

The PW for February 25, 1967, Page 4, carried an article entieled, "Negro Leaders Spurn Right To Work Plea". This article reported on the Seventh Annual California Negro Leadership Conference held February 17-19, 1967, in San Francisco. The Conference was sponsored by two Negro newspapers, the "Los Angeles Sentinel", and the San Francisco "Sun Reporter".

"The debate on the question of union security provisions, which featured REED LARSON, Executive Vice President of the National Right to Work Committee, giving what was called a position paper, and civil rights leader BAYARD RUSTIN, presenting what Conference literature referred to as 'labor's position', packed the room at Glide Memorial Methodist Church."

The article devoted one and one-half paragraphs to REED LARSON's position and fifteen paragraphs to RUSTIN's position in the debate.

This conference was previously announced in the PW issue dated February 18, 1967, Page 2, in an article entitled, "Negro Leadership Group Tries Shock".

This article stated that the conference was called by Dr. CARLTON GOODLETT, "publisher and 1966 Gubernatorial primary contender . . ." The topic of the conference was given as "Economic Survival in an Automated Society--The Right to a Job", and was being held during Negro History Week, which took place this year from February 12-19, 1967.

A source advised on January 15, 1947, that Dr. CARLTON GOODLETT was discussed at a meeting of the Dewey Davis Branch of the Professional Section of the CP of San Francisco. The discussion ended with the conclusion that even though GOODLETT did not attend many meetings of this branch, he would be continued on the rolls of the CP because of the amount of work he did on the outside.

The New York "Herald Tribune" issue of August 14, 1963, Page 7, Column 1, contains an article captioned, "Thurmond Assails a Leader of March". This article stated that, in answer to charges by Senator STROM THURMOND, BAYARD RUSTIN admitted joining the Young Communist League (YCL) in 1936. RUSTIN also reportedly stated that he broke completely with the YCL in June, 1941.

The YCL has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The "Daily Worker" issue of February 25, 1957, Page 1, Column 1, contained an article which stated that BAYARD RUSTIN, Executive Secretary, War Resistor's League, was one of eight non-communist observers at the CP National Convention in 1957.

The "Daily Worker" was an east coast communist newspaper which suspended publication on January 13, 1958.

Three people from the Moranda Smith Section of the Southern California District of the CP went to San Francisco to attend the above described Seventh Annual California Negro Leadership Conference. They were JOAN and BILL JAMES and BILL TAYLOR. DON WHEELDIN, who is close to but not a member of the CP, also attended.

SF T-11, 2/28/67

At a meeting of the Fillmore CP Club held March 9, 1967, at the home of JUANITA WHEELER, one of the members, the main item of discussion was the Party conference to be held March 18, 1967, which would be mainly devoted to youth matters.

The main points to be taken up at the conference are two: First, leading Party youths are not a part of the policy-making body of the Party; and, second, there is not enough attention being paid to the Negro question and therefore there are not many Negroes in the Party and the few Negro youths who do join soon leave. The old Party program as far as Negro youth is concerned is weak and a tremendous amount of white chauvinism is felt by the Negro youth. It was felt that this point should be stressed at the conference and that all youth should work in the various Negro organizations to emphasize black power.

SF T-2, 3/9/67

On March 22, 1967, the San Jose CP Club had a meeting at 597 Glenwood Cutoff, Santa Cruz, California. One of the members, EMMA STERNE, stated that she is trying to keep the SNCC alive and is planning some kind of meeting to get SNCC to sponsor something to create some interest and support.

1 SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, INC.

"The Southern Patriot," a monthly publication, shows that it is published by the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. (SCEF).

"The Southern Patriot" was cited as an "organ" of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare (SCHW) by the Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 592, June 12, 1947.

The SCHW was cited as a communist front by the Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 592, June 12, 1947.

An amendment to the charter of the SCHW dated April 26, 1946, changed the name of that organization to the SCEF, and listed its purpose as being to improve the educational and cultural standards of the Southern people in accordance with the highest American democratic institutions, traditions, and ideals.

The SCEF is self-described as having deep roots in the South where it began as the educational wing of the SCHW, organized in 1938 to work for economic and political reform. When the SCHW disbanded in the late 1940's, SCEF continued as an independent organization, rallying support for integration and democracy and helping to stimulate and nurture new movements of the early 1960's. The SCEF maintained headquarters in Louisiana for twenty years, but in 1966 moved its headquarters to Louisville, Kentucky.

A source advised on March 2, 1961, that CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, a Communist Party functionary, stated at a meeting of the Communist Party in Baltimore, Maryland, on February 25, 1961, that the Communist Party is not connected with any progressive movement but indirectly they do have some influence in the SCEF.

to report on the civil rights situation in St. Louis. TOURNOUR commented he had attended a meeting the day before with various civil rights leaders in St. Louis including WILLIAM CLAY, an alderman, and ROBERT CURTIS, both of whom were arrested and convicted of violating an injunction of the Circuit Court in St. Louis prohibiting interference with the regular business of Jefferson Bank and Trust Company. These individuals and various others were arrested in late August and September, 1963 for violating the injunction. They were fined and received jail sentences. Their appeals were carried all the way to the United States Supreme Court and as of the date of this meeting were pending. TOURNOUR commented that CLAY, CURTIS, and several others are ready to do something which will jar the Negro community from its complacency. It was agreed by those attending this CP meeting the Negro politicians do not have adequate power to earn the respect of city officials; that they are out of touch with the masses. This accounts for the treatment afforded the Jefferson Bank and Trust Company defendants, as well as PERCY GREEN, local head of an organization called "ACTION". He was arrested by St. Louis Police officers for resisting arrest and his case is pending. It was further agreed that on the national scene the lack of power on the part of Negro politicians accounts for the refusal to seat Congressman elect ADAM CLAYTON POWELL. TOURNOUR stated there is a plan afoot to suppress the civil rights movement by making examples of its leaders.

HERSHEL J. WALKER commented that the CP in St. Louis feels the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) is the best organization in which to work; that it has the greatest potential even though its leadership is not the best. TOURNOUR commented he has spoken with BILL BAILEY, local CORE Chairman, and believes him to be a man of integrity. WALKER agreed. TOURNOUR further commented that in St. Louis there are separate committees to defend ADAM CLAYTON POWELL, to raise money for the Jefferson Bank and Trust Company defendants and also to defend PERCY GREEN. He said the task ahead is to merge these committees. Missouri District CP Educational Director WILLIAM E. DAVIS said each committee has a "common enemy". TOURNOUR stated he would endeavor to have someone come to St. Louis from the organization of Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING to assist in an effort to merge the various civil rights groups.

TOURNOUR commented that a "Negro Summit Meeting" had been called by STOKELY CARMICHAEL, National Head of the Student

Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) in New York, February 18-19, 1967. He said an effort should be made to get a carload of individuals to attend from St. Louis. TOURNOUR was advised that no invitations had been sent to anyone in St. Louis and TOURNOUR said upon his return to Chicago later that day he would see that such invitations were sent to local CORE leaders.

(SL T-1 January 24, 1967)

At a meeting of the CP State Committee, WALKER asserted the main effort of the CP in St. Louis in the civil rights field would be directed at CORE. He said all members possible should rally around this organization and should also be active in a newly created group called "East-West Coordinating Committee" (EWCC), which was in the process of being established to work primarily on a number of local civil rights issues. He said these issues included defense of the Jefferson Bank and Trust Company demonstrators, PERCY GREEN, and the preservation of Homer G. Phillips City Hospital. This hospital, in a Negro area, has traditionally served Negroes. WALKER stated that TOURNOUR will attempt to help unite ACTION, CORE, Labor, and other groups. WALKER said he would try to get the local "peace forces" to unite in a common movement. This meeting was held January 28, 1967.

(SL T-2 January 31, 1967)

EUGENE TOURNOUR is a member of the CP.

(SL T-3 May 23, 1965)

At a group meeting of the Community Area CP, January 31, 1967, it was announced that a policy of the CP in St. Louis is to support CORE and the EWCC. CP members were instructed not only to participate themselves but to invite outsiders to join.

(SL T-2 February 1, 1967)

At a meeting of CP leaders in early February, 1967, WALKER said he had just attended a midwest CP conference in Chicago. One of the subjects discussed was the desirability of merging peace, labor, and civil rights movements. WALKER said some progress is being made along this line in Chicago.

(SL T-1 February 7, 1967)

At a meeting of the CP Industrial Area, February 11, 1967, it was announced that EWCC would have its first mass rally March 5, 1967. WALKER designated two CP members to work in EWCC and CORE and said the CP should support the mass rally.

(SL T-1 February 23, 1967)

At a meeting of the State Committee CP, March 11, 1967, WALKER stated that he and another CP leader are extremely busy in civil rights work and he felt that any time a CP meeting interfered with this activity serious consideration should be given to excusing them from the CP activity. It was agreed that this should be done if, after due consideration, it was felt expedient.

WALKER commented that EUGENE TOURNOUR had arranged for PERCY GREEN and other individuals in the civil rights movement to spend several hours with himself and another local CP leader each month. They would discuss the direction the civil rights movement should take. Veteran CP leader, WILLIAM E. DAVIS, said this is a good arrangement and any discussion should be on a Marxist basis.

(SL T-1 March 16, 1967)

WALKER has continued to emphasize that the CP should concentrate its civil rights work in CORE. He, himself, has been very active in this organization especially in its effort to secure the release of the Jefferson Bank and Trust Company defendants from the Municipal jail in St. Louis. The appeals of these defendants to the United States Supreme Court were rejected and they were committed to jail to complete serving their original sentences.

(SL T-4 March 14, 1967)

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

A. Communist Party

A meeting of the St. Louis Chapter of CORE was held January 8, 1967. There was a presentation of information concerning the shooting of a Negro, ALONZO HERRIN, by a St. Louis police officer several days before. The police had been called by one Mrs. LEWIS, who presented the matter to CORE, to have him arrested for beating her. Many felt it was a weak case for protest. A CORE member then suggested the group concern itself with the "frame up" against PERCY GREEN, Chairman of ACTION. It was decided to picket the Seventh District Police Station. The officers from this district had arrested GREEN for resisting arrest. Approximately a dozen individuals did picket the Police Department following the meeting. Included were two members of the CP.

(SL T-1 January 12, 1967)

ACTION consists of a group of individuals who separated from the St. Louis Chapter of CORE because they did not believe it sufficiently militant in its fight for civil rights.

(SL T-1 January, 1967)

In late January, 1967, HERSHEL J. WALKER stated a new group was being formed which would work on various civil rights issues; that within the group is a cross section of the population of St. Louis and everyone is invited to participate including Communists. WALKER said this group would protect the rights of the Jefferson Bank and Trust Company defendants, work toward saving Homer G. Phillips Hospital and also, on the national scene, work for the seating of ADAM CLAYTON POWELL. He said this organization would try to influence the Negro voter in St. Louis in such a way that he would not always be voting Democratic as he did traditionally, but cross party lines.

(SL T-5 February 1, 1967)

Members of the CP, including HERSHEL J. WALKER, were present at a meeting of CORE, January 29, 1967. The creation of a new so-called civil rights coordinating committee was discussed and CORE member, ROBERT CURTIS, asked that four individuals be appointed to represent the organization on the new committee. He said that there would be representatives from various other civil rights organizations including ACTION, various political ward organizations and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). CURTIS said that EUGENE TOURNOUR would return to St. Louis with two additional aides and they would work out a program of action in all the community sectors in the city. He said that the aides would be paid a salary and Alderman WILLIAM CLAY had agreed to be responsible for part of the salary. A CP member was one of four appointed to represent CORE on the coordinating committee.

(SL T-6 January 31, 1967)

In discussing the new coordinating committee, which would be called EWCC, ROBERT CURTIS said its purpose is to get the Negro people aroused on civil rights matters and then "slip in" protests against the fines and jail sentences of the Jefferson Bank and Trust Company demonstrators. He conceded that if Negroes were approached directly to aid the bank defendants there would be little response.

(SL T-1 January 31, 1967)

EUGENE TOURNOUR was present at a meeting of EWCC, February 17, 1967, at 1502 North Union Avenue. He announced that LINCOLN LYNCH, National Associate Director of CORE, would attend a rally of EWCC scheduled the following month. TOURNOUR further said that the two organizers he hoped to bring to St. Louis had been assigned by Dr. KING to San Francisco instead. He promised to try to secure other help.

(SL T-1 February 23, 1967)

At a meeting of EWCC, February 23, 1967, it was announced there would be a public rally, March 5, 1967, and on the preceding day there would be a parade to help advertise the event. TOURNOUR was present at this meeting and was hired at $75 a week to spend three days weekly working in St. Louis. TOURNOUR said he was not only interested in this new organization because his wife is one of the Jefferson Bank and Trust Company defendants, but rather is genuinely interested in the civil rights problems of St. Louis.

(SL T-6 February 27, 1967)

EUGENE TOURNOUR attended a meeting of local CP leaders in late February, 1967. He was invited to discuss the status of EWCC. He said meetings have been well attended. One problem which has developed involves some jealousy on the part of BILL BAILEY of CORE and PERCY GREEN of ACTION. They tend to see it as a competitive civil rights group. TOURNOUR said this suspicion must be overcome. He suggested that after permanent officers are chosen for EWCC the overall program of the new organization should be clearly delineated.

(SL T-1 February 28, 1967)

At a meeting of the Industrial Area CP, February 26, 1967, it was announced that the EWCC's rally had been scheduled for March 5, 1967 at Wayman Temple, 5010 Cabanne Avenue. PERCY GREEN was scheduled to speak on "Police Brutality", ROBERT CURTIS on the Jefferson Bank and Trust Company case, and other individuals on Homer G. Phillips Hospital and a pending Bond issue. It was further announced that there would be an automobile parade, March 4, 1967, and some 5,000 leaflets were being printed for distribution. WALKER instructed members of the Industrial Area to do everything possible to make this rally a success. He said he personally would take leaflets to the next meeting of the St. Louis Citizens for Peace in Vietnam (SLCPV) and felt this organization would give full support to the rally. He said that SLCPV possibly would have an automobile in the March 4th parade.

(SL T-1 February 28, 1967)

SLCPV is an organization consisting of various individuals in the St. Louis area who have banded together to protest United States involvement in Vietnam.

(SL T-7 January, 1967)

EWCC held its public meeting March 5, 1967 and members of the CP attended including WALKER. 125 to 150 individuals were present. EUGENE TOURNOUR sat at the speakers table and

WILLIAM CLAY announced he was being hired as a full-time worker for EWCC. CLAY said his 26th Ward Democratic Club pledged $75 a week to help pay TOURNOUR's salary. CLAY said he is not proud to be an American and if the Jefferson Bank and Trust Company defendants were forced to complete serving their jail sentences there "would be a hot time in St. Louis come June and July".

LINCOLN LYNCH spoke and accused the United States of fighting in Vietnam to protect the interests of big business which are exploiting that country. LYNCH said there have been racial overtones in all the recent wars of the United States. For example, in World War II there were concentration camps for Japanese and their land was confiscated and never returned. He said the atomic bomb was completed before Germany fell but the United States saved it for use against the Japanese, people of color. He said Cubans and other dark people of South America are always the butt of American abuses. He further said that instead of strife, which America constantly creates with Russia and China, it should try living in peace with them. He then went on to say where there are large concentrations of Negroes they should try to take over local control by peaceful means. However, if it cannot be accomplished in this manner other means should be used. LYNCH wore a button on which was printed "Black Power". PERCY GREEN, representing ACTION, spoke as did ROBERT CURTIS, representing CORE.

(SL T-5 March 9, 1967)

At the March 5, 1967 rally of EWCC, LINCOLN LYNCH said there are new changes in the civil rights movement; that sit-ins and lay-ins are outmoded and that civil rights groups must get together and use new tactics. He said Negroes would have to arm themselves with power, black power. He further stated that MALCOLM X, who was assassinated in New York City, was one of the great Negro leaders of the century.

(SL T-1 March 9, 1967)

Because EWCC has not been able to afford a salary for EUGENE TOURNOUR the CP has advanced him funds. They are to be repaid when he receives money from EWCC.

(SL T-1 March 9, 1967)

HERSHEL J. WALKER actively promoted attendance at a meeting of EWCC scheduled for March 12, 1967 at Berea Presbyterian Church, 3010 Olive Street.

(SL T-5 March 17, 1967)

The meeting of EWCC was held March 12, 1967 as scheduled and members of the CP attended. Among them was HERSHEL J. WALKER. This meeting was held to inform people of demonstrations which would be held later that day at the municipal jail and at the residence of Circuit Judge Michael J. Scott, who sentenced the Jefferson Bank and Trust Company demonstrators.

(SL T-5 March 17, 1967)

A Marxist discussion group led by EUGENE TOURNOUR, which included PERCY GREEN and other individuals active in the civil rights movement in St. Louis, met for the first time March 19, 1967. HERSHEL J. WALKER and another member of the CP were present. It was stated the purpose of the series of discussions would be to analyze the direction of the civil rights movement. TOURNOUR asked the group if they did not feel more individuals should be invited to attend. GREEN suggested the group remain small because when Marxism is mentioned people are frightened. TOURNOUR stated the next meeting would be devoted to a Marxist analysis of the Jefferson Bank and Trust Company matter and how the "power structure" manipulates civil rights groups.

(SL T-1 March 23, 1967)

The Marxist discussion group met again on March 26, 1967. EUGENE TOURNOUR analyzed the history of CORE for the benefit of those present. He commented that some of the more conservative members of CORE recently set up a new group called the Greater St. Louis Coordinating Committee. TOURNOUR said this organization will appeal to the more conservative Negroes and it was established to counteract EWCC. He conceded EWCC would appeal to the more radical elements. HERSHEL J. WALKER and two other members of the CP were present at this discussion.

(SL T-1 March 28, 1967)

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

TOURNOUR was instrumental in formation of EWCC and he, together with other CP members, wield a measure of influence within this organization.

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

A. COMMUNIST PARTY, USA (CP)

1. Plans, strategy, Party line, and the like made at national meetings including expressions by national and other functionaries.

DE T-1 advised on February 2, 1967, that a meeting of the CP National Auto Commission was held on January 22, 1967 in the Kirby Room of the Park Shelton Hotel, Detroit, Michigan. At this meeting GEORGE MEYERS was the first speaker and he spoke of the role of the working class in the present stage of the class struggle. He mentioned the serious mistakes which have been made by the CP and pointed out that the CP has a tremendous role to play toward the working class concentration. He said that Negro and white unity must be the rallying point of the CP and on this point the CP will make no retreat.

DE T-1 advised on February 2, 1967, that as of January 22, 1967, GEORGE MEYERS was the National Chairman of the Trade Union Commission CP, USA.

DE T-2 advised on February 9, 1967, that a banquet sponsored by "The Volunteers" to raise funds for "The Worker" was held on January 28, 1967 at 5703 Chene Street, Detroit.

According to the informant, JAMES JACKSON was the guest of honor at this affair and JACKSON spoke concerning "power, black and white". According to DE T-2 regarding "black power", JACKSON stated this question is a result of the fact that Negroes have been denied equal opportunity in education, jobs and society and they are now attempting to secure this equality with the power gained by them from a series of laws recently passed by Congress. JACKSON said the CP supports black power by virtue of the fact that it means power for strength to the Negroes, politically, socially, and economically in proportion to their numbers since they should control the city, state, or county from a political and economic standpoint if they are in a majority.

A characterization of "The Volunteers" appears in the appendix hereto.

"The Worker" is an East Coast Communist newspaper.

DE T-2 advised on February 9, 1967, that as of January 28, 1967, JAMES JACKSON was the publisher of "The Worker"

DE T-3 advised on July 12, 1965, that JAMES JACKSON was a current member of the National Committee, CP, USA.

2. Plans, strategy, Party line, and the like made at District and lower level meetings, including expressions by local leaders and rank and file members.

DE T-4 advised on February 17, 1967, that at a meeting of the Michigan District CP (MDCP) East Side Club held on February 14, 1967 at 6710 Crane, Detroit, one of the CP members present stated that recruiting is now one of the main issues of the Party and current CP recruiting goals concern youth, women, and Negroes.

DE T-1 advised on March 14, 1967, that a meeting of the MDCP State Board was held on March 1, 1967 at 2632 Glendale, Detroit. According to the informant, at this meeting THOMAS DENNIS discussed the current peace demonstration plans and the coming demonstrations to be held in New York, New York and other cities in the United States. DENNIS said that this is an important part of CP endeavors and that currently the CP National Committee is not happy with the situation in Michigan, since the Trotskyites are domineering the peace and/or "Vietnam issue". DENNIS stated he would visit local Negro clergymen and other Negro leaders regarding the peace issue.

DE T-1 advised on December 6, 1966, that THOMAS DEWITT DENNIS, JR. was currently Chairman of the MDCP, a member of the MDCP Executive Committee, State Board, State Committee and Negro Commission and Chairman of the MDCP Community Relations Commission.

DE T-4 advised on March 17, 1967, that during a recent MDCP Club leadership meeting, THOMAS DENNIS was heard to mention that each local CP Club was asked to recruit, and the main concentration should be on youth, women and Negroes.

DE T-1 advised on March 14, 1967, that a meeting of the MDCP State Committee was held on February 26, 1967 in the Lafayette Room of the Fort Shelby Hotel in Detroit. According to the informant, at this meeting CARL REINSTEIN spoke at great length on the need for work by the CP with the Negro along recreation lines since "that always gets them into our ranks".

DE T-1 advised on March 1, 1967, that CARL REINSTEIN is currently an Organizational Secretary of the MDCP.

DE T-1 advised on March 1, 1967, that the MDCP continues to include, as part of its organizational set up, "a Negro Commission".

B. THE SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY (SWP)

1. Plans, strategy, Party line, and the like made at District and lower level meetings, including expressions by local leaders and rank and file members.

The SWP has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

DE T-5 advised on April 14, 1967, that local leadership of the Detroit chapter SWP and of the SWP Youth Affiliate, the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) in Detroit, are currently concentrating on the "Vietnam issue" and are not at this time giving any attention to racial matters.

Characterizations of the Detroit chapter SWP and of the YSA appear in the appendix hereto.

On August 11, 1958, a source advised that WILLIAM ALLAN, Michigan Representative of "The Worker", stated that about a week ago (August 4, 1958) the new Volunteers Club was organized.

On September 10, 1958, a second source advised that The Communist Party (CP), in order to promote sales of the "Michigan Edition- The Worker" newspaper and to raise funds for the paper had established the "Press Committee", which is divided into two sections. One section is known as "The Volunteers". This is a public group open to both party members and non-Party people interested in "The Worker" paper sales and fund-raising. The source stated the officers of "The Volunteers" are CP members.

Source two stated on May 2, 1966, that "The Volunteers", also known as "The Worker", Press Committee of The Volunteers Committee continues to be active.

The Michigan Edition - The Worker" ceased publication as such in early 1958. A source advised on May 18, 1964, that "The Worker" is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Sunday, and are known as the Midweek Edition and the weekend Edition.

DE-100-324577 ~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

APPENDIX

YOUNG SOCIALIST ALLIANCE

The May, 1960, issue of the "Young Socialist", (YS), page 1, column 3, disclosed that during April 15-17, 1960, a national organization entitled "The Young Socialist Alliance" (YSA) was established at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The issue stated that this organization was formed by the nationwide supporter clubs of the publication YS.

The above issue, page 6, set forth the founding declaration of YSA. This declaration stated that the YSA recognizes the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) as the only existing political leadership on class struggle principles, and that the supporters of the YS have come into basic political solidarity with the SWP on the principles of revolutionary socialism.

A source advised on May 23, 1966, that the original YSA was an organization formed during October, 1957, in New York City by youth of various left socialist tendencies, particularly members and followers of the SWP. The leaders of this group were the guiding forces in the establishment of the national organization.

The source further advised on May 23, 1966, that the YSA is dominated and controlled on a national basis by the SWP through having SWP members comprise exclusively the National Executive Committee (NEC). The YSA, in reality, is the youth and training section for the SWP and the main source of new SWP members.

The headquarters of the YSA are located in Room 535, 41 Union Square West, New York City.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

No information available.

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

No information available.

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

No other information available.

According to informants, PAT BLAU BLAWIS was elected to the National Committee at the 18th National Convention of the CP, USA, held in New York City in June, 1966. PAT BLAWIS on her return to New Mexico indicated she planned to start holding regularly scheduled CP meetings and planned to set up a CP organization for the State of New Mexico. Reorganization of the CP, USA, in the State of New Mexico was reportedly held in abeyance during the fall of 1966 because of the illness of PAT BLAWIS' mother and held in abeyance during the early part of the winter of 1966 because of an injury to JOHN BLAWIS, husband of PAT BLAWIS.

On 3/29/67, [redacted] advised that JAMES A. KENNEDY, currently residing Chicago, Illinois, (who in 1966 publicly self-described himself as a member of the CP and a spokesman for the CP in the Albuquerque area), was visiting Albuquerque, New Mexico, and had on this date advised that PAT BLAU BLAWIS was the CP organizer for the Southwest but during the past nine months had done absolutely nothing in regard to creating a functioning CP, USA, organization in the State of New Mexico. KENNEDY indicated that he would be returning to Albuquerque, New Mexico, no later than June, 1967, as the CP, USA, organizer for the Southwest and thereafter would create a functioning CP organization for the State of New Mexico.

This review of information reflects the State of New Mexico has little, if any, racial problems and appears all action taken in connection with racial matters is on a legitimate basis.

Investigation by the Albuquerque Office of captioned matter for the past quarter is completely negative and accordingly no report is being submitted.

Title: COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN RACIAL MATTERS

Character: INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Synopsis:

FOR THE PERIOD JANUARY 16, 1967, THROUGH APRIL 15, 1967

Ohio CP attempted to recruit Negroes and work with Negro organizations. CP is trying to infiltrate Cleveland CORE and arrange for meeting with local CORE leaders. Two SWP members are active in CORE, and general policy of SWP is to support Negro movements. Acting secretary of CORE is SWP member. CORE reportedly accepts help of SWP members but limits their activity. Source belives CORE needs financial help so badly that it might be willing to work discreetly with the CP, but there is no indication that local CORE leaders have any interest in CP beliefs.

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

A. COMMUNIST PARTY USA

1. Local Communist Party Plans and Strategy

CV T-1 advised on January 12, 1967, that at a Citizens for Constitutional Rights (CCR) meeting held January 6, 1967, in Cleveland, FREDA HARRIS, FRIEDA KATZ and ALONZO HOWARD were selected as a committee to arrange an appointment with DONALD BEAN, Chairman of Cleveland Congress On Racial Equality (CORE), and ask him if CORE is planning to have JULIAN BOND speak in Cleveland during February, 1967, and if so whether CORE is willing to make this a joint program and have BOND appear with a CCR speaker.

CITIZENS FOR CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS (CCR)

VIRGINIA HARDIN, who has furnished information to the United States Government, is a self-admitted former member of the Communist Party whose cooperation with the government was publicly disclosed on June 5, 1962. Mrs. HARDIN mentioned on September 5, 1961, that on September 1, 1961, a CCR meeting was held in Cleveland, Ohio, at which the name CCR was approved to replace the name Cleveland Committee to Abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities (HCUA), which had been the former name used by the group. EDNA KAUFMAN, Chairman and only officer of the CCR, controls the operations of the CCR, which has no formal membership requirements. The stated purposes of the CCR are to abolish the HCUA and to fight against the Smith and McCarran Acts. CV T-6 advised on March 29, 1965, that EDNA KAUFMAN attended a Communist Party (CP) State Conference held at Cleveland, Ohio, on March 28, 1965, and during this conference KAUFMAN was congratulated on the work she had done to abolish the HCUA, which was a Party assignment.

FREDA HARRIS

CV T-6 advised on June 7, 1966, that FREDA HARRIS was present at the Ohio CP Convention held in Cleveland, Ohio, on June 4-5, 1966.

FRIEDA KATZ

CV T-6 advised on June 7, 1967, that FRIEDA KATZ attended the Ohio CP State Convention held at Cleveland, Ohio, on June 4-5, 1966, and at which she was elected delegate to the National Convention of the CP USA and also a member of the Ohio CP State Committee.

ALONZO HOWARD

CV T-1 advised on January 12, 1967, that ALONZO HOWARD is currently a member of the CP in Cleveland.

CV T-1 advised on January 23, 1967, that on January 10, 1967, PHILIP BART explained how important and necessary it is that the CP contact and work with labor unions and civil rights organizations. BART is very anxious to get a CP member into CORE without that person's CP background being known to DONALD BEAN.

PHILIP BART

CV T-7 advised that at an Ohio CP State Committee Meeting held in Cleveland on November 13, 1966, it was announced that PHILIP BART is Secretary of the Ohio CP.

CV T-1 advised on January 16, 1967, that on January 13, 1967, PHILIP BART said he had been at the CORE office in Cleveland on January 7, 1967, at which time he talked to DONALD BEAN about the CP helping to finance, with CORE, the visit of JULIAN BOND to Cleveland. BART said he told BEAN that he felt the CP and CORE could make a little money on the affair by working together. According to BART, DONALD BEAN thought this was a good idea and said he would let BART know, but as of January 13, 1967, BART had not heard from BEAN.

CV T-2 advised on February 8, 1967, that on January 23, 1967, FRIEDA KATZ suggested at a CCR meeting that the CCR hold a social evening during February in honor of Negro History Week. The purpose being to bring Negro and white people together for an informal discussion regarding the acceptance of Negroes in white areas, the problems resulting from this, and the methods of overcoming these problems.

CV T-1 advised on February 3, 1967, that PHILIP BART is disturbed over the lack of activity of HENRY S/ CRAWFORD, a leading CP Negro member in Cleveland. BART very frankly stated on February 2, 1967, that the CP is making a special effort to interest and recruit Negroes into the Party, and is making an effort to use current Party members for this purpose. BART is also very anxious to have a house meeting arranged with local CORE leaders at which BART will be present.

HENRY CRAWFORD

CV T-6 advised on June 7, 1966, that HENRY CRAWFORD attended the Ohio CP State Convention held on June 4-5, 1966, at Cleveland during which convention he was elected a member of the Ohio CP State Committee and also elected an alternate delegate to the CP USA Convention to be held in New York City in June, 1967.

CV T-1 advised on February 9, 1967, that a CP group meeting was held in Cleveland on February 4, 1967, at which HENRY CRAWFORD emphasized how important and necessary it is that those present at this meeting get into and become a part of as many Negro organizations as possible, and also try to get the Negroes and whites, who are working for peace and civil rights, to unite.

CV T-3 advised on February 13, 1967, that Cleveland CORE held an open house in Cleveland on February 11, 1967, at which various speakers discussed points of interest to CORE. Among those present were the following people, all of whom are white:

PHILIP and CONNIE BART
FRIEDA and DAVID KATZ
JEAN KRCHMAREK
ERIC REINTHALER

CONNIE BART S/

CV T-6 advised on June 7, 1966, that CONNIE BART attended Ohio CP State Convention held at Cleveland, Ohio, June 4-5, 1966, at which she was elected delegate to the National Convention of the CP USA to be held in New York City, June, 1967, and also elected a member of the Ohio State CP Committee.

DAVID KATZ S/

CV T-6 advised on June 7, 1966, that DAVID KATZ attended the Ohio CP State Convention held in Cleveland, Ohio, June 4-5, 1966, at which he was elected a member of the Ohio CP State Committee.

JEAN KRCHMAREK S/

CV T-6 advised on June 7, 1966, that JEAN KRCHMAREK is the wife of the Chairman of the Ohio CP. She was present at the Ohio CP State Convention held in Cleveland, Ohio, on June 4-5, 1966.

ERIC REINTHALER S/

CV T-3 advised on February 13, 1967, that ERIC REINTHALER is currently the organizer of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) in Cleveland. The SWP has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

CV T-2 advised on March 7, 1967, that a social gathering, sponsored by the CCR, was held at a private home in Cleveland on February 25, 1967. More than 75 persons, both Negro and white, had been invited to attend, and the speaker was ARTHUR EVANS, Vice President of CORE in Cleveland. The affair was scheduled to start at 8:30 p.m., at which time ALONZO HOWARD and ARTHUR EVANS arrived. About one hour passed before anyone else arrived and EVANS started his talk about 10:00 p.m., after FRIEDA KATZ made extensive excuses for the poor attendance. Generally EVANS' talk consisted of placing all blame for the Negro problems on the white people, and there was little discussion following his talk since the only Negroes present were EVANS and HOWARD, which did not contribute to a balanced discussion.

ARTHUR EVANS

CV T-8 advised in December, 1964, and again in April, 1965, that ARTHUR EVANS has attended meetings of the Militant forum in Cleveland, which is a public forum sponsored by the Socialist Workers Party. At the Militant Forum meeting of December 6, 1964, United States activity in the Congo was denounced; at the Militant Forum on March 21, 1965, EVANS was a speaker, and he was critical of the suspension of DONALD FREEMAN as a Cleveland School teacher because of FREEMAN's activity in the Revolutionary Action Movement; and at the Militant Forum meeting on April 25, 1965, at which United States activity in Viewnam was protested, EVANS announced a demonstration that was to be held on behalf of FREEMAN.

CV T-9 advised on November 2, 1966, that EVANS attends an occasional SWP sponsored forum or social event and has spoken on civil rights at some of these affairs; however, his interests are confined to the issue of civil rights and he has no political ties with the SWP or any similar group. Source stated that EVANS has a close personal association with DONALD FREEMAN but does not share FREEMAN's revolutionary black nationalist beliefs.

The Socialist Workers Party has been cited by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450. A characterization of Revolutionary Action Movement, wherein DONALD FREEMAN is identified, is attached.

CV T-1 advised on March 2, 1967, that PHILIP BART has been pressing for the CP members to be more active in CORE, but FRIEDA KATZ claims that BART is being too bold and that this will hurt CORE more than it will help the CP. However, a meeting has been arranged for the three leaders of Cleveland CORE to meet with PHILIP BART, ANTHONY KRCHMAREK and ALONZO HOWARD. DONALD BEAN has stated that Cleveland CORE will accept help from the CP providing the CP will agree to stay in the background.

ANTHONY KRCHMAREK 51

On October 11, 1966, ANTHONY KRCHMAREK appeared on a radio program carried over Cleveland radio station WKYC, on which program he identified himself as being Chairman of the CP of Ohio.

CV T-1 advised on March 8, 1967, that a CP group meeting was held in Cleveland on March 2, 1967, at which HENRY CRAWFORD reiterated the need for CP members to work in their neighborhood clubs and in CORE, for "we have to become a part of those organizations in order to be where the people are."

CV T-1 advised on March 27, 1967, that as of March 21, 1967, PHILIP BART was still interested in having officers of CORE get together with the leaders of the CP in Cleveland. BART claims that this is not with any intention of wanting to tell CORE what to do and how to do it, but for the purpose of working with CORE in any way that CORE thinks the CP can be helpful. When BART's views were explained to ARTHUR EVANS, EVANS' comment was, "I may have to step hard on PHIL BART."

CV T-1 advised on March 27, 1967, that there is a difference of opinion of CP members in Cleveland as to how openly they should attempt to work in CORE. PHILIP BART has decided that these differences of opinion should be straightened out prior to holding any meeting with Cleveland CORE leaders.

CV T-3 advised on March 22, 1967, that there has been no indication, to his knowledge, that PHILIP BART has been successful in exercising any influence on the Cleveland CORE Chapter.

B. SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY (SWP)

1. Local SWP Plans and Strategy

CV T-4 advised on January 30, 1967, that an SWP meeting was held in Cleveland on January 27, 1967, at which ERIC REINTHALER reported that a SWP forum would be held on January 29, 1967, at which there would be discussions on the subject matter, "Behind the Attack on ADAM CLAYTON POWELL." There will be four panelists and included among these four will be DONALD BEAN of CORE and REINTHALER, who is organizer of the SWP in Cleveland.

CV T-9 on February 2, 1967, summarized the activities of the SWP in Cleveland over the past six months, pointing out there has been very little activity in the civil rights movement or in the Negro movement, mainly because both of these movements have been at a standstill during this period. CV T-9 commented that although there has been little activity by the SWP in these movements in the past six months, nevertheless the general attitude of the SWP is to support both the civil rights movement and Negro movement in time of need.

II. NO PERTINENT DEMONSTRATIONS REPORTED DURING THE PERIOD OF THIS REPORT

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

A. CORE

CV T-1 advised on March 22, 1967, that among the current officers of the Cleveland Chapter of CORE are the following two persons:

ARTHUR EVANS
Second Vice President

JOHN CLOUD
Acting Secretary

JOHN CLOUD

CV T-3 advised on March 22, 1967, that JOHN CLOUD is currently a member of the SWP in Cleveland.

CV T-1 further advised on March 22, 1967, that the number of members in Cleveland CORE is not revealed, but about 15 - 20 persons are present at meetings, not all of whom are CORE members. ERIC REINTHALER, JOHN CLOUD, ALONZO HOWARD and MAX SCHOENFELD are all current members of CORE, OHIO CV T-1 reported that with respect to REINTHALER, DONALD BEAN said, "Although ERIC is an active member, we limit his activities. Many times we do not let him take part in public demonstrations because of what people will say."

MAX SCHOENFELD

CV T-1 advised that MAX SCHOENFELD was organizer of the Independent Socialist League (ISL) in Cleveland from at least 1952 until that organization was dissolved in 1958.

A characterization of the ISL is contained in the appendix hereto.

CV T-5 advised on January 20, 1967, that the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom held a membership meeting in Cleveland on January 17, 1967. The speaker was "JOHN CLOUD from CORE" and he discussed the CORE program for 1967.

CV T-1 advised on March 22, 1967, that ERIC REINTHALER is frequently asked for his opinions and advice during CORE meetings. DONALD BEAN, who is aware of REINTHALER's affiliations, states that he is careful not to let REINTHALER make public appearances on behalf of CORE.

CV T-7 on March 8, 1967, advised that on March 1, 1967, PHILIP BART went to the Cleveland City Hall to attend a public meeting of the Ohio State Advisory Committee, the purpose of the meeting being to learn what has been done in Cleveland to correct the conditions which lead to civil riots during the Summer of 1966. On entering the City Hall PHILIP BART saw DONALD BEAN and ARTHUR EVANS and walked up to shake hands with them. BART was treated so coldly that he hastily went into the meeting room. Later, EVANS commented that he hated to do this to BART, "but it is not expedient to do otherwise at this time." Source noted that in spite of this incident BART is still insistent that the CP make an effort to work closely with CORE.

CV T-1 advised on March 22, 1967, that because of PHILIP BART's continuing emphasis on the need for a working relationship between CORE and the CP, a tentative agreement has been reached for BEAN and ARTHUR EVANS to meet privately with ANTHONY KRCHMAREK, PHILIP BART and several other well known communists to discuss ways in which the CP and CORE can cooperate. ARTHUR EVANS commented that he does not like the way in which BART is pushing for such a meeting. Source stated that there is no assurance that such a meeting will materialize, for the CP members involved are arguing among themselves as to whether it is advisable for them to approach CORE openly as CP members, or whether to not openly show their identity. Source feels that the local chapter of CORE needs help so badly that it might be willing to work with the CP on a discreet basis in the hopes of getting some financial support, but there is no indication that the local CORE people have any interest in the political beliefs of the CP. Source noted that ALONZO HOWARD is the only CP member that he knows to be affiliated with Cleveland CORE.

CONFIDENTIAL

REVOLUTIONARY ACTION MOVEMENT (RAM)

On November 3, 1964, a source made available a document entitled, "The Revolutionary Action Movement Manifesto", the document having been obtained by the source from an individual known to be a member of the Revolutionary Action Movement (RAM).

This document stated, in part, that RAM was officially organized in the Winter of 1963 by Afro-Americans who support the revolutionary objectives of ROBERT F. WILLIAMS, who was then residing in Cuba, and his concept of organized violence to achieve the liberation of the Afro-American people in the United States. This Manifesto disclosed that RAM had oriented its program to one of education and political revolution and the organization of a "black" political party with revolutionary objectives, having recognized the need for a "black revolution" that could and would seize power. RAM philosophy is described in this document as one of revolutionary nationalism, that is, one involving the struggles of the non-white races of the world against exploitation and enslavement by the white capitalist and imperialist nations.

Regarding WILLIAMS, it should be noted that on August 28, 1961, a Federal warrant was issued at Charlotte, North Carolina, charging him with Unlawful Flight to Avoid Prosecution for the crime of kidnaping. Subsequent to the issuance of this warrant, WILLIAMS fled the United States to Cuba, where he published a monthly newsletter entitled "The Crusader" from Havana. As of December, 1966, WILLIAMS was residing in Peking, China.

This source, in September, 1964, advised RAM is dedicated to the overthrow of the capitalist system in the United States, by violence if necessary, and to its replacement by a socialistic system oriented toward the Chinese Communist interpretation of Marxism-Leninism. RAM is entirely non-white in membership, clandestine in nature, and owes its primary allegiance to the "Bandung World", that is, the non-white races of the world rather than to any national entity, as such.

On November 16, 1964, a second source advised he learned recently from a RAM member that the organization began in Detroit, Michigan, largely under the impetus of DON FREEMAN, described as the "Father" of RAM and referred to as RAM's "Black Stalin". FREEMAN served as RAM Chairman, with MAXWELL STANFORD, now residing in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, serving as RAM Field Chairman.

On January 23, 1967, a third source advised that the RAM still remains active; however, there is no formal headquarters, as such, for the RAM.

Synopsis: THIS REPORT COVERS THE PERIOD 1/1/67 THROUGH 3/31/67. CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, CP Functionary, claimed the civil rights movement is in a transitional stage and the Negro Organizations existing today may not be the ones to complete the social revolution. Many concessions for the Negro people can be won if correct struggles are waged. HERBERT APTHEKER, CP Functionary, at a PSSFC affair stated history books do not mention the important part played by Negroes. Many white people have assisted the Negroes but fail to realize the real problem of "White Power." At a local district CP meeting, suggestions were made to obtain support for Congressman ADAM CLAYTON POWELL who was attacked because he was a Negro. BAYARD RUSTIN appeared in Philadelphia on 1/4/67 and denounced Negroes who refused help from the white people.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

On February 1, 1967, PH T-1 advised that at a social gathering sponsored by the District Board, Communist Party of Eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware, (CPEPD), held on January 28, 1967 at 4288 Parkside Avenue, CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, National Secretary of the Commission on Negro Affairs, CPUSA, was the guest speaker. The purpose of LIGHTFOOT's visit was to influence persons in Negro work to recruit young Negro people into the Communist Party.

LIGHTFOOT spoke on the Civil Rights Movement which he contended was in a transitional stage. The Negro organizations existing today may not be the ones which will complete the social revolution. New forms will have to be tried until the correct ones are found. According to LIGHTFOOT the Communist Party intends to initiate action involving issues that will put the people into motion. New movements are on the rise throughout the country and the old Civil Rights organizations are no longer the order of the day. He urged those present to take notice of all issues revolving around transportation and housing and be ready to lead the people into action. He indicated there was no blueprint on how to move the people but each community would have its own problems. He further stated that many concessions for the Negro people can be won from the Government if correct struggles are waged.

According to this source, none of the non-Party guests were induced to join the Communist Party.

On January 30, 1967, PH T-2 advised that on the afternoon of January 28, 1967, the Youth Group of the CPEPD, met with CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT who spoke on "Black Power" and its relationship to the Communist Movement. LIGHTFOOT predicted a political crisis because of the danger of Fascism in America, of belligerent foreign policy, this country's economic crisis, and Civil Rights. He also stated within the next decade the Communist Party will emerge and the "Black Power" Movement will welcome it.

On February 1, 1967, PH T-1 advised a special meeting of the District Board, CPEPD, was held on January 30, 1967 at 170 West Manheim Street, Philadelphia, Pa. The guest speaker was CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT and the purpose of the meeting was to discuss Negro work.

A discussion was opened by JARVIS TYNER, a member of the District Board, CPEPD, and the National Committee, CPUSA, who reported on the historical background of Negroes in America. He spoke on racism and the Civil Rights Movement which he believed had reached a new stage and at this time was seeking a fundamental change. He felt that while the Negroes had won some concessions, the basic situation is still the same.

During the discussion on recruitment of Negro youth into the Communist Party, it was the general opinion of those present that the recruitment approach had been too narrow and should be expanded, to cover mass activities.

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT disagreed with TYNER concerning the unimportant gains made by the Negroes. He felt that any gain received by the Negroes was important as it sets the stage for future gains. LIGHTFOOT stated that WILLIAM CRAWFORD, a member of the North Philadelphia Communist Party Club, CPEPD, should utilize his book store in an effort to recruit Negro youth. He also requested those present to look for new forms and new organizations, particularly those in the Negro community to further recruitment of Negro youth.

On March 1, 1967, PH T-3 advised HERBERT APTHEKER was a featured speaker at the meeting of the Philadelphia Social Science Forum Committee, (PSSFC), held on February 24, 1967 at the Hotel Philadelphia, 314 North Broad Street, Philadelphia.

On March 13, 1967, PH T-1 advised HERBERT APTHEKER was elected to the National Committee of the CPUSA at its 18th National Convention held in June 1966.

A characterization of the PSSFC appears in the Appendix Section of this report.

APTHEKER spoke on Negro history in the United States and stated that most history books failed to mention the Negroes and the important part they have played in this country's history. He emphasized the fact that this matter should be corrected; it was characteristic of a capitalistic Government to hold down certain people and that the U. S. Constitution and the Bill of Rights did not give any freedom to Negroes but only to those who are white and own property.

APTHEKER stated the high status of the white people in the United States is based on the deprivation of the Negroes. The communist Movement has brought about many rights for the Negroes but they still are not advanced as far as they should be. Although many white people have assisted the Negroes by participating in the Civil Rights Movement, many have forgotten the real problem which is "White Power."

B. PLANS, STRATEGY, PARTY LINE AND THE LIKE MADE AT DISTRICT AND LOWER LEVEL MEETINGS, INCLUDING EXPRESSIONS BY LOCAL LEADERS AND RANK-AND-FILE MEMBERS

On January 11, 1967, PH T-1 advised a meeting of the Executive Committee, CPEPD, was held on January 3, 1967 at 170 West Manheim Street, Philadelphia. A discussion was held concerning the case of Congressman ADAM CLAYTON POWELL. It was felt that very little could be done on this matter on a district scale. However, it was made clear the party's line should be one of support for the Negro community's stand on the unfair treatment of POWELL. It should be made clear that the party is in no way supporting everything POWELL has done, but his behavior is not peculiar to the behavior of many other Congressmen. It was also pointed out that POWELL was attacked because he was a Negro.

During this discussion, it was announced that early in January demonstrations for the support of POWELL would be held in Washington, D.C. Although those present were encouraged to participate in these demonstrations, it was later learned that none had done so.

On January 12, 1967, PH T-4 advised that at a meeting of club organizers, CPEPD, held on January 11, 1967 at 1345 West Susquehanna Avenue, SONDRA "SANDY" PATRINOS, Organization Secretary, CPEPD, stated the Negro people did not act fast enough in the case of Congressman ADAM CLAYTON POWELL and that those representatives who defended POWELL did so merely for personal or political reasons. According to PATRINOS, she felt that ministers in the Philadelphia area who are influential in the Negro community should be urged to exert their influence on behalf of POWELL. It was also indicated that efforts should be made to obtain the support of trade unions and the NAACP.

C. PLANS, ETC. AS REVEALED IN PARTY PUBLICATIONS AND OTHER PROPAGANDA MEDIA, SUCH AS WRITTEN DIRECTIVES, PRESS RELEASES, AND THE LIKE

On page four of the January 22, 1967 issue of "The Worker", an east coast Communist newspaper, an article appeared by JAMES H. DOLSEN entitled: "ULTRA-RIGHTISTS CIRCULATE PETITIONS TO BAR NEGROES FROM GIRARD COLLEGE."

On January 26,1967, PH T-1 advised that JAMES H. DOLSEN was a current member of the West Philadelphia Club, CPEPD.

According to this article, the Constitutional Voters Association of Pennsylvania, an alias for the most conservative political grouping in the state, has announced its support of a petition being circulated for signatures upholding the exclusion of Negro boys from Girard College. The petitions are sponsored by the recently organized Association for the Preservation of Wills and Private Schools, but the initiative for its formation goes back to the Board of Trustees at Girard College. The petitions tried to disguise their anti-Negro prejudice by clauses declaring their "full and heartfelt support to the enactment and enforcement of those law, whether on the Federal, state, or local level, which further the civil rights of all the people of the United States regardless of race, creed, or color." Having thus piously and hypocritically professed their regret at racial discrimination in general, the petitions hammer on the so-called sacred right of an individual to dispose of his property without any legal restrictions.

COMMUNIST TACTICS

A. APPEARANCE OF BAYARD RUSTIN IN DOWNINGTOWN, PENNSYLVANIA JANUARY 4, 1967

On page 11, of the January 5, 1967 issue of "The Evening Bulletin," Philadelphia newspaper, Philadelphia, Pa., there appeared an article entitled "Rustin Denounces Negroes Who Refuse Help of Whites." According to this article BAYARD T. RUSTIN attended a testimonial dinner for the Reverend E. MARSHALL BEVINS at the Downingtown Motor Inn, Downingtown, Pa. on January 4, 1967. Father BEVINS, age 46, resigned last month from his post as Vicar of two small Episcopal churches in Chester County, Pa. because he split with his congregation on civil rights. RUSTIN told the more than two hundred persons who attended this dinner that Father BEVINS is one of those white men whom Negroes need. It is not the radical group of the right, such as the John Birch Society, that hurt the drive of Negroes for equality. It is rather the apathy of the good people who know what is the right thing to do but don't do it. RUSTIN also denounced as "idiots and fools" those Negroes who want to exclude whites from the civil rights movement. He noted the attempts of several civil rights leaders to drive whites out of the movement as reverse racism. White men who have the courage and nobility to stand up for equality for all men are needed by the Negroes and "we want them in the movement."

In the "Saturday Evening Post," issue of July 11-18, 1964, page 76, BAYARD RUSTIN is the subject of a feature captioned: "The Lone Wolf of Civil Rights." In it, RUSTIN is said to have come to New York in 1938, as an organizer for the Young Communist League, (YCL) and as such, he had the job of recruiting students for the "Party." Furthermore, the article reports that during his first years in New York, RUSTIN gave most of his earnings to the "Party." He reportedly left the "Party" in 1941, the article states.

The YCL has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The "Daily Worker," February 11, 1957, page 1, column 2, reported that BAYARD RUSTIN, Executive Secretary, War Resisters league, was an observer at the 16th National Convention of the Communist Party, United States of America, (CPUSA), held in New York City, on February 9-12, 1957.

The "Daily Worker" was an East Coast Communist publication until it ceased publication on January 13, 1958.

On September 25, 1963, PH T-5 who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that during a meeting of the National Board, Communist Party, USA, on September 25, 1963, BENJAMIN J. DAVIS remarked that, 'RUSTIN calls me constantly--openly.'

On February 19 and 20, 1964, PH T-6 who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that BAYARD RUSTIN contacted BENJAMIN J. DAVIS on February 19 and 20, 1964, and sought his advice as to how he could escape from a speaking engagement to which he was committed. On the latter contact, DAVIS told RUSTIN that he was working on his request and had contacted friends who had contacts with the group to which RUSTIN was to speak.

PHILADELPHIA SOCIAL SCIENCE FORUM COMMITTEE (PSSFC)

A source advised on November 14 and 17, 1958 that a meeting of the District Education Commission, Communist Party of Eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware (CPEPD), was held November 13, 1958 at 3425 Powelton Avenue, Philadelphia. At this meeting DANIEL RUBIN, the District Education Director, presented a proposal for a series of forums under the nominal sponsorship of the Philadelphia Social Science Forum Committee (PSSFC). The source stated that PSSFC was merely a paper organization and this series of forums was organized by the District Education Commission (CPEPD) and had to be approved by the District Committee (CPEPD) before being put into effect.

This source stated on June 12, 1959; November 5, 1959; and October 21, 1960 that the PSSFC remained under the control of the District Education Commission, CPEPD.

A second source reported on October 9, 1961, that the District Executive Committee (DEC), CPEPD, met on October 2, 1961, and approved plans to hold and to support a new series of forums of PSSFC beginning November 10, 1961 and ending in May, 1962.

The second source on May 8, 1964 advised that the main purpose of the PSSFC is to bring to Philadelphia well known speakers who have a pro-Communist point of view. Included among the speakers each year are national leaders of the Communist Party, USA.

The second source added on May 10, 1966 that the PSSFC continued to meet during 1962, 1963, 1964, 1965, and 1966 and that it remains under the control of the CPEPD.

At 5:15 p.m., 5/3/67, following the coroner's inquest which cleared the policeman in the death, BARRY held a press conference on the lawn of the morgue. He was accompanied by BOOKER's father; LANDON DOWDY, an attorney; Reverend WALTER FAUNTROY, and Mrs. WILLIE HARDY, Executive Secretary, Metropolitan Committee Aid Council. They deported the injustice of the situation and alleged that the prosecutors had always cooperated to closely with the police. They said something had to be done to correct the injustices and allegedly that BOOKER was shot while running away rather than in a scuffle. BARRY interviewed under pretext said no immediate action was planned except meetings to control the unrest over the incident.

Captain CARROLL advised on 5/3/67 that BARRY told him the picketing of the precinct was postponed until the day of the boy's funeral, date not yet set.

SAMMIE A. ABBOTT, former head of the communist party in this area, was at the conference on the morgue lawn and left with FAUNTROY in FAUNTROY's car.

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

A. Communist Party (CP), USA

1. Plans, Strategy, Party-Line and the Like Made at CP of Illinois Meetings, Including Expressions by CP of Illinois Leaders and Rank and File Members

a. General

The CP of Illinois' influence in the Chicago Freedom Movement can be summed up as follows:

The CP of Illinois claims that they have a program and policy relative to the Chicago Freedom Movement; however, in reality the CP of Illinois exerts only a minimal influence in the freedom movement in the Chicago area. The civil rights organizations active in the Chicago area in which the CP of Illinois attempts to exert some influence are as follows;

Chicago Urban League (CUL)
Congress of Racial Equality (CORE)
Coordinating Council of Community Organizations (CCCO)
National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP)
Negro American Labor Council (NALC)
Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC)
Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC)
West Side Organization (WSO)

The CP of Illinois still has LESTER DAVIS, CP of Illinois member, assigned to the Chicago Branch of the NAACP, but at the current time DAVIS is doing little or nothing to implement CP policy relative to the NAACP.

Relative to CORE, EUGENE TOURNOUR, a member of the CP of Illinois, is also a member of CORE. TOURNOUR recently has been spending a substantial amount of his time in St. Louis, Missouri; and, therefore, TOURNOUR exerts very little influence with CORE in Chicago.

Relative to the SCLC, at the current time there are no CP of Illinois members active in this organization.

Relative to the SNCC and the CUL, there are at the current time no known CP of Illinois members active in these two organizations.

Concerning the CCCO, EUGENE TOURNOUR is a member of the CCCO and is considered to be a close associate of ALBERT RABY, the Convenor of the CCCO. TOURNOUR is assigned by the CCCO to the job of organizing hospital workers in the Ill.

Chicago area. HERBERT WRIGHT, also a CP member, is an alternate delegate from the NALC to the CCCO. At the present time TOURNOUR and WRIGHT exert very little if any influence in the CCCO.

Herb

Concerning the NALC, the CP of Illinois currently has four individuals, all CP members, who form a collective from the CP of Illinois within the NALC. The main objective of the collective is to involve the NALC in a program of organizing the unorganized Negro workers in the Chicago area with particular emphasis on organizing Negro hospital workers. The NALC is attempting to receive assistance from the Industrial Union Department (IUD) of the AFL-CIO. In regard to this program, the NALC was recently suspended from participation in activities of CCCO because of non payment of dues on the part of the NALC; and, therefore, the NALC's program at the present time can be considered to be quite ineffective. The Chicago Chapter of the NALC is having financial problems and has been quite inactive recently.

(CG T-1, 4/21/67)

The CP of Illinois has exerted little or no policy influence in the Chicago Freedom Movement in the Chicago area.

One current member of the CP of Illinois, who formerly held office in the Chicago Branch of the NAACP, does not contemplate running again for office with the NAACP. This individual is a current member of the Chicago Branch of the NAACP, but does not exercise any influence within the NAACP.

An individual, a member of CORE, who is also a member of the CP of Illinois, remains a member of CORE; however, he has been unable to exert any major influence within CORE.

Relative to the WSO, at the present time there are no CP members active in this organization and the CP exercises no influence within the WSO.

Relative to the SCLC, one member of the CP of Illinois participates in SCLC activities in Chicago, however, he has been unable to exercise any major influence in the SCLC.

Relative to the CCCO, the CP of Illinois has two individuals who have connections with the CCCO, but they are in no position to influence the policy and activities of the CCCO.

Relative to the SNCC, the CP of Illinois at the present time exercises no influence within SNCC.

Relative to the CUL, the CP of Illinois at the present time exercises no influence within the CUL.

Concerning the NALC there are four CP of Illinois members who are in a position to actively implement CP decisions on racial matters within this organization. These four CP members continue to attempt to establish a strong CP of Illinois influence within the NALC. At the present time the CP of Illinois continues to emphasize the Negro - Labor Alliance and has selected the NALC as the organization through which the CP of Illinois will attempt to strengthen and extend the Negro - Labor Alliance within the Chicago Freedom Movement.

Relative to the integration of schools in the Chicago area, the CP of Illinois continues to have a policy of "wait-and-see" concerning any program that they wish to implement following the appointment last year of JAMES REDMOND as the new Chicago school superintendent. At the present time the CP of Illinois does not have any definite program concerning the integration of schools in Chicago.

b. CP of Illinois
State Convention

On January 14 and 15, 1967, the CP of Illinois held their State Convention at Chicago. At the January 14, 1967 session CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, Chairman, CP of Illinois, spoke and stated that racism has always been a prop for the capitalist system and it is now getting worse. We have made hate a holy thing. Our public officials run for office on the basis of racism. Racism is the basis of a sick society. Chicago, which had been the most dynamic city in the civil rights movement, is now a laboratory for this country. The Negro in the ghetto is being exploited by everyone. In the first place the wage gap between Negro and white workers amounts to 27 billion dollars. Then when the Negro brings home his paycheck everyone in the ghetto takes him; the landlord and the grocer double and triple their prices. Everyone has a hand out for a share of the Negro's check. The coming of MARTIN LUTHER KING in Chicago has added ten million dollars to the Negro in the form of savings in rents. Slum landlords lowered some rents and in other cases did not raise their rents. Also, six million dollars was saved by pressuring stores into maintaining lower prices in the Negro community..

When STOKELY CARMICHAEL was here and made the statement that people had no power I was inclined to agree with him, but with the coming of MARTIN LUTHER KING and the results that followed I have changed my mind on this. I believe STOKELY was too quick in his estimate that people have no power.

Now we are seeing the merger of the civil rights movement and the drive of labor to organize the unorganized. In many places Negroes are the spearhead in this drive. They are also becoming more active in the peace movement. Although the Chicago Peace Council has 12 peace organizations it does not yet reflect the efforts of the Negro and labor for peace.

LIGHTFOOT in summary of his statements stated that the CP of Illinois should define what the CP can do to help in the struggle for civil rights, for Negroes, and then do what they are capable of doing.

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT spoke at the above CP of Illinois Convention on January 14, 1967, and discussed the necessity of obtaining more subscriptions for "The Worker". He also stated that ISHMAEL FLORY who is with the African American Heritage Association (AAHA) in Chicago is working with Negroes on the South side of Chicago and is in contact with many people through Ill.

the meetings FLORY attends. LIGHTFOOT added that FLORY should have no trouble in getting new subscriptions for "The Worker" and also in obtaining new members for the CP. FLORY also was in attendance at the above State Convention on January 14, 1967.

(CG T-8, 1/24/67)

"The Worker" is an East Coast Communist newspaper.

As of March, 1967, ISHMAEL FLORY was a current member of the CP of Illinois and had been a member for several years.

(CG T-9, 3/8/67)

c. CP of Illinois
State Board Meeting

A meeting of the CP of Illinois State Board was held on December 13, 1966, at Chicago.

JACK KLING, Organizational Secretary, CP of Illinois, spoke and said that the CP of Illinois should consider some of the many opportunities and possibilities that were proposed at the recent National Committee Meeting of the CP, USA, which included the possibilities of working more with youth, civil rights groups, and peace groups. He said that by working with these groups they will also be able to increase the membership of the CP and have a greater influence within mass organizations.

JIM WEST, Midwest Regional Trade Union Coordinator, CP, USA, stated that they should project some estimate for broadening the CP in 1967 as well as developing a policy of concentration within labor, youth, and with the Negro organizations.

d. Meeting of State Committee CP of Illinois

A meeting of the State Committee, CP of Illinois, was held on February 19, 1967, at Chicago. SAM GOLD a member of the State Committee, CP of Illinois, spoke and suggested that CP of Illinois members become more familiar with and concerned with the number of bills before the Illinois State Legislature. These bills involve civil rights, the strengthening of the Fair Employment Practices Commission, Open Housing and related matters.

(CG T-1, 2/20/67)

e. Meeting Political Action Committee CP of Illinois

Source advised on March 10, 1967, that at a meeting of the Political Action Committee of the Communist Party (CP) of Illinois which was held in Chicago, Illinois, on March 8,1967, a discussion was held concerning MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR. Source stated that during this discussion it was indicated that at the present time there was a move underway to set up a National Peace Ticket for the 1968 Presidential election on which MARTIN LUTHER KING would run for President of the United States. Source added that it was further indicated at the aforementioned meeting that to formulate plans for this National Peace Ticket, top leaders in the Negro movement from various areas of the United States are reportedly gathering in one of the southern states to discuss KING's possible candidacy on the National Peace Ticket. However, according to source no additional details were mentioned with respect to the aforementioned matter.

Source further advised that it was further indicated at this CP of Illinois Political Action Committee meeting that elements of the right wing of the civil rights movement, not further described, are endeavoring at the present time to force MARTIN LUTHER KING out of Chicago, Illinois, this summer. It was stated that it was believed that the DALEY machine (Mayor RICHARD DALEY) is behind this move inasmuch as Mayor DALEY, supposedly has been approached by several leaders of the Democratic National Convention Committee to locate a site for the 1968 Democratic National Convention and that these people, in effect, have given Mayor DALEY some kind of message that if Chicago is to be another Watts (Los Angeles, California, 1965 Watts riot) they would not consider holding the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago. Therefore, according to source, pressure is being exerted on Mayor Daley to see that this will not be the case.

According to source, it was also indicated at this meeting that it was believed that President LYNDON JOHNSON is making his influence felt in pressuring MARTIN LUTHER KING to stay out of Chicago because of KING's connection with the National Peace Ticket. Source added that it was opined by several of those present at this meeting that exponents of the move to expel KING from Chicago are offering KING a five state "breadbasket campaign" as an entticement to leave Chicago. However, according to source, it was stated that KING is not expected to accept this offer.

Source also stated that it was commented at this Political Action Committee meeting that the civil rights movement, particularly the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations (CCCO) and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) are becoming convinced that the only way to effectively influence the political climate of Chicago is to organize along ward lines. It was added that KING has been heard to state that he will tend to seek support in the future from the left element rather than, as in the past, be guided or influenced in policy making decisions from the right element.

Source stated that in addition to the discussion surrounding MARTIN LUTHER KING, a discussion was also held at this Political Action Committee meeting concerning the forthcoming Mayoral election in Chicago. In this respect a discussion was held concerning the CP giving full support to DICK GREGORY's independent write-in campaign for the office of Mayor in Chicago. According to source there was some question as to how the Party could effect this support, however, it was agreed by thosepresent that the Party should issue a statement in support of GREGORY's campaign. Source added that a subcommittee was set up consisting of four members to draw up a statement which would reflect CP support for GREGORY's Mayoral campaign.

The source added that it was also considered at this meeting that the Party should try to inform GREGORY to come up with some real issues in this campaign and that he, GREGORY, should propose a definite program which would be attractive to the voters of Chicago.

(CG T-7, 3/10/67)

Corroborating Source(CG T-10, 3/17/67)

f. Meeting of CP of Illinois Sub-committee on civil rights movement

A meeting of the CP of Illinois, Sub-committee on the civil rights movement, established by CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT some months ago to exchange ideas on problems in the civil rights movement, was held on January 9, 1967, at Chicago. EUGENE TOURNOUR suggested that there should be an immediate evaluation of the current program to organize the hospital workers in Chicago. He indicated that there has been a tremendous amount of confusion within the IUD of the AFL-CIO as to how to proceed with this program and therefore no progress has been made with this program.

TOURNOUR mentioned that there is presently a serious disillusionment among many of the young people on the staff of the SCLC in Chicago and many of them have either quit or have moved to other occupations. He stated that they must remedy this situation if they expect to make any headway with the CP movement in Chicago.

EARL DURHAM, Chairman of the Negro Commission, CP of Illinois, stated that it is absolutely necessary that the CP of Illinois formulate a policy that will push CP members into an active role in regards to the current program of organizing the unorganized hospital workers in the Chicago area. He stated there is very little or extremely limited influence that the CP has in the top circles of either the IUD and the Teamsters Union. He stated that although there are many obstacles to be overcome it is still possible for CP members to become active in the above program. He stated that this group should outline for CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT short estimates of the recent efforts in the civil rights movement in order that this matter can be discussed at the coming State Convention of the CP of Illinois. They should also evalute the summer summit meeting, which was held in Chicago during 1966, the possibilities for rehabilitating the neighborhoods, and the voting registration and education drives. He said that it is extremely important that the CP develop some approach to involve civil rights organizations around economic issues. If this is not done, it is highly possible that no progress will be made in the civil rights struggle.

(CG T-2, 1/10/67)

g. Conference of CP Youth in Chicago

A conference of CP Youth in Chicago was held on February 11, 1967 at Chicago.

TED PEARSON mentioned the lack of contact on the part of the CP Youth with civil rights groups and stated that the CP should increase their activities in the civil rights field.

(CG T-5, 2/17/67)

h. CP of Illinois Trade Union Conference

A CP of Illinois Trade Union Conference was held on March 19, 1967 in Chicago.

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT spoke and stated that the situation today among the Negroes is that of a rising tide of nationalism. You cannot overcome this tide with a lot of slogans. The labor movement can become a key force for progress but the labor movement is not behind the great leaders.

LIGHTFOOT stated that he had recently talked to DICK GREGORY who is running for Mayor of Chicago and after two minutes of conversation GREGORY had blamed the whites for every bad thing which has occurred to the Negro. LIGHTFOOT said that this was the general attitude and it shows how far nationalism has come with the Negro people. Only the labor movement can cure the Negro of the nationalist disease.

i. Other statements made by CP of Illinois Leaders

During February, 1967, EARL DURHAM stated that the present status of the CP movement in Chicago indicates a serious floundering with the SCLC being entirely impudent at this point and in Chicago a group of Chicago civil rights leaders recently discussed whether or not MARTIN LUTHER KING should pull his forces out of Chicago all together.

DURHAM indicated that the CP of Illinois has had very little success in influencing the Chicago civil rights movement in Chicago.

(CG T-2, 2/24/67)

A meeting of members of the CP of Illinois was held on March 6, 1967.

EARL DURHAM indicated that at a recent meeting held by conservatives of the CCCO it had been decided to invite the SCLC to leave Chicago. DURHAM indicated that some of the progressives around the CCCO also think that the SCLC should leave if it does not intend to change some of its organizational methods.

JIM WEST said that in his mind it was extremely criminal to ask the SCLC to leave Chicago. It appears that many people do not have any appreciation of the accomplishments of the SCLC in Chicago and do not realize that the SCLC has been responsible for many gains in the civil rights struggle. He said that although there may have been some trouble in the ranks of the SCLC, the answer is not to leave Chicago because this plays into the hands of the political machine and the racists. He said that the CP position should be to fight for the SCLC to remain in Chicago and the persons present agreed with his position.

(CG T-2, 3/7/67)

j. CP of Illinois Activities in the NALC

On December 13, 1966, a meeting of the Chicago Chapter of the NALC was held in Chicago.

Approximately twelve persons were present and the following CP members were in attendance:

CG 100-41324

NATE SHARPE C.P. Member Ill.

RALPH TURNER

CHARLES WILSON

HERBERT WRIGHT

There was a discussion concerning the importance of the campaign to organize the hospital workers in the Chicago area.

(CG T-11, 1/4/67)

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

A. Meeting Sponsored by the African-American Heritage Association (AAHA) Where CP Members Spoke

On February 26, 1967, the AAHA held an affair at the Pershing Hall, 64th and Cottage Grove, Chicago, from approximately 3:00 p.m., to 6:30 p.m. Approximately 350 persons were in attendance and the majority of the persons in attendance were Negro. The general theme of the affair concerned African and African-American history. ISHMAEL FLORY was the chairman and gave an introductory speech which was mainly concerned with raising funds.

HERBERT APTHEKER, who was introduced as a member of the CP and the author of some books on Negro history, was one of the main speakers. His speech dealt mainly with the needs and rights of the Negroes in the United States and he said it is necessary that the Negroes increase their efforts to receive their full civil rights. He called for the continuing struggle against the white ruling class in the United States, urged Negroes to refuse to go to Viet Nam to kill other Negroes and said that the revolution in the United States will be a violent upheaval of the present structure of democracy.

WILLIAM PATTERSON was also one of the main speakers and PATTERSON stated he had spent many years in Chicago and he has attempted to end discriminatory practices against Negroes and to win full rights for all of the Negro people. He said that in these struggles he feels that the people in Chicago have learned who the real enemies are; namely, the City Hall in Chicago and the bankers on La Salle Street. The civil rights laws of the 1960s are not being implemented and received by the white ruling class as they should be, particularly in the south. PATTERSON said all of those present must continue to condemn the Central Intelligence Agency for its evils and murderous attacks against the freedoms of the people abroad.

PATTERSON added that the cry, "Yankee go home" is an echo from all over the world at this time. The subversive agents of the American Government have kept in power murderous dictatorships all around the globe. Negro youth are dying in Viet Nam while Negroes are being shot down on the highways of Mississippi and the masses of Negroes are being denied their rights right here in the United States. He added that the Negro and the white people must unite in order to fight for their full rights as American citizens.

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT was also in attendance at this meeting.

As of June, 1966, HERBERT APTHEKER was a member of the CP, USA. He attended the 18th National Convention of the CP, USA at New York City, New York, June 22-26, 1966, and at the final session of the convention on June 26, 1966, was among those delegates elected to the National Committee of the CP, USA.

(CG T-11, 6/28-30/66)

As of February, 1967, WILLIAM PATTERSON was a member of the National Executive Board of the CP, USA.

(CG T-15, 4/11/67)

During February, 1967, CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT made the following remarks:

In regard to the testimonial affair held for WILLIAM L. PATTERSON at the Pershing Hotel, Chicago, on February 26, 1967, LIGHTFOOT felt that this was the best affair of its type held in the Negro community in Chicago in many a year. He estimated attendance at 425 to 450 people and while remarking this was excellent, he felt the makeup of the attendance was even better. He noted that among those present fifty percent were Negro which included many prominent and non-Party people. In addition, approximately fifty percent of the attendees were from youth and overall there was an excellent representation of people from the civil rights and freedom movements. The fact that so many individuals turned out for this affair, including non-Party people, in the opinion of LIGHTFOOT, indicated that not only did these people respect PATTERSON but they also held the CP in high esteem.

LIGHTFOOT then noted that during the last few months he has undertaken considerable travel and visited such places as Philadelphia and Baltimore, etc. During this travel, he has made considerable contact at meetings with leading individuals in the civil rights and freedom movements. In his opinion, the authority of the CP in the freedom movement is increasing and the Party is becoming more respected for its activity all the time. He felt this respect was based on the fact that the CP, USA is the only organization which has a definite program on the Negro question and a consistent past history in this movement. In addition, he stated only the CP, USA brings the whites into the civil rights movement who remain consistent and do not desert. Whites in the other freedom organizations have deserted the ranks when they felt the movement had gone too far. While showing overall pleasure with the success of the CP in the civil rights movement, LIGHTFOOT indicated that he and other Negro Party leaders were somewhat dissatisfied with the financial assistance the Party is rendering to this movement.

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

A. Chicago Urban League (CUL)

The CP at the present time exercises no influence within the CUL.

(CG T-1, 4/21/67)
(CG T-2, 4/24/67)

B. Congress of Racial Equality (CORE)

Source related that in July, 1966, EUGENE TOURNOUR claimed that he was either appointed or elected to the position of Regional Coordinator of Midwest CORE, during the CORE National Convention in Baltimore, Maryland, in early July, 1966. In November, 1966, TOURNOUR was a current CP member and was still holding the position of Regional Coordinator of National CORE.

(CG T-16, 11/16/66)

EUGENE TOURNOUR as a CP member has also been assigned to work within CORE and he is a member of CORE; however, he exercises very little, if any, influence in CORE. In the recent months TOURNOUR has been spending a considerable amount of his time in St. Louis, Missouri.

(CG T-2, 4/24/67)

C. Coordinating Council of Community Organizations (CCCO)

EUGENE TOURNOUR, a CP member, is a member of the CCCO and is a close associate of ALBERT RABY, who is the convenor of the CCCO.

HERBERT WRIGHT, a CP member, also attends activities of the CCCO as an alternate representative from the NALC; however, TOURNOUR and WRIGHT exert very little influence in the CCCO. The CCCO has been quite inactive recently due to a lack of funds although attempts are presently being made to have the CCCO increase their activities in the Chicago area.

(CG T-1, 4/21/67)

D. National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP)

LESTER DAVIS, a CP member, is a member of the Chicago Branch of the NAACP but is not active in the NAACP, has very little influence in the NAACP and the CP has little, if any, influence within the NAACP.

E. Negro American Labor Council (NALC)

HERB WRIGHT, NATE SHARPE, CHARLIE WILSON, and RALPH TURNER, all of whom are CP members, have been assigned by the CP of Illinois to work within the NALC. Their main objective at the present time is to involve the NALC in a program of organizing unorganized workers, with particular emphasis on organizing the hospital workers in the Chicago area with the assistance of the Industrial Union Department (IUD) of the AFL-CIO and the Teamsters Union. However, the above individuals have had very little success in exercising any influence in the NALC on behalf of the CP.

(CG T-1, 4/21/67)
(CG T-2, 4/24/67)

F. Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC)

MEMORANDUM: Re., National Conference of Solidarity with Free Africa

FROM: Ishmael Flory, 416 W. 63rd St., Chicago, Illinois 60621

To some of my personal friends I am sending this memorandum. It is in reference to a Call for a National Conference on Solidarity with Free Africa. For your consideration, I submit the following thoughts and suggestions. I would appreciate hearing from you.

1./ Please note the enclosed draft of the Call. This is perhaps the last draft before the Call will go to its first printed form.

a. On the Call will be a list of Initiating Sponsors, which already include Mrs. Christine Johnson, President of the African-American Heritage Ass'n; Mr. Geo. Murphy, Jr., Journalist; Mr. Charles Howard, United Nations Syndicated Columnist; Mr. John Henrik Clarke, African Scholar and writer and of Freedomways, Calvin Hicks, writer, and other national figures.

b. It will also contain on the first printed form A Partial List of Sponsors. The final printed form will have the full list of national sponsors. It is desirable, and would be helpful, to begin already to procure sponsors for the Partial List, the names of which, along with others will be on the final printed Call.

2. We think it desirable and in the interest of freedom and peace that you and your friends become sponsors, and that steps be taken immediately to get sponsors where you can. A form for sponsors is enclosed. More draft Calls and Forms are sent on request.

3. Mrs. Christine Johnson, Chm Pro Temps of the Initiating Sponsors, will formally and in writing, appeal to potential sponsors where desirable and recommended. It would indee be helpful for you and your friends to send names and addresses of persons and/or organizations in your area, city or state, to whom such appeals should be sent.

4. It is likely to be helpful to establish committees on the Conference in your ares, city or state. We should "beat the bushes" for delegates from all cities, small and large.

5. It is likely to be helpful to find an interested and responsible person to work concentratedly on the Conference in your area, city or state.

6. There are two occasions for special emphasis on building the Conference:

a. Negro History Week, Feb. 12 - 19, 1967 It would seem desirable if some work and/or publicity were possible and forth-coming in your area. This could be a public expression, by individuals or organizations, of support for the success of the conference Africa Freedom and its relation to World Peace and Victory over Racism and Neo-colonialism, etc.

b. Africa Freedom Day, April 15 (Established at the Accra All-African Peoples Conference, 1959.) In connection with building the Conference Delegates, and showing solidarity with Africa Freedom and Unity, with its relation to world peace, it seems desirable to hold unity meetings on the issues of African freedom and independence. Public statments by individuals and organizations might be issues. All press in areas should be called upon to take note of Africa Freedom Day. This occasion should be a period of check-up as to progress in building delegations from your area to the Conference.

7. Special efforts should be make to relate the Conference to the Trade Union Movement in the U. S. The metal industries and union, ferrour and non-ferrous, are vitally affected by developments in Africa. Creative thinking ought to be applied in this area.

I am sure that Mrs. Christine Johnson, 4349 S. Parkway, Chicago, Ill., 60653, will appreciate all the help you and others can give, and will do, to help make this Conference the biggest and most significant since the 1963 March on Washington.

Remember Joseph Cinque! Remember Crispus Attucks! Nat Turner and Denmark Vesey! Shields Green with John Brown! Remember Douglass, Tubman, Garvey and Robeson! DuBois! Long live the African liberation movement! FORWARD IN UNITY FOR AFRICA UNITY, FREEDOM AND WORLD PEACE!

Fraternally yours

(CG T-18, 2/9/67)

In June, 1960, ISHMAEL FLORY reportedly claimed that CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT had requested him to attempt to persuade CHRISTINE JOHNSON to come back into the CP.

(CG T-19, 6/14/60)

During an interview by FBI Agents in 1961, CHRISTINE JOHNSON admitted being a good friend of CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT; she admitted meeting him at CP meetings where she gave talks on Russia; stated she did not believe that the CP was a threat to the United States and stated she was never a CP member.

As of January, 1965, CHRISTINE JOHNSON had calling cards which identified her as President of the AAHA and Director of the Nation of Islam School, the "University of Islam."

APPENDIX

AFRICAN-AMERICAN HERITAGE ASSOCIATION, Formerly known as Afro-American Heritage Association

A source advised on May 11, 1966, that the African American Heritage Association (AAHA) with headquarters at 306 East 43rd Street, Chicago, Illinois, was known as the Afro-American Heritage Association until February, 1961. It was founded by ISHMAEL FLORY around 1958 and incorporated in the State of Illinois as a non-profit organization. It was founded ostensibly for the purpose of teaching African history and culture to American Negroes. AAHA is strongly influenced by the Communist Party (CP) of Illinois. It is represented by both communist and non-communist members, and some people with strong Negro nationalistic tendencies. This organization reflects CP policy on some issues and opposes CP policy on others; for example, the CP rejects the concept of Afro-American as a reference term to the American Negro and rejects aspects of nationalism, both of which are reflected in the AAHA program. FLORY is a member of the CP of Illinois and theoretically under the discipline of the CP. He is the guiding force in AAHA and controls policy and decisions in AAHA.

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, Chairman, CP of Illinois, is a friend of ISHMAEL FLORY. LIGHTFOOT and other CP representatives occasionally are featured at AAHA affairs.

A second source advised on May 11, 1966, that in 1962 the CP worked with FLORY to organize AAHA Chapters under the leadership of CP members. The aim of this program included the reactivation of ex-CP members and recruitment of new CP members. This program was never successful and became defunct in 1963.

Since 1963, the south side area of the CP of Illinois has been regularly holding CP meetings at AAHA headquarters. Many South Side CP members currently are members of AAHA and participate in AAHA affairs. The South Side CP groups cooperate in some AAHA affairs, especially in affairs dealing with the Negro rights movement.

The second source advised on January 9, 1967, that during the first week of January, 1967, the AAHA moved their headquarters from 306 East 43rd Street, Chicago, to 416 West 63rd Street, Chicago.

IV. MISCELLANEOUS:

Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party (MFDP)

JN T-1 on April 27, 1967 advised that the MFDP and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) continue to be the only legitimate Civil Rights organizations presently within the State of Mississippi. Source advised CHARLES EVERS is the Mississippi Field Secretary for the 42 chapters of the NAACP in the state; LAWRENCE GUYOT continues to be the chairman of the MFDP. He said the MFDP has been extremely low on funds for the past several months, however, has managed to function locally in some counties in Mississippi on a limited basis. Source stated that MONICA KLEIN has resigned any affiliation with MFDP and is currently employed as a salaried secretary for the Child Development Group of Mississippi (CDGM), Jackson, Mississippi, a Head Start project, funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity, United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Source said he believes MONICA KLEIN is still associated with LAWRENCE GUYOT on a personal relationship basis.

JN T-2 advised on February 3, 1967 that MONICA KLEIN is presently employed as a secretary with CDGM at a salary of $90 per week. Source said that KLEIN and LAWRENCE GUYOT are residing at the Patio Apartments, Jackson, Mississippi.

JN T-3 advised on February 6, 1956 that MONICA KLEIN was a member of the Rosenberg Teen-Age Club, Labor Youth League (LYL). Source advised three or four months previously, KLEIN was Club Educational Director.

JN T-1 advised on April 27, 1967, that the Freedom Information Service (FIS), Norman Road, Jackson, is a literature distribution office which promotes and does research regarding educational and political opportunities for Negroes. Source stated FIS supports very closely the positions taken, programs initiated, and general policies of the MFDP.

JN T-2 advised on February 3, 1967 that JAN HILLEGAS, white female, born [redacted] at Syracuse, New York, Civil Rights movement activist in Mississippi for the past three years, is the present secretary and office manager of the FIS, Norman Road, Jackson, Mississippi. Source advised HILLEGAS is the regional contact for the distribution of the Spartacist in Mississippi. Source stated Spartacist is received by HILLEGAS at the FIS Office. b6 b7C

Spartacist is a publication of the Revolutionary Committee of the Fourth International. (RCFI)

A characterization of the RCFI appears in the appendix section.

JN T-4 advised on April 13, 1967, that "the neighborhood house" on Norman Road in Jackson, Mississippi, is a Civil Rights center in which MFDP, FIS and a unit of Mississippi Action for Progress, Inc. (MAP) conduct their business. (MAP, a bi-racial organization, is a member of the Head Start Program, funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity, United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare).

JN T-4 advised JAN HILLEGAS of FIS has a separate office in "the neighborhood center". On April 26, 1967, same source stated he has recently observed copies of the following newspapers at the FIS Office:

The Worker

The National Guardian

The Militant

The Worker is an east coast Communist newspaper.

A characterization of The National Guardian appears in the appendix section.

The Militant is a weekly newspaper of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP).

This report is classified "Confidential" as MM T-1 and MM T-2 are informants of continuing value whose disclosure would have an adverse effect on the national defense interests.

The following information received from [redacted] b7D was not included in this report as its contents were not discussed with Miami CP members:

On 2/15/67, informant received a one-page form memorandum, dated 2/6/67, from WILLIAM L. On 2/15/67, informant received a one-page form letter, dated 2/7/67, from the CP, USA National Education Department, captioned "Literature Bulletin" reflecting that HENRY WINSTON's report to the December meeting of the National Committee is now off the press as a 32-page pamphlet captioned "Negro-White Unity." Each pamphlet sells for .25¢ a copy and may be ordered with the usual quantity discount from New Outlook Publishers, 32 Union Square, East, New York, New York.

On 3/29/67, informant received from ISHMAEL FLOREY, Chicago CP member, a one-page leaflet, dated 3/12/67, captioned "Notes on ADAM CLAYTON POWELL Fight", which presents the objectives of the Afro-American Heritage Association, 416 West 63rd Street, Chicago. This information was furnished to Chicago and New York and is not being included in instant report since FLOREY indicated it was being sent to some of his personal friends and total dissemination is not known.

The Miami Communist Party (CP) has received an undated three-page memorandum, captioned "Highlights of the Record of Congressman ADAM C. POWELL over the Past 28 Years," listing over 40 civil rights activities that he has either initiated, directed or been a participant. This memorandum from the Communist Party, USA (CP, USA) National Office, New York, New York, is in line with CP policy to give unequivocal support to POWELL in his fight to retain his seat in the United States Congress. (MM T-1, February, 1967).

The CP, USA is extremely interested in the Socialist Scholars Conference (SSC), scheduled for September 8-10, 1967, at New York, New York. In a memorandum, dated February 2, 1967, the CP, USA National Office advised that the CP considers this conference a most important development and that previous conferences have provided a means of expression and a center of attraction for large numbers of academic scholars, students and others who are interested in Socialism. The Party feels that it is highly important to participate in this conference and to seek the inclusion of CP ideas among those presented for discussion.

The Party memorandum urges that all interested comrades and friends be encouraged to join, and in the case of those in a position to do so, such as teachers, students, trade unionists, Negro leaders and youth leaders, to submit proposed topics and papers. The Party feels it is especially important to strive for Negro participation, whose absence was a glaring weakness of the last conference due to a failure by the sponsors. (MM T-1, February 15, 1967).

The CP, USA National Negro Commission has informed the Florida CP of the ruling by the United States House of Representatives Committee on Un-American Activities that the American Nazi Party did not constitute a threat to the security of the United States. The Negro Commission stated that this is a victory for reaction, but as a result there is presented a great opportunity to develop a unity of Labor and the Negro People to abolish this House Committee. The Commission pointed out that the American Nazi Party, the Ku Klux Klan and the Minutemen organizations have found this Committee to be a source of aid and comfort. (MM T-1, March 1, 1967).

The Miami CP has received information about "A Call to a National Conference of Solidarity with Free Africa", which Conference is being sponsored by the CP, USA, although ostensibly sponsored by a large number of well known civil rights and anti-imperialist leaders. The Conference will be held July 1 - 3, 1967, at New York, New York. Each CP Club is urged to submit names of sponsors for this Conference.

This Conference is a serious endeavor by the CP, USA to obtain a new foothold among the Negro masses through development of a high feeling of anti-imperialism against the United States and by utilizing the general African situation, which is characterized by a struggle against colonialism and imperialism. (MM T-1, March 29, 1967).

The Miami CP has shown little interest in this National Conference of Solidarity with Free Africa. This is in line with its primary interest in the Jewish mass movement rather than the Negro problem. The Party may try to obtain the names of some sponsors in support of the Conference. (MM T-2, April 12, 1967).

About 275 signed a sheet asking to be put on the mailing list and it was hoped the teachers would return to their schools and request the new textbooks for their classes. The chairman of the district CP Negro Commission attended a meeting to defend ADAM CLAYTON POWELL in January, 1967. He said the POWELL situation tied in with the CP Negro Commission work. GEORGE MEYERS took the newly appointed representative of "The Worker" to the MFDP. MEYERS is following the affairs of SNCC and said the CP should be aware of movements and changes and should be prepared to guide the masses in the direction of the CP program.

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

A. Teachers Conference, Washington, D. C., December 9-10, 1966.

There was a meeting of the New Era Book Shop in Baltimore, Maryland, on December 15, 1966. The meeting was opened by a report by BOB LEE and JOE HENDERSON who attended a Teachers Conference in Washington, D. C., on December 9 and 10. They were very enthusiastic since there was great interest at the conference in International Publishers which LEE and HENDERSON represented. About 275 signed the sheet asking to be put on the mailing list of International Publishers. There were many publishers represented but International Publishers had the greatest display of books on Negro History. LEE and HENDERSON hoped that the teachers would return to their schools and request these new textbooks for their classes.

(WF T-1, 12/21/66)

International Publishers and the New Era Book Shop are described in the appendix.

On April 3, 1967, WF T-2 identified BOB LEE as a member of the Communist Party (CP) and Manager of the New Era Book Shop.

On December 31, 1966, WF T-3 advised that JOE HENDERSON is active in the New Era Book Shop in Baltimore, Maryland. D.C

On December 10, 1966, LEE described the meeting he attended in Washington, D. C., in December, 1966, as a Negro conference attended by about 1300 to 1400 people.

(WF T-4, 1/9/67)

B. ADAM CLAYTON POWELL Meeting, Washington, D. C. January, 1967

At a district CP Negro Commission meeting in Baltimore on January 16, 1967, the first point on the agenda was a report on an ADAM CLAYTON POWELL meeting in Washington, D. C., in January, 1967. The Chairman of the Negro Commission attended the POWELL meeting. The chairman thought the turnout was fine, and included buses from Baltimore and many other states. He said each speaker defended POWELL and openly stated that POWELL was not deprived of his chairmanship and his seat because of any deficiencies but because of the power of the committee and the holding back of all Federal money from southern schools which continued to practice segregation. He said only one Maryland congressman voted in favor of POWELL. The commission chairman said the POWELL situation tied in with the CP Negro Commission's work until POWELL is seated and his committee chairmanship is returned to him.

(WF T-5, 1/20/67) P.K.

The "Washington Daily New," January 11, 1967, Page 7, contained an article reporting that the United States House of Representatives on January 10, 1967, voted against seating ADAM CLAYTON POWELL, as Congressman from Harlem. He had earlier been removed as Chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee by the House Caucus of the Democratic Party. POWELL was denied a seat N.Y. D.C

in Congress pending an investigation by a committee which was to investigate charges that he used House Committee funds for personal travel and maid service; that he kept his wife on the House payroll while she remained in Puerto Rico, and that he was flagrantly in contempt of the courts of New York.

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

A. Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party (MFDP) and Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC)

After CARL BLOICE, CP member and CP National Committee member, was assigned to Washington, D. C., as representative of "The Worker," GEORGE MEYERS, Chairman of the CP District, took BLOICE to the Headquarters of the MFDP, Negro civil rights organization in Washington, D. C., to introduce him. At the same time, about January 20, 1967, MEYERS talked with some people at the MFDP and he said that a number of people there were dissatisfied with STOKELY CARMICHAEL, head of SNCC. MEYERS said that on his last trip to the South he had learned that at a National Executive Meeting of the SNCC there was some dissatisfaction with CARMICHAEL and the majority felt he was becoming more dangerous to the civil rights movement every day. According to MEYERS, he learned that at a National Executive Meeting of SNCC there was a decision to drop CARMICHAEL as head of the SNCC and replace him with JOHN LEWIS, former leader of SNCC. MEYERS said the CP should be aware of all these movements and changes and should be prepared to guide the masses in the direction of the CP program. The CP considered CARMICHAEL as a Negro nationalist who would cause trouble in the Negro movement.

PROPOSED PICKETING, 14TH PRECINCT, METROPOLITAN POLICE DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, D. C. MAY, 1967

"The Washington Daily News" newspaper, May 3, 1967, Page 5 contained an article which stated that a coroner's inquest was scheduled for May 3, 1967, in the death of Clarence J. Brooker, 19, colored, 662 Kenilworth Terrace, N.E., who died of a gunshot wound about an hour after getting into a fight with a policeman who tried to arrest him for "depositing trash in the street." The police officer had asked a group of boys to disband. He had received complaints that the youths had been bothering customers in a supermarket in the 3900 Block of Minnesota Avenue, N.E., according to the police account. Brooker hit the officer and four scuffles followed. During one, the police officer's pistol went off twice, one shot hitting Brooker.

On May 3, 1967, Inspector Thomas I. Herlihy, Metropolitan Police Department (MPD), advised that there was a rumor that Marion Barry was to lead a picketing of the Fourteenth Precinct, MPD, during "Rush hour" on May 3, 1967, over the Brooker affair.

"The Evening Star" newspaper March 30, 1967, page 1 contained an article concerning an arrest of Barry on March 30, 1967. The article stated that Barry, 31, described himself as a "professional civil rights organizer" who was formerly chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee in Washington, D. C. "The Evening Star" April 4, 1967, page A-1 stated that following Barry's arrest an organization called the Citizens Committee for Equal Justice was formed demanding the suspension of the policeman involved in the arrest. Reverend Walter Fauntroy was associated with the new committee.

PROPOSED PICKETING, 14th
PRECINCT, METROPOLITAN POLICE
DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, D. C.

At 3:45 p.m. a Special Agent (SA) of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) observed that there were no pickets at the Fourteenth Precinct.

At 4:00 p.m. Captain Bernard Carroll, Fourteenth Precinct MPD, who was at the coroner's inquest at the morgue, 19th and E Streets, S.E., telephonically advised that Barry and about 20 people were at the coroner's inquest at the morgue.

At 5:15 p.m. following the inquest which cleared the police officer in Brooker's death, Barry held a press conference on the lawn of the morgue. He was accompanied by Brooker's father, Clarence Brooker; Landon Dowdey, an attorney; Reverend Walter Fauntroy, a local minister active in civil rights; and Mrs. Willie Hardy, Executive Secretary, Metropolitan Community Aid Council.

At the press conference, it was alleged that the Brooker inquest was another example of the injustice s in criminal cases in the District of Columbia. It was alleged that Brooker was shot while running away, not in a scuffle, but that the witness who testified to this at the inquest was cross-examined at the inquest by "the prosecutor" like he was attorney for the policeman. They alleged that this has been the situation in the District of Columbia: the prosecutors and the police are too close and look out for one another. Barry contended that the police knew Brooker and should have arrested him later at home because the incident was minor. They said there would have to be some action to rectify the alleged injustices and that the Citizens Committee for Equal Justice would direct itself toward this end. However, in answer to a question Reverend Fauntroy said no immediate action was planned. They said they would have to have meetings and "conversations" about the situation. They said they planned to take the matter to District of Columbia Commissioner Walter Tobriner.

PRECINCT, METROPOLITAN POLICE
DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, D. C.

An SA of the FBI interviewed Barry under pretext following the conference. Barry said no immediate action was planned. He said they only planned to meet and try to control the unrest in the far northeast area over the incident. He said, however, that no one could say at this point where the meetings would lead them. He said "anything could happen." He said they still had legal action they could pursue in the matter, pointing out that the police officer could still be indicted by a grand jury in the shooting.

On May 3, 1967, at 6:00 p.m. Captain Carroll advised that he had learned from Barry's organization that the picketing of the 14th Precinct on May 3, had been postponed until the day of Brooker's funeral which has not been set.

On May 3, 1967, an SA of the FBI observed Sammie A. Abbott on the lawn of the morgue during the press conference. Abbott did not participate in the conference, but following it, he conferred briefly with Dowdey and then left the area in a car driven by Reverend Fauntroy.

In 1955 a source who has furnished reliable information in the past identified Sammie A. Abbott as a current member of the Communist Party (CP) as of 1955. In the source's opinion Abbott was one of the most important CP leaders in the Washington, D. C. area.

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on the night of May 9, 1967, that Stanley Levison and Andrew Young, Executive Assistant to Martin Luther King, the President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), met on that night. NY ILL

During their meeting, it was mentioned that the fund raising meeting which King had scheduled for Friday, May 12, 1967, had been changed to Saturday, May 13, 1967. It will be held in Chicago, Illinois, and will be attended by King, Levison, Young, Chauncey Eskridge (Chicago attorney) and Jesse Jackson, the Northern Director, Project Breadbasket, Chicago. ILL

Levison also mentioned a Walter Christmas who desires to attend the meeting, but made no decision as to whether he would go. Levison has already spoken to King about Christmas and has been assured by King that he would like to have him present at the meeting.

According to the source, Levison will arrive in Chicago on Friday night and will stay at the Sahara Inn that night if it is decided to hold the fund raising meeting there on Saturday. Although Young did not say definitely where the meeting will be held, it will be either in the O'Hara Inn or the Sahara Inn; it will start at 10:00 a.m. and will end by 4:00 p.m.

The same source referred to above furnished information on May 9, 1967, that Stanley Levison and Victor Ludwig were in conference on that date concerning an appearance King is to make in Los Angeles, California, on May 24, 1967.

Communist Influence in Racial Matters (U)

Levison related that although King's original purpose in going to Los Angeles is to participate in a fund raising affair at a Reverend Peter Church, he is now willing to participate in some type of a peace rally that Ludwig is desirous of sponsoring. (U)

According to Ludwig, one major obstacle standing in their way is that Johnson (President Lyndon Johnson) will be in Los Angeles at the Century Plaza Hotel on May 23, 1967; therefore, if King participated in the rally as planned, a confrontation will occur, which they do not desire. (U)

Although King is very interested in participating in a peace rally in Los Angeles, Levison is convinced that he will not if he knows that a possibility exists that he might confront Johnson. King does not want to have such a posture in pursuing his anti-war position. (U)

It was Levison's suggestion that a very dignified dinner be held instead of a rally. In so doing, it would be possible to have someone other than Dr. Benjamin Spock and King. He feels that Spock is limited only to peace people. The idea in Levison's mind would be to have spokesmen, such as the three United States Senators who recently appeared with King in Los Angeles. Ludwig agreed and revealed that his organization, Californians for Liberal Representation, is planning a dinner for Senator McGovern and therefore, it is possible that King could be present for the affair. Levison was agreeable, but was doubtful about having it on May 23, 1967, but will find out when he meets King on Saturday. (U)

GEORGE S. DAK. - MD. D.C.

Ludwig, in making reference to the appearance of Johnson on May 23rd, revealed that a demonstration is planned during his presence. Although no specific organization is in charge of these plans, Ludwig commented that there is a Peace Action Council in Los Angeles which is an overall grouping of peace groups which is discussing it. Ludwig and others, whom he did not identify, are planning to meet with a Reverend Fernandez of the "National Clergy-Laymen and Clergy Committee". Actually what is planned, according to Ludwig, is to have a broad peace movement meeting with Johnson. (U)

16 A L.I.F.

CONGRESSMAN GEORGE E. BROWN JR.

Their conference ended with Ludwig promising Levison that he will work through George Brown and other Congressmen to get Senator McGovern and other prominent people to agree on a suitable date for a big dinner and rally. Levison promised to get a suitable date from King.

According to a pamphlet published by the United Civil Rights Committee (UCRC), 8501 South San Pedro Street, Los Angeles, California, undated but distributed some time during June, 1964, Victor Samuel Ludwig is the Treasurer of UCRC. On April 28, 1967, JAMES JACKSON, Chairman of the International Affairs Department, Communist Party, USA (CP, USA), stated that HUNTER PITTS O'DELL had not joined the CP, USA May Day 1967 Delegation to the Soviet Union as had been planned. According to JACKSON, O'DELL cancelled out of this delegation because of another more important commitment; that is, to participate in the peace mobilization scheduled to be held in Washington, D.C., late May, 1967. According to JACKSON, O'DELL is working with Reverend BEVEL in Washington on this mobilization.

When discussing O'DELL at the time, JACKSON made the remark that O'DELL was a member of the CP, USA National Committee. Earlier, in a discussion with HELEN WINTER of the National Office, CP, USA, she implied that O'DELL was a member of the National Committee without stating when or how O'DELL may have been elected or placed on the National Committee. However, it is entirely possible that O'DELL may have been elected to the National Committee under an assumed name as several individuals were so elected at the last National Convention or that he may have been coopted to the National Committee.

PURPOSE:

To obtain authorization for high level dissemination of a document captioned as above which shows the degree of communist influence on Martin Luther King.

Enclosed is a document captioned as above, which depicts communist influence in the civil rights field, emphasizing the key role of Martin Luther King, Jr. This document is a current revision of the previous analysis captioned "Communism and the Negro Movement - A Current Analysis," prepared and disseminated in November, 1964. In updating it, we have emphasized these areas: (1) continued reliance of King upon former Communist Party, USA, members, particularly Stanley David Levison; (2) facts relating to King's moral degeneracy; and (3) communist goal of uniting the peace and civil rights movements and King's adherence to this communist long-range objective.

King's strong criticism and condemnation of the Administration's policy on Vietnam in a speech he made at New York on 4/4/67 shows how much he has been influenced by communist advisors. His speech was a direct parallel of the communist position on Vietnam.

It is felt that the President would be interested in a summary on King which shows the degree of communist influence on him. The attached paper constitutes a complete picture and strong indictment of King in that regard.

It is recommended that

Introduction

The racial unrest in the United States is currently the target for a determined concentration of communist effort. Communists are using every means possible to divert the course and force of the unrest into support of communist objectives. Long-range communist strategy looks to the establishment of a Negro-labor coalition which the communists hope to be able to manipulate as a powerful political-action weapon. Using this weapon, they aim to provoke class struggle and promote legislation which can serve as a step toward a communist system of government.

At first glance, the communist goal may seem unrealistic. But it develops realistic potential when all aspects of current communist tactics being used in connection with the current racial situation are viewed in their totality. More, it constitutes a national security problem in light of the fact that the individual playing a most dominant role as a leading spokesman for the estimated 22 million Negroes in this country has knowingly, willingly, and regularly cooperated with and taken guidance from communists. This individual--Martin Luther King--has used the communists and, in turn, has been used by them in an alliance that could have serious consequences both for the Negro movement and this Nation.

Hand in Hand

The composite of information available about Martin Luther King depicts an unprincipled, opportunistic individual, as well as a man considered and described within the Communist Party, USA (CPUSA), as a Marxist.

In King's rise to national prominence since his leadership of the bus boycott by Negroes in Montgomery, Alabama, in 1956, he has been closely allied with communists. He has shown not only a willingness but even an eagerness to accept communist aid, to support communist causes, to associate and confer with prominent communist leaders, and to work closely with and rely upon the advice and guidance of dedicated communists with concealed affiliations, despite the fact that they have been identified reliably to him as such.

Since 1956, communists close to King have blended their actions skillfully into his organization, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), and have done so clearly with his approval.

ENCLOSURE

A Dedicated Communist

One of the individuals, for example, who has greatly facilitated King's rise to prominence is Stanley David Levison. Ostensibly only a New York City attorney and successful businessman who has been helping King, he also is a shrewd, dedicated communist and is known as such by King.

Levison has dedicated a part of his life to advancing the cause of communism in this Nation. For years, he led a double life for the CPUSA, necessitated by a highly clandestine role with which he was entrusted to raise and handle secret funds used by the Party to finance part of its activities.

Operating in this clandestine role through a maze of business enterprises as head of a group of concealed Party members--a group which included his twin brother, who goes by the name of Roy Bennett--Stanley Levison turned over thousands of dollars to the CPUSA. Just in the two-year period covering 1956 and 1957, for example, the group raised $66,000 for the Party.

In 1964, Levison broke with the Communist Party, criticizing the Communist Party as not being sufficiently militant in the civil rights struggle. Communist Party members described Levison as being to the "left" of the Communist Party position in the civil rights issue. His differences with the Communist Party are merely tactical and he continues his ideological adherence to communism.

Alliance with King

Levison gravitated to Martin Luther King's organization in 1956 and applied equal dedication in support of King's activities. He quickly developed a close personal relationship with King. By 1958, he was referred to as King's "Assistant Chief" and was described as a real-estate man who spent half his time helping King. In 1961, he was Assistant Treasurer of the SCLC.

In his support of King's activities since 1956, Levison has expended prodigious efforts in King's behalf. He has actively involved himself in fund-raising drives for King, served as his legal counsel in certain matters, suggested speech material for him, discussed with King demonstrations in which King was involved, guided him in regard to acceptance or rejection of various public appearances and speaking commitments, and helped him with matters related to articles and books King has prepared.

"The Time Is Now"

Levison's importance to King as an advisor was demonstrated in the evolvement of plans that led to the March on Washington in August, 1963. Originally Negro leaders, principally A. Philip Randolph, President of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and head of the Negro American Labor Council, had proposed a march on the Nation's Capital sometime in the Fall of 1963. Subsequently, after consulting with Levison, who agreed that "the time is now," Martin Luther King seized the initiative and secured the cooperation of the other Negro leaders in backing King's proposal for an earlier march--a move that put King squarely in the forefront of the events as they developed.

Financial Support

Part of King's great dependence on Stanley Levison is attributable to the money Levison has furnished him. James R. Wood, who worked for the SCLC as Public Relations Director from 1960 until he resigned in 1962, has advised that during that period Levison acted primarily as King's business manager and donated large sums of money to him when funds were low. He said Levison was very close to King, had his confidence completely, and was one of the few people who could get King alone, give him advice, and always have it accepted.

King - Levison Contacts Guarded

Although King has attempted to maintain covert his association with Levison and keep to a bare minimum personal meetings between the two, such meetings have been observed. On November 20, 1963, King met personally with Levison at the International Hotel, Kennedy International Airport, New York City. The site was a room registered in the name of one of King's assistants. King and Levison again personally met in New York City on January 8 and February 7, 1964. During the period March 9-10, 1964, Levison spent considerable time in the Atlanta, Georgia, offices of the SCLC. King was occupied in these offices during the same period. The evening of March 9, 1964, witnessed Levison dining at the King residence. One of the purposes of these March, 1964, visits with King was a discussion as to whether Bayard Rustin was to be hired by the SCLC.

Since April, 1964, Levison's contacts with King have been handled through an intermediary, Clarence Jones, who is also a frequent advisor to King. Jones is General Counsel for the Gandhi Society for Human Rights, a fund-raising adjunct of the SCLC. During the mid-1950's, Jones held a position of leadership in the Labor Youth League, an organization which has been designated as subversive pursuant to Executive Order 10450. Levison met with Jones on several occasions in the Spring and Summer of 1964. Jones in discussing Levison with King, usually refers to Levison as "our friend." On September 29, 1964, Jones again met with Levison at the latter's office. The subject was business relating to the SCLC. On October 30, 1964, (U) plans were underway for a personal meeting of King and Jones with Levison which was to take place in Atlanta, Georgia. In preparation for this meeting, Jones told King to think about what role Levison could play in the future, adding that Levison had been helpful in the past. On November 24, 1964, King contacted Jones and asked that Jones and Levison, among others, submit five-minute speeches which King could use in accepting the Nobel Peace Prize. King would select the best material from these speeches.

Hunter Pitts O'Dell

Another important communist whose advice King has relied on is Hunter Pitts O'Dell. Long active in the communist movement, O'Dell worked for a number of years as a district organizer for the CPUSA in Louisiana. In December, 1959, at the Party's last National Convention, he was elected a member of the Party's National Committee under a pseudonym. In 1960, at which time he was working as the assistant to James Jackson, who was then the Party's National Secretary for the South, O'Dell also began to work actively in support of Martin Luther King's movement.

There are two important points that should be noted in connection with O'Dell's gravitation to King's movement. Early in 1960, it was learned that efforts were being made by the Party to get O'Dell into a special type of activity. About the same time, a Party official stated that the Party was in a position to place people in Martin Luther King's organization, the SCLC. Subsequently, in 1961, O'Dell was made administrator of the SCLC's New York office. In addition, two other Party members, Hazel Gray and Loretta Pauker, worked there under O'Dell at one time or another.

Activities Blended

The operations of the SCLC's New York office illustrate how communists blended their activities into support of King. A major function of the office is the solicitation of funds for King through letters mailed out over his signature. It appears, for example, that the mailing list for one such solicitation was that used by the publishers of the "National Guardian," a weekly publication which has been cited as "a virtual official propaganda arm of Soviet Russia."

Another incident shows how the communists blended King's activities into support of their own objectives. Early in May, 1962, the Party's leader, Gus Hall, directed another Party functionary to select a full-time Party member for a special assignment in the South. The member selected was Hosea Herman Hudson, of New York, and, later that month, he attended a Party meeting in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. (Y)(U)

Twofold Purpose

At the meeting, Hudson announced that he had come to organize full-time Party members to do both Party work and mass organization work. The purpose was twofold-- to develop recruits for the Party and get all eligible Negroes registered to vote.

Hudson told an individual unaware of the underlying communist purpose in the voter registration drive that the money for the mass organization work would come from Martin Luther King's group. However, confidentially, he told two Party members that the Party had appropriated the money for the work. How the Party intended to funnel the money through King's group was revealed when Hudson arranged for the Party's Baton Rouge area leader, Sargeant Caulfield, to meet O'Dell in Atlanta several days later, at which time O'Dell told Caulfield he would pay him $1000 a month to organize the work. Although Caulfield was unable to work full time in this capacity, O'Dell is known to have worked actively for several months in the voter registration drive for the SCLC in the South.

This fitted nicely into the communists' scheme of things. Only a month before, Caulfield had instructed Party members in his area to conceal their Party affiliations and join noncommunist mass organizations interested in the integration movement. They were told to urge complete voter registration for all members of the groups and, then, to maintain close contacts with the leaders of these groups to influence them to follow the Party line.

O'Dell's Exposure

An opportunity for the communists to put O'Dell directly on the scene permanently in regard to the voter registration drive arose in June, 1962, when King mentioned to Levison that he was thinking of adding an administrative assistant to his staff. Levison recommended O'Dell, who was still serving as head of the SCLC's New York office, and King said he liked the idea. It is clear that, at the time, King was well aware of O'Dell's communist affiliations.

Subsequent to Levison's proposal, O'Dell went to Atlanta to work for the SCLC and used the name J. H. O'Dell. But in October, 1962, several newspaper articles exposed his connection with the SCLC and his communist affiliations.

King's Reaction

King reacted by trying to minimize O'Dell's role with the SCLC. He said most of O'Dell's work had been in the North and simply involved mailing procedures. He also tried to imply ignorance of any communist affiliations on the part of O'Dell and stated that O'Dell had temporarily resigned pending an SCLC inquiry into the matter.

O'Dell's "temporary resignation" consisted of his return to New York, where he continued to operate out of the SCLC's office. He remained there until July, 1963, when King advised him his "temporary resignation" was being made permanent, not, as King put it, because the SCLC inquiry had disclosed any present connections between O'Dell and the CPUSA but because of the emotional public response.

Reluctant Action

Yet it is known that, prior to his action in making O'Dell's resignation permanent, King not only had indicated he knew of O'Dell's communist affiliations but actually had received information on two separate occasions from unimpeachable sources that O'Dell was definitely a communist. In fact, it can be said that King took action on O'Dell reluctantly and only after being urged to do so most urgently and emphatically by high level and again, unimpeachable authority. In addition, even after O'Dell's "permanent resignation" was accepted, he is known to have transacted business for the SCLC later the same month and there is evidence that King continues to rely on O'Dell for assistance. In February, 1964, King accepted as a "wonderful suggestion" a proposal by O'Dell that O'Dell prepare a letter to be distributed over King's signature relating to King's appointment as chairman of an ad hoc committee to defend a group of integration leaders who were under indictment by the Justice Department for having perjured themselves before a Federal Grand Jury. O'Dell furnished King with a draft of the proposed letter which was then prepared in the Spring of 1964 for mass distribution on SCLC stationery and bore the purported signature of King.

O'Dell has continued his efforts to make his presence felt in the civil rights movement in behalf of the CPUSA. The Winter 1967 issue of "Freedomways," self-described as a review of the Negro freedom movement, lists J. H. O'Dell as Associate Managing Editor. Actually, "Freedomways" is a CPUSA initiated and supported publication espousing the communist viewpoint of Negro problems.

Regarded as a Marxist

King's reluctance to discontinue his association with O'Dell may be attributable to either of two factors or to a combination of both. The first involves King's reported dedication to Marxism-Leninism. In February, 1962, Stanley Levison passed the word to Gus Hall that "King is a wholehearted Marxist who has studied it (Marxism), believes in it and agrees with it, but because of his being a minister of religion, does not dare to espouse it publicly." Further, in March, 1962, Levison told a CPUSA functionary that King was concerned about a "communist label" being "pinned on us" but that, at the same time, he wanted to do everything possible to evidence friendship toward the Soviet Union. (U)

Moreover, King has been described within the CPUSA as a true, genuine Marxist-Leninist "from the top of his head to the tips of his toes." The feeling within the CPUSA is that King is definitely following a Marxist-Leninist line.

The Second Factor

The second factor which, alone or in combination with the first, may have had a bearing on King's reluctance to dismiss O'Dell concerned King's reliance and dependence on both O'Dell and Stanley Levison for guidance. In January, 1963, for example, when King desired to hold a meeting to make a "critical review" of "where they are," he asked specifically that Levison be present and is known to have met with Levison, O'Dell, and eight other officials of the SCLC at Savannah, Georgia, later that month. During King's entire relationship with Levison and O'Dell, he clearly became more dependent on them for advice and guidance.

Bayard Rustin

Another of King's key advisors is Bayard Rustin

who at one time was Assistant Secretary of the SCLC. King said he had to let Rustin go because they started having problems arising from his homosexual activities. It is to be noted Rustin has long been so inclined, having been arrested in New York City in 1946 for offering to commit a lewd or indecent act and again in Pasadena, California, in 1953 for offering to engage in an act of sex perversion of a homosexual nature, which he admitted and for which he was sentenced to serve 60 days.

Communist Affiliations Ignored

King seemed to be more concerned about Rustin's homosexual proclivities than his prior communist affiliations. Rustin had publicly admitted affiliation with the communist movement in the late 1930's. He had also publicly supported various communist causes and was one of a select group of observers permitted to attend the CPUSA's 16th National Convention in 1957. For a number of years Rustin maintained contact with the Party's National Secretary, Benjamin J. Davis, who died on August 22, 1964. During 1963 Rustin frequently conferred with Davis and took the position that he did not care who knew it.

Rustin's Influence on King

Rustin was extremely active on King's behalf in connection with King's receipt of the Nobel Peace Prize which was awarded him on December 10, 1964, at Oslo, Norway. He arranged a number of affairs to honor King after his receipt of the award and made a trip to England for that purpose. Rustin was assisted in that endeavor by Saul Mills, who was a member of the CPUSA in the early 1940's. While Rustin holds no official office in SCLC, as late as October 13, 1966, he attended a leadership conference of SCLC in Atlanta, Georgia, to determine what King's position should be on the "Black Power" issue. Rustin remains a part of the inner circle of communist advisors to King.

Advisory Committee Established for King

On June 22, 1964, an advisory or research committee, formed with the approval of King, scheduled its first meeting. This committee was formed for the purpose of writing King's speeches and guiding his actions. Among members of the group were Lawrence Reddick, Bayard Rustin, Clarence Jones and Harry Wachtel. The scene of the meeting was Wachtel's office on the fifth floor at 575 Madison Avenue, New York City. King and Rustin were among those observed arriving at this initial meeting. Reddick was a former member of the CPUSA who as recently as January 18, 1964, visited with Benjamin J. Davis, then the Party's National Secretary. Wachtel is the Executive Vice President of the Gandhi Society for Human Rights.

On March 5, 1944, Wachtel's name was on a list of names, significance not known, maintained at the headquarters of the Kings County Communist Party, New York. On the same date records at these headquarters contained the name of Wachtel's wife, Leonora, on a list of names of newly elected officers of the Bath Beach Club of the Kings County Communist Party, New York.

King's Attraction for Communist Advisors

Two previous aides of King are Cordy T. Vivian, who served as Director of Affiliates of the SCLC, and Randolph Blackwell, who acted as SCLC Program Coordinator. Both these individuals are former members of the CPUSA.

King's "Ghost Writers"

During the latter part of 1963 and early 1964, King frequently conferred with Levison and Jones concerning a book which was being written by King. Both Levison and Jones were consulted on a number of occasions regarding the content of this book and actively participated in negotiations with the publishers regarding the book. This book, which was entitled "Why We Can't Wait" was published in June, 1964. In the Summer of 1964, King began negotiations with "The Saturday Evening Post" concerning the publication of an article which would carry King as the author. Rustin told a group of associates that the article was, in fact, written by Jones, and King did not even read the article before giving the "Post" permission to go ahead with its publication. This article, entitled "Negroes Are Not Moving Too Fast" appeared in the November 7, 1964, issue of the "Post." In November, 1964, Wachtel wrote an article for King entitled "Looking Ahead" which was to be turned over to the "New York Herald Tribune" by Wachtel after receiving King's approval.

King is currently preparing for publication and release in the Spring of 1967 a book to be entitled "Where Do We Go From Here?" This book will set out King's proposed course of action for the civil rights movement. Interestingly, Stanley David Levison has written the key chapter which will bear the same caption as the book title. 100-106670-2834

King: His Personal Conduct

Supplementing the picture of King as an unprincipled man is his role as a clergyman. He seeks refuge in this role when pressed concerning his relationship with communists. On one occasion, for example, he was asked by reporters if he took orders from the communists and also whether he took them from Stanley Levison. He replied that he took orders only from God. But his personal conduct belies it. To all outward appearances, King, copastor with his father of the Ebenezer Baptist Church, Atlanta, Georgia, is a respectable man who resides with his wife and children in Atlanta. The facts concerning his private life, however, stamp him as a moral degenerate. He is known to have engaged in a series of extramarital relations not only in Atlanta, but as he travels about the country.

On January 6-7, 1964, a Washington, D. C., hotel was the scene of such activities on the part of King and some of his SCLC associates as to reveal the true nature of this man. At least 12 individuals, near equally divided between males and females and, including King, officers of the SCLC and others bearing the title of "Reverend," participated in a two-day sex orgy, the details of which are shocking to even the most sophisticated. Excessive consumption of alcohol and the use of the vilest language imaginable served only as a backdrop to acts of degeneracy and depravity, many of which were in a communal atmosphere with the onlookers as "entertained" as the participants. Many of those present engaged in sexual acts, natural as well as unnatural. King more than once boasted of his drunken condition. When one of the females shied away from engaging in an unnatural act, King and other of the males discussed how she was to be taught and initiated in this respect. 100-3-116-761;762

During the period February 20-25, 1964, Los Angeles, California, was the scene of another of King's immoral "adventures," his partner in this escapade being a married woman with whom he has had several illicit diversions. The dates of April 22, 24, and 25, 1964, found King again spending nights in a motel room with some of his west coast paramours, one of whom, his apparent favorite, was the married woman who was his partner in February, 1964. 100-3-116-1049; 1050; 1051; 1052; 1053; 1078; 1143

A Las Vegas, Nevada, hotel room was the scene of another of King's sex orgies during the early morning hours of April 27, 1964. A prostitute has advised that she was engaged for King by a female intermediary and received $100 for her services. King and an associate indulged in repeated acts of sexual intercourse with the prostitute in the presence of the female who had engaged the prostitute. All four individuals participated in unnatural acts. The prostitute summed up her reactions with the remark "That was the worst orgy I've ever gone through." 100-3-116-1512

The period July 8-9, 1964, witnessed a continuation of King's extramarital activities in Los Angeles. During the early evening hours of July 8, 1964, he had sexual relations with his Los Angeles "favorite" and later spent the night with another female with whom he had relations. 100-3-116-1939; 1866; 1865

The Astor Hotel, New York City, October 14-15, 1965, was the scene of another of King's extramarital activities. His willing accomplice on this occasion accused King of continuing the illicit affair over a period of three years, unknown to her husband; she bore a child in natural childbirth to keep from crying out King's name; and accused King of fathering the child. The meeting culminated in another all night session of sexual relations, normal and abnormal, including oral sodomy. 100-106670-1975; 1976; 1980; 2031; 1990X

During October 28-30, 1965, the New York Hilton Hotel was utilized by King to combine business and pleasure. King engaged in policy discussions with Levison and Jones concerning the civil rights movement and the Government's position in Vietnam to the accompaniment of giggles from King's paramour and female sexual companion. 100-106670-2092

The evening of January 21, 1966, gave a clear insight into the unconscionable behavior of King. While staying at the Americana Hotel, New York City, King and a group of men and women discussed sex while having dinner served. A female stated "Doctor King is our brother, and we must serve and satisfy all his needs and desires." King commented "The flesh is weak and both me and the Lord know it." He then continued in an extremely vulgar vein discussing his physical limitations as to the sex act. During the evening of January 23, 1966, he engaged in sexual relations with a female companion while at the Americana Hotel. 100-106670-2224X

As can be seen from the above, it is an established fact beyond any question that King not only regularly indulges in adulterous acts, but he also, from one end of the country to the other, engages in group sexual orgies with definite abnormal manifestations.

Role as a Peacemaker

On August 12, 1965, Martin Luther King, Jr., announced publicly that he would appeal personally to President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam to join a conference to end the Vietnam War. He said he would also send letters to leaders of South Vietnam, the Soviet Union, and the United States in this regard. Wash. Post A7 8/13/65 - 100-106670-A

This move on the part of King was engineered by Bayard Rustin and Harry Wachtel. In early August they met and discussed how to inject King into the Vietnam issue. It was decided to have King write these world leaders utilizing King's prestige as a winner of the Nobel Peace Prize. This action, they felt, would cast an image of King as a great moral leader and extend his influence beyond the civil rights movement. 100-106670-1693

Subsequently, a leading newspaper sent King 12 questions to answer which would clarify his position on Vietnam. Upon receipt of these questions, King referred them to Stanley Levison to answer. 100-438794-530

Because of the unfavorable public reaction to King's announcement, a conference with his top advisers was held in early September, 1965, at which time it was decided that King would avoid the Vietnam issue. Bayard Rustin, Stanley Levison, Harry Wachtel, and Clarence Jones were in attendance at this conference. 100-442529-1448

Admiration Lost

In early 1966, King was lamenting to Harry Wachtel about a nationally-known figure, who at one time was a heavy contributor to and admirer of King; but, was displeased because of King's stand on Vietnam. Wachtel reminded King, "When we went into this Vietnam thing, we decided that he who controls the purse strings doesn't control our philosophy." 100-106670-2225

Continued Pressure by Press

After the resumption of bombing of North Vietnam in February, 1966, King conferred with Stanley Levison and Bayard Rustin concerning a statement for the press. King informed them that the press had been bothering him for a statement, but he dared not take any action until he discussed the matter with them. It was agreed that King would say he was deeply impressed by the large number of Senators who called for a cessation of the bombings. Levison reiterated that King should point out how much opposition there is to the bombings. 100-106670-2269

Anti-Vietnam War Resolution

Miami was the scene of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference executive board meeting in the Spring, 1966. During this two-day conference, the sessions ran into the early morning hours attempting to draft a resolution on the Vietnam War. While there appeared to be general agreement, Stanley Levison and Harry Wachtel continued to argue for a stronger resolution than presented. They wanted a resolution that would condemn participation by United States troops in Vietnam. The conference finally adopted a resolution calling on the Government to desist aiding the military junta in Vietnam and to seriously consider a prompt withdrawal.

100-438794-1333

"Face the Nation"

In May, 1966, King was extended an invitation to appear on the Columbia Broadcasting System's program "Face the Nation." Prior to this appearance, King sought the advice of Stanley Levison and Clarence Jones. King wanted their thinking on the more important questions he might be asked. Levison noted the possibility that King might be questioned on the Vietnam War. Jones advised King to use the Southern Christian Leadership Conference resolution on Vietnam as his text. Levison suggested that King should also point out how unfair it was that Negroes were shouldering a heavier burden in the War and that more Negroes were in combat than other Americans. 100-442529-1832

When King appeared on the program, he suggested the United States stop bombing North Vietnam, negotiate with the Viet Cong, and recognize Red China. 100-442529-1832

Senate Hearings

Prior to his appearance before a Senate Sub-Committee hearing on urban affairs in December, 1966, King contacted Levison for counsel concerning his testimony. During this discussion, it was agreed that King must reiterate during his testimony that the war in Vietnam is standing in the way of the implementation of any of his civil rights projects and an open invitation to confusion, chaos, disruptions, and riots.

100-438794-1692

During his subsequent testimony before this committee he spoke critically of the war in Vietnam along these lines.

100-438794-1692

"The Nation" Symposium

In late February, 1967, King spoke before a symposium sponsored by "The Nation" magazine concerning the problems of redirecting "American Power." After this speech in which King was highly critical of the United States' involvement in Vietnam, Levison congratulated him. Levison was pleased with the publicity King's speech received commenting that King's appearance on a panel with four United States Senators was the appropriate occasion for him to express his antiwar sentiments. 100-106670-2843

Riverside Church Speech

In early April, 1967, King accepted an invitation to speak before the group, "Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Vietnam." This is an interdenominational committee formed to mobilize religious opinion against the War. 100-106670-2863

Prior to this speech, King and Andrew Young, Executive Director of Southern Christian Leadership Conference, spent approximately eight hours in conference with King's top advisors in New York, New York. Stanley Levison and Harry Wachtel were present at this conference. 100-106670-2874

Later that same day, King spoke at the Riverside Church, New York, New York, before this group, at which time he was highly critical of the United States' involvement in the Vietnam War. He proposed a five-step process to extricate the United States from this conflict. Comments in the news media coverage of King's remarks pointed out that the five points are similar in concept to the conditions imposed by North Vietnam as a prerequisite to negotiations. It is interesting to note that King's proposals parallel the propaganda line which the Communist Party, USA, has been projecting regarding the war in Vietnam. 100-106670-2879

Spring Mobilization

At a conference in the Fall of 1966 of the Peace Mobilization Committee, it was tentatively decided to hold a massive peace demonstration on April 15, 1967, in New York City and San Francisco, California. Of the one hundred and seventeen individuals in attendance, seventy-five were members of the Socialist Workers Party or its youth group, the Young Socialist Alliance. The Communist Party was represented by Arnold Johnson and James West, both of whom are members of the Communist Party, USA, National Committee. 62-111181-194

This group subsequently changed its name to Spring Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam. Reverend James Bevel, on leave from Southern Christian Leadership Conference, was appointed Executive Director of this Committee.

100-438794-1766

King has agreed to be the keynote speaker at New York City on April 15, 1967. His wife is scheduled to be one of the speakers at San Francisco on the same date. These demonstrations are to culminate in these two cities and the organizers claim they will have over 100,000 in attendance at each location.

100-106670-2863

Communist Party, USA, Objectives

For years, the Communist Party, USA, leadership has attempted to create opposition to the war in Vietnam and thereby influence the United States Government either to withdraw its troops from Vietnam or to participate in premature negotiations to end the war. The communists hope, of course, that either action would result in a communist victory in Vietnam.

The most important tactic they have utilized to create opposition to the War is the instigation or support of various types of demonstrations in behalf of peace.

A major objective, therefore, is to merge the civil rights struggle with the peace issue under communist domination forming a massive movement which would be able to dominate governmental policies.

Conclusions

It is evident from the facts presented that Martin Luther King constitutes a security problem to this Nation. It is equally evident that the Negro people, some 22 million strong, are not aware either of King's security liability or of his personal debauchery. If they were aware, it is not likely that they would be giving to him the support that he now has. At this time, the overwhelming majority of the Negro people have successfully resisted communism and this is to their distinct credit. Under King's leadership, will this condition be changed? King has been guided more and more toward a procommunist position and has now firmly adopted a position which undermines United States policy. Although he alleges this is a moral position arrived at because of his religious motivations, his background and conduct do not lend credence to any claim that he is guided by moral convictions.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HERE IS UNCLASSIFIED EXCEPT WHERE SHOWN OTHERWISE

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on May 11, 1967, that information had come to his attention which disclosed a contact on that date between Stanley Levison and Andrew Young, the Executive Assistant to Dr. Martin Luther King, President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC). The following was what the source was able to ascertain about their contact: FW

Young disclosed to Levison that he had a very important matter to discuss with him since he could not get in touch with Martin Luther King. In elaborating, Young revealed that Cora Weiss had contacted him to advise that she had received word (from whom was unknown) that the North Vietnamese representative in Stockholm, Sweden, would like desperately to meet in Paris, France, on Monday (May 15, 1967) with a group from the United States peace movement and consequently, had invited Martin Luther King; Dr. Benjamin Spock; Dave Dellinger of "Liberation Magazine"; Carl Oglesby, former President of the Students for a Democratic Society; Ivanhoe Donaldson, Chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, and Dagmar Wilson of Women Strike for Peace. FW

The North Vietnamese, according to Weiss, are anxious to get a real appraisal of what the situation is in the United States. Levison was of the opinion that possibly Weiss had suggested such a meeting since the North Vietnamese would have no reason to know Oglesby and Donaldson. He felt the North Vietnamese do not have that much knowledge about the makeup of the peace forces in this country. Furthermore, Levison does not have any faith in Weiss' judgment. FW

Levison did not think King should get involved in such a meeting as this since, in his opinion, it could be a big trap for him if it turned out that Weiss actually contrived the meeting. He suggested that either Young or James Bevel, a former Director of the SCLC's Chicago operation and now National Director of the ~~Spring Mobilization Committee to~~ End the War in Vietnam, attend as his representative. $\mathcal{U}$

Levison was very disappointed on the selection of the people to attend the meeting. It was his belief that they are the poorest representatives of the peace movement. In expressing his doubts about the group, Levison described it as the least sober-thinking bunch that could have been selected. $\mathcal{U}$

In characterizing Weiss, Levison called her a "scatterbrain, arrogant and with left sympathies". In his opinion, she was never organizationally connected (with the Party). $\mathcal{U}$

Subsequently, according to the same source, Levison and a man whom source did not know, conferred during which time Levison repeated the aforementioned information. Levison told him that King definitely would not attend the meeting in Paris, but was uncertain if Andrew Young would go. $\mathcal{U}$

Communist Influence in Racial Matters

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised in 1966, that Cora Rubin Weiss was a member of the Central Coordinating Committee (CCC) of Women Strike for Peace during the period June - December, 1966. FU

In March, 1956, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that on March 26, 1956, Cora Rubin, while attending the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin, was present at a public meeting sponsored by the University of Wisconsin Chapter of the Labor Youth League (LYL). FU

The LYL has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

On September 14, 1965, a confidential source abroad advised that Nguyen Van Sao and Cu Dinh Ba, London representatives of "Cuu Quoc", a Communist weekly paper published in Hanoi, had furnished North Vietnamese propaganda to Mrs. Cora Weiss [redacted], New York. (S) (U)

INFORMATIVE NOTE

On 5/11/67, New York advised that Stanley Levison, confidential advisor to Martin Luther King and former clandestine member of the Communist Party, in a discussion with Andy Young, Executive Assistant of Martin Luther King, discussed a possible meeting of representatives of the U.S. peace movement with a representative of the North Vietnamese in Paris, France, May 14, 1967. Young said that King had been invited to take part in this meeting, but both Levison and Young agreed that he should not. This information was furnished by teletype to the White House, State [redacted] b7E

Attached, which reports further developments in the meeting in Paris, indicates that King will not take part and also indicates that other persons might be invited to take part in such meeting.

The attached was also disseminated by teletype to the White House, State [redacted] b7E

Since there is an indication that Levison will meet King in Chicago on 5/12/67, Chicago was instructed to contact sources in an effort to develop further information concerning the meeting.

AS AN ALTERNATIVE TO SUCH A GROUP MAKING TRIP, LEVISON SUGGESTED THAT SINCE THE NORTH VIETNAMES WANT HONEST APPRAISAL OF PEACE SENTIMENTS IN THIS COUNTRY, THAT A SMALL GROUP OF RESPONSIBLE, REASONABLE PEOPLE SIT DOWN AND MAKE SUCH AN ESTIMATE AND OFFER IT TO THEM THROUGH AN AGENCY LIKE U. THANT.

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished the following information on May 31, 1967:

Adele Kanter, Director of the New York City Office of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), while in contact with Stanley Levison on that date, apprised Levison that of 82 recent contributions to the SCLC, 22 of the contributors asked that their names be removed from the list because of Martin Luther King's position on Vietnam.

Kanter also told Levison that she had learned from Andrew Young, the Executive Assitant to King, that the SCLC will be working in four general areas this summer: 1. politica education in Mississippi, elections in Alabama, in Georgia, where Hosea Williams is getting his voters league started again and in South Carolina, where all registered voters must re-register every tenth year; 2. economic development, which will be basically the bread basket program in Chicago, Clevelan and Atlanta; 3. urban involvement, rent strikes, tenant unions and open housing in Cleveland, Chicago, Atlanta, Louisville, Houston and Washington; 4. and peace activity.

According to an order from King, staff members are free to participate in peace activities when they have spare time, but no one will be encouraged to go into peace work on a full time basis.

ENCLOSURE

Communist Influence in Racial Matters

King, Kanter advised, is considering a big peace march in Washington at the end of the summer. This has not been divulged to the general public.

The field staff of the SCLC has been reduced and the pay has been increased. The new field assignments are: 3 in Georgia; 2 in South Carolina; 2 in Alabama; 8 in Chicago; 3 in Mississippi; 4 in Cleveland; 6 in Louisville; 2 in Houston; 1 each in North Carolina and Virginia.

On June 1, 1966, the same source furnished information indicating that Stanley Levison and Martin Luther King were in contact on that date. King, who had returned from Geneva, Switzerland on that date, wanted to talk to Levison about some speeches Levison had been writing for King.

King, in apprising Levison as to what transpired during his attendance at the Pacem In Terris Conference, said he met many Americans who were sympathetic to his views on Vietnam. One man by the name of Edward Lamb of Ohio, who according to King, owns radio stations and is reportedly worth fifty million dollars, was very sympathetic to him. Levison will record his name on his list of potential contributors.

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised in April, 1964, that Stanley Levison was a secret member of the Communist Party, United States of America (CP, USA) in July, 1963. In late 1963 and early 1964, he criticized the CP for not being sufficiently militant in the civil rights struggle. Levison was described by certain CP leaders as being to the "left" of the CP in his position on civil rights. His differences with the CP, however, are merely tactical and he continues his ideological adherence to Communism. (S) (U)

In 1963, various Negro leaders, including Martin Luther King, were cited for contempt of court after violating an injunction by a circuit court banning civil rights marches in Birmingham, Alabama, without a parade permit. The parties were sentenced to five days in jail and fined $50.00 each.

In a 5 to 4 decision handed down 6/12/67, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the convictions, with Chief Justice Earl Warren sharply dissenting.

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on June 11, 1967, that Harry Wachtel and Stanley Levison, advisors to Martin Luther King, the President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), were in contact on that date. During their contact, several items of concern to King were discussed, specifically: the support King gave to Israel and his itinerary while in New York this week (June 12-16, 1967). U

With respect to the first item, Levison said King was very concerned over Israel's smug and unyielding attitude since her victory. As a consequence, King, Levison believes, should explore the whole business of the need for a broad base peace and raise each issue that needs a solution over it. Levison opined that King should play a very important role in the present crisis. U

King will be in New York on Tuesday and Wednesday to discuss with his advisors the peace issue and in this regard, a peace march on Washington, D. C., which he hopes to have later this summer. During this discussion, they will also consider the Israeli-Arab conflict, according to Wachtel. U

In connection with the meeting scheduled for Wednesday, the question arose as to whether Bayard Rustin should be invited since the proposed march on Washington will be considered. It was unanimously agreed that Rustin is now dominated by opportunism and that he is a "very tired radical" who wants to be secure and who will no longer go out on a limb. Levison thought Rustin should be invited to the Wednesday meeting although he does not favor peace demonstrations. U

In "The Saturday Evening Post", issue of July 11-18, 1964, page 76, Bayard Rustin is the subject of a feature article captioned: "The Lone Wolf of Civil Rights". In it, Rustin is said to have come to New York in 1938, as an organizer for the Young Communist League (YCL), and as such, he had the job of recruiting students for the "Party". Furthermore, the article reports that during his first years in New York, Rustin gave most of his earnings to the "Party". He reportedly left the "Party" in 1941, the article states.

The YCL has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The "Daily Worker", February 11, 1957, page 1 column 2, reported that Bayard Rustin, Executive Secretary, War Resisters League, was an observer at the 16th National Convention of the Communist Party, United States of America (CP, USA), held in New York City, on February 9-12, 1957.

The "Daily Worker" was an East Coast Communist publication until it ceased publication on January 13, 1958.

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on September 25, 1963, that during a meeting of the National Board, CP, USA, on that date, Benjamin J. Davis remarked that, "Rustin calls me constantly--openly."

Another confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on February 19, 20, 1964, that Bayard Rustin contacted Benjamin J. Davis on those dates

Levison disclosed that King met with Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and other civil rights leaders yesterday, June 13, 1967, in Suffern, New York. Levison related, however, that he did not know what transpired.

Miller mentioned that a representative of "Time", the weekly magazine, wanted to interview King within the next few days about the possibility of writing an article on him. Levison related that King was going to be too busy on June 14, 1967, since he had three engagements; one with Ministers in Pawling, New York, during the day; another in New York City later in the afternoon; and an address that night before Local 1199, Drug and Hospital Workers Union of America, at the Americana Hotel, New York City.

"The New York Times", June 15, 1967, page 31, reported that leaders of nine civil rights organizations met secretly in a Suffern, New York motel Tuesday, June 13, 1967.

According to the article, about twenty persons attended. It was sponsored by the Metropolitan Applied Research Center, an organization formed in March to deal with urban and civil rights problems.

Those who attended included Dr. Kenneth B. Clark, President of the Research Center; Dr. Martin Luther King, President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC); Roy C. Wilkins, Executive Director of the National Association For The Advancement of Colored People; Whitney M. Young, Jr., Executive Director of the National Urban League; and Floyd B. McKissick, National Director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

Dr. Clark, the article reported, in a news conference yesterday, June 14, 1967, said the organization would work together with Cleveland groups this summer to ease racial tension and "wipe out inequality and injustice in employment, education, housing, health and welfare services, voting and the administration of justice."

In the same article, it was reported that Dr. Martin Luther King told a capacity crowd of 800 delegates of Local 1199, Drug and National Employees Union, at the Hotel Roosevelt last night that "social justice is an absolute guarantee of riot prevention".

On June 12, 1967, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that on that date, Martin Luther King, Jr. was in conference with Andrew Young, Executive Assistant to King, and Stanley Levison and Harry Wachtel, New York advisors to King, concerning the United States Supreme Court's June 12, 1967 decision upholding King's conviction for contempt. This conviction stemmed from King's violation of an Alabama court order enjoining King and his followers from parading and demonstrating in Birmingham, Alabama, in the Spring of 1963.

Harry Wachtel viewed the upholding of the injunction as a crippling device to the whole non-violent movement and as a tool of repression against all mass demonstrations. Andrew Young viewed the five day jail sentence which King faces in Birmingham as inconsequential, but pointed out that many other contempt laws carry penalties up to six months. King was of the view that the upholding of the Court injunction is a great evil since many people are affected including King, himself, who has violated injunctions in Chicago, Illinois and Louisville, Kentucky, and faces contempt charges in those jurisdictions. Stanley Levison reminded King that in King's "Letter From Birmingham Jail", King stated that the non-violent protestor accepts his punishment, but was overruled on this point by Harry Wachtel. Levison then noted a parallel between the use of the injunction to inhibit the growth of unionism and the use of the injunction against the Civil Rights movement.

Wachtel advised King to press for a re-argument of the case and King assented. It was felt by King that even if the motion was denied within the next week, it would still allow him to attend a Ministers' conference on June 26th and organize a program to protest his jailing. If the re-argument were granted, it might not be heard until the Fall of 1967, at which time the Court would be differently constituted. (U)

The question of King's statement on the decision was also discussed with Harry Wachtel suggesting that the three dissenting opinions, particularly the dissent of Chief Justice Earl Warren, be culled for the strongest arguments against the decision. Andrew Young felt that the statement should stress this was a severe setback for non-violence and an open invitation to violence by Negroes. It was decided that King make two statements; one immediately and one when the dissents had been studied. Wachtel suggested the first statement be general and refer to the damage it will do to the non-violent movement. The second statement will go into more detail, emphasizing the union parallel, the bad precedent which the decision sets, the aid it will be to racists and segregationists and the climate of despair and cynicism which will be generated in the Negro community setting the stage for violence and riots. A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on June 8, 1967, that Martin Luther King, the President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), conferred on that date with his advisors, namely, Stanley Levison, Harry Wachtel and Andrew Young, King's Executive Assistant. Their conference was in regard to the Middle East conflict. King sought the opinions of his advisors as to what position he should take when asked by the press how he stood on the issue. *U

King's concern arose in view of criticism received following his endorsement of a statement in support of Israel, which appeared in "The New York Times" several days ago. In elaborating, King mentioned that his critics had interpreted the statement as an endorsement of violence, whereas he is considered to be non-violent in his doctrine. *U

King, in remarking that he would address the Capital Press Club on Saturday, June 10, 1967, felt he would have to face the issue at that time. His advisors opined that if asked for a statement, it should be very general in nature, emphasizing the need to abide by the United Nations cease fire order since wars solve nothing. King concurred with their recommendation and said he would use the same line on Saturday when he makes reference to the Vietnam conflict. *U

THE 58TH NATIONAL CONVENTION
NATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF COLORED PEOPLE
BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS
JULY 10 TO 15, 1967

PURPOSE:

To obtain authority to confidentially advise Dr. John A. Morsell, Assistant Executive Director, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, of the efforts by the Communist Party to pressure his organization into adopting an anti-Vietnam War resolution at its National Convention in Boston, Massachusetts, on July 10-15, 1967.

BACKGROUND:

As you have previously been advised, Claude Lightfoot, Chairman, Communist Party of Illinois, tried to participate in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Convention in 1966 without any success.

He has recently urged members of the Communist Party to make every effort at this year's National Convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to get this organization involved in anti-Vietnam War activity. Lightfoot hopes that Roy Wilkins, Executive Director, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, can be pressured into sponsoring an anti-Vietnam War resolution.

President Johnson, according to a source, will probably address this Convention on the evening of 7/13/67. Because of this, the above information has been furnished to the White House and Secret Service.

On 6/27/67, the New York Office requested that the above information regarding Communist Party plans be orally furnished to Dr. John A. Morsell, liaison contact of that office.

Re: THE 58TH NATIONAL CONVENTION

OBSERVATIONS:

Roy Wilkins has openly taken a stand aligning himself with the Administration's policy in Vietnam. He has also openly criticised civil rights leaders who have attacked the Administration's involvement in Vietnam.

By advising the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People leadership of this communist plan, they would then be alert for any thrust of the Communist Party line at their Convention. It would also help them in their continuing struggle against communist infiltration. In addition, it is felt that this action would enhance the liaison relationship between the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the New York Office in the field of racial matters.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

(1) It is recommended that the New York Office be authorized to confidentially and orally alert Dr. John A. Morsell of the current plans of the Communist Party relative to his organization's National Convention.

(2) It is also recommended that the attached airtel be forwarded to the New York Office.

RE: COMMUNIST PARTY, USA,

NEW YORK, NEW YORK
JUNE 13, 1967

A confidential source on June 15, 1967, advised that a Communist Party (CP) National Negro Commission Meeting was held on June 13, 1967 at CP Headquarters, 23 W. 26th Street, New York, New York.

The meeting was called to order by CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, Secretary of the National Committee for Negro Affairs of the CP, USA, at 10:30 A.M.

RASHEED STOREY was appointed Chairman for the meeting and SANDY PATRINOS was appointed Recording Secretary.

The following were present:

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT	RASHEED STOREY
JAMES JACKSON	ALVA BUXEMBAUM
PHIL BART	ED TEIXERA
MILDRED Mc ADOREY	JACOB GREEN
JAMES TORMEY	BILL TAYLOR
PATRICK TOOHEY	SANDY PATRINOS
TOM DENNIS	ED BORTZ
HENRY WINSTON	CARL BLOICE
CHARLENE ALEXANDER	DON HAMMERQUIST
ROSCOE PROCTOR	HOSEA HUDSON
EARL DURHAM

LIGHTFOOT called on EARL DURHAM to give a report on political activities in Chicago, Illinois.

RE: COMMUNIST PARTY, USA,

DURHAM then spoke at length about activities of CP members in Chicago and their efforts to assist various political groups in having Negroes elected to various political offices. DURHAM stressed that Party people and their friends made frequent contact in the ghettos. DURHAM concluded his report by saying that he felt that the party had done some good work in helping to achieve greater Negro representation both at a local and national level.

Discussion on DURHAM's report continued through the rest of the morning and after lunch. The general feeling was that each CP District should act in a similar manner. CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT stressed the fact that they should set a goal of 20 Negro congressmen within the next few years.

LIGHTFOOT then told the group that the coming summer, which would bring about Negro unrest, might help to assist the Negro to get his rights a great deal sooner than any of them might have hoped in the past.

LIGHTFOOT then proposed that more white comrades should be placed on National Negro Commissions. He stated that only two national Negro commission meetings should be held in a single year but felt that local Negro Commission meetings should be held at least every two months. He suggested that an administrative body be established for the National Negro Commission and felt that MILDRED Mc ADOREY, ALVA BUXEMBAUM, RASHEED STOREY and CARL BLOICE would be suitable selections.

LIGHTFOOT said that he planned to have the minutes of National Negro Commission meetings disseminated to all CP Districts in the future in order that they could be given to other various CP members.

RE: COMMUNIST PARTY, USA,
NATIONAL NEGRO COMMISSION MEETING,
NEW YORK, NEW YORK
JUNE 13, 1967

LIGHTFOOT also stated that he would like to have the administrative body of the National Negro Commission be empowered to obtain information of interest to Negroes, to print it up and pass it on to the CP membership.

During the discussion that followed, it was further suggested that the Puerto Ricans in New York who were affiliated with the Party, be permitted to work with the National Negro Commission since they had a common goal.

All of the above suggestions and proposals were approved by those present.

At about 2:55 P.M., the following members of the CP Trade Union Commission joined the National Negro Commission meeting:

GEORGE MEYERS, JAMES WEST, IRVING POTASH and GEORGE MORRIS.

GEORGE MEYERS who is Labor Secretary for the CP, USA, told the group about Negro American Labor Council (NALC) Conference which had been held in Washington, D. C., May 26 - 28, 1967.

The NALC is a Negro Labor Organization.

MEYERS told the group that he was pleased with the fact that the NALC was interested in Negro and white unity and he felt that many of the objectives of the NALC were similar to Party objectives.

The meeting ended at about 4 P.M.

The following information has been supplied by confidential sources of this Bureau who have furnished reliable information in the past.

Claude Lightfoot, Chairman, Communist Party of Illinois, recently urged members of the Communist Party in Chicago, Illinois, to make every effort at the National Convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People on July 10 through 15, 1967, at Boston, Massachusetts, to get this organization involved in anti-Vietnam War activity. Lightfoot hopes that Roy Wilkins, Executive Director, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, can be pressured into sponsoring an anti-Vietnam War resolution. (C) (U)

Another source advised that he had received information indicating the President, Lyndon B. Johnson, would probably address this Convention on the evening of July 13, 1967. (C) (U)

Other prominent figures attending the Convention will be Hugh Shearer, Prime Minister of Jamaica, and Senator Edward Brooke of Massachusetts. (C) (U)

This same source advised that at most of these Conventions some element of the American Nazi Party, a notorious right-wing hate group, appears to picket or disrupt the Convention in some manner. (C) (U)

PURPOSE:

Attached for your approval for dissemination is a letterhead memorandum containing the following:

BACKGROUND:

Information has been received from a source indicating that Claude Lightfoot, Chairman, Communist Party of Illinois, recently urged Communist Party members to make every effort at the National Convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People on 7/10-15/67, at Boston, Massachusetts, to get this organization involved in anti-Vietnam War activity. Lightfoot hopes that Roy Wilkins, Executive Director, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, can be pressured into sponsoring an anti-Vietnam War resolution. (U)

Another source advised that President Johnson is scheduled to speak on the evening of 7/13/67 at this Convention. Other prominent figures to attend are Hugh Shearer, Prime Minister of Jamaica, and Senator Edward Brooke, (R - Massachusetts). (U)

This source also advised that at most of these conventions, the American Nazi Party, a notorious right-wing hate group, appears and attempts to disrupt the activities. To date, we have received no information that the American Nazi Party has made any plans in this regard. (U)

RECOMMENDATION:

Since this development would be of interest to the President, it is recommended that attached communication be forwarded to Mrs. Mildred Stegall at the White House; Secretary of State; Attorney General; Assistant Attorneys General Yeagley and Doar; ~~United States Secret Service~~ and the military intelligence agencies.

Security Matter - C

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on June 19, 1967, that Joan Daves, publisher's representative for Martin Luther King's latest book, "Where Do We Go From Here?", and Stanley Levison, King's principal advisor, were in contact on that date concerning the book. Daves wanted to apprise Levison of a reception planned for that afternoon at 5:45 p.m. at the New York Hilton Hotel, New York, New York, the purpose being to afford King an opportunity to meet representatives of Harper Publishers, the publishers of his book. Although only eight people were to attend, Daves invited Levison to the reception. She said Harry Belafonte would also be there. S/U

According to Daves, following the reception, King and Belafonte were scheduled to appear on the Merv Griffin television show, a Metromedia production on Channel 5 in New York. S/U

"The New York Times", Tuesday, June 20, 1967, on page 25, an article captioned "Dr. King Deplores 'Long Cold Winter' On the Rights Front" appeared. He is reported to have made the statement that "Everyone is worrying about the long hot summer with its threats of riots." He said, however, that "We had a long cold winter when little was done about the conditions that create riots."

II. GENERAL RACIAL CONDITIONS

Los Angeles, California

In the "Los Angeles Sentinel", a Los Angeles Negro newspaper of May 11, 1967, page AI, was an article reporting that Marine Sergeant William Hines, a Veteran of 21½ years in the Marine Corps, and his school teacher wife had filed suits totaling $560,000 against twelve trailer parks in Santa Ana, California. He stated he had found trailer space when he had arrived in the area in 1965, but when he left for Vietnam, his wife was evicted. On his return a year later, Hines stated trailer court managers gave every excuse in the world for not renting to Negroes and he had been unable to find space. His attorney, Irwin Gostin of San Diego, stated Hines's problem was especially disturbing in view of his long service to his country.

In the "Los Angeles Sentinel" of May 11, 1967, page A3, was an article reporting Mayor Samuel Yorty had blamed the bad image of Watts on negative news reporting by news media. Yorty described the image as distorted and complained newsmen passed over the constructive programs in Watts.

In the "Los Angeles Sentinel" of May 11, 1967, page EI, was an article reporting that Art Kevin, President of the Southern California Broadcasters Association, challenged Yorty's claims (above). He stated Yorty was making allegations without foundations, especially his statement that there would have been no Watts riot without television coverage.

Kevin responded that the rioting was caused by "the troubles overlooked in Watts all these years by the politicians".

In "The Hollywood Reporter", a Hollywood newspaper magazine of May 15, 1967, page 9, was an item reporting that several Negro writers who were trained in the Watts Writers Work Shop (WWW), and who were the original "Angry Voices of Watts" (which appeared on local television in the recent past), had been selected to go to Canada for five days for the Canadian fair "Expo-67".

In the "Los Angeles Times" of May 24, 1967, II-2, was an article reporting that Ernest J. Loebbecke, honorary chairman of United Way Volunteers had stated the anti-poverty war "had been less than satisfactory" and costs were extremely high when compared with results obtained. He admitted there were problems beyond the ability of voluntary organizations, but stated the two consequences of Government assistance were a loss of personal involvement and the tax burden. He urged total community involvement with Government programs.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of May 24, 1967, I-3, was an article reporting that Los Angeles City Human Relations Commission, Commissioner Max Mont had challenged the employment figures issued by H. C. (Chad) Mc Clellan of the Management Council for Merit Employment Training and Research (MCMETR). His group had issued a report that 17,000 Negroes had been hired through his group. Mont stated he believed the claims were exaggerated and wanted to know how many hirings were permanent, and whether the percentage of those hired in Southern Los Angeles had increased in comparison with rising employment throughout Los Angeles. Mc Clellan stated he did not have such figures and never said they did, but they had not found one company which had not increased its minority employment by less than 15 per cent, and some of them had increased up to 150 per cent. He stated there was a waiting list of 5,000 for the four local skill centers financed by the United States Department of Labor, and believed the centers should be enlarged. He stated the cost of solving the problem of denying the Negroes equal opportunity in the past would be greater than anyone realized.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of May 25, 1967, page II-4, was an article reporting that John C. Montgomery, California State Social Welfare Director, believed that 90,000 or about eight per cent of the state's welfare recipients were employable, although this figure varied with estimates by Federal officials. Montgomery stated he was working through H. C. Mc Clellan (above) in an effort to find jobs for those capable of working. Lieutenant Governor Finch indicated he would form a California Job Training and Placement Council. The article concluded something must be done since, at a time of unprecedented prosperity, combined Federal, State and local welfare expenses were at least $1 billion annually.

In the "Los Angeles Sentinel" of May 25, 1967, page D7, was an article reporting the Federal Government had relented in its plans to cut off funds for job training of welfare recipients. Up to $700,000 would be allocated to Los Angeles County for its operations in the next twelve months, compared to $1.8 million made available last year.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of May 25, 1967, page II-1, was an article reporting that opponents of the $1 million youth center offered to the Watts area by Beverly Hills Businessman John Factor, had been threatened by supporters of the project. Mrs. Esther Humphries, one of those who feared the center would disrupt her neighborhood, appeared at a hearing and stated many of those opposed did not appear because of threats, and stated a brick was thrown through her picture window after the first hearing. Mrs. Humphries based her protest on the uncertainty of lasting financial support for the center, as well as the presence of other "adequate" facilities in the area.

John Factor stated he planned to insure the financial health of the center for at least five years, and complained he had had less difficulty organizing the business then in giving away a million dollars.

> On December 26, 1962, John Factor was granted a full pardon by the late President John F. Kennedy, relieving Factor from possible deportation proceedings as an alien who had been convicted in 1943 for mail fraud.

COMMUNITY ALERT PATROL (CAP)

In the "Los Angeles Times" of May 23, 1967, page I-2, was an article reporting the CAP had received a grant of over $238,00 from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) to act as a "buffer" between the Los Angeles Police Department and residents of high crime areas. Approximately $78,000 was provided by the Office of Economic Opportunity for training underprivileged youths as auto mechanics. The CAP observed police for about three months during 1966 and assumed responsibility for maintaining order during the Watts Summer Festival (WSF). The Los Angeles Police Department was quoted as indicating some people thought the CAP did a good job and others thought they were "overbearing and officious".

The Los Angeles County Human Relations Commission (LACHRC) commended the CAP after the festival. An HEW spokesman stated it was conceivable that the 20 members of the Patrol, most with police or juvenile records, could serve as "deterrents to delinquency".

In the "Los Angeles Times" of May 25, 1967, page II-1, was an article reporting Mayor Samuel Yorty had charged the CAP grant was "political" and was made "almost" without consultation with local officials. He stated he hoped the CAP would use the money constructively or he would demand it be withdrawn. Yorty thought the funds should not have been approved without checking with local officials, and he believed the money could have been used better in a summer youth program.

In the Los Angeles "Herald-Dispatch", a Los Angeles Negro newspaper of May 25, 1967, page 1, was an article characterizing the CAP as "a group of young black nationalists" who were "looked upon with suspicion by responsible members of the Negro community". The article charged that similar to Government programs abroad, the group might be used as a "black Nazi Patrol" or as a "counter-military army" against the Negro community. The article disagreed with CAP action during the WSF, stating that they were "to a man overbearing, obnoxious, and abusive".

In the "Los Angeles Times" of May 26, 1967, page II-4, was an editorial by Nick B Williams citing "serious questions" raised by the CAP funding. It quoted chairman Elbert Hudson of the Los Angeles Police Commission as indicating they were "greatly disturbed and extremely concerned over the matter". The editorial concluded the money could be spent in an extended program of youth activities.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of May 27, 1967, page I-7, Police Chief Thomas Reddin indicated he regretted the funding of the CAP but would try to create a liaison with the group.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of May 30, 1967, page I-3, was an article quoting Acting Welfare Commissioner Joseph H. Meyers of the Federal Government as stating if Los Angeles Police felt the CAP would hurt rather than help, they might consider withdrawing alloted funds. An HEW official advised that before the CAP received its funds it must meet certain criteria. Meyers said he expected the CAP to report criminal acts of citizens as well as police brutality, however, Ronald (brother Crook) Wilkins, CAP Commander and Assistant Director of the project stated they would not report any criminal acts they might witness. The CAP application for funds was filed by Emeet P. Briggs, serving as a $13,000 a year director of the project.

Venice, California

Venice is an area immediately adjacent to Santa Monica, California policed by the Los Angeles Police Department.

In the "Evening Outlook" newspaper of Santa Monica, California of May 16, 1967, page 17, was an article reporting the first meeting of the Venice Police Advisory Council, wherein residents criticized police for failure to be friendly.

Those present suggested the police take a few minutes a day to visit with residents in a casual friendly way. They also asked for a program to bring youths to police stations to look into the police job and problems. Lieutenant Frank Wysocki, Community Relations Officer of the Venice Division was praised for making positive changes in the division, and Ernest Jefferson of "Project Action" praised police for making efforts to contact residents of the area.

III. CURRENT EVALUATION OF VIOLENCE POTENTIAL

Los Angeles, California

On May 12, 1967, source one, a Negro leader in the Southern Los Angeles area stated he could not predict whether a riot could occur this summer, however, stated the youth are frustrated and walking the streets because of mishandling of funds for job training programs. He stated the youth want to take part in all movements of society but feel they are being neglected. He stated the "good" and older people do not want a riot, and all they are interested in is steady employment to provide for their families.

On May 18, 1967, source two and source three, high officials of Los Angeles County Sheriff's Office, advised they felt they were "sitting on a powder keg" in the Southern Los Angeles area. Source two stated the main cause for concern was the deep animosity between Negroes and Mexican Americans in the area. He stated many residents of the area are "simply waiting for someone to hand them some money" and are resentful if they have not received anything from the poverty program. Source believed the most probable area for a disturbance was the ten block area around 151st Street and Central Avenue.

On May 24, 1967, source four, a Negro leader in the Los Angeles area stated he believed conditions were less settled than a year ago, but could not predict violence in the near future. Source criticized some Negro youths who were not willing to work and some who resisted legitimate law enforcement no matter what police did. Source believed these would be the type of people involved in any future racial trouble.

On May 31, 1967, source five, a Negro leader in the Los Angeles area stated the group most likely to cause racial trouble would be the "black nationalists" who continue agitating the Negro community.

Ramona Gardens Housing Project Disturbance
May 21, 1967

On May 21, 1967, police responded to a report of a fight between Negroes and Mexican Americans at the above housing project at about 10:45 p.m. At 11:05 p.m. police responded to the shooting of Archie Gonzales, Mexican American youth who was allegedly shot by a group of young Negroes. Four Negro juveniles were arrested in connection with the shooting but were subsequently dismissed.

Tension between the groups remained high throughout the week of May 21, 1967 to May 28, 1967. There were various rumors of possible violence between the two groups, but no subsequent violence ensued up to June 1, 1967. Los Angeles Police Department officers have indicated the situation between the two groups is more serious than generally realized, and every effort is being made to open communications between the two groups to avoid violence.

National Conference of Negro Elected Officials, aka California Black Conference,
May 26 -28, 1967,
Los Angeles, California

The above conference was held at Jefferson High School, 41st Street and Hooper Avenue, Los Angeles on the date indicated. Only Negroes were allowed into the conference and all newsmen were excluded. Source seven advised the conference was patrolled by a group of young Negroes allegedly controlled by Ron Karenga, head of "US", a Negro self-determination organization in Los Angeles.

On May 26, 1967 the Los Angeles Police Department received an anonymous call that two bombs were set to go off at the school, however, a search of the school revealed nothing.

On May 26, 1967, source seven advised the conference was picketed by followers of Michael Lasky, General secretary of the Communist Party, USA, Marxist-Leninist, (see appendix) (CPUSA,M-L) during the evening hours. Numerous prominent speakers appeared at the conference in the course of three days, including State Senator Mervyn Dymally, Stokely Carmichael, former national head of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), H. Rap Brown, new national head of SNCC, Georgia Legislator Julian Bond, former aide to Martin Luther King, Reverend James Bevel, Comedian Dick Gregory, Floyd Mc Kissick, National Director of the Congress of Racial Equality, Hughie Newton, Leader of the Black Panther Party at Oakland, and Nabrwera, Kenya's Ambassador to the United Nations.

Source seven advised 800 to 850 Negroes were in attendance throughout the conference, over 50 per cent of them were young Negroes with "natural" hair styles and beards or whiskers. Source stated several of the speakers stated they were "talking revolution" and most spoke of using illegal activities as a tactic if necessary. Several speakers spoke of arming for self-defense and fighting back.

Source eight, a Negro who attended the conference stated he believed the conference was controlled for the most part by Ron Karenga and John Shabazz of the Nation of Islam (See appendix), who favored a "black nationalist" position.

Source eight stated the younger Negroes in Los Angeles openly supported the black power concept and were prominent in attendance at the conference.

On May 31, 1967, source six, a high official of the Los Angeles Police Department pointed out that the above conference passed no resolution and set up no lasting organization to carry on the thought and ideas presented at the conference.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of May 19, 1967, page I-12, was an article reporting that Los Angeles had no coordinated plan like that of New York to keep racial areas "cool" this summer if Federal programs do not materialize.

In the "Los Angeles Sentinel" of May 25, 1967, page A1, was an article reporting the paper would have a special "jobs for summer" section to be published in June to help keep Los Angeles "cool". The Sentinel also urged private industry to help such a program.

In the "Los Angeles Times" of May 25, 1967, page II-1, was an article quoting Mayor Samuel Yorty as stating there was a "false impression" that Los Angeles had no program to keep the city "cool". Yorty stated more than one half million youths would benefit from a variety of activities. He stated he did not like to announce programs until they were assured of success, and stated many of New York's programs have not yet been worked out. He said Los Angeles's programs would be carried out by the City Summer Council made up of officials and community leaders.

Ripley, California

In "The Daily Enterprise" newspaper of Riverside, California, of May 21, 1967, page B1, was an article reporting a series of meetings had been held in Ripley to discuss problems of Negro farm workers in the area. Sidney Wolverton, Executive Director of the Riverside County War on Poverty, stated the first objective would be to acquaint the public with conditions in Ripley. One of the problems in the area is that few of the jobless can quality for welfare. Wolverton and others recommend that welfare be "stretched" to include more people. Welfare spokesman stated some of the people in Ripley are not willing to move to the west end of Riverside County to receive vocational retraining. Mrs. Myrtle Spann, Negro leader of a protest march in Ripley stated she believed a need for help in Ripley was urgent.

VI. EXISTENCE OF CHANNELS OF COMMUNICATION BETWEEN MINORITY LEADERS AND LOCAL OFFICIALS.

No change.

VII. OBJECTIVES SOUGHT BY MINORITY COMMUNITY AND POSSIBLE POINTS OF CONTENTION

Los Angeles, California

In the "Los Angeles Times" of May 25, 1967, page I-32, was an article reporting that Stokely Carmichael had stated in a speech at the University of California at Los Angeles that Negroes should take over their own communities. He stated the Black Power Movement was not an attempt to take over the county, but only the Negroes' own communities, so they could bargain with the "white imperialists". Carmichael criticized integration as "impractical and undesirable". He also announced the start of a Negro anti-draft movement this year.

At the California Black Conference (see Section III above), Stokely Carmichael urged Negroes to take control of the education system in their community, demand the languages of "oppressed peoples" be taught, and demand as many black teachers as possible. He urged Negroes to get control of as much housing as possible, and demand business in Negro communities support the communities. Reverend James Beval called upon Negroes willing to go to jail to "awaken Present Johnson to anti-war sentiment". Ron Karenga urged a coalition of Negro groups and suggested using people from the extreme left to the extreme right for their own ends. Several speakers, including H. Rap Brown and Floyd Mc Kissick, urged the formation of a Negro third party, preferably a Black Panther Party. Hughie Newton (above) warned Negroes to arm for self-defense and Tommy Jacquette, Los Angeles "black nationalist" agreed with Newton, stating Negroes must "meet force with force in the dark of night on an individual basis".

Los Angeles, California

On June 1, 1967, source six advised District Attorney Evelle J. Younger had held a high level secret meeting on May 31, 1967 with Negro officials Thomas Bradley, Los Angeles City Councilman; Superior Court Judge Earl Broady, Los Angeles Police Commission Chairman Elbert Hudson and several other Negro leaders.

Younger stated the purpose of the meeting was to seek ways and means of handling some of the more vocal civil rights agitators such as Ron Karenga (above), Tommy Jacquette of the group Self Leadership for all Nationalities Today (SLANT), and Lenier Eggleston of the CAP. Younger indicated he wanted sound advice as he did not want to make any moves threatening racial peace. Those present generally agreed the principal agitator in Los Angeles was State Senator Mervyn Dymally. Those present thought the best way to handle him was to confront him, tell him to cease and desist his agitation, and if he did not cooperate, he would be destroyed politically.

Source six stated it was doubtful this plan would work but at least important Negro leaders are giving consideration to the matter of racial agitation among the Negroes.

Copies of this memorandum are being furnished to Region II, 115th Military Intelligence Unit, United States Army, Pasadena; to Office of Special Investigation, Norton Air Force Base, San Bernardino; to Naval Investigative Service, San Diego; the United States Attorney, Los Angeles; and the United States Secret Service, Los Angeles, for the information and completion of their files.

COMMUNIST PARTY, USA, MARXIST-LENINIST (CPUSA, M-L)

On August 24, 1965, a source advised that the West Coast Provisional Organizing Committee for a Marxist-Leninist Communist Party (WCPOC) was formed in Los Angeles, California, on August 23, 1965, under the leadership of MIKE LASKY. Although similar in name, the newly organized WCPOC had no connection whatsoever with the Provisional Organizing Committee for a Marxist-Leninist Communist Party (POC) or the latter's West Coast POC.

On September 7, 1965, the above source advised that a National Conference of the newly formed WCPOC was held over the September 4-5, 1965, weekend in Los Angeles. At that meeting, the name WCPOC was dropped, and the CPUSA, M-L was formed under LASKY's leadership. The CPUSA, M-L has the following aims and purposes:

1. To conduct guerrilla warfare training, including the use of firearms;

2. To organize CPUSA, M-L cells in the South to exploit all "racial situations" that might arise there, to agitate the population, and create situations which would require the use of Federal Troops so that Americans would be fighting Americans;

3. To establish and maintain an accelerated recruiting program to include acceptance of anyone who is an anti-imperialist.

On May 12, 1966, the above source advised that the CPUSA, M-L continued to exist.

APPENDIX

NATION OF ISLAM

In January, 1957, a source advised that Elijah Muhammad has described his organization on a nationwide basis as the "Nation of Islam" and "Muhammad's Temples of Islam".

On April 29, 1966, a second source advised that, Elijah Muhammad is the national leader of the Nation of Islam (NOI); Muhammad's Temple of Islam No. 2, 5335 South Greenwood Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, is the national headquarters of the NOI; and in mid-1960 Muhammad and other NOI officials, when referring to Muhammad's organization on a nationwide basis, commenced using either "Mosque" or "Temple" when mentioning one of "Muhammad's Temples of Islam".

The NOI is an all-Negro organization which was originally organized in 1930 in Detroit, Michigan. Muhammad claims to have been selected by Allah, the Supreme Being, to lead the so-called Negro race out of slavery in the wilderness of North America by establishing an independent black nation in the United States. Members following Muhammad's teachings and his interpretation of the "Koran" believe there is no such thing as a Negro; that the so-called Negroes are slaves of the white race, referred to as "white devils", in the United States; and that the white race, because of its exploitation of the so-called Negroes, must and will be destroyed in the approaching "War of Armageddon".

In the past, officials and members of the NOI, including Muhammad, have refused to register under the provisions of the Selective Service Acts and have declared that members owe no allegiance to the United States.

On May 5, 1958, the first source advised that Muhammad had, upon advice of legal counsel, tempered his personal statements and instructions to his ministers concerning the principles of his organization in order to avoid possible prosecution by the United States Government; however, he did not indicate any fundamental changes in the teachings of his organization.

APPENDIX CONTINUED

NATION OF ISLAM

On May 2, 1966, a third source advised that Muhammad had, early in July, 1958, decided to de-emphasize the religious aspects of the teachings of Islam and to stress the economic benefits to be derived by those Negroes who joined the NOI. This policy change, according to Muhammad, would help him acquire additional followers and create more interest in his programs.

A characterization of the Progressive Labor Party (PLP) is attached hereto and the source utilized therein has furnished reliable information in the past.

A source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, on May 29, 1967, furnished a copy of a letter sent to all members of the PLP Trade Union Section by Walter Linder, PLP National Labor Co-ordinator.

This letter starts with the following paragraph:

"Following is the draft of a flyer to be distributed in several hundred thousand copies in the next few months to white workers, basically where they work. It is in line with a National Committee decision to attempt to answer an apparent ruling class strategey to provoke a race war this summer in order to get workers' minds and actions away from strikes, opposition to the war, (Another piece will be distributed in the Black ghettos; meetings, rallies, etc.) This draft was written by Milt. Pertinent pictures and data will be included. Any comments, suggestions should be sent in by June 2 (Friday) to either Milt or myself at Room 617, 1 Union Square, West, NYC, NY 10003."

The source advised that "Milt", referred to above, is Milton Rosen, President of the PLP.

The draft of the flyer, referred to above, is captioned "War-Makers, Strike-Breakers Plot Race War This Summer" with a subheading, "Dont Be A Sucker!"

The flyer sets forth in part:

"---The politicians in Washington who are controlled by big monopolies like General Motors, Ford, U.S. Steel, General Electric, DuPont, the banks, utilities and the airlines, railroads and truckers need their government in Washington when we fight for our rights. And they need the government in Washington to protect their investments in other countries when workers and poor people in those countries fight for their rights and freedom. Right now, the same strike-breaking, wage-freezing, boss-backed government headed by LBJ is conducting a war of aggression in Vietnam. They are slaughtering thousands of workers and poor people in Vietnam to protect their investments---.

"This summer the bosses and their stooges in Washington have another dirty job for us to do which will benefit only the bosses. They want us to be bigger suckers than ever. They want us to fight our Black brothers at home. Bosses have been making the biggest profits off of the backs of Black workers for over a century. They (the bosses) love this. They want to keep it that way. For more than a century they have poisoned our minds against Black people. They want us to hate and fight Black workers instead of hating and fighting the bosses. This way they keep the workers divided and weak - Black against white - while they pile up huge profits---

"The bosses, using the government, the papers, TV, radio, etc. are trying to create a wave of hysteria. They want to whip us into a frenzy so that we will go out and kill Black people this summer. This will, the bosses hope, divert us from our own rotten conditions. They hope it will divert us from our growing antagonism to their war in Vietnam, which is killing our children. (After all, the sons of the rich and middle classes have all sorts of deferments, because of being in college, etc.)---

"The bosses will benefit in other ways, too. They will further deepen the divisions between Black and white workers---

"They have killed, beaten, and jailed thousands of us in the past to prevent workers' militancy and unity. This time they want to use us to kill off and beat down one another at home just like they use us to kill and burn oppressed workers in other countries.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Progressive Labor Party

"Don't be drawn into the bosses' plans. We should keep our eye on the ball. Let's fight for higher pay, shorter hours with no loss in pay; militant union leaders who act to organize North and South; for the U.S. to get out of Vietnam now.

"If the bosses draw us into race war this summer, just remember how they will sit back and laugh--how they will laugh and say 'look at the suckers doing our dirty work'.

"Well, it's up to us. We can go on playing the bosses' game, fighting and dying so he can pile up more dough, in other words, be a sucker. Or we can begin to take matters into our own hands. Clean out the mis-leaders in the union. Adopt a fighting program. Unite with all workers for things we all need. If we do this, we can win. We can win enough for all workers. Our labor together with the labor of our Black brothers has created enormous wealth. Black and white workers can start to fight to control and distribute this wealth for the interests of the workers, not the bosses. In other words, start the long, hard job of taking it away from the bosses and placing the wealth and power in our own hands. Let's start this summer. Let's fight the real enemy, the bosses and their boys in Washington."

RE: NEGRO AMERICAN LABOR COUNCIL,
NATIONAL ECONOMIC CONFERENCE,
HOTEL AMERICA, WASHINGTON, D. C.
MAY 27 - 28, 1967

After the invocation, the National President of the NALC, CLEVELAND ROBINSON, made a lengthy talk regardng the failure of the AFL-CIO leadership to bring about better working conditions for Negro laborers. He pointed out that this eventually resulted in the formation of the NALC in 1960. He stressed the necessity of a separate labor organization run by Negroes which would be devoted to ending segregation, discrimination and the denial of basic human rights for the Negro masses. He stated that the aims of the NALC were to end joblessness, low wages and other forms of social, cultural and economic deprivations which prevented the Negroes from bettering themselves.

DICK GREGORY, Negro comedian, then spoke. He blamed white leadership in the United States for the economic plight of the American Negro, stating that there was no real interest by such leadership in upgrading of the American Negro. He was opposed to the Vietnam War. He stated that funds spent on the war should instead be spent to help the impoverished Negro masses.

After lunch on the opening day, the conference was broken up into workshops as follows:

1. Jobs and discrimination
2. Poverty and housing
3. Education
4. Women

The above workshops carried on their activities until the early evening of May 27, 1967 and were continued on the following day until about 4:15 P.M. at which time the conference was terminated.

The confidential source advised that under the direction of ANGIE WILLIS, the CP members present during the conference were broken up into different groups so that at least one CP member could be in attendance at each workshop. These CP members were instructed by WILLIS to guide the discussion in the direction favored by CP, USA policy, in particular Negro and white unity and an early termination of the War in Vietnam. They were told by WILLIS not to push issues, draw attention to themselves or disclose their membership in the CP.

At the close of the conference the NALC leadership urged those present to help recruit new members for the NALC, to build the organization and to continue the fight for better working conditions for all laborers whether they were white or Negro.

Communist Influence in Racial Matters

On June 22, 1967, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Stanley Levison, advisor to Martin Luther King, Jr., was in contact on that date with Mike Miller of the Ford Foundation concerning civil rights matters. (U)

Miller noted that he was optimistic concerning the Ford Foundation grant to the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) to sponsor the operations of CORE in Cleveland, Ohio. This grant will amount to $300,000.00 spread out over two years. Miller was happy over the recent civil rights summit meeting and mentioned that Whitney Young, Executive Director of the Urban League, had warned King and Floyd McKissick, Director of CORE, not to make any anti-Johnson Administration speeches while in Cleveland, Ohio, noting that Young was very close to the Johnson Administration. (U)

Levison assured Miller that there would be no friction between the Cleveland ministers who have been working with King and the people from CORE in Cleveland. Levison was also of the opinion that the reports of a plot to assassinate Whitney Young and Roy Wilkins, Executive Secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), by Negro extremists would not increase the white back-lash since the actions of that group was beyond the understanding of rational people. 6/13/67

A CPUSA Negro Commission meeting was held at CPUSA headquarters, New York City, on 6/13/67. Present were:

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT	JAMES JACKSON
HOSEA HUDSON	JAKE GREEN
ALVA BUXENBAUM	EARL DURHAM
BILL TAYLOR	ROSCOE PROCTOR
SANDY PATRINOS (Secy.)	RASHEED STOREY (Chairman)
HENRY WINSTON	CHARLENE ALEXANDER
PAT TOOHEY	MILLIE MC ADORY
ED TEIXEIRA	JIM TORMEY
PHIL BART	DON HAMMERQUIST

Discussion of report in form of letter to President JOHNSON was led by LIGHTFOOT. Negro foment blamed on statement of government officials, caused incitement and called an attack on ghettos. Government spokemen's attack on MARTIN LUTHER KING's position on Vietnam, criticism of ADAM CLAYTON POWELL represent attack on Negro movement by government. All part of campaign to abandon civil rights legislation, blaming lawlessness of Negro.

There will be a direct effort against the draft. Up to now CP had no position on draft question but will now take strong position against it.

(It is known that a discussion on draft question also came up in meetings of Youth and Peace Commissions of CP.)

Discussion in Negro Commission feels Negroes see a big thing in CASSIUS CLAY's draft protest - as rallying point of Negro Youth. Feel there will be an international campaign to reinstate CLAY's heavyweight title. He will be a rallying point, a symbol on draft question and Vietnam for all youth.

(It was reported that Muslims are urging CLAY join army since position as convicted evader is not to their benefit.)

EARL DURHAM gave 1½ hour report on problems of overcoming Democratic and/or Republican Party machines in the ghetto. The machine is influential. A place where one can go to "kill a parking ticket," get a "kid out of jail"-- patronized by good and criminal alike, consequently hard to convince Negro to fight it.

Negro Commission agreed to concentrate on:

1. Relationship of jobs to a "long hot summer"

2. Draft question

3. Organize resistance to attacks in ghettos by organized government and police brutality

Negro Commission organization:

1. Full Negro Commission will meet twice a year in conjunction with National Committee

2. East Coast Commission members meet every two months

3. Administrative Committee of Negro Commission to function constantly for day-to-day operations

Administrative Committee will be:

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT
WILLIAM PATTERSON
ALVA BUXENBAUM
RASHEED STOREY
GIL GREEN
SANDY PATRINOS and GEORGE MEYERS or
JIM TORMEY of TU Commission

4. Minutes of all meetings Negro Commission, East Coast and Administrative Committee to be sent to all district leaders and state Negro Commissions

Security Matter - C

On July 10, 1967, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Stanley Levison, advisor to Martin Luther King, Jr., was in contact with Andrew Young, Executive Director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) on that date concerning an article which appeared on page 38 of the "New York Times" edition of Sunday, July 9, 1967. This article appeared under the headline "New Left Convention Next Month Will Seek Strategy to Defeat Johnson" and was authored by Donald Janson. The article reads in part as follows:

"CHICAGO, July 8 -- About 200 peace, civil rights and New Left student organizations are being invited to a convention here next month to devise strategy aimed at defeating President Johnson for re-election.

"The convention is being called by the National Conference for New Politics, a liberal antiwar group based in New York City. The five-day meeting will be held at the Palmer House beginning Aug. 31. The keynote speaker at a rally in the Coliseum that night will be the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

"One question before the convention will be whether to start a third party with Dr. King as its 1968 Presidential candidate. He has said he would not run. U

"Invitations to attend the convention were mailed this week to scores of national and local organizations. The call will be announced at a news conference here Monday. U

"Advocates of a party headed by Dr. King and Dr. Benjamin Spock, the pediatrician who has been a leader of the peace movement, believe it would attract enough Negro and liberal votes to deny the President the electoral votes of some states in a close election". U

Lexison advised Young that he had prepared a statement for release by Martin Luther King, Jr. commenting on this article. The text of the release as prepared by Lexison is as follows: ~~S~~U

"In the Sunday Times of July 9th, a news story under a headline, 'New Left Convention Next Month Will seek Strategy to Defeat Johnson', reports that I am to be the keynote speaker of its rally. The story also declares that one of the questions before the Convention will be whether to start a third party with myself as its Presidential Candidate. The article gives an unmistakable impression of my close association with the Convention and its deliberations. It would be extremely misleading and a distortion of my relationship to fail to correct these impressions. I am solely related to the convention merely as a guest speaker at its mass rally. My presence there is not an endorsement of any decisions made by the Convention; in none of which shall I be participating. In addition to having no relationship to the general policy or strategy of the organization, I am specifically not involved with any plans to start a third party with myself as a Presidential Candidate. I excluded any such possibility last April and that decision remains unaltered. It would not be possible for the Convention to make plans concerning me since I am in no way subject to its decisions". (U)

Young contended that this statement went too far in that it appears to denounce the Convention. Levison is of the opinion that separation, not denunciation, is the theme and reitereated that a close association of King and this Convention will cause problems for King. Young agreed to furnish this statement to Donald Janson, the author of the original article and requested Janson to have the statement published in the "New York Times". (U)

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised in April, 1964, that Stanley Levison was a secret member of the Communist Party, United States of America (CP, USA) in July, 1963. In late 1963 and early 1964, sufficiently militant in the civil rights struggle. Levison was described by certain CP leaders as being to the "left" of the CP in his position on civil rights. His differences with the CP, however, are merely tactical and he continues his ideological adherence to Communism. (S) (U)

"Dear Friends:

"One of the really memorable occasions of my life was to visit the Holy Land and to see and feel the inspiring land from which our faith burst forth.

"Now I have been asked by my good friend Dr. Sandy F. Ray to lead a tour of pilgrims to the Holy Land, and to preach at services of worship by the Sea of Galilee and on the Mount of Olives. I count this a rare privilege in my ministry, and would like to invite you to join me in this pilgrimage and share in the spiritual renewal which can come from such a venture.

"For years now I have felt that too few were availing themselves of the modern opportunities for travel and experience in other lands, so we have arranged for the tour to visit Paris, Rome and Athens in connection with the pilgrimage. Each city represents one of the great civilizations of history and even a brief visit constitutes an outstanding educational experience.

"We have made every effort to conduct this tour in the most economical manner possible, without sacrificing its content and quality of accommodations in order to make it possible for many to share in this experience.

"World travel is one of the important contributions to the promotion of peace and brotherhood. As we see how people live in other countries, and how mankind has developed through the years we get a new understanding of some of the problems which confront us in our world today. And as we walk where Jesus walked and view the hills and dry places wherein the prophets of old received God's revelation, we will find ourselves lifted to new heights of spiritual consciousness.

"Sincerely yours,

According to the brochure this pilgrimage has been divided into three separate tours:

"Tour A"
November 6, 1967 - November 20, 1967

"Tour B"
November 7, 1967 - November 21, 1967

"Tour C"
November 8, 1967 - November 22, 1967 u

The cost of each tour is $750. The daily itinerary for each of the three tours is set forth. According to each itinerary, on November 14, 1967, "... all pilgrims will assemble in mass on the Mount of Olives and witness the history-making sermon delivered by Dr. Martin Luther King - truly a sight to behold!" On November 16, 1967, "all pilgrims" will gather together at the Tsema Amphitheatre on the shore of the Sea of Galilee to witness a "awesome spiritual meeting" led by Reverend King. u

A confidential source advised on August 15, 1966, that during the annual SCLC convention held August 8 - 11, 1966, in Jackson, Mississippi, Ralph D. Abernathy, Vice President and Treasurer, SCLC, informed the SCLC Executive Board that during 1967 Reverend King contemplated engaging in a pilgrimage to the Holy Land as a fund-raising activity for the benefit of SCLC. Abernathy also related that Stanley Levison and Harry Wachtel had previously been requested by SCLC to examine the feasibility of this activity and had reported favorably to Reverend King. u

The same source advised on May 9, 1967, that Carol Hoover, Fund-Raising Officer, SCLC, was currently assisting a New York travel agency (identity not known) in arranging details of Reverend King's forthcoming pilgrimage to the Holy Land and also soliciting individuals to participate in the pilgrimage. u

WE BELIEVE THAT MAYOR ADDONIZIO SHOULD RESIGN AND IF HE DOES NOT RESIGN A CITIZENS AD HOC COMMITTEE SHOULD CALL FOR HIS IMPEACHMENT. I THINK THE PRESENT SITUATION ALSO CALLS FOR THE RESIGNATION OF GOVERNOR HUGHES. ACCORDING TO PATTERSON, HUGHES SAID "WE WILL MEET THIS WITH POLICE ACTION" WHICH MEANS HE WILL MEET IT WITH TERROR. UNKNOWN REPORTER STATED THE COMMUNIST PARTY NOTING THAT PRESIDENT JOHNSON HAD OFFERED GOVERNOR HUGHES AID, IF NEEDED, THE PARTY DEMANDED THAT SUCH A PROMISE BE WITHDRAWN. PATTERSON STATED "PRESIDENT JOHNSON INDICATED TO THE GOVERNOR THAT HE WILL DO ANYTHING THE GOVERNOR WANTS. DOES THAT MEAN HE WILL ADD HIS REPRESSIVE FORCES TO THE

REPRESSIVE FORCES ALREADY USED BY THE GOVERNOR?" THE UNKNOWN REPORTER STATED THAT AMONG THE DEMANDS MADE ON THE PRESIDENT AND THE CITY OF NEWARK WERE THE FOLLOWING:

ONE: IMMEDIATE ASSIGNMENT OF NEGROES TO POLICE POLICY MAKING BODIES, TO POSITIONS OF COMMAND.

TWO: THE PROCUREMENT OF TEN THOUSAND JOBS FOR NEGRO YOUTHS IN NEWARK TO BE GUARANTEED BY CITY, STATE AND FEDERAL GOVERNMENTS.

THREE: THAT THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT "COMMANDEER ADEQUATE HOUSING SPACE" FOR THE NEGRO IN NEWARK.

FOUR: A SYSTEM OF FOOD, CASH, RELIEF TO BE ORGANIZED FOR THE NEGROES OF NEW YORK CITY.

FIVE: THE FORMULATION OF A BUILDING PROGRAM IN NEWARK FOR PUBLIC HOUSING, RECREATIONAL AND EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES.

SIX: THE APPROPRIATION OF FEDERAL AND STATE GOVERNMENTS OF TWO POINT FIVE BILLION DOLLARS FOR THAT PURPOSE.

Communist Influence in
Racial Matters

On September 24, 1961, "The Worker", on Page 11, refers to William L. Patterson, as the"Chairman of the New York State Communist Party".

"The Worker" is an East Coast Communist publication.

Jackson said the statement issued by Patterson in effect said, "The failure of Mayor Hugh Addonizio of Newark, the administrative officials of that State and the Federal Government to respond positively to the legitimate demands of Newark's Negro citizens, has created a National emergency.

"Newark has become the most vicious expression of Governmental policy towards Negro citizens. Force and violence has everywhere become the answer of Government to a demand for jobs, housing, and adequate education.

"The situation in Newark has reached disaster proportions. The Negro Section of that City has become shambles and an armed camp occupied by enemy forces. The responsibility must be placed squarely on the shoulders of the officials of the City, the State and Federal Government, who have barred Negroes from all policy making positions of any significance. Negro citizens have been relegated to the category of expendables against whom a program of genocide has been instituted.

"The responsibility of Newark cannot be forced upon the shoulder of any Negro citizen. A genocide attack has been launched against the Negro Americans. Terror in and the horrors of Mississippi objectively do not differ from those in Newark or the North. Joblessness, backed up by force and violence, characterize the National attitude toward Negro Americans. Newark must be made the stopping point of Racist Terror".

Communist Influence in Racial Matters

"The Communist Party has released to President Johnson, the following proposals to meet the situation in Newark:

1. The immediate withdrawal of all State Troopers and State Militia and the withdrawal of your (President Johnson's) promise to aid these armed forces.

2. Immediate suspension and trial of all Police Officers guilty of crimes against Negro citizens in Newark.

3. Purge of the Police Force of all known Racists and Fascist elements.

4. Immediate assignment of Negroes to all police policy making bodies and positions of command.

5. The immediate impeachment and trial of the Mayor of Newark for dereliction of duty.

"We further demand:

1. Immediate procurement of 10,000 jobs for Negro youths in Newark to be guaranteed by City, State and Federal Governments.

2. That the Federal Government commandeer adequate housing space to meet the demands of all victimized Negro citizens, that is to save space in hotels and apartment houses.

3. That a system of food and relief be organized to meet the demands on an emergency basis of all victimized and needy Negro citizens.

Communist Influence in Racial Matters

"4. The formulation of a widespread building program in Newark of public housing, educational and recreational facilities and the appropriation of 2.5 billion dollars for that purpose".

Jackson further said that Patterson also stated that the Newark City Government should not be a white minority Government dominating a Negro majority and there should be a Negro Mayor and proportionate Negro representation in the City Government.

Jackson said Patterson called for more Negro Police and for putting the Negro Ghetto areas off limits to the white police who have handled themselves in this crisis, in such a way as to disquality themselves as the protectors of the lives and liberties of the citizens there.

The source further advised that at the aforementioned press conference held at Communist Party Headquarters in New York City, it was stated that the Mayor of Newark, New Jersey, Hugh J. Addonizio, as well as the Governor of that State, Richard J. Hughes, should be forced to resign their respective offices, and if they do not do so, they should be impeached.

The source continued that it was further stated that blame for the disturbances in Newark, New Jersey, "rests squarely on the shoulders of Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States".

Communist Influence In

Internal Security - C

On July 19, 1967 a first confidential source who has furnished reliable information in the past advised he had learned that a conference had taken place that date between Martin Luther King, Jr., President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), Joan Daves, a literary agent in New York City who is Martin Luther King's publisher's representative and Stanley Levison. (U)

A second confidential source who has furnished reliable information in the past advised in April, 1964, that Stanley Levison was a secret member of the Communist Party of the United States of America (CP, USA) in July, 1963. In late 1963 and early 1964 he criticized the Communist Party (CP) for not being sufficiently militant in the civil rights struggle. Levison was described by certain CP leaders as being to the "left" of the CP in his position. His differences with the CP however are merely tactical and he continues his ideological adherence to Communism. (S) (U)

The first source advised that during the course of the aforementioned conference King mentioned that he was left $11,000 by a man from Baltimore, Maryland who had recently died. Levison and Daves both advised King not to put the $11,000 into the SCLC treasury but to keep the money himself. (U)

Communist Influence In Racial Matters ~~SECRET~~

The first source continued that King stated he was not concerned about building a big personal bank account but he did worry about his family's well-being.

The first source then stated that Levison said that he had heard that Hermine Popper (who has edited books published under King's authorship) has been making statements to the effect that she wrote King's books and has also said publicly "Martin Luther King can't write you know".

The first source stated that King, Levison and Daves all agreed about Hermine Popper should no longer be allowed to edit King's books in the future.

Levison then indicated that he was concerned about King's failure to make any statements dealing with the racial disturbances in the Newark, New Jersey area.

King stated he had been considering the aforementioned and that he believes there will be more situations similar to Newark, New Jersey this summer and maybe they will be even worse in the month of August because it is hotter then. King advised he is very worried about the situation in Chicago, Illinois, and has been considering making a major statement about riots in Chicago and what our country is to do about them.

The first source stated that King further advised he cannot make a statement merely condemning riots but must condemn the conditions which lead to riots and the fact that not enough is done to better these conditions.

Levison suggests that King advocate a program with dramatic qualities such as suggesting that a program similar to the Works Progress Administration (WPA) of the 1930's be implemented by the Federal Government to employ jobless youths.

The first source stated that Levison continued by saying that the WPA program worked in the period when the United States was almost bankrupt and should work even better now when the country is "almost sick with money".

Communist Influence In Racial Matters ~~SECRET~~

King stated he believes Levison's idea has merit and that he will call upon the Federal Government to do something about it. The first source stated that then Levison reminded King that President Lyndon B. Johnson is familiar with the activities of the WPA and will be interested in the idea.

King suggests that he will make a public announcement on the foregoing at a press conference. Levison according to the first source suggested to King that King utilize television to make any public announcement concerning his ideas.

The first source continued that Levison and King agreed to discuss in more detail matters concerning racial disturbances in the immediate future.

Proposals on Long Hot Summer and Beyond

(Background document used at the June 1967 National Committee meeting and based on the Report of Comrade Hall and the special remarks of Comrade Lightfoot on this subject.)

1. The Communist Party, U.S.A. urgently calls for immediate mass action against a conspiracy afoot in our land to provoke and slaughter Negroes in the ghettoes this summer who are desperately struggling for their just demands, to end decades of black oppression and to achieve full equality--economic, political and social--denied them through the centuries.

This conspiracy is directed by fascist and pro-fascist circles in our country who are fanning racism to an extreme degree. It is aided and abetted by inaction on the part of government to use its power to enforce existing laws at a time when there is a growing fascization of the administrative apparatus in terms of policy and its execution and when in many areas of the country there is a complete breakdown of law whenever racists attack Negroes.

This is one phase of the attack against the democratic movement as a whole, which begins with an attack upon its most militant sector, the Negro Freedom movement.

The attack is many-sided:

A. The effort to destroy the civil rights movement by splitting the alliance between black and white, that is, Negro, labor and the white liberals.

B. To prevent the development of a needed growing consciousness to press more vigorously the fight for economic equality in industry, and to undertake aggressively the fight to organize the unorganized, North and South.

C. To retard and/or halt the developing movement for independent political action by various techniques, including -

D. Instituting a reigh of terror in the ghetto gy legal and extra-legal machinery.

There is an urgent requirement to improve qualitatively and extend the fight against racism within the labor movement and to raise the struggle in a new way among white liberals to show that this counter-offensive against the Negro people at home is related to the counter-offensive of U.S. imperialism against peace, national liberation and socialism in the sphere of foreign policy.

Equal rights for the Negro people is the Achilles heel of imperialist reaction. It is the link in the chain which must be fashioned if democracy for all is to be maintained and extended.

The Party, therefore, can make a contribution which can explain more clearly the apparent contradiction and confusion, and point the way to the development of a successful campaign to defeat these reactionary aims of imperialism.

2. Basic in this respect is the need to recognize two stages in the evolvement of this policy.

The first was the class necessity of imperialism to wear the false garb of justice and equality in order to shield its imperialist policies of penetration of the colonial world and the building of military bases all around the globe.

In this particular it was necessary for the ruling class to win white masses, especially the liberals, to support its policies of legal equality. The limited concessions by imperialism on this front temporarily merged with the just and continuing struggle of the Negro people for equality, resulting in a great growth of the Civil Rights movement.

This explains the unanimous decision of the Supreme Court on school desegregation, the granting of token concessions--the passage of three civil rights laws, the joint action of all three branches of the Federal government in promulgating legal actions and token concessions--economic, politican and social--which affect primarily sections of the middle strata while the basic conditions of the Negro masses continue to deteriorate.

The second stage reflects an advanced period and a more clearly defined counter-offensive in which government attempts to assume the role of a benevolent and neutral arbiter in a struggle which supposedly no longer is directed government, but assumes the form of a fight against prejudices which "flow from customs and mores among poor whites."

Basing its policies on token concessions, the Johnson Administration attempts to subordinate the Civil Rights struggle to its war policies. But there exists a growing and stubborn opposition to those policies together with efforts to achieve greater independent political unity and actions.

The Johnson Administration's response is swift. It undertakes to break the democratic alliance for equality by splitting the white liberal masses from it on the one hand and, on the other, to sow dissension and try to split from within the unity movement of the Negro people.

Such is the meaning of Paul Douglas' attack upon Martin Luther King.

The same is true of the statement, "Crisis and Commitment" as well as the initiative seized by the Democratic Party's national committee to organize a conference of all elected Negro Democratic officials, etc., etc.

It is false to assert that the long, hot summer conspiracy is directed solely against 3 per cent of the Negroes who are in the ghetto. What is being planned is an attack upon all class strata among the Negro people, the brunt of which will be directed against the basic mass of the Negro people.

The tasks within the ranks of the Negro people are clear.

The more difficult task, and the job that must be tackled without delay, is to win an active struggle the white democratic masses and liberals in defense of the Freedom struggle.

This special task must be boldly undertaken by our Party.

3. Let us repeat a truism which requires great alertness on the part of Communists.

The ruling class - ever seeking to conserve its undivided power and add to its profits - has continued to demonstrate its commitment to the all-sided exploitation and oppression of the 22 million Negro Americans. Because of the advance of the Negro Freedom movement it combines terror with minor concessions to sustain the system. In this regard use is being made of white liberals.

White liberals are often found to be exploiting and abusing their positions in the coalition of allied and associated forces who have related to the equality and freedom movement of the Negro people: they are often guilty of holding back of reining in the militant mass thrusts of the movement. They often impose heavy obligations upon Negro leaders to endorse or support diversionary and unrelated matters of their primary allegiance, as the price for white liberal support to specific programs in the cause of the struggle for Negro rights. They often use their financial resources for dictating to and seeking to dominate the Negro movement through this or that Negro - or institution in need of liberal white patrons.

White liberals among the forces allied to the Negro freedom movement often play a role in connection with it as classical social democrats play in respect to the labor movement.

Their weight is cast on the side of conservatism, tokenism, and eliteism (as against mass involvement, mass actions, mass methods and tactics of struggle); and they often divert from program emphasis upon the mass needs, the issues and demands of the masses.

The white liberals exhibit a curious admixture of humanitarian concern and paternalism. Actually this is a specific form in which white supremacy ideas are dressed in liberal garb. This form must be understood if labor-progressives are to have their policies based on realities and help weld democratic unity against reaction.

We single out the manifestations of racist prejudice and white chauvinist practices of the white liberal because this is the level and form of assumption of race superiority and race prejudice which is currently a major danger and obstacle to the mass consolidation of the required bonds of unity and confidence within the peace movement and the movement for independent progressive political action. This is no less the case in the trade union movement and it is an inflamed and urgent question in the youth movement.

It follows from this that the National Committee authorizes the Secretari to prepare without delay a complete plan of work, including ideological, political and organizational tasks for the Party as a whole. This must be done in order to heighten the understanding of the need for a campaign that will result in a mass breakthrough among the white masses on these questions.

Such is the essence of Internationalism which, when concretely applied, guarantees the maximum development of black and white unity.

4. The elements of this kind of program can be found in the open letter to the President of Henry Winston and Gus Hall:

"We can prevent the summer slaughter.

"People of America, Black and White!

"The forces exist to reject this way of life if all who are opposed to racism and war act together.

"To bar the way to such a way of life Americans must act to STOP THE SUMMER SLAUGHTER threatening our Negro ghettos.

"This cannot and MUST NOT be left to the heroic people alone to do. This fascist-like way of life threatens all Americans, white as well as Negro. It demands united action of all who want peace and democracy and particularly the great peace and freedom coalition which brought more than half a million people onto the streets on April 15.

"For the fight for peace and the fight for freedom are ONE, as tens of thousands of militant Negro freedom fighters and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Stokely Carmichael and Muhammad Ali are demonstrating. THEIR UNDERSTANDING AND UNITED STRUGGLE NOW MUST BE MATCHED BY MILLIONS OF WHITE FIGHTERS FOR PEACE IN THE CHURCHES, UNIONS, IN OUR COLLEGES AND HIGH SCHOOLS AND IN COMMUNITY ORGANIZATIONS.

"THE CRISIS CALLS FOR UNITED ACTION OF ALL FORCES ON THE LEFT REGARDLESS OF DIFFERENCES.

"AND IT ESPECIALLY CALLS FOR THE MOST SELF-SACRIFICING ALL-OUT EFFORTS OF EVERY COMMUNIST TO WORK TIRELESSLY TO UNITE ALL AMERICANS OF CONSCIENCE, NEGRO AND WHITE, TO ACT AT ONCE.

"PRESIDENT JOHNSON MUST BE TOLD HE WILL BE HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR TAKING ALL MEASURES TO STOP THE IMPENDING SUMMER SLAUGHTER IN THE GHETTOES.

"NOTHING LESS THAN THE ENDING OF THE WAR IN VIETNAM AND USING THE BILLIONS WASTED IN DESTRUCTION AND DEATH FOR LIFE AND CONSTRUCTION WILL MAKE POSSIBLE MEANINGFUL SOLUTIONS OF THE CRITICAL PROBLEMS OF THE NEGRO PEOPLE, PARTICULARLY THOSE LIVING IN THE GHETTOES.

"THE COMMUNIST PARTY PROPOSED IN 1964 A $15 BILLION A YEAR PROGRAM FOR RECONSTRUCTION AND REHABILITATION OF THE GHETTOES. BUT EMERGENCY STEPS CAN AND MUST BE TAKEN BY THE PRESIDENT AND CONGRESS.

"Emergency Program

"Toward this goal we propose an Emergency Program to include:

"1. An immediate $5 billion appropriation for a SUMMER JOB AND RECONSTRUCTION PROGRAM for our Negro ghettoes.

"2. Immediate Federal intervention in Cleveland to RECONSTRUCT THE HOUGH AREA and to protect the Negro people of that city from threatened police and vigilante violence.

"3. Federal prosecution of those responsible for the police and National Guard assaults on Negro colleges in Texas and Mississippi. Release of all Negro students jailed in these unprovoked attacks and full restitution for personal injury and property damage. Federal guarantees against any recurrence of attacks.

.Prompt Federal action aganist the National Riflemens Association for its incitement to racist vigilanteism and against all other bands organized to foment and perpetrate assaults on the Negro people.

.The immediate seating of Representative Adam Clayton Powell and a halt to legislation in Congress perpetuating racial gerrymandering of Congressional districts.

. Restoration of Muhammad Ali's legitimate title and cessation of the persecution and harassment of all militant Negro peace and freedom fighters."

---

5. The Party must undertake a vigorous struggle in its ranks against white chauvinism in whatever guise it may appear and that fight should be developed around the following 6 points contained in Comrade Gus Hall's report:

a. Mass distribution of the open letter in every district.

b. Organization of a national conference and of conferences in every district on the basis of the new tasks and problems in the struggle for Negro Freedom.

c. The holding of a state committee meeting in the nearest future in every district to discuss the following:

1. The initiation of struggles among white citizens against the racist campaign, and

2. Initiation of struggles around the most burning issues of the ghetto;

d. That at the proposed national party conference on trade union work, a concrete plan be worked out to break down racist barriers within the unions.

e. That we organize and initiate statements, especially on those points where the struggle for Negro rights comes into collision with the war policies of the Johnson Administration.

"Black Power"

CPUSA has no formal position on "black power," but in fundamental outlook it must be opposed to it.

The CP is reluctant to break with the conservative Negro leadership, i.e., Roy Wilkins of NAACP, the Urban League, J. Philip Randolph, etc., since the CP looks on these as the leaders of the meaningful Negro mass organizations. The Party cannot be put in a position of opposing this conservative element--thus isolating the CP from the mainstream of the Negro movement.

The CP looks on the new leaders of the Negro movement, i.e., Stokely Carmichael, the leader of SNCC, etc., in two ways:

1. They reflect the mass anger and indignation of the Negro common people, particularly the youth. They reflect an upsurge of radicalism.

2. CP looks on them as adventuristic, reckless, unthinking and probably transitory.

Again the CP cannot alienate itself from the new crowd either.

The CP under James Jackson's leadership is trying to ride two horses, trying to please both sides--as a result it does nothing. CP Negro policy is no policy.

Yet this position does not satisfy the young Negro in the CP, nor does it satisfy the old comrades who are frustrated.

However, it appears that the Negro composition of the CP leans toward the new crowd since a strong Negro nationalist sentiment exists.

The quandry of the CP leadership is that the question is not faced up to but is evaded. But the question of Black Power remains.

The clever article on the subject in "Political Affairs" by Roscoe Proctor has brought the question out into the open. It appears too that Proctor is speaking for more than just himself.

There does exist a strong pro-Black Power current in the lower echelons and rank and file of the CP.

On July 20, 1967, a first confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that he received information on that date of a meeting between Stanley Levison and Clarence Jones at New York City.

A second confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised in April, 1964, that Stanley Levison was a secret member of the Communist Party, United States of America (CP, USA) in July, 1963. In late 1963 and early 1964, he criticized the CP for not being sufficiently militant in the Civil Rights struggle. Levison was described by certain CP leaders as being "left" of the CP in his position on Civil Rights. His differences with the CP, however, are merely tactical and he continues his idealogical adherence to Communism. (U)

A third confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on February 26, 1957, that he identified a photograph of Clarence Jones as a person whom he knew during late 1953 or early 1954 to be a member and in a position of leadership in the Labor Youth League (LYL). X U

The LYL has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

Clarence Jones is presently the General Council of the Gandhi Society for Human Rights, Incorporated, 15 East 40th Street, New York, New York.

The first source stated that Clarence Jones said to Stanley Levison that he had heard that the National Rifle Association was trying to attach a rider to a pending "anti-riot bill" now before the United States Congress. This rider would prohibit for a certain period of time the sale of firearms in an area in which a riot had occurred. Jones stated he believes this rider was aimed specifically at the Negro and was another "example of right wing reaction to the current racial situation." S U

Stanley Levison then stated that Martin Luther King, Chairman of the Southern Leadership Conference believes the racial situation is very tense and that Chicago, Illinois, may be the next trouble spot. S U

The first source continued that Jones added that he believes that New York, is according to what he hears, just seething with resentment about the current racial situation. S U

Communist Influence in
Racial Matters

The first source stated that Stanley Levison then suggested to Jones that Martin Luther King should do something about the situation in Cleveland, Ohio. Levison suggested that King lead a march of 10,000 Negroes, each one of them to carry a brick or a bottle and march to the Cleveland City Hall and dump the bricks and bottles on the lawn of City Hall as a symbol of protest to the racial situation. Jones said he completely agrees with Levison's suggestion and thinks that King would lead such a march. S

The first source advised that Clarence Jones and Stanley Levison agreed upon the fact that there should be a meeting between them and Martin Luther King in Atlanta in the near future to discuss any statements that are to be made in public by King. S

Stanley Levison and Clarence Jones agreed that under no circumstances should King be permitted to say anything without them approving it. Jones advised that he feels King should not be permitted to think for himself and Levison stated that King is such a slow thinker that he is usually not prepared to make statements by himself without help. S

The first source advised that Stanley Levison and Clarence Jones agreed to meet again in the near future to continue the discussion of the aforementioned matter. S

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised during the week end of July 22, 1967, that on Friday, July 21, 1967, a workshop "International Aspects of Black Power" was held in connection with the National Conference on Black Power, being held July 20 - 23, 1967, in Newark, New Jersey.

James Jackson got up to speak before the workshop and, according to the above source, it appeared Jackson was attempting to control and direct the workshop.

The other delegates to the Conference felt he was consuming too much of the workshop time and the source said they told Jackson they did not care who he was or who he represented; that he should shut up and sit down. The source said Jackson did just as he was told.

A second confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on June 27, 1966, that James Jackson was elected a member of the National Committee, Communist Party, USA, at its 18th National Convention held in New York City, June 22 - 26, 1966.

On July 26, 1967, a source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Gus Hall, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, received an inquiry at Communist Party Headquarters from the Associated Press inquiring on his reaction to the comments that the racial riots are Communist inspired.

Gus Hall stated "I think that is a coverup for the real causes because I think everybody in America knows now that the real cause is hunger and the fact that there is affluence in America, but these people don't get it. It's a rebellion of the poor. Race has nothing to do with it, it's a rebellion of the poor. This is what America must recognize and take a new beginning. The new beginning must include the ending of the war in Viet Nam and using this money for a new beginning in America. No amount of the red scare and anti-Communist myth is going to cover up this fundamental and basic fact."

Page H9334. Congressman Watson, (R) South Carolina, advised that he was urging the House Committee on Un-American Activities to conduct an immediate and extensive investigation of subversive activities in the riots taking place in various cities. He stated One could question whether there are ample laws regarding rebellion, sedition, insurrection, and advocating the overthrow of the Government, because the Justice Department has not made one positive step to prosecute an offender. - - - - Ramsey Clark obviously does not have the stomach to enforce the law. In the interest of justice and the protection of the American people, he should resign and take up a job teaching sociological jurisprudence at some university. The American people have a right to expect someone with a genuine respect for the law as their Attorney General, rather than someone who spends his time analyzing the so-called sociological causes of crime."

Title: COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN RACIAL MATTERS

Character: INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Synopsis: June, 1967 issue of "Communist View Point," published by CP of Wis., devoted to spring elections in Milwaukee regarding school board and judiciary, stated the election results showed upsetting degree of racial prejudice. Progressive Workers of America (PWA) held meeting in May, 1967, at which resolution was passed to form a committee to work with civil rights groups to break the barrier of token employment of Negroes at the Allen Bradley Co. Contents of leaflet prepared by PWA set forth.

- P* -

DETAILS:

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

A. Communist Party, USA (CP, USA)

The June, 1967, issue of "Communist View Point," a bulletin of Marxist commentary, published by the Communist Party of Wisconsin (CPW), is devoted mainly to the spring elections which were held in Milwaukee regarding the school board and judiciary. The article states that the April 4, 1967 election results showed an upsetting degree of racial prejudice and "just plain backwardness" on the part of the electorate who voted and an upsetting degree of apathy, disinterest and hopelessness on the part of the electorate that did not vote.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

The article further stated, "We feel that for a person to be judged by his peers means not only in juries but in judges. We need some liberal-minded judges. We need some black judges. Governor KNOWLES has open appointments to fill to the Milwaukee court. It is time for a Negro judge."

B. Progressive Workers of America (PWA), formerly known as the Milwaukee Branch of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP)

On July 14, 1967, MI T-1 advised that on March 26, 1967 the Milwaukee Branch of the SWP unanimously voted to withdraw from the national organization of the SWP. Informant stated the Milwaukee Branch adopted the name Progressive Workers of America and the aims and purposes of this organization remain identical with those of the SWP except that the PWA believes the present Chinese regime of MAO TSE TUNG represents a direct revolutionary workers government.

A characterization of the Milwaukee Branch of the SWP is attached hereto.

A membership meeting of the PWA was held at 150 East Juneau Avenue, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, on May 14, 1967. At this meeting, a resolution was passed to form a committee to work with other civil rights groups in Milwaukee to break the barrier of token employment of Negroes at the Allen Bradley Company in Milwaukee. A leaflet in this regard was prepared, which is entitled, "Hit Racism Where It Hurts," and reads as follows:

"Q. What is the Citadel of race prejudice and South-Side white chauvinism in Milwaukee?

"A. Allen Bradley

"Q. Where has token integration been the biggest insult?

"A. Allen Bradley

"Q. What industry has shown the greatest contempt for the Human (Civil) Rights Movement?

"A. Allen Bradley

"Q. What industry is a leading advocate of American aggression in Viet Nam?

"A. Yes, Allen Bradley.

"When will Afro-American leaders stop crawling for Administration appointments, university posts, and special status privileges????

"The people demand jobs and human equality, not white middle class cocktail lounge rights!

"BREAK THE WHITE RACIST WAR PATRIOT PAPER TIGER AT ALLEN BRADLEY

"BUILD A REAL BLACK POWER MOVEMENT IN WISCONSIN NOW

"issued by: The Progressive Workers of America
(formerly: Socialist Workers Party)
J. Boulton Chm.
150 E. Juneau Ave., Milw 53202

"READ WORKERS WORLD"

(MI T-1, 5/18/67)

On July 14, 1967, MI T-1 advised that the PWA has taken no further action regarding the above resolution.

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

No information developed.

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

As of July, 1967, the following members of the PWA were members of the civil rights organizations indicated below.

Congress of Racial Equality (CORE):

MYRTLE KASTNER

Negro-American Labor Council (NALCO):

MYRTLE KASTNER
WAYNE LEVERENZ
JAMES BOULTON

Milwaukee United School Integration Committee (MUSIC):

ALBERT STERGAR
BETSY STERGAR
MYRTLE KASTNER

National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP):

Most members of the PWA are members of this organization.

Even though the PWA members hold membership in the above organizations, they seldom attend meetings of these organizations.

MILWAUKEE BRANCH OF THE SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY

During May, 1966, a source advised that the Milwaukee branch of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) was founded in 1940 and is affiliated with and follows the aims and purposes of the national SWP.

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

No information has been developed.

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

A memorial service for JOSEPH R. DI SANTI, who died on March 28, 1967, was scheduled to be held at Trinity A.M.E. Church, Salt Lake City, Utah, which is a Negro church. It was moved to the Nettie Gregory Community Center, a Negro community center in Salt Lake City, after it was determined that SAM KUSHNER would be one of the speakers.

(SU T-1, 4/17/67)

JOSEPH R. DI SANTI prior to his death on March 28, 1967, was a leading member of the Communist Party (CP) of Utah.

(SU T-1, 4/6/67)

SAM KUSHNER is Los Angeles Editor of the "People's World" and a member of the National Committee of the CP, USA.

(SU T-2, 2/20/67)

The "People's World" is a West Coast communist newspaper.

A memorial service for JOSEPH R. DI SANTI was held on April 6, 1967, at the Nettie Gregory Community Center, Salt Lake City, Utah. The speakers included SAM KUSHNER and a representative from the Salt Lake City Branch of the National Association For The Advancement Of Colored People (NAACP).

(SU T-3, 4/17/67)

The Salt Lake County Club of the CP of Utah held a meeting in Salt Lake City on April 28, 1967. The NAACP was discussed, as well as other civil rights movements. It was decided that many of the groups were doing a fine job without active CP help, but that Party members should always be available to help civil rights groups when needed.

(SU T-4, 5/2/67)

The Salt Lake City Branch of the NAACP held its annual banquet in Salt Lake City on May 29, 1967. Among those present were WAYNE D. HOLLEY, MARCUS S. PARR, and ROBERT ARCHULETA. HOLLEY stated he intended to join the Credit Union of the NAACP.

(SU T-3, 6/2/67)

WAYNE D. HOLLEY is the Chairman of the CP of Utah; ROBERT ARCHULETA is the Secretary-Treasurer of the CP of Utah, and MARCUS PARR is a member of the Executive Committee of the CP of Utah.

(SU T-1, 6/15/67)

The Salt Lake City Branch of the NAACP held its monthly meeting on June 5, 1967, in Salt Lake City. ROBERT ARCHULETA was one of those present.

(SU T-3, 6/7/67)

On June 20, 1967, a meeting was held by the Salt Lake City Branch of the NAACP Credit Union to discuss setting up a scholarship-education fund. ROBERT ARCHULETA came as a representative of Mexican-Americans.

(SU T-3, 6/26/67)

HENRY LEE ADAMS, [redacted], continues as the President of the Salt Lake City Branch of the NAACP. He is an Assistant Attorney General for the State of Utah. The issues of communism and communist infiltration have not come up during the past three months. No activities have been observed which would indicate an attempt on the part of communists to influence the NAACP. ADAMS has no reason to suspect any present members of the Branch of being members of the CP or associated with members of the CP.

The prime current problems of the Branch continue to be open housing and the position of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) which refuses to permit Negroes to receive the priesthood. ADAMS considers that some progress has been made in the field of open housing in Utah on the basis of informal dealings with real estate people. No steps have been taken with respect to the Mormon Church, although there has been some discussion within the NAACP with respect to seeking some type of a solution to this problem.

ADAMS does not consider that there are trouble spots in Utah at the present time which would indicate that racial violence in Utah is a problem. He would be very much surprised to see such violence break out in Utah.

(HENRY LEE ADAMS, [redacted] 7/7/67)

There are currently between 350 and 400 paid-up members of the Salt Lake City Branch of the NAACP. Open housing for Negroes and other minorities continues to be the principal civil rights interest of the Branch. It is believed that some progress has been made toward the acceptance of Negroes in previously all-white areas in the State of Utah during the past few months. The refusal of the Mormon Church to permit Negroes to hold its priesthood continues to be a problem in view of the dominance of the Mormon Church in Utah. No solution to this problem appears to be possible at the present time. The Branch has held no demonstrations during the past three months, and none are planned. The Branch still considers that demonstrations have received a bad name because of the demonstrations pertaining to Vietnam.

HENRY LEE ADAMS, an Assistant Attorney General of the State of Utah, continues to be the President of NAACP, Salt Lake City. He is moderate in his approach to civil rights and desires to make progress without creating problem situations. The subject of communism and its possible attempts to influence the NAACP has not come up during the past three months. No suspected members of the CP in Utah are considered to be in a position to influence the NAACP to engage in activities in which it would not otherwise engage. Among the current members of the NAACP in Salt Lake City are the following:

ROBERT ARCHULETA, [redacted]; membership expires September 30, 1967.

ETHEL C. HALE, [redacted]; membership expires December 31, 1967.

Re: Communist Influence In Racial Matters

A confidential source who has furnished reliable information in the past recently advised as follows:

The Communist Party, United States of America, (CP, USA), has no formal position on the concept of "Black Power" but in fundamental outlook must be opposed to it.

The CP, USA is reluctant to break with the conservative Negro leadership, i.e., Roy Wilkins of the National Association For The Advancement Of Colored People, Whitney Young of the Urban League, etc., since the CP, USA looks on these as the leaders of the meaningful Negro mass organizations. The CP, USA cannot be put in a position of opposing this conservative element--thus isolating the CP, USA from the mainstrean of the Negro movement.

The CP, USA looks on the new leaders of the Negro movement, i.e., Stokely Carmichael, a leader of Student Non-Violent Co-Ordinating Committee, etc., in two ways:

1. They reflect the mass anger and indignation of the Negro common people, particularly the youth. They reflect an upsurge of radicalism.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It is the property of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

2. They are adventuristic, reckless, unthinking and probably transitory.

Again the CP, USA cannot alienate itself from this new crowd either.

The CP, USA under James Jackson's leadership on the Negro Question is trying to ride two horses, trying to please both sides--as a result it does nothing. CP, USA Negro policy is no policy.

Yet this position does not satisfy the young Negro in the CP, nor does it satisfy the old comrades who are frustrated.

However, it appears that the Negro composition of the CP, USA leans toward the new crowd since a strong Negro nationalist sentiment exists. There does exist a strong "pro-Black Power" current in the lower echelons and rank and file of the CP, USA.

The question of "Black Power" remains but is evaded by the CP, USA leadership.

James Jackson is a member of the National Committee of the CP, USA.

a. General

The CP of Illinois' influence in the Chicago Freedom Movement can be summed up as follows:

The CP of Illinois claims that they have a program and policy relative to the Chicago Freedom Movement, however, in reality the CP of Illinois has exerted little or no policy influence in the Chicago Freedom Movement. The civil rights organizations active in the Chicago area in which the CP of Illinois attempts to exert some influence are as follows:

Chicago Urgan League (CUL)
Congress of Racial Equality (CORE)
Coordinating Council of Community Organizations (CCCO)
National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP)

Negro American Labor Council (NALC)
Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC)
Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC)
West Side Organization (WSO)

Relative to the CUL, the CP of Illinois at the present time exercises no influence within the CUL.

Relative to CORE, EUGENE TOURNOUR, S.I., a member of the CP of Illinois, is also a member of CORE. TOURNOUR, in the past several months, has been spending a substantial amount of his time in St. Louis, Missouri, and therefore TOURNOUR exerts very little influence with CORE in Chicago. (C) (U)

Concerning the CCCO, EUGENE TOURNOUR is a member of the CCCO and is considered to be a close associate of ALBERT RABY, the convenor of the CCCO. TOURNOUR is assigned by the CCCO to the job of organizing hospital workers in the Chicago area. HERBERT WRIGHT, also a CP member, is an alternate delegate from the NALC to the CCCO. At the present time TOURNOUR and WRIGHT exert very little, if any, influence in the CCCO. (C) (U)

The CP of Illinois still has LESTER DAVIS, CP of Illinois member, assigned to the Chicago branch of the NAACP but at the current time DAVIS is doing little or nothing to implement CP policy relative to NAACP. (C) (U)

Concerning the NALC, the CP of Illinois currently has four individuals, all CP members, who form a collective from the CP of Illinois within the NALC. The main objective of this collective is to involve the NALC in a program of organizing the unorganized Negro workers in the Chicago area with particular emphasis on organizing Negro hospital workers. The NALC's program at the present time can be considered to be quite ineffective because the Chicago chapter of the NALC is currently having financial problems and has been quite inactive recently. (C) (U)

Relative to the SCLC, the WSO and SNCC, at the current time there are no CP of Illinois members active in these organizations and the CP of Illinois exercises no influence in these organizations.

(CG T-1, 7/25/67) J(C)(U)

During May, 1967, EARL DURHAM, Chairman, CP of Illinois Negro Commission and member of the National Negro Commission, CP, USA, stated that the CP of Illinois has experienced many difficulties in attempting to form a broad collective within the civil rights movement in Chicago but that they are continuing their efforts in this regard. (C) (U)

(CG T-2, 5/11/67) (C)(U)

The CP of Illinois objective of infiltrating mass organizations such as CORE and the NAACP with the view of moving these organizations to positions more compatible with CP goals remains in force. The success of the CP of Illinois in the past three months, however, in achieving any success in this regard is not perceivable.

b. CP of Illinois Labor Conference (C) (U)

A CP of Illinois Labor Conference was held on March 19, 1967, at Chicago and the featured speaker at this meeting was GEORGE MEYERS, who is in charge of industrial work for the CP, USA. (C) (U)

MEYERS spoke and recommended that the CP organize trade union peace committees whenever possible. He also recommended that all CP members support civil rights organizations because by doing this they will make the civil rights organization stronger. (C) (U)

JIM WEST, Midwest Regional Trade Union Coordinator, CP, USA, also spoke and stated that the CP of Illinois should work to strengthen the NALC in Chicago because the NALC has a good program in respect to helping Negro workers. He added that the NALC has been successful in other areas of the country and there is no reason why it cannot also be a success in Chicago. (C) (U)

c. Meeting of CP of Illinois Negro Commission (C) (U)

A meeting of the CP of Illinois Negro Commission was held on April 10, 1967, at Chicago. Among those in attendance were: (C)

EARL DURHAM
ISHMAEL FLORY
RALPH TURNER (C) (U)

It was stated that the purpose of this meeting was to hear a discussion on the question of setting up a new CP of Illinois Negro Commission because the last CP of Illinois Negro Commission did not function. EARL DURHAM stated that they should exchange ideas concerning what steps should be taken by the CP of Illinois concerning Negro affairs. He stated that the Negro Commission should be an ideological body which makes estimates of the various movements and their relationship to the struggle of the Negro people. The Negro Commission should not only handle tactical problems within the civil rights movement, nor should it separate itself from the rest of the CP but should coordinate civil rights activities so that the CP can move ahead in this area. He added that the main problem within the CP of Illinois at the present time in respect to the civil rights movement is that there is not a collective which concerns itself with the problems of the freedom struggle. This situation has seriously weakened the CP and its position in the civil rights movement. (C) (U)

ISHMAEL FLORY spoke and stated that the CP of Illinois is extremely weak in the Negro field in Chicago, there has been a lack of recruiting of new CP members and the CP of Illinois should increase their efforts to influence more Negroes within the civil rights movement. (C) (U)

RALPH TURNER spoke and stated that the Negro Commission should work with the various Negro organizations in Chicago. He stated that the NALC can be strengthened in the Chicago area if more people will take an active interest (C) (U) in the NALC. He added that the Negro Commission should arrange to have people work within the various civil rights organizations such as the NAACP, CORE, and the SNCC. He added that by having CP members active in these organizations these organizations can be directed so that CP programs can be carried out. (U)

d. CP of Illinois
May Day Rally

The CP of Illinois held a May Day rally on April 30, 1967, at Chicago.

HENRY WINSTON, National Chairman, CP, USA, was the main speaker. WINSTON spoke concerning the peace groups and civil rights groups in the United States at the present time. He said MARTIN LUTHER KING had been right when he said that the civil rights groups and the peace groups must join together to end the war in Vietnam. The American foreign policy since the time of President TRUMAN has been the cause of all the wars and fighting in the world. The American foreign policy has also been the cause of the dictatorship in Africa. He stated the United States was stopped in Cuba by CASTRO, the communists, and the Soviet Union and unless President JOHNSON is stopped now from carrying out his foreign policies we will not be able to have peace in Vietnam. He reiterated that the peace groups must join forces with the civil rights groups and stated that the NAACP and RALPH BUNCHE had disagreed with MARTIN LUTHER KING's becomming involved with the issue of the war in Viethan. He added that the NAACP was not for the Negro any more because all of the good leaders have left the NAACP. He added that MARTIN LUTHER KING is right when he calls for an end to the war in Vietnam and WINSTON stated that everyone must fight for peace, civil rights, and the rights of the Communist Party.

e. Meeting of the CP of Illinois Sub-Committee on the NALC (X) (U)

A meeting of the CP of Illinois Sub-Committee on the NALC was held on April 24, 1967, at Chicago. Among those in attendance were: (C)

RALPH TURNER
ISHMAEL FLORY
FRANK CROWLEY

(X) (U)

EARL DURHAM was the chairman of the meeting and he stated that the purpose of the meeting was to discuss the problems of the NALC. He stated he felt that it is possible to build the Chicago chapter of the NALC to the point where it can be an effective organization. He added that the persons that the CP of Illinois have assigned to the Chicago chapter of the NALC should remain there to give the CP direction to the NALC. He added that RALPH TURNER and two other CP members are active in the NALC at this time. (X) (U)

RALPH TURNER discussed some of the recent activities of the NALC in Chicago. He added that the NALC has accomplished many things in other areas of the country and there is no reason why they cannot also do this in Chicago. The NALC should work to have Negroes up-graded at their places of employment and should also work closely with unions in order to accomplish this. The NALC should also increase their (X) (U) efforts to fight discrimination within the labor unions and they should also decide whether they should endorse any candidate in future elections. (U)

ISHMAEL FLORY spoke and stated that "new blood" should be generated into the NALC because for a long time the NALC has not been doing its proper job among Negro trade unionists. He stated that part of the problem is that the leadership of the NALC has no base among Negro trade unionists and some drastic changes should be made. EARL DURHAM stated there never has been a fundamental estimate of the NALC and its role among Negro trade unionists. Also there has been several disagreements expressed as to whether the NALC can play a positive role, however, the NALC is committed to work in the organization of the unorganized and, therefore, the CP should do everything possible to help the NALC. (U)

FRANK CROWLEY stated that at the present time the Teamsters Union is the only organization attempting to organize the hospital workers in Chicago. The NALC should reinstitute its own independent organization and should not be stopped by either the Industrial Union Department of the AFL-CIO or the Teamsters Union. He added that the NALC should begin contacting hospital workers and at the same time attempt to sign them up in the NALC. (U)

(CG T-4, 5/3/67)] u

The Chicago chapter program of the NALC is essentially to organize the unorganized. The Chicago chapter has centered its tactics on organizing the hospital workers in the Chicago area. When the program first got started contacts were made with some hospital workers but within the past six months no known contacts have been made by any member of the Chicago chapter of the NALC.

f. Meeting of the State Board, CP of, Illinois (U)

A meeting of the State Board, CP of Illinois, was held on May 1, 1967. (U)

EARL DURHAM gave a report concerning the current status of the Chicago Freedom Movement. He stated the major issues at this time were housing, education, and the struggle for peace. Although some activity has been taking place in these areas, there has been insufficient attention given to building people's organizations around these issues. The peace question and the civil rights question are linked together and MARTIN LUTHER KING was correct in his statements calling for peace in Vietnam. He added that the main weakness in the Chicago Freedom Movement is that too few communists are directly involved and until more communists take an active part in the Chicago Freedom Movement, it will not make much progress. JIM WEST also spoke on the trade union movement and stated that the NALC should be the pivotal organization within the trade union movement. (U)

ISHMAEL FLORY stated that one method whereby they can influence the civil rights movement is by issuing more pamphlets and leaflets setting forth the position of the CP. (U)

HENRY WINSTON spoke and stated that the CP should take a more bold approach in bringing the CP to the attention of people who are fighting for more jobs for Negroes. They should also demand that the government supply more money for training workers and for creating more jobs. (U)

(CG T-2, 5/2/67) (U)

g. Meetings of the South Central Freedom of the Press Committee, CP of Illinois (U)

A meeting of the South Central Freedom of the Press Committee (SCFPC), CP of Illinois, was held on May 3, 1967, at Chicago. (U)

ISHMAEL FLORY was in attendance at this meeting and stated that the African American Heritage Association (AAHA) is a vital organization in the Negro community and has been responsible for recruiting several members into the CP. The AAHA is designed to teach Negro history within the context of the Marxist-Leninist theory. FLORY appealed to those present for financial contributions to aid the AAHA in reprinting the full text of MARTIN LUTHER KING's position on peace and civil rights. (U)

He added that the CP of Illinois does not want the public to know who is backing the AAHA. (U)

i. Statements Made by CP Members and Leaders (U)

A meeting of the members of the CP of Illinois was held on April 19, 1967, at Chicago. (U)

RALPH TURNER stated he had called this meeting because he wanted the CP of Illinois to react to the growing attack against MARTIN LUTHER KING. He was especially interested in what role the NALC could play in fighting this attack on KING. (U)

JACK KLING stated that the CP should very definitely organize some type of effort to combat these attacks, however, first of all they should desire the best way to start a campaign in support of KING. He added that it is his understanding that certain of the Negro leaders are split regarding whether KING should be supported and first of all they should decide how other members of the NALC feel in this respect. (U)

(CG T-2, 4/20/67)

During June, 1967, CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, National Committee Member, CP, USA, discussed the work of the CP of Illinois in regard to influencing Negroes and he stated the CP of Illinois has been weak in this area and has had very little success.

C. "Stop Urban Renewal" Demonstration at City Hall, Chicago, Illinois, June 2, 1967

On June 2, 1967, at 9:30 AM, approximately 100 persons, 25 per cent of whom were Negroes, participated in a

CG 100-41324

"Stop Urban Renewal" demonstration at the City Hall and County Building Civic Center Plaza, Chicago, Illinois. About 40 of the demonstrators gained entrance into the City Hall Council Chambers and when an unidentified female Negro began to shout in an attempt to gain recognition from Mayor DALEY, the entire group started chanting "Stop urban renewal." Prior to this disruption, three persons were arrested in the hall outside of the chambers as they proceeded to create a demonstration. The group then conducted a picket line demonstration on the LaSalle Street side of City Hall in which they displayed anti-urban renewal placards. After this a brief rally was held on the Clark Street side of the County Building and the affair was terminated at 12:20 PM without further arrests.

CONFIDENTIAL

Reverend RICHARD LAWRENCE of the Englewood Action Committee (EAC), who acted as a spokesman for the demonstrators, announced that further demonstrations would be conducted at future Urban Renewal Council hearings. LAWRENCE stated that they would use the same plan to disrupt future hearings but would have more people at the demonstrations.

The following persons participated in the above demonstration: OBED LOPEZ, ALICE GITLIN, MICHAEL JAMES and SOLOMON GOLDIN.

OBED LOPEZ is the chairman of the Latin American Defense Organization (LADO) located at 1306 North Western Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. LADO was formed in the summer of 1966 to help Chicago residents of Latin American descent. LADO has been active in voter registration and employment counseling and it is considered the most active and militant group within the Puerto Rican community in Chicago.

OBED LOPEZ is a male Mexican, born [redacted], who entered the United States in February, 1957, and is still in an alien status. LOPEZ was arrested by the Chicago Police Department in August, 1966, when police responded to a call "making fire bombs." LOPEZ was found on the scene, together with a gallon glass container of gasoline and although charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest, the charges against him were subsequently dismissed. LOPEZ is a former chairman of the now defunct Chicago Branch of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC).

Alice Gitlin

Mrs. GITLIN stated that she was one of the women that went to Indonesia to meet with women from North Vietnam and South Vietnam. She stated that North and South Vietnam did not want war and that the United States should remove their troops because they are not winning the war. She made a statement that North Vietnam is free and that South Vietnam is under a dictatorship.

Mrs. GITLIN told a group that the United States is supposedly using non-poisonous gas, but children and old people are dying from the gas they use. She advised that Russia does not have any troops in North Vietnam and that Russia does not want war. It is just the United States that wants this war. She further advised the group that the United States soldiers are torturing the prisoners to get information from them.

AFRICAN-AMERICAN HERITAGE ASSOCIATION

A source advised on May 8, 1967, that the African-American Heritage Association (AAHA) was known as the Afro-American Heritage Association until February, 1961. It was founded by ISHMAEL FLORY around 1958 and incorporated in the State of Illinois as a non-profit organization. It was founded ostensibly for the purpose of teaching African history and culture to American Negroes. AAHA is strongly influenced by the Communist Party (CP) of Illinois. It is represented by both communist and non-communist members and some people with strong Negro nationalistic tendencies. This organization reflects CP policy on some issues and opposes CP policy on others; for example, the CP rejects the concept of Afro-American as a reference term to the American Negro and rejects aspects of nationalism, both of which are reflected in the AAHA program. FLORY is a member of the CP of Illinois and theoretically under the discipline of the CP. He is the guiding force in AAHA and controls policy and decisions in AAHA. CP representatives occasionally are featured at AAHA affairs.

A second source advised on January 9, 1967, that during the first week of January, 1967, the AAHA moved their headquarters from 306 East 43rd Street, Chicago, to 416 West 63rd Street, Chicago.

A third source advised on April 12, 1967, that ISHMAEL FLORY, a current CP member, continues to be the undisputed leader of AAHA and as such makes policies and decisions for AAHA. The other officers simply carry out FLORY's decisions. The Executive Committee of the South Central Freedom of the Press Committee, CP of Illinois, also participates in formulating the policies of AAHA.

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop a conscientious objector status, denouncing United States intervention in the war in Vietnam and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. GUS HALL, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us." At the June, 1965, SDS National Convention, an anticommunist proviso was removed from the SDS constitution. In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes," the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of April 18, 1967, was located in Room 206, 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

Title: COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN RACIAL MATTERS

Synopsis: 51
THIS REPORT COVERS THE PERIOD 4/1/67 THROUGH 6/30/67. JAMES JACKSON, member of the National Committee, CPUSA, pictured the Vietnam war as further "oppression" of the American Negro. ARNOLD JOHNSON, Public Relations Director, CPUSA, stated the two issues being mishandled by the current Administration are the Vietnam war and civil rights. He stated that if the Negroes were in the majority in any particular state they should be elected to public office. SONDRA PATRINOS, District Organization Secretary, CPEPD, stated the Party should recruit members from the Negro peoples movement. Radio Station WDAS, Philadelphia, agreed to carry tapes of KING's speeches concerning civil rights. KING stated the Government must spend billions of dollars and that civil rights legislation is not vigorously enforced. BAYARD RUSTIN stated the civil rights movement has entered a new phase dealing with housing, education and unemployment. The Federal Government must spend billions of dollars to clear up the slums, schools and unemployment.

A. PLANS, STRATEGY, PARTY LINE AND THE LIKE MADE AT NATIONAL MEETINGS, INCLUDING EXPRESSIONS BY NATIONAL AND OTHER FUNCTIONARIES

On pages 1 and 15 of the "Sunbury Daily Item," local newspaper in Sunbury, Pa., appeared an article entitled "Daily Worker Editor a Dud at Lewisburg." According to this article, JAMES JACKSON, publisher of the "Daily Worker," spoke in the Olin Science Auditorium at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., on Sunday evening, April 9, 1967.

On December 8 and 9, 1966, PH T-1 advised that JAMES JACKSON, publisher of "The Worker," an east coast communist newspaper, was elected to the National Committee of the CPUSA and was a member of the National Executive Board, CPUSA.

The "Daily Worker" was an east coast communist newspaper which suspended publication on January 13, 1958.

According to this article, JACKSON's talk on Vietnam and the American Negro was not too well received, even among left-leaning elements of the 100 or so people who heard him. He pictured the war in Vietnam as further "oppression" of the American Negro and cited from figures to support his claim.

This article further reflects that throughout his talk people continued to leave the auditorium. The students were obviously aware that JACKSON's informed sources of information and the information itself were largely fabricated. According to some students, it was almost embarrassing to witness his crude and rather ridiculously distorted presentation.

On May 9, 1967, RALPH MAPLES, news reporter, Radio Station WAEB, Allentown, Pa., advised that ARNOLD JOHNSON, Public Relations Director, CPUSA, spoke at Lehigh University on that date. His topic concerned "The Viewpoints of the American Communist on the Problems of Today."

JOHNSON's appearance was sponsored by the Arcadia Lecturers Committee, the Sophomore Class at Lehigh University and the Lehigh Valley Student Government Association. JOHNSON, in his opening remarks, mentioned he had been a long-time member of the Communist Party (CP) in the United States. He began by trying to dispel the popular image of the CP advocating the violent overthrow of the U.S. Govt. by stating CP does not take orders from foreign powers. He stated the two issues which were being mishandled by the present Administration were the Vietnam war and civil rights. He also stated that if the Negroes were in the majority in any particular state, they should be elected to public office in that state.

B. PLANS, STRATEGY, PARTY LINE AND THE LIKE MADE AT DISTRICT AND LOWER LEVEL MEETINGS, INCLUDING EXPRESSIONS BY LOCAL LEADERS AND RANK-AND-FILE MEMBERS

On June 8, 1967, PH T-2 advised that at a meeting of the District Board, CP of Eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware (CPEPD), held on May 23, 1967, SONDRA "SANDY" PATRINOS, District Organization Secretary, gave an organization report in which she discussed the matter of recruiting. She indicated the Party should attempt to recruit members from the Negro peoples movement.

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

A. RADIO STATION WDAS, PHILADELPHIA, CARRIED TAPES OF KING'S SPEECHES ON CIVIL RIGHTS

On April 5, 1967, PH T-3 advised that an individual named WILLIAM S. STEIN, who claimed he was a public relations man for MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR., contacted Radio Station WDAS, Philadelphia, Pa., a Negro-oriented radio station, and attempted to arrange a radio program for the purpose of playing tapes of KING's speeches. Each week the station would be furnished 25 minutes of tape recorded program material containing KING's speeches, press conferences, etc., of the preceding week. Source subsequently advised that actually, STEIN was not offering to purchase radio time on behalf of KING but was asking the radio station to donate the time. Included in the package was a promotion statement by KING naming the station and calling attention to the fact that the time was being donated.

On April 12, 1967, this same source stated Radio Station WDAS was interested in KING as a civil rights leader and would commence carrying his program on April 16, 1967. Source further stated, however, that the management of the station indicated they were opposed to KING's anti-Vietnam policy and in the event any of these tapes contained any of his anti-Vietnam statements, it would be recommended they not be aired.

On June 2, 1967, PH T-3 advised that Radio Station WDAS, Philadelphia, continued to carry the weekly taped program of MARTIN LUTHER KING. Source advised, however, that it did not appear this program would continue much longer on that station.

B. APPEARANCE OF MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR., UNIONVILLE, PA., MAY 2, 1967

On May 2, 1967, Trooper MERRIT BINNS, Troop J, Pennsylvania State Police, Lancaster, Pa., advised MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR., arrived at the Philadelphia International Airport, Philadelphia, at 8:05 p.m. and was driven to the Unionville, Pa., High School, where he spoke before 807 people, which affair was sponsored by the Hadley Memorial Fund, which is administered by the Philadelphia Ethical Society and the Kennett Society of Friends. KING's speech was based on racial equality and the need for additional civil rights legislation and strict enforcement of this legislation. KING did not discuss the situation in Vietnam, nor did he discuss any activities scheduled to take place during the Summer of 1967.

The May 3, 1967, issue of the "Philadelphia Inquirer," a local Philadelphia newspaper, carried an article entitled

"King Asks Poverty Billions." According to this article, KING stated on May 2, 1967, that the Government must spend billions of dollars on the war on poverty, time will not solve the problem of prejudice, and that legislation alone is not the total answer, although it can regulate behavior and restrain harshness if vigorously enforced. He stated that in too many instances this legislation is not vigorously enforced and the Negro cannot do the job all by himself.

C. APPEARANCE OF BAYARD RUSTIN, PHILADELPHIA, PA., MAY 12, 1967

The May 13, 1967, issue of the "Evening Bulletin," a local newspaper in Philadelphia, carried an article entitled "Rustin Says Rights Drive Has Entered New Phase."

This article reflects BAYARD RUSTIN, Executive Director of the A. Philip Randolph Institute in New York City, spoke at a conference on May 12, 1967, sponsored by the United Presbyterian Board of Christian Education staff held at the Church of the Advocate, 18th and Diamond Streets, Philadelphia. He stated that in the beginning the civil rights movement was emotional. It affected Negroes only, who were fighting for accommodations on buses, trains and in public eating places. Today the civil rights movement is not dead, but it has entered a new phase. This new phase deals with housing, education and unemployment. In this new phase of the civil rights movement there is a need for alliance with others and the reorganization of the political structure is essential.

RUSTIN further stated that no city in the Nation has enough money to deal with the slums, schools and unemployment. The Federal Government must spend billions of dollars in these areas or the social fabric in America will be torn to bits. Industry cannot put all the unemployed back to work. He advocated a guaranteed annual income for older citizens and those who are physically handicapped.

In the "Saturday Evening Post" issue of July 11-18, 1964, page 76, BAYARD RUSTIN is the subject of a feature article captioned "The Lone Wolf of Civil Rights." In it, RUSTIN is said to have come to New York in 1938 as an organizer for the Young Communist League (YCL), and as such he had the job of recruiting students for the "Party." Furthermore, the article reports that during his first years in New York, RUSTIN gave most of his earnings to the "Party." He reportedly left the "Party" in 1941, the article states.

The YCL has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The "Daily Worker," February 11, 1957, page 1, column 2, reported that BAYARD RUSTIN, Executive Secretary, War Resisters League, was an observer at the 16th National Convention of the Communist Party, United States of America (CPUSA), held in New York City on February 9-12, 1957.

The "Daily Worker" was an east coast communist publication until it ceased publication on January 13, 1958.

On September 25, 1963, PH T-4 advised that during a meeting of the National Board, CPUSA, on September 25, 1963, BENJAMIN J. DAVIS, National Secretary, CPUSA, remarked that "RUSTIN calls me constantly--openly."

On February 19 and 20, 1964, PH T-5 advised that BAYARD RUSTIN contacted BENJAMIN J. DAVIS on February 19 and 20, 1964, and sought his advice as to how he could escape from a speaking engagement to which he was committed. On the latter contact, DAVIS told RUSTIN that he was working on his request and had contacted friends who had contacts with the group to which RUSTIN was to speak.

SECURITY MATTER - C

COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN RACIAL MATTERS
INTERNAL SECURITY - C.

7-16-92 On July 27, 1967, a confidential source advised Reverend Martin Luther King, President, Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), recently expressed to several officers of SCLC that he was greatly concerned as to whether he should participate in the pilgrimage to the Holy Land which has been scheduled for November, 1967. Reverend King said his principal concern was due to the continuing friction in the Middle East. He said he did not think the current situation in the Middle East would necessarily be resolved by the time of the pilgrimage and he felt he might very easily find himself in an embarrassing political situation.

In regard to this matter Reverend King said he contemplated seeking the advice of Harry Belafonte, Stanley Levison, and Harry Wachtel. Reverend King requested Andrew J. Young, Executive Assistant to the President, SCLC, to ascertain for him whether it might be possible to obtain an opinion concerning this matter from some of the African delegates (not identified) to the United Nations.

On July 20, 1967, CLIFFORD STANLEY, Chief of Patrol, Denver Police Department, Denver, Colorado, advised that on that date the Denver Manager of Safety issued a permit to LAUREN RALPH WATSON and LOUIS RHONE, son of a deceased prominent Negro attorney, and CHARLES CAMPBELL, for a march July 22, 1967, to protest the killing of EUGENE BERNARD COOK, a Negro ex-convict, who was killed during the early morning hours of July 3, 1967, by off-duty Denver police officer JOHN PINDER, and also to protest the killing of one LOUIS TIMOTHY PINEDO, an 18-year-old Mexican-American youth, by Denver patrolman JOHN E. CAIN, on July 12, 1967, at the O'Meara Ford storage lot located at 1426 Mariposa Street, Denver. STANLEY advised that patrolman CAIN had been dispatched to the lot to investigate a complaint of car stripping and during the process of putting PINEDO under arrest for this offense, the latter drew his knife and stabbed patrolman CAIN in the left arm, after which patrolman CAIN drew his revolver and killed PINEDO.

LAUREN RALPH WATSON, who has in the past both publicly and privately advocated violence on behalf of Negro rights and has also advocated open Negro revolt in the United States, was expected by Chief STANLEY to lead the marchers.

Chief STANLEY advised that Denver's "Crusade for Justice" leader, RUDOLPH "CORKY" GONZALES, had also applied for a permit to march in conjunction with the above-mentioned march from the Lincoln Park Project located at 13th and Mariposa Streets in Denver, in a predominately Mexican-American area of Denver, to the Denver police headquarters, mentioned above, to join the other picketers; however, this permit was not granted because it would interfere with the free flow of traffic. Representatives of the organization stated that members of their group and other interested persons would march along the sidewalk regardless of the fact that they did not have a permit.

RUDOLPH CORKY GONZALES, 1265 Cherokee Street, Denver, is a subscriber to the mid-week edition of "The Worker."

DN T-1 4/22/67

"The Worker" is an east coast communist newspaper.

On July 23, 1967, an article appeared in the "Denver Post," Denver daily newspaper, captioned, "Protest Staged at Police Building." The article stated that during the afternoon of July 22, 1967, more than 125 Mexican-Americans and Negroes converged on Denver police headquarters in a two-pronged protest march and then staged a noisy demonstration in the police building located at 13th and Champa Streets, Denver. The marchers told reporters that they were angry over the slayings by Denver patrolmen of EUGENE BERNARD COOK, a Negro, and LOUIS PINEDO, a Mexican-American.

The article stated that the marches and demonstration were sponsored by the Mexican-American "Crusade for Justice" organization headed by RUDOLPH "CORKY" GONZALES and by LAUREN WATSON, a Metropolitan State College student who told reporters he organized the Black Panther Society in Denver.

The article stated there was one tense moment when the demonstrators, demanding to talk to Police Chief HAROLD DILL, started crowding in the front door of police headquarters. According to the article, DILL, Division Chief CLIFF STANLEY and eight crash-helmeted policemen cleared the crowd away from the door.

The article stated that several of the demonstrators shouted into television and radio microphones and among those shouting were WATSON and one EMILIANO ZAPATA DOMINGUEZ, who was described as vice chairman of the Crusade for Justice. DOMINGUEZ reportedly stated, "This will be the last time that we come here in peace; we want to do right but we're not left alone. Our people are shot in the back." One Negro shouted, "This time we drink water. The next time there'll be fire."

During the afternoon of July 22, 1967, Special Agents of the FBI in Denver observed the following:

Approximately 50 Mexican-American males and females picketed Denver police headquarters from 1:30 to 2:30 P.M. following a march from Lincoln Park, located at 12th and Mariposa in a predominately Mexican-American area of west Denver, and many of them carried signs criticizing alleged Denver police brutality. Among the Mexican-American picketers was one MARK PHILLIP JARAMILLO, 232 Bannock, Denver.

> On July 19, 1966, JARAMILLO appeared at the Denver Office of the FBI to complain that his civil rights were violated during an arrest by Denver police officers during the morning of July 16, 1966. He stated he was picked up by the Denver Police Department on charges of being drunk in public, using filthy language, disturbance and resistance. He stated, however, that he did not wish to furnish complete details concerning the arrest or cooperate fully. During the interview with JARAMILLO he stated he hated all police and refused to cooperate with them.
> On August 6, 1966, JARAMILLO was observed acting as an escort for a group of marchers who on that date marched through downtown Denver in protest against United States participation in the war in Vietnam.

At approximately 2:00 P.M. on July 22, 1967, approximately 60 Negroes joined the Mexican-Americans in their demonstration at the Denver Police Department following a march from 33rd and Holly Street through a predominately Negro area of east Denver and through downtown Denver to the Denver police headquarters. It was noted that several of the Negro participants attempted to enter the Champa Street entrance of the Police Department but were moved back to the sidewalk by uniformed Denver police. Several Negro males screamed for the ouster of Denver Police Chief HAROLD DILL. No other incidents were observed and no arrests were made.

LAUREN RALPH WATSON, mentioned above, was observed among the demonstrators. Also observed milling about among the demonstrators were NORMAN and MARY JANE HODGETT.

As of July, 1967, NORMAN and MARY JANE HODGETT are members of the Denver Branch, Socialist Workers Party (SWP). C o/o

DN T-2 7/16/67

A characterization of the Denver Branch, SWP, appears as an appendix hereto.

ROBERT TRUJILLO, Chairman, Communist Party (CP) group in Denver, requested members to participate in the above-described demonstration. TRUJILLO marched with the Mexican-Americans and CP member NELLE GARCIA was observed in the area of the Denver Police Department during the demonstration. C o/o

DN T-3 7/24/67

The Negro and Mexican-American participants in the demonstration left the area at approximately 2:30 P.M. and a group of approximately 25 "hippies" sat on the lawn of the Denver police building singing folk songs until approximately 3:00 P.M. and then left the area.

Leaflets distributed by the Negroes and Mexican-Americans present indicated that the marches and rally were sponsored by the Black Panther Party, the New Hispano Movement, Sundiata, the Denver Provos, Crusade for Justice, Friends of SNCC (Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee) and the Denver Area Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

Re: New Hispano Movement

The New Hispano Movement was organized in Colorado by individuals of Mexican-American origin to run candidates for Colorado political offices in the fall of 1966. NORMAN and MARY JANE HODGETT have been active in this movement; however, they do not exercise any control over the activities and plans of this movement.

DN T-3 7/24/67

A characterization of SDS appears as an appendix hereto.

Character: INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Synopsis: During the past three months, plans were made to employ a full-time Negro organizer in the Negro Community which will be implemented when sufficient funds are raised by CP for this purpose. ROSCOE PROCTOR was elected Chairman of the Northern California CP District Negro Commission and is actively engaged in the Negro Community advancing the principles of Marxism. Northern California CP District Convention held during April, 1967, came up with recommendations to combat racism.

At the second session of the Northern California District Communist Party (NCDCP) Convention held April 30, 1967 at Finnish Hall, 1819 10th Street, Berkeley, California, it was decided that a full time Negro organizer was badly needed to work in the Negro community. The primary difficulty was where to get the money to pay such a person. All discussion pointed toward the need for such a person, so the Convention voted in favor of the proposal, however, the implementation will depend on the availability of funds and the finding of a qualified person to take over the job.

SF T-1, 5/1/67

At the second day's session of the NCDCP Convention held April 30, 1967, the question came up on whether to spend money first on an Organizational Secretary for the Party or a Negro Organizer for the ghettos. In general, the Convention concluded that money must first be spent for an organizational secretary and secondly for a Negro organizer for the Negro community, as funds are not available for both.

SF T-2, 5/17/67

In June, 1967, a five page summary of the results of the NCDCP Convention entitled "Main Political Resolutions and Motions on Resolutions Adopted at the District Convention," was submitted. Item III a (3) reflected a resolution that the district staff include a full-time organizational secretary, and that work should be done toward engaging a full-time Negro organizer.

Under the caption of "Political Perspectives" item C, the following appears:

"The Negro community has been and continues to be in a state of crisis in attempting to combat racism. This summer promises to sharpen that crisis with the prospect of upheaval across the country.

"In spite of the tremendous struggles waged by the Party in the past in combating racism, a key weakness in this district in the last year has been that virtually all policy and implementation of policy in relation to the Negro liberation struggle has been the sole responsibility of the black comrades.

The Party did begin to tackle this weakness in its two recent conferences on black power and white chauvinism, and, in addition, there have been exceptions in that some white comrades have continued to work very hard in the Negro liberation struggle.

"One result of this key weakness, however, has been that almost the entire burden of developing policy on the question of combating racism, which is fundamental to all aspects of American society, has been left to a few black comrades. Likewise, the implementation of policy has been left to the black comrades working in the black communities with virtually no work being done by white comrades in white communities. This weakness reflects the inability of the Party to fully implement its policy of Negro-white unity. This policy of Negro-white unity must be instituted immediately to develop what coalitions and common programs in both communities are possible now.

"The district committee should work toward establishing a cultural center and bookstore in Oakland.

"We resolve that it is essential for all comrades to engage in formulating policy on question of racism and all should actively engage in a struggle against racism wherever their work may be.

"The district committee should make a Marxist analysis of who are the bribed sectors of the working class.

"While the source of the crisis is the political problem that there are very few white comrades active in the Negro liberation struggle it reflects itself structurally in that the Negro commission (as is true with other commissions) has been used as a policy-making as well as implementing body; rather than having the policy formulated, based on proposals from the commission, by an authoritative body reflecting the entire district, i.e. the district committee and discussions on all levels of the Party. Once the policy has been adopted it is the responsibility of all comrades to implement it in all aspects of their work."

SF 100-53902

At the NCDCP District Committee meeting held May 13, 1967 at 81 Clementina Street the Committee, acting in accord with instructions of the District Convention, discussed obtaining a full-time CP Negro organizer and the establishment of a CP Cultural Center which would include a bookstore in the Negro community. The matter was referred to a sub-committee to report to the next meeting of the District Committee with recommendations of the amount of money needed for salary for an organizer, cost of establishing a bookstore, and ways and means of raising the money required.

SF T-1, 5/29/67

On June 3, 1967 there was a meeting of the NCDCP Committee at 942 Market Street, San Francisco, California. One of the items discussed was the proposed employment of a Negro organizer and the establishment of a cultural center in the Negro community. There was considerable discussion on the point and it was finally concluded that the people on the District Committee should go back to their various clubs and tell them that the District Committee has decided to begin plans in every CP Club to bring the cultural center and the employment of a Negro organizer into reality. Each club will be instructed to elect a finance committee of its own to begin efforts to bring in money to support the fund raising for this project. The Clubs are to be told that this project is of major importance and that it is contemplated that the organizer will begin work in September, 1967.

At this meeting, ROSCOE PROCTOR gave a report on a recent black conference of various clubs which he attended in Los Angeles. This dealt mainly with the Selective Service, and he reported that an attempt will be made to get ten thousand Negro youths to refuse to be drafted. Out of this number, California is expected to produce half of this number. It was decided that the CP Negro Commissions of Northern California and Southern California should meet and discuss the anti-draft situation. PROCTOR said that on his way back from Los Angeles he looked over the Monterey area with the idea of locating a place midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco for holding this meeting.

JTQ:law

ROSCOE PROCTOR was elected Chairman of the NCDCP Negro Commission at a meeting of the District Committee held May 13, 1967.

SF T-1, 5/16/67

On May 7, 1967, there was a meeting of the NCDCP Negro Commission at the home of one of the members, JUANITA WHEELER in San Francisco, California. There was a long discussion of the Black Panther Party for Self Defense (BPPSD) and its activity. The commission decided that it will stand between the CP and the BPPSD. ROSCOE PROCTOR was instructed to deal with the BPPSD but not officially. The BPPSD is to know that with regard to political charges against them, the members of the CP will assist in their defense individually but will not support their program and policies. PROCTOR is to handle this so that the BPPSD can not tie in the CP as supporting them in any public announcement. He is to tell them that any unofficial help depends on their promise that they will create no future disturbance.

SF T-1, 5/29/67

Considerable publicity was given to a group of individuals, many of them armed, and calling themselves the BPPSD, who, on May 2, 1967, entered the State Legislature at Sacramento, California to protest a gun law that was being considered that day by the Legislature. They were subsequently arrested by local police and each was held on $2,200 bail and charged with conspiracy to disturb the Legislature while it was in session.

On May 21, 1967 there was a meeting of the NCDCP Negro Commission at the home of ROSCOE PROCTOR. At this meeting they discussed the BPPSD. It was stated that the BPPSD wants the help of the CP in its defense. PROCTOR was instructed by the Commission to let them know they could get no help from the CP to defend their organization and their program, but unofficially, the CP will help in defending them against political charges as a matter of principal. The Commission wants the BPPSD to know that CP members will contribute to a defense fund if they establish one, but will not front for them publicly.

SF 100-53902

A meeting of the Negro Commission of the NCDCP was held June 4, 1967 at the home of one of its members at 411 Pierce Street, San Francisco, California. With regard to assisting the BPPSD it was stated that the position of the CP is non-involvment in any way with them, however the District Negro Commission stood between the CP and the dealings with the BPPSD in its effort to help them in a reasonable defense against political charges. The proposition by the Negro Commission was not accepted by the BPPSD, therefore, no money is to be raised for them by the CP. However, it was felt that a known communist should be identified with their political defense.

The CP is planning to employ a Negro organizer in the Negro cultural community and it was determined unfair to solicit the same CP sources for both this program and for the BPPSD, therefore, no solicitation will be made for the BPPSD.

SF T-1, 6/5/67

On June 18, 1967, there was a meeting of the Negro Commission of the San Francisco Bay Area CP at 411 Pierce Street, San Francisco, California. Part of the discussion was centered around the Alliance for Black Unity. It was said that the organization was set up several months ago by ROSCOE PROCTOR and JUANITA WHEELER and its membership consists of an amalgamation of members from several organizations. The purpose of the organization is to set up classes and to educate Negroes in socialism.

SF T-4, 6/21/67

On April 20, 1967 there was a meeting of the Sonoma County CP Club at 420 West Railroad Avenue, Cotati, California. The chairman of the meeting stated that the club needs to exert more influence in the Negro struggle in the county.

On April 20, 1967, the Santa Clara County CP held a meeting on the subject of Black Power, with ROSCOE PROCTOR as the featured speaker. PROCTOR said he thought the term Black Power means "massive black organization". He said that the CP should use Black Power to its advantage. He said that there are many Negroes in that Bay area who are looking for assistance. He said they are reading MALCOLM X's literature. PROCTOR said he ran a survey on books available relative to Black Power and the Negro problem. He said the "blacks" are seeking information. PROCTOR said the Party is missing the boat because the Party has no literature to give these Negroes. He said the Negroes will always be oppressed. The Negroes are beginning to believe under Socialism they may not get a "fair shake". He said "everyone is seeking and the Party has nothing to offer".

PROCTOR said the only Communist ideas being given these militant young Negroes are being supplied by PROCTOR. PROCTOR said he is trying to convert all these young "blacks" to Communism. He said the Communist Party must have something to offer these people. PROCTOR said these young "blacks" are all young militant students. PROCTOR said these youths meet at his residence, 1919 Oregon, Oakland, every Tuesday night. PROCTOR said this group is "keyed up" over the draft and the Vietnam war and the Communist Party has nothing positive to offer them.

PROCTOR ended his talk by saying the time is now if the Communist Party wants to get Negroes into the fold. PROCTOR invited WILLIE NORMAN to attend a meeting at his residence inasmuch as he is the only Negro in the Party in San Jose. Calif.

SF T-7, 4/26/67

MALCOLM X is characterized in the appendix section of this report under the heading "Organization of Afro-American Unity, Incorporated (OAAU)".

On April 24, 1967 there was a meeting of the North Oakland CP Youth Club at 1941 Derby Street, Berkeley, California.

At this meeting, one of the members, MIKE MILLER stated that the CP is making a mistake in not recognizing the militancy among the Negro comrades and hopes that the "Party" will take a stand supporting militant Negro questions. Another member, MARGARET LIMA said she thinks the CP supports militant Negro stands, although many party members do not.

Another member, CAROLYN BLACK felt that the coming Convention should recommend the Party take part of the "People's World" (PW) money presently being used to support five District Organizers in Southern California to help finance a Negro cultural center in Oakland with a full time person to run it. She also stated that the New York CP already has a cultural center in Harlem which it supports financially.

SF T-8, 4/25/67

The PW is a west coast communist newspaper published weekly in San Francisco.

On July 5, 1967 there was a special meeting of the Marin County CP at 622 Locust, Sausalito, California. MICKEY LIMA gave a short report on the recent CP District Convention and among other things he stated that ROSCOE PROCTOR is the head of the work in the Negro community. He stated that PROCTOR is working with a Black nationalist group in Oakland and they are holding Marxist classes within this group.

SF T-9, 6/7/67

MICKEY LIMA is chairman of the NCDCP.

II. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL ORGANIZATIONS

The third session of a conference captioned "Emergence of Black Unity" was held at the "Church of the Fellowship of all Peoples," on Sunday morning, April 9, 1967 at 2041 Larkin Street, San Francisco, California. AL RICHMOND, editor of the PW, spoke on "the press's treatment of Black Movements."

RICHMOND broke his talk down into three parts: first, there is a serious doubt, at least by Negroes, that white newspapermen could, without bias, report activities, such as civil rights marches or Watts riots, because of an inability to sympathize or understand. Secondly, since it requires at least ten million dollars to start a newspaper, the owners are a very affluent class and they are surrounded by reporters who react to the Negro problems in the way they think the owners expect them to react.

Third, the press, by its nature and place in "the establishment" must defend the status quo and with few exceptions must be against the black liberation movement. Generally, he compared the American revolutionary movement to the liberation fight of the Negroes today, what started as an inconsequential quest for rights like eating in a cafe, or riding in the front of a bus, may develop into a radical and advanced concept of black power, and dignity requiring an equality basis dictated by the power structure of "the establishment."

Fourth, black power requires a radical change, the implementation of which would need billions to satisfy the re-development or separation. This idea brings about a new type of tension or gap by the vested interests and the Negro and causes the press to attempt to channel the Negro leaders into more acceptable demands.

SF T-10, 4/12/67
SF T-11, 4/14/67

On April 25, 1967 there was a meeting of a discussion group at the residence of ROSCOE PROCTOR, 1919 Oregon, Oakland, California. This group was made up of Negroes and reportedly meets every Tuesday evening at PROCTOR's residence.

At this meeting, it was indicated that the group was once known as OAAU Discussion Group, but they are now looking for another name.

PROCTOR said that another segment of this organization meets every Saturday night in Richmond, California, which he described as an action group. He said they were young and brilliant, and are all Black Extremists between the ages of 19 and 25. At this meeting there were approximately 20 Negroes.

PROCTOR stated that he is trying to find someone in the CP in the Los Angeles area who can do the same thing he is doing herewith this group, so that they will be given communist direction.

SF T-7, 4/26/67

The OAAU, Inc, is characterized in the appendix section of this report.

A meeting of a new organization founded by ROSCOE PROCTOR, tenatively known as the Alliance for Black Unity, will be held at the residence of ROSCOE PROCTOR on Tuesday, May 9, 1967. According to one of the members, this organization was formed for the purpose of attempting to reach the black militant section of the black power movement and indicated that the CP has, in the past, failed to provide a program which will appeal to these Negroes. The club plans to hold dances in the near future in an effort to attract young militant Negroes into this organization.

SF T-12, 5/3/67

CONFIDENTIAL

ORGANIZATION OF AFRO-AMERICAN UNITY, INCORPORATED (OAAU)

On June 28, 1964, MALCOLM X LITTLE, founder and leader of the Muslim Mosque, Incorporated (MMI), publicly announced the formation of a new, all Negro, militant civil rights action group to be known as the Organization of Afro-American Unity (OAAU), with himself as Chairman. This announcement was made at a public rally held by the MMI in the Audubon Ballroom, Broadway and 166th Street, New York City.

A printed and published statement of basic OAAU aims read by MALCOLM X at this meeting indicates that it shall include "all" people of African descent in the Western Hemisphere, as well as "our" brothers and sisters on the African continent. It is patterned after the "letter and spirit" of the Organization of African Unity established (by African heads of States) at Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, in May, 1963.

A recording of the remarks of MALCOLM X at this meeting indicates that the aim of the OAAU is to eliminate differences between Negroes so they can work together for "human rights," while the initial objective is to "internationalize" the American civil rights movement by taking it to the United Nations. LITTLE condemned the non-violent civil rights movement and claims that Negroes should be taught to protect themselves, when and if necessary. The OAAU will sponsor a program for Negroes of education, politics, culture, economics and social reform.

MALCOLM X was assassinated on February 21, 1965, while addressing an OAAU rally at the Audubon Ballroom, New York City.

On February 28, 1966, a confidential source advised that the president and head of the OAAU is ELLA COLLINS, a half-sister of the late MALCOLM X, who resides in Boston, Massachusetts.

On April 12, 1966, the same confidential source advised that the headquarters of the OAAU are located in Suite 128, Hotel Theresa, 2090 Seventh Avenue, New York City.

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

A. COMMUNIST PARTY USA

1. Local Communist Party Plans and Strategy

CV T-1 advised on April 7, 1967, that PHILIP BART is anxious for the Communist Party (CP) to become active in the local Congress of Racial Equality (CORE). He feels that because of the stand Reverend MARTIN LUTHER KING has taken in opposition to U.S. foreign policy in Vietnam, that more and more of the Negroes in the United States will agree with KING and actively oppose being drafted. BART pointed out that "of course, I could not work openly in CORE because I am a known Communist". In discussing racial problems on April 6, 1967, BART stated that it will not solve anything for the Negroes and whites to arm themselves against one another because the Government has all the power and will call in the National Guard. BART stated he is not against anyone trying to defend themselves against hoodlums, but he is against violence as a means of solving problems "unless you can win". BART stated that "for a revolution to be successful, you must have the will of the people. I think KING's coming out as he has on the Vietnam situation will go a long way towards getting the people to realize the ills of the Capitalist system".

PHILIP BART -- CV T-4 advised on 11/17/66, that at an Ohio CP State Committee meeting held in Cleveland, Ohio, on 11/13/66, it was announced that PHILIP BART is Secretary of the Ohio Communist Party.

CV T-1 advised on April 20, 1967, that during a discussion with ANTHONY KRCHMAREK on April 18, 1967, concerning racial violence which occurred in Cleveland in April, 1967, KRCHMAREK stated that violence is not the answer to problems that exist, although that is what the Mayor of Cleveland is advocating. He pointed out that both the Mayor and the Governor of Ohio are trying to get power to use any kind of physical force to subdue the Negro youths who are rioting. KRCHMAREK pointed out that the U.S. used force in Vietnam and it did not accomplish anything other than to kill a lot of people. He stated that subduing and suppressing the Negro people is not the answer -- the answer is to remove the cause which is unemployment and poor living conditions.

KRCHMAREK suggested that the white and Negro leaders in the civil rights and peace movements should get together and demand that the Mayor of Cleveland meet with them, and demand that city officials get to the unrest. At KRCHMAREK's request, arrangements were made for KRCHMAREK to discuss these problems with LEWIS ROBINSON. On this same date, KRCHMAREK did meet with ROBINSON, and following this talk, ROBINSON agreed to meet with some Negro ministers right away to see what could be done about these problems.

ANTHONY KRCHMAREK -- On 10/11/66, ANTHONY KRCHMAREK appeared on a radio program carried over Cleveland Radio Station WKYC, during which program KRCHMAREK pointed out that he was Chairman of the Communist Party of Ohio.

LEWIS ROBINSON -- LEWIS G. ROBINSON, in his application for a position with the U.S. Government, dated 7/1/57, in answer to the question "Are you now, or have you ever been a member of the CP, USA, or any Communist or facist organization?", stated "I have attended several meetings of the Labor Youth League in Boston in 1950".

The Labor Youth League has been cited by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

In 4/64, LEWIS G. ROBINSON publicly announced through local news media that he intended to form a rifle club for the purpose of protecting civil rights demonstrators when the police fail to do so.

CV T-5 advised on 11/28/65, that a Socialist Workers Party (SWP) sponsored social was held in Cleveland on 11/13/65, for the purpose of raising funds for the current National SWP fund drive. LEWIS G. ROBINSON was present.

The Socialist Workers Party (SWP) has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

CV T-2 advised on April 25, 1967, that ANTHONY KRCHMAREK stated that date that there is a rumor prevalent to the effect that racial violence will break out in Cleveland on May 9, 1967, and the people are afraid that such violence will occur. KRCHMAREK stated that responsible people should do everything they can to see that this does not happen. He said he had met with LEWIS ROBINSON on this matter and both agree that something had to be done to head off this trouble. According to KRCHMAREK, the trouble arises from the younger Negroes who have nothing to do, no place to go and who are just looking for trouble. KRCHMAREK stated that since the New York Times had carried an article predicting trouble in the Hough area of Cleveland, the Communist Party in New York had asked him to write an article on this problem. KRCHMAREK said he did not want to write anything that might serve to add to the problems or tensions -- that the important thing is for the people in the area to be prepared to do all they can to stop any trouble that might erupt. KRCHMAREK said that he definitely wants to work with any groups or individuals who are trying to head off further trouble.

CONGRESS OF RACIAL EQUALITY

CV T-1 advised on May 11, 1967, that PHILIP BART has been very anxious for a meeting to be arranged between local CP leaders and Cleveland CORE leaders, and it is hoped that this meeting can be arranged for May 15, 1967. DONALD BEAN, 9/11/5 who is in charge of Cleveland CORE, and ARTHUR EVANS, who is also one of the local CORE leaders, have expressed their willingness to meet with BART and others in the Communist Party. BART advised that FRIEDA KATZ, FREDA HARRIS, ALONZO HOWARD and himself will meet with the CORE leaders. BART said he does not want too many CP persons present for fear the CORE leaders will think the CP may try to tell them how to run CORE.

ARTHUR EVANS -- CV T-6 advised on 11/2/66, that ARTHUR EVANS attended an occasional SWP sponsored forum or social event and has spoken on civil rights at some of these affairs; however, his interests are confined to the issue of civil rights and he has no political ties with the SWP or any similar group.

FRIEDA KATZ -- CV T-7 advised on 6/7/66, that FRIEDA KATZ attended the Ohio CP State Convention held at Cleveland, Ohio, on 6/4-5/66, during which convention she was elected a delegate to the National Convention of the CPUSA to be held in 6/66, and also a member of the Ohio CP State Committee.

FREDA HARRIS -- CV T-7 advised on 6/7/66, that FREDA HARRIS was present at the Ohio CP State Convention held in Cleveland, Ohio, 6/4-5/66.

Ohio

ALONZO HOWARD -- CV T-1 advised on 5/11/67, that ALONZO HOWARD is a member of the Cedar-Central Club of the CP in Cleveland.

CV T-1 advised on May 11, 1967, that PHILIP BART has expressed some interest in a Negro boy who has come into the CP bookstore on a number of occasions. BART advised on May 9, 1967, that he wants this boy to be invited to some of the CP Cedar-Central Club open meetings. BART commented that "we are showing some progress. Six months ago we did not have a club that was predominantly Negro and now we have one (Cedar-Central Club). At present we do not have a youth club predominantly Negro," and possibly if this Negro boy joins the Cedar-Central Club we will be able to recruit some Negro youth.

CV T-1 advised on May 26, 1967, that as of that date nothing further has been done about arranging a meeting between Cleveland CP leaders and CORE leaders, although BART said on May 25, 1967, that DONALD BEAN agreed that a date should be arranged for such a meeting and that he (BEAN) and ARTHUR EVANS would be present.

CV T-1 advised on June 19, 1967, that a meeting of the CP Cedar-Central Club was held in Cleveland on June 15, 1967, at which PHILIP BART discussed a CP meeting he had attended in New York City on June 10-12, 1967. BART said that at this New York meeting it was emphasized that CP members must take an active part in the Negro struggle. BART said "We are not going to take an active part in the civil rights struggle in order to continue the rioting, but to try and put pressure on those who have the power to correct the evils causing the riots. Just passing laws against discrimination in housing and employment is not giving the Negroes jobs or building homes for them." BART said that CP members must attend the meetings of different organizations such as CORE, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Pastors Association with which Reverend KING is working in Cleveland. BART wants the Cedar-Central Club members to give a report at each future club meeting on what they have done in these different groups. At this meeting ALONZO HOWARD pointed out that Cleveland CORE, under DON DEAN, will work with the Communist Party "but, of course, it has to be done on the Q.T.".

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

THERE ARE NO PERTINENT DEMONSTRATIONS TO BE REPORTED DURING THE PERIOD OF THIS REPORT.

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

A. CORE

CV T-3 advised on June 2, 1967, that the Citizens for Constitutional Rights (CCR) held a meeting in Cleveland on May 10, 1967, at which FREDA HARRIS had invited two guests from CORE to join the CCR and support CCR projects, and in return, the Negro guests were promised support by the CCR.

CITIZENS FOR CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS (CCR)

VIRGINIA HARDIN, who has furnished information to the U.S. Government, is a self-admitted former member of the CP whose cooperation with the Government was publicly disclosed on 6/5/62. Mrs. HARDIN mentioned on 9/5/61, that on 9/1/61, a CCR meeting was held in Cleveland, Ohio, at which the name CCR was approved to replace the name Cleveland Committee to Abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities (HCUA), which had been the former name used by the group. EDNA KAUFMAN, Chairman and only officer of the CCR, controls the operations of the CCR, which has no formal membership requirements. The stated purposes of the CCR are to abolish the HCUA and to fight against the Smith and McCarran Acts.

CV T-7 advised on 3/29/65, that an Ohio CP State Conference was held in Cleveland, Ohio, on 3/28/65, with both EDNA KAUFMAN and FRIEDA KATZ being present. At this conference KATZ stated she wished to congratulate EDNA KAUFMAN on the work she had done to abolish the HCUA which KATZ said was a Party assignment. EDNA KAUFMAN died on 3/4/65.

CV T-1 advised on May 18, 1967, that at a CCR meeting held in Cleveland on May 10, 1967, several CORE members were present including DONALD BEAN. BEAN explained how badly CORE needs money and advised that CORE was planning a picnic in August. BEAN said that tickets were 25¢ each, or a book of 5 for $1.00, and that any organization that sells $150 in tickets can keep $50 of this money. FREDA HARRIS suggested that the CCR take $150 in tickets, and if sold, give all the money to CORE. It was finally agreed that the CCR would sell all the tickets it could and thereafter decide whether to turn over all the ticket money to CORE. At this gathering, FREDA HARRIS stated that she had already joined CORE and she pledged to give $2.00 a month to CORE.

CV T-1 advised on June 19, 1967, that both FRIEDA KATZ and AUDREY CLINE are selling tickets for the Cleveland CORE picnic to be held August 6, 1967, and on June 12, 1967, CLINE paid $3.00 for her membership in CORE. CLINE suggested to DONALD BEAN that "because there are no decent places for swimming other than private places, would it not be a good idea for CORE, with the help of some of the white people, to try and crack the practice of discrimination at these places?". CLINE suggested that a car load of white people first go to one of these places, followed by a car load of both whites and Negroes. CLINE asked BEAN whether CORE would back her in such a plan, and he advised that he would take it up at the next CORE meeting.

AUDREY CLINE -- CV T-2 advised on 6/21/64, that a meeting was held in Cleveland, Ohio, on 6/19/64, for the purpose of hearing a leading functionary from the CPUSA discuss the Chinese-Russian ideological dispute. AUDREY CLINE was present.

As heretofore set forth, CV T-1 reported on June 19, 1967, that according to ALONZO HOWARD, Cleveland CORE, under DONALD BEAN, will work with the Communist Party "but, of course, it has to be done on the Q.T.".

Title: COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN RACIAL MATTERS

Character: INTERNAL SECURITY - COMMUNIST

Synopsis: Quarterly Period 5-1 through 7-31-67.

Details of Negro disturbances, Nashville, Tenn., beginning 4-8-67 set forth, including information regarding participants and persons present who have subversive backgrounds such as Rev. JAMES E. WOODRUFF, JOHN KILLENS, FRED BROOKS and SHERRY MYERS. Info set forth that as early as 1966 a Nashville CP member predicted riots in Nashville. STOKELY CARMICHAEL of Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee(SNCC) spoke in Nasvhille 4/6-7/67, and seen at scene of disturbance night of 4-8-67. CARMICHAEL met with CARL BRADEN and Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. (SCEF) leaders in Nashville on 4-7-67. SHERRI MYERS told informant "her group" planned demonstration which preceded the 4-8-67 racial disturbance. Two SNCC leaders, GEORGE WASHINGTON WARE, JR. and ERNEST CORNELIUS STEVENS, arrested by Nashville PD 4-10-67, in possession of a pistol contained in personal brief case of STOKELY CARMICHAEL. Car driven by them rented by Rev. JAMES E. WOODRUFF of St. Anslem's Episcopal Chapel. On 4-10-67, Nashville PD searched a house occupied by key SNCC personnel finding Molotov cocktails, gasoline and bottles. Southern Student Organizing Committee (SSOC) and Nashville Committee for Alternatives to War in Vietnam circulated handbills defending riotors and raised money for same. These groups have interlocking and much common membership. Nashville PD officials feel there is definite genetic and working relationship of SNCC, SCEF and SSOC. Later on 7/27 and 28/67, SNCC leader RALPH FEATHERSTONE and ERNEST C. STEVENS, aka Stephens, were reported to be in Nashville with automatic weapon and in contact with Rev. JAMES E. WOODRUFF. On 7-31-67, SHERRI MYERS reportedly said these SNCC people going to Holmes County, Miss. to use guns and physical force togain control of Sheriff's Office, and that MYERS said they were seeking guns. On 7-31-67, SNCC leader ROBERT HOLCUMB(phonetic), in presence of WOODRUFF, said "We have guns and are ready to kill both blacks and whites," and seeking incendiary type acid. In Memphis, Tenn., beginning early July, COBY VERNON SMITH and CHARLES LAVERNE CABBAGE, self-acclaimed SNCC members began making statements that they were going to "turn Memphis upside down" and SMITH claimed he would give anything to have a good race riot in Memphis. SMITH is member of SSOC and on 6/23-24/67, attended plenum meeting of Socialist Workers Party (SWP) in New York, N.Y. Both currently working for Memphis Area Project - South, a part of Federal Anti-Poverty Program. Were given jobs by Rev. JAMES MORRIS LAWSON, JR., Pastor, Centenary Methodist Church, who has defended Communism in his statements. LAWSON refused to dismiss CABBAGE and COBY SMITH.

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

A. Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and Southern Student Organizing Committee (SSOC)

AT NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Captain [redacted], Nashville-Davidson County Metropolitan Police Department, Intelligence Section, Nashville, Tennessee, on April 8, 1967, advised a representative of the FBI that STOKELY CARMICHAEL appeared before the Vanderbilt University Impact Symposium on the afternoon of April 8, 1967, and talked at length relative to "Black Power" and the progress and direction of the various phases of the civil rights movement, with particular emphasis on the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC). According to [redacted], this particular speech had no violent overtones and was given on a fairly high intellectual level in keeping with the group before whom CARMICHAEL was appearing. b6 b7C

However, on the two previous days, CARMICHAEL appeared before groups of students at the Fisk and Tennessee A & I Universities in Nashville. According to [redacted], those two speeches of CARMICHAEL had what would have to be considered violent overtones, and in the opinion of the leadership of the Police Department, the Fisk and A & I speeches helped set the background for the incidents which later occurred.

The April 7, 1967, edition of the Nashville Banner, a Nashville daily newspaper, had on Page 13 an article relative to CARMICHAEL's Fisk speech given on the evening of April 6, 1967. The article in part indicated that CARMICHAEL vowed that he was in Nashville to "stir up trouble" and quoted CARMICHAEL as saying that the United States is a "savage and barbaric country." The article quoted CARMICHAEL as saying, "The Banner says we have come to Nashville to stir up trouble. They lie all the time but this is one time they spoke the truth." The article quoted CARMICHAEL as saying, "Until there is justice for everyone in this community, there won't be peace... turn father against son, mother against daughter, sister against brother, and if everyone doesn't get justice, nobody will have any peace."

The article indicated that CARMICHAEL said in reference to a white church being burned last week in Mississippi, "This is just the beginning. From now on, we either pray in churches that's both people or we burn churches that's both people and we all pray outside." In reference to the recent 70 fires in Cleveland, he said, "People will call them savage and ignorant, but those people are trying to liberate themselves." He is quoted as saying, "There is going to be a change and a change soon in this community. If we dont get justice, we're going to tear this country apart."

CARMICHAEL in duscussing the Vietnam war said, "We're not going to fight. Let the white Americans prove something to us. It is their war. The war is for the birds, Lady Bird, Lyndon Bird..."

He indicated that "We cannot any longer follow white America...the whole problem is we are always trying to prove to white people how good we are...we should have been teaming up with the Indians to beat the hell out of the white man."

Captain [redacted] advised that the A & I speech was given in a similar vein with many of the same statements made at the Fisk speech repeated before the A & I audience. b6 b7C

The April 7, 1967, edition of the Nashville Banner had on Page 1 an article captioned "STOKELY INVOLVED IN SECRET TALK." The article in part indicated that CARMICHAEL spent almost one and one-half hours in a secret meeting with the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. (SCEF) board on April 7, 1967. According to the article, a Banner reporter entered the meeting as CARMICHAEL arrived but immediately was ordered from the room by CARL BRADEN, SCEF Executive Director. CARMICHAEL went before the board at 10:05 AM and left the session at about 11:30 AM, according to the article.

The article indicated a news release designated as being from SNCC had said the meeting would be open to the press and gave the title of CARMICHAEL's address as "SNCC- Black Power for Communism." According to the article, BRADEN disclaimed knowledge of the release.

Characterizations of SCEF and CARL BRADEN appear in the Appendix section of this report.

Captain [redacted] on April 8, 1967, advised at about 8:30 PM on April 8, 1967, the operator of a Negro bar, which is located on Jefferson Street immediately across the street from the Fisk University campus, called the Metropolitan Police Department to answer a disturbance call. Uniformed officers responded to the call and placed the subject of the disturbance call in a police car.

About three to five minutes thereafter, 12 to 15 Negro males and females, who appeared to be students, appeared before the bar and set up a picket line. Demonstrators were carrying signs relating to the arrest which had happened only minutes before and attacking the bar owner as "Uncle Tom." Among those persons in the picket line were ANDREA FELDER and a Negro male known as CAZZIO (phonetic), both of whom have been identified with local Fisk SNCC activities, according to Captain [redacted]. A group of about 150 Negro spectators immediately gathered. These were primarily teenagers and students. The size of the crowd hindered traffic on Jefferson Street and police diverted traffic from the area. b6 b7C

SIF At this point a representative of the FBI observed SHERRY MYERS and her husband, JOHN WILLIAM MYERS, in the immediate vicinity observing the demonstration. Mr. and Mrs. MYERS thereafter departed the scene in their automobile, accompanied by three Negroes.

SHERRY MYERS, also known as Sherri Myers, Sherrie Myers, Mrs. John William Myers

On September 28, 1965, Memphis Confidential Informant T-1 advised that SHERRY MYERS, aka Sherri Myers, Sherrie Myers, wife of JOHN WILLIAM MYERS, residence, [redacted], had described herself as a non-member of Students for Democratic Society (SDS) and Southern Student Organizing Committee (SSOC), and an active worker in both these organizations; that MYERS had become a particularly close associate of CARL BRADEN, Executive Director of SCEF and ANNE BRADEN, editor of SCEF's publication, "The Southern Patriot."

On January 3, 1967, ME T-2 advised that "Operation Open Debate" [redacted] (MYERS' address), was in operation, sponsored by SCEF, in a new effort to stimulate, in the South, education, discussion and activity around the war in Vietnam and related issues; that NANCY HODES would travel as widely as possible in the South to contact people who have been involved in action against the war and find new people to become involved; that in order to follow up NANCY's contacts, SHERRY MYERS would operate an office in Nashville.

On December 15, 1959, [redacted], Immigration and Naturalization Service, Kennedy International Airport, New York, N. Y., advised that ROBERT HODES, wife JANE HODES, and children, PETER R. HODES, WALTER W. HODES and NANCY HODES, arrived in the United States at this airport on December 15, 1959, from Copenhagen, arriving on a single U. S. Passport issued by the U. S. Embassy, Moscow, Russia.

On November 14, 1966, CLARENCE CECIL ADAMS, a male Negro, then living [redacted], a self-admitted American "turncoat" during the Korean War, and who spent about twelve years living, studying and working in Communist China prior to his return to the United States in 1966, advised that all of the above five HODES had lived in Peking, China during the late 1950's as voluntary communists; that ROBERT HODES, following a doctrinaire difference with the Red Chinese over the interpretation of communism, returned with his family to the United States; that on November 14, 1966, NANCY HODES, while in Memphis, contacted ADAMS. She defended Communist China in her statements and gave every indication of still being a dedicated communist.

On July 29, 1966, ME T-3 advised that at a meeting of the "Socialist Study Group" held in Nashville July 26, 1966, such people as SHERRY MYERS,

JOHN WILLIAM MYERS, DONALD LESLIE BONER attended; that featured speakers were GEORGE VERNON MYERS, then of Baltimore, Maryland, and Southern Director, Communist Party, USA, and ART SHIELDS, reporter of "The Worker," East Coast Communist publication.

SOUTHERN STUDENT ORGANIZING COMMITTEE

On November 1, 1966, T-2 advised that the Southern Student Organizing Committee (SSOC), with headquarters at 1703 Portland Avenue, Nashville, Tennessee, was formed on the weekend of April 3-5, 1964, to stimulate activity of Southern student groups in area of civil rights, peace, academic freedom, civil liberties, capital punishment and unemployment. Originally it was to be a white counterpart of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC). It has agreed to work with similar interested groups such as SNCC and Students for a Democratic Society (SDC), and is a fraternal affiliate of SDS, and Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., (SCEF).

Beginning in the Fall of 1966, SSOC became a membership organization and embarked on a campaign to form local chapters on various college campuses throughout the South. SSOC publishes, October through May each year, a publication, "New South Student," which, according to the above source, has increasingly espoused and defended the pro-Communist and anti-United States position on domestic and foreign policy.

(Characterization of SCEF and SDS are set forth in the Appendix of this communication).

On September 27, 1966, ME T-4 advised that DONALD BONER, of Nashville, Tennessee, while in attendance at a CP, USA Youth Conference, Camp Webatuck, N. Y., September 12-14, 1966, gave a report regarding Nashville, saying that CP personnel were concentrating on organizing rent strikes, working with Southern Student Organizing Committee (SSOC), the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. (SCEF), and establishing a Socialist study group for students. He predicted future rioting which, he said, the CP must take advantage of. He emphasized that more CP youth must be sent South.

On August 12, 1966, T-5 advised that DONALD LESLIE BONER, male white, age [redacted], of [redacted], had been in the CP about four months. b6 b7C

On September 27, 1966 and June 2, 1967, T-4 advised that during the Summer of 1966, the CP, USA, concentrated its youth cadre in organizing projects in several cities in an effort to recruit for and strengthen local CP youth organizations. Nashville, Tennessee was included in this project. The youth placed in charge of the Nashville project was DONALD LESLIE BONER, with funds to be made available for three to five full time organizers in Nashville. JACQUELINE SAINDON of the CP in New York, N. Y., a Queens College student, came to Nashville in the Summer of 1966 for this purpose. At the CP, USA Youth Conference, held at Camp Webatuck, New York, September 12-14, 1966, BONER reported that effective liaison had been made with SSOC; that contact had also been made with black militants on Nashville Negro college campuses, and that a beginning had been toward organizing in the Nashville Negro community. He said he thought a riot was possible in the near future in the Negro community and the CP must take advantage of same. He emphasized that some main efforts were to work with SSOC and Southern Conference Educational Fund (SCEF). Jackie Saindon

Following the conference, attendees BRIAN HEGGEN and PATRICIA LOUISE RABBITT, aka Patti Rabbott, traveled to Nashville to join BONER's organizing efforts there.

On February 28, 1967, T-6 advised that PATTI RABBITT of Seattle, Washington and member of Northwest CP District, had gone to Nashville, Tennessee to organize in connection with a CP assignment.

On June 8, 1967, T-7 advised that PATTI RABBITT, BRIAN HEGGEN, DONALD LESLIE BONER and wife,

S.I

CAROL STEVENS BONER, are all active members of SSOC in Nashville and that HEGGEN is now editor of the official SSOC publication "New South Student."

On July 7, 1967, T-8 advised that DONALD BONER and wife, CAROL BONER, attended a CP, USA Youth Conference at Camp Abelard, N. Y. July 1-4, 1967.

The masthead of the June, 1967 issue, "Southern Patriot," official publication of SCEF, lists CAROL STEVENS BONER and ANNE BRADEN as editors and lists CARL BRADEN as Executive Director.

The Nashville Banner, Nashville, Tennessee newspaper, issue of May 15, 1967, reported that SSOC was preparing for the May 17, 1967 appearance of MIKE ZAGARELL, National Youth Director, CP, USA, at Vanderbilt University; that BILL DOSS, press agent of SSOC, on May 12, 1967, brought to the "Banner" office publicity material the CP had sent to SSOC.

The April, 1967 issue, Volume IV, No. 4, "New South Student," published each month, October through May by SSOC, carried an article on Page 22 entitled "CIA American Labor," a review by DONALD BONER of a book entitled "The CIA and American Labor," authorized by GEORGE MORRIS, labor editor of "The Worker," East Coast Communist newspaper. BONER is described therein as an active member of the Nashville SSOC Chapter.

Captain [redacted] advised that additional police had been called to reinforce arresting officers and officers directing traffic around the area. [redacted] met with demonstration leaders and they indicated they would cease the demonstration if police were withdrawn from the area. The police were removed from the immediate area with the exception of two officers directing traffic on either end of the block in which the demonstration was occurring, and the crowd began to partially break up. b6 b7C

At this point a representative of the FBI observed three or four persons, previously observed as accompanying CARMICHAEL, appear at the scene, including WILLIE RICKS and GEORGE WARE.

The pickets, followed by the crowd, proceeded east on Jefferson Street. The police officer directing traffic at the corner of 17th and Jefferson Street thereafter called for help inasmuch as the crowd had congregated at that point and had physically stopped traffic. Captain [redacted] advised that three or four automobiles, which had been diverted around the Fisk campus area, were stopped by the crowd, and the lead vehicle, which was driven by a white man, was not allowed to proceed by several of the Negroes from the crowd. At one point some of the Negroes opened the door to the car and [redacted] directed riot-equipped police to assist the car in passage through the crowd.

Captain [redacted] stated at this point the crowd began to move further east on Jefferson Street toward downtown Nashville. He estimated that there were from 300 to 400 persons present at this time. [redacted] advised that a line of riot-equipped police was drawn across Jefferson Street. The crowd at this point filled the entire street. [redacted] advised that the situation remained static for five to ten minutes with the police in a stationary line and the crowd standing before the officers. Some of the individuals in the crowd were taunting the officers and calling names during this time. At this point the police line was suddenly assailed by a volley of rocks, bricks and bottles, which came from the rear of the crowd before them. The police were then instructed to break up the crowd, and the police charged the crowd, firing shots in the air over the heads of the persons in the crowd. The bulk of the crowd thereafter retreated into the nearby Fisk University campus and from that time on Captain [redacted] advised that general disorder started breaking out all over the immediate area.

Fisk thereafter became a stronghold for the mob, and small groups of youths sallied out from the school buildings, throwing rocks and other objects at police and passing motorists, both white and Negro. In other nearby areas groups of Negroes, mostly youths, moved about stoning cars and breaking store windows and reportedly set fire to one or two houses. The incidents were generally restricted to the immediate vicinity of the Fisk campus and included an area about one square mile. This was entirely a Negro area. Numerous small disturbances occured from that point on intermittently throughout the night. Captain [redacted] advised that the groups seemed to lack leadership and control. There were no reported incidents of looting, and the police did not receive any gunfire from the persons participating in the demonstrations.

Inquiry with police officials determined that some 25 to 30 persons, primarily Negro youths, were arrested by the police during the period of disturbances. Several officers received minor injuries and several police vehicles suffered damage. Several Negroes also received minor injuries, including one individual, reportedly a Fisk student, who received a minor gunshot wound to the leg.

Captain [redacted] advised that as the morning went on, the distrubances became less frequent and the activities ceased with the coming of daylight. He estimated that some 400 police officers were used in quelling the disturbances. b6 b7C

Captain [redacted] advised that the police were making preparations for renewed outbreaks on the evening of April 9, 1967, and all available officers were being recalled to duty at about 4:00 PM, April 9, 1967.

On the evening of April 8, 1967, SA LAWRENCE J. OLSON, SR., arrived at the corner of 18th and Jefferson at approximately 8:10 PM. The car in which SA OLSON was riding was parked in the grocery store parking lot located on the southwest corner of the intersection of 18th and Jefferson. SA OLSON noted that a demonstration wasin progress in front of the University Inn which is located on the north side of Jefferson Street immediately across from the Fisk University campus. A picket line had been set up in front of the University Inn and some 12 or 15 Negro males and females were marching around the front of this establishment in a long oval path which was revolving in a counterclockwise direction. Most of the persons in the line were carrying signs. There was a group of about 150 persons gathered on the south side of Jefferson observing the demonstration. This group was predominately Negroes and predominately Negro males who appeared to be in their late teens and early 20's.

SA OLSON stood onthe southwest corner of 18th and Jefferson, at which time he noted that JOHN WILLIAM MYERS and his wife, SHERRI MYERS, were standing on the curb immediately in front of the popcorn stand and telephone booth located on the southwest corner of 18th and Jefferson. They were talking to three Negroes and these five individuals stood on the corner conversing for about five minutes as they watched the demonstration.

The MYERS and the three Negroes thereafter left the scene and were smiling and laughing as they did so. The MYERS and the three Negroes were observed getting into the MYERS' 1957 turquoise blue Oldsmobile 4-door sedan and before they departed the scene it was necessary for a police officer to move his car in order to enable them to back out of their parking space.

Among the group of pickets marching in front of the University Inn, SA OLSON recognized the following individuals:

DAN MASSIE, Fisk University Chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC);

FRED BROOKS, Tennessee A & I SNCC Chairman;

A Negro female who SA OLSON later determined was ANDREA FELDER, Fisk University SNCC Secretary.

FELDER appeared to be the most vocal and active member of the group of pickets.

SA OLSON conversed with police officers who had arrived on the scene before him and was advised that the demonstration had been in progress for some ten or fifteen minutes and had resulted from a disturbance call which was answered by uniformed police officers at the University Inn. The officers advised that the crowd of pickets had appeared on the scene with their signs some three to five minutes after the police officers arrived at the University Inn. Among the signs carried by the pickets observed by SA OLSON was a sign that read, "Uncle Tom," and other signs were noted reading in effect, "Honky Police," and "Don't Buy Beer from Super Tom." As the demonstration continued SA OLSON observed ANDREA FELDER shouting and yelling. She would from time to time leave the picket line and move up to the crowd of spectators and encourage them to join the pickets. She chastised the males in the group of spectators and told them that they were not men if they were afraid to join the pickets. As FELDER moved about the picket line and into the crowd, she was also heard to shout, "Honky Police," "Go Home, Honky Police. We don't need you," "Uncle Tom."

SA OLSON observed ANDREA FELDER shouting "Briley, Briley, go home. Honky Mayor," and she was thereafter heard to remark to the crowd, "See, the Mayor left because he was afraid of them."

At about 8:25 PM, SA OLSON observed JAMES BOOTH, Tennessee A & I student and SNCC member, immediately in front of the University Inn. SA OLSON observed BOOTH running away from the scene and observed him heading south from Jefferson down 18th Street. SA OLSON heard BOOTH shouting as he ran, "Don't give up. I know where I can get 50 more." BOOTH repeated this statement over and over again as he ran through the group of spectators.

BOOTH re-appeared some three or four minutes later, coming from the direction in which he left. Shortly thereafter, SNCC leaders, GEORGE WARE and ERNEST STEVENS, were observed by SA OLSON immediately in front of the University Inn. SA OLSON also observed a tall Negro male with an Afro haircut wearing a tribal robe who arrived on the scene about the same time as GEORGE WARE and ERNEST STEVENS. About five minutes thereafter SA OLSON observed Father JAMES E. WOODRUFF and JOHN O. KILLENS arrive on the scene. KILLENS was observed to approach the picket line and converse with one of the persons picketing. KILLENS talked to this person as the person made about four or five circuits around the picket line.

James

ANDREA FELDER thereafter was observed to approach the uniformed police officer directing traffic at the corner of 18th and Jefferson and attempted to antagonize him by saying that he should get out of the street and she would take over directing traffic; that they did not need "Honky white police" around.

The pickets and the crowd thereafter moved east on Jefferson toward 17th Avenue. As they did so, SA OLSON observed STOKELY CARMICHAEL and a light-complexioned Negro female with auburn hair approach Jefferson Avenue on foot walking along the sidewalk from the south along 18th Avenue. SA OLSON overheard a Negro male call to STOKELY CARMICHAEL's companion, "Hi there, Sheryl."

The girl acknowledged the person who called to her. Two other Negro males accompanied CARMICHAEL. CARMICHAEL and his companions were last observed following after the crowd toward 17th Avenue.

JOHN OLIVER KILLENS

The June 6, 1965 edition of "The Worker," on Page 8, contains a photograph of JOHN KILLENS, described as a Negro-American Novelist, who is pictured observing two other individuals, described as former Buchenwald Concentration Camp inmates, greeting each other at a Weimar, German Democratic Republic Convention of writers from 52 countries. 1392 Union ST. Brooklyn, N.Y.

The article, beginning on Page 7 in that issue, described the gathering as a commemoration of the 20th anniversary of liberation from Hitler facism and the 30th anniversary of the Paris Writers' Congress. According to the article, the meetings began in Berlin, on May 14, 1965 and ended in Weimar, on May 19, 1965.

It is further noted that an article concerning a group of writers who gathered at Weimar, Germany-Democratic Republic, during May 1965, is set out on Page 7 of the Saturday, June 19, 1965 edition of "People's World." That article sets out the name of JOHN OLIVER KILLENS as one of the individuals who attended the conference.

"It is noted that "The Worker" is an East Coast Communist newspaper, and "People's World" is a West Coast Communist newspaper.

John oliver nmi.

KILLENS maintains his permanent residence with his wife, GRACE WARD JONES KILLENS, at 1392 Union Street, Brooklyn, New York, and is an author-in-residence at Fisk University, Nashville, Tennessee, for the school year of 1965-66. In 1965 he was residing temporarily while at Fisk University in Burrows Aprtments, Apartment 25, Fisk University Campus, which is located at 16th and Meharry Boulevard, Nashville, Tennessee.

On September 22, 1964, T-9 related that at a conference in the office of the Progressive Labor Movement, on September 21, 1964, it was decided to make a movie on the poor conditions in Harlem. According to this confidential source, KILLENS was to write the script of the film.

For the characterization of the Progressive Labor Movement, see the appendix.

On July 5, 1964, T-10 furnished information that at that time he learned that KILLENS wanted to help the Organization of Afro-American Unity.

For a characterization of the Organization of Afro-American Unity, see the appendix.

REVEREND JAMES E. WOODRUFF

A story appearing on Page 1, Nashville Banner, issue of May 8, 1967, entitled "Nashville Negroes Grope for Solution to Problems," described the Reverend JAMES WOODRUFF, Rector, St. Anslem Episcopal Center, Nashville, as adviser to local Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) Chapters.

On June 1, 1967, T-11 and T-12 advised that Rev. JAMES WOODRUFF, on May 31, 1967, said he is a reader of the works of Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse Tung and believes in and closely follows his principles; that when he was asked if he was a communist he replied, "To quote Stokely Carmichael, When you are drowning you will take help from wherever you can get it." WOODRUFF elaborated that the white man has not yet realized it, but there is a revolution going on in this country; that the only recourse for non-whites is violence; that he admired Cuba's Communist leader, FIDEL CASTRO; that CASTRO had to use certain revolutionary type techniques such as brainwashing propaganda and even killing innocent people. WOODRUFF said he visualized that should a revolution occur in the United States that many innocent people would be killed.

In referring to the April 8-9, 1967 race riots in Nashville, Tennessee, WOODRUFF remarked that he had hidden participants in his house and in his church; that he was able to do such a thing because he is untouchable to authorities since he is a minister. He claimed the Nashville police started the riot in an effort to assassinate STOKELY CARMICHAEL, Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and it was his, WOODRUFF's, urging that CARMICHAEL left Nashville early.

WOODRUFF said that certain elements of society attempt to teach children that policemen are their friends; whereas it is his policy to instruct non-white children that police are actually the Gestapo. WOODRUFF said whites could not work directly for Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and he urged whites to work with Southern Student Organizing Committee (SSOC), which he said is even more militant than SNCC. He said SSOC had consistenly given SNCC both financial and legalistic support.

FRED HARRIS BROOKS, S.F. also known as Fred Horace Brooks

On September 13, 1966, T-13 advised that FRED BROOKS, student, Tennessee A & I State University, Nashville, attended the 1966 News and Letters Committees Convention which was held at the Fisher YMCA, Detroit, Michigan, September 3-5, 1966, said group being an affiliate of the Johnson-Forest Group. BROOKS reported on work he was doing in Nashville with the Nashville Northwest Project working among destitute Negroes.

(The Johnson-Forest Group has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450).

On December 13, 1966, T-14 advised that while interviewing BROOKS in conjunction with an investigation, BROOKS said he had attended a National meeting of the W.E.B. DuBois Clubs of America (DCA), Washington, D. C. August 26-28, 1966.

(A characterization of DCA is set forth in the appendix).

BROOKS said that the hereinbefore identified CP members, DONALD LESLIE BONER and JACKIE SAINDON, attended with him. BROOKS said JACKIE spent the Summer of 1966 in Nashville and claimed to be a member of both the DCA and CP, USA.

BROOKS also said he had during the Summer of 1966 attended meetings of Socialist Study Group in Nashville.

On July 29, 1966, T-3 advised that on the night of July 26, 1966, the Socialist Study Group, formed prmarily by FRANCIS THOMAS FOLEY, met in headquarters of SSOC, 1703 Portland Avenue, Nashville. Previous and subsequent meetings were held at the residence of DAVID BENSON, [redacted]. b6 b7C FOLEY presided at the July 26, 1966 meeting. The meeting was visited by ART SHIELDS, writer for "The Worker," East Coast Communist publication, and was introduced by CP member DONALD LESLIE BONER. GEORGE VERNON MYERS, Southern Director, CP, USA, was also present.

On September 8, 1966, T-15 advised that a meeting of the Southern California District CP, USA, was held on August 31, 1966; that FRANCIS THOMAS FOLEY, CP member, who had just returned from working for two months in Nashville, Tennessee, made a report. FOLEY, in part, said the wave of Black Nationalism is now being seriously considered in the area and is indication of the trend throughout the United States; that many of the leaders of the civil rights and peace movements in the area representing Negro groups are now considering socialism; that during time he was in Nashville, he was working primarily for ANNE and TOM BRADEN, engaged in doing research and attempting to organize young intellectuals and young Negro workers in the civil rights struggle. FOLEY added that with regard to Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), there is a trend among these people to reevaluate their position and they are considering socialism as a goal.

During the interview of BROOKS, latter said that JACKIE SAINDON had HERBERT APTHEKER, leading CP theoretician, send him a number of communist books.

BROOKS added he was a leader in the Nashville SNCC movement and was director of SNCC's field program.

On April 11, 1967, T-7 advised that he had met with SHERRY FRANCES MYERS that day and she had told him that "her group" had planned the demonstration which preceded the riot of April 8, 1967, in the vicinity of the Fisk campus. MYERS said that she and others, including STOKELY CARMICHAEL, ED HAMLETT, DON and CAROL BONER, Mr. and Mrs. JOHN BEECHER, and others, had planned this demonstration in a meeting April 6, 1967, at Nashville. T-7 indicated that MYERS, HAMLETT, the BONERS and the BEECHERS all are connected with the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. (SCEF), and MYERS, HAMLETT and the BONERS are all Southern Student Organizing Committee (SSOC) members.

On April 4, 1967, T-16 advised that SCEF Board of Directors meeting will be held April 6-8, 1967, in Nashville, Tennessee, at the Methodist Board of Evangelism Building and that CARMICHAEL was to appear before that group.

The April 7, 1967, edition of the Nashville Banner, a Nashville daily newspaper, had on Page 1 an article captioned "Stokely Involved in Secret Talk." The article in part indicated that Carmichael spent almost one and one-half hours in a secret meeting with the SCEF Board on April 7, 1967. The article indicated that a Banner reporter was ordered from the meeting by CARL BRADEN, SCEF Executive Director.

The article indicated a news release, designated as being from the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), had said the meeting would be open to the press and gave the title of CARMICHAEL's address as "SNCC- Black Power for Communism." According to the article, BRADEN disclaimed knowledge of the release.

Captain [redacted] advised that the rioting resumed on the evening of April 9, 1967, in a spontaneous fashion throughout the same general area where it occurred the previous night; however, on this occasion there were several reports of gunfire and fires being started by Molotov cocktails. Police officers were fired upon from Fisk University dormitories and from the Tennessee A & I campus. Captain [redacted] advised that the Police Department had more available officers at the outset of renewed violence on the evening of April 9, 1967, and the number of persons participating in the riot was generally less; however, there was considerably more activity in the vicinity of Tennessee A & I where things had been relatively calm the previous night. The police sealed off the area to vehicle traffic after the evening activities began with random stoning of automobiles throughout the area.

Captain [redacted] advised that as the rioting continued, plain clothes Negro officers had under surveillance a Ford station wagon which was occupied by five Negro males. A house was burned by a Molotov cocktail in the immediate vicinity where the surveillance of the station wagon was picked up and the surveillance officers followed the station wagon from the riot area to an area some distance removed in South Nashville, where they temporarily lost contact with the station wagon. The officers regained contact with the station wagon in the same general area where they lost it; however, in the meantime a liquor store in that area had a Molotov cocktail thrown through the window, setting it on fire. This was the only incident of violence in that particular area. The officers surveilled the station wagon into the riot area and thereafter stopped it on a traffic violation. A search of the car revealed a Molotov cocktail, an empty bottle that had traces of gasoline in it, and two homemade black jacks.

Captain [redacted] advised that one of the occupants of this vehicle was LOUIS JULIUS MILLER, Negro male, date of birth, [redacted], who was an active participant in the 1964 sit-in demonstrations in Nashville and who at one time claimed to be the head of SNCC in Nashville. [redacted] advised that MILLER and the other persons in the car were arrested on charges of possession or transportation of explosives.

(George)

Captain [redacted] advised that in the early morning hours of April 10, 1967, officers of the Nashville Police Department arrested national SNCC leaders, GEORGE WASHINGTON WARE, JR., and ERNEST CORNELIUS STEVENS, on charges of carrying a pistol for the purposes of going armed and inciting a riot.

(Ernest)

Captain [redacted] advised that the police found a pistol lying in the front seat of the automobile in which WARE and STEVENS were arrested. A search of the car revealed a pistol in the personal brief case of STOKELY CARMICHAEL. Captain [redacted] advised that a check determined that the car that WARE and STEVENS were arrested in was rented by Father

JAMES E. WOODRUFF, Episcopal minister, who had paid a month's rent on it.

Captain [redacted] advised that later on the morning of April 10, 1967, the Police Department executed a search warrant at [redacted] and found in the bushes around the house six Molotov cocktails, two gallons of gasoline and a quantity of bottles. Captain [redacted] advised that the persons arrested at that place on charges of inciting a riot were:

CHARLES DOUGLASS STEWART, Negro male, date of birth [redacted];

AARON NEAL, JR., Negro male, date of birth [redacted];

(James) JAMES MICKEY BOOTH, Negro male, date of birth [redacted];

ANDREW LOUISE FELDER, Negro female, date of birth [redacted];

IDA ARNETTE WHITMIER, Negro female, date of birth [redacted];

LEROY GILBERT WILSON, Negro male, date of birth February 3, 1946;

(D. M.) DANIEL FRANK MASSIE, Negro male, date of birth [redacted].

Captain [redacted] advised that NEAL, WILSON and MASSIE all resided at that address and that all the persons arrested are known to have SNCC affiliations.

Captain [redacted] advised that during the course of the rioting activities, the police also arrested ROBERT LEE SMITH, Negro male, born [redacted], student at Rusk College, Holly Springs, Mississippi, who indicated he was a SNCC Field Secretary. Also arrested, on charges of loitering, in the vicinity of the house that the police raided was ELIAS COLAY DIAZ, Negro male, date of birth [redacted], who is believed to be of Panamanian extraction. [redacted] advised that his best information indicates that DIAZ has SNCC affiliations also.

Captain [redacted] advised that he has received information from numerous sources indicating that subsequent to the rioting that occurred on April 8-9, 1967, various members of the SNCC group in Nashville were involved in organizing the disturbances which occurred on April 9-10, 1967. Captain [redacted] advised that in his opinion the rioting of the first night came closer to getting out of hand in view of the fact the police had to spend a little time mobilizing their forces in order to seal off the area. However, from the press coverage it would appear that the second night may have been the most severe, but this was due to the fact that the second night's activities were actually less and the press and television media were able to move about the area more freely in giving the second night's activities better coverage.

Captain [redacted] advised that the evening of April 10-11, 1967, was relatively calm and that the police were fully mobilized with the coming of darkness as they were the night before; however, there were minor incidents of gunfire and rock throwing, but the riotous activities were for the most part confined to the immediate area of the Tennessee A & I campus. b6 b7C

T-7 advised that a meeting of the local SSOC chapter, which included the leadership of the Nashville Committee for Alternatives to War in Vietnam, was held at the residence of SHERRI MYERS, [redacted], on the evening of April 10, 1967, at which time money was collected to bail out ERNEST STEVENS, who was at the time of the meeting still in the Nashville Jail. CHARLES GOSS, a Peabody University Professor, was the person who actually made the financial transaction with the bondsman. T-7 advised that SSOC had apparently participated in raising bond money for GEORGE WARE, who had been released earlier that day, and the persons attending the meeting indicated their wholehearted support for SNCC and the persons who had participated in the riot.

On April 12, 1967, Captain [redacted] made available a press release and a handbill being circulated by SSOC in reference to the above-mentioned riots.

"STOKELY CARMICHAEL DID NOT START RIOT!!!!

"We must not believe the lies that the white press tells us. Stokely Carmichael did not start a riot, rather; it was a conspiracy of the white politicians to alienate us from the one

"leader for, and of us. He is not a traitor to our cause as are many of our black 'leaders.' The riot was triggered by the beating of a black boy by white policemen. It was planned by white politicians so that we, the black community would believe that Carmichael is only a troublemaker. We must see through their scheme or

"Did you know:

"1. That generally black policeman are sent to black neighborhoods on calls as well as on patrol duty?

2. That since the morning of April 6th, white policeman, en masse, have arrogantly invaded the Fisk-Meharry area?

3. That Fisk students generally protest when faced with unsatisfactory social, political, and academic situations? (We note last spring's lawn demonstration, last fall's protest of police brutality against a Fisk student, past civil rights demonstrations, etc.)

4. That Stokely Carmichael and his so-called 'bully boys' were nowhere near the Fisk-Meharry area when the Saturday night incidents began?

5. That on Saturday evening of April 9th, crash helmeted, club-swinging riot squads arrived en masse to quell a yet peaceful demonstration, along with municipal newspaper and cameraman?

6. That some students unaware of the situation and escorting their dates back onto the campus were clubbed by white policemen?

7. That policemen entered a restaurant in their attempt to capture a rockthrower and began clubbing all of the restaurant's occupants?

8. That female students were beaten by the police.

9. That policemen fired into the dormitories.

10. That the students did not break the dormitory plateglass door by 'throwing a fellow student through the glass,' rather the glass was broken by police.

"The above are some of the true events of the weekend of April 8th and 9th.

"There are numerous other points that could be given to illustrate that the events of the past weekend were simply a part of an attempt of the power structure to smear the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, smear Stokely Carmichael and smear all those who upheld Carmichael's right to speak.

"Justice demands our cooperation to combat these oppressive forces. Many of the students who were victims of the police are presently jailed on ridiculous charges with excessive and unjust bills. Therefore your financial aid is needed. Please call: 291-3537."

"Nashville Southern Student Organizing Committee

"Nashville is involved in a violent clash between the black community and white police. Nashville must solve not only the immediate problem of this violence but also the many problems that are the basis of the anger and frustration of the black community. To understand, we must look beyond the sensational headlines, and the misdirected irrational accusations of the Banner and the Tennessean.

"The Nashville papers accuse SNCC of planning the riot to climax Carmichael's visit. Nashville SSOC has listened to SNCC and the black men on the street, to the other side, as well as to the white police and the white reporters. The evidence from all these sources points to the following facts:

"1. White police reacted to a peaceful demonstration with riot force while settlement of the demonstration was in progress.

"2. 150 armed policemen on one block in any neighborhood created a hostile atmosphere. When the police are white and the neighborhood is Jefferson, it results in a riot.

"3. SNCC does not start riots; SNCC starts demonstrations. To the police, a demonstration is a riot.

"Nashville SSOC knows that the nature of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, the events leading up to the riots, and the rioting itself have been distorted by white policemen, white reporters, and white polticians.

"Will all of white Nashville hear the other side?

"Will they demand to hear?"

Captain [redacted] advised that it would seem that the demonstration in which the University Inn was picketed was a pre-planned activity and that investigation would more than likely reveal that the SNCC group was perhaps responsible for the demonstration itself and did much to cause or even caused the ensuing periods of rioting. Captain [redacted] advised that it would also seem apparent that there is some genetic relationship between CARL BRADEN's Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., the Southern Student Organizing Committee, and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee. Captain [redacted] advised that results of physical surveillances conducted by his Intelligence Section indicate that there were numerous and repeated contacts between members of these various groups at various locations throughout the city. Captain [redacted] said, for example, he has photographs depicting CARL BRADEN, ERNEST STEVENS, GEORGE WARE, and SSOC personnel all drinking beer on the front steps of the SSOC house, 1703 Portland. Captain [redacted] noted that SSOC is certainly not doing anything to restore good feeling in Nashville and seemed to be trying to capitalize on this unfortunate situation and is deliberately lying and distorting the events for their own ulterior, selfish purposes. b6 b7C

Captain [redacted] stated that in his opinion, examination and study of this problem would reveal connections going far beyond the relationship which seems to exist between Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, Southern Student Organizing Committee, and Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc.

On July 29, 1967, T-17, who is quite familiar with many activities of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), Nashville, Tennessee, advised that this source had received reliable information that key workers of the SNCC, including ERNEST C. STEPHENS, who had been arrested by the Nashville-Metropolitan Police Department on or about April 10, 1967, in possession of a gun during the Nashville race riots, and one (First Name Unknown) SCHULTZ, also of SNCC, had arrived in Nashville July 27, 1967, and that they allegedly had in their possession an automatic weapon or machine gun, although this fact had not been confirmed. T-17 continued that one (First Name Unknown) FEATHERSTONE, a member of SNCC, had also arrived in Nashville two or three days prior to July 28, 1967, and FEATHERSTONE was purportedly staying with the Reverend JAMES E. WOODRUFF, a male Negro, who is director of the St. Anselm's Episcopal Student Center, which services Negro students from Fisk University and Tennessee A & I State University in Nashville. T-17 added that STEPHENS and SCHULTZ were purportedly residing at the new SNCC headquarters, 1504 Sweetbriar Avenue, Nashville, Tennessee.

T-17 recalled that STEPHENS had accompanied the renowned SNCC leader, STOKELY CARMICHAEL, when the civil disturbance or riot occurred in Nashville in April, 1967.

The June, 1967, issue of the "Southern Patriot," official publication of the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., lists RALPH FEATHERSTONE as the new Project Director for SNCC.

On July 29, 1967, T-17 advised that it had been determined that the FEATHERSTONE mentioned above was RALPH E. FEATHERSTONE of Route 1, Selma, Alabama, and that he was accompanied in Nashville as of that date by ROBERT LEE SMITH and ERNEST C. STEPHENS, along with a person thought to be (FNU) SCHULTZ. These individuals, according to T-17, were driving a 1964 blue Plymouth four-door sedan, bearing Alabama License 278365, which, according to T-17, tentatively belonged to the Sojourner Motor Fleet and was used by RALPH FEATHERSTONE.

On July 31, 1967, T-7 advised that SHERRY MYERS of [redacted], who is a sympathetic supporter of SNCC, had commented that these SNCC people, all Negroes, were planning a trip to Holmes County, Mississippi, as the SNCC members in Holmes County had seized upon a plan that if they had enough firearms they could, by physical force, gain control of the Sheriff's Office in Holmes County, Mississippi, the County Seat of which is Lexington, Mississippi. b6 b7C

T-7 also advised that SHERRY MYERS had just stated that she wanted to obtain all of the firearms possible as the SNCC workers driving the Alabama car would return to Nashville on the first weekend of August, 1967, picking up said firearms.

She did not specifically mention these four by name but described them as "big shots" of SNCC who had gone to Mississippi. She said that they would need all of the guns which they could get.

T-7 pointed out that SHERRY MYERS is also a member of the Southern Student Organizing Committee (SSOC), the national headquarters of which is 1703 Portland Avenue, Nashville, Tennessee, and T-7 is aware of the fact that SSOC possesses a shotgun, not further described as to model or make, and two pistols of unknown caliber.

On July 31, 1967, T-11 addedthat a meeting was held on July 29, 1967, with Father JAMES E. WOODRUFF and that actually the meeting had begun on Friday night, July 28, 1967. At this time WOODRUFF introduced a certain individual to ROBERT HOLCUMB(phonetic), male Negro, age about [redacted], who he said was the new SNCC leader in Nashville, not further described, and a male Negro (FNU) MASSEY (phonetic). At this meeting, which began on the night of July 28, 1967, HOLCUMB made the statement, "We have guns and are ready to kill both blacks or whites, if they get in our way." HOLCUMB and his associates were interested in finding a chemist who could provide them with raw material for a process which they described as putting acid of a special type in one container and water in another container, both containers being breakable upon contact with any hard surface, and when the two containers were broken simultaneously the acid would mix with the water, a fire would start instantaneously and the water in its running in different directions would spread the fire. b6 b7C

Later on July 31, 1967, T-7 advised that SHERRY MYERS had just commented during the afternoon of July 31, 1967, that the "SNCC big shots," referred to by her previously, were in jail in Lexington, Mississippi, which is the County Seat of Holmes County, Mississippi. She claimed to know no further details.

T-7 advised on the evening of July 31, 1967, that SHERRY MYERS claimed that she had heard that SNCC workers arrested in Lexington, Mississippi, had 17 guns with them in their cars. She further commented that she was attempting to obtain bail money and would solicit the help of the SSOC in this connection. She further indicated that the Reverend JAMES E. WOODRUFF, mentioned hereinbefore, would be willing to store any firearms procurred by SNCC in his church, the St. Anselm's Episcopal Chapel. SHERRY MYERS further commented that due to the racial turmoil going on throughout the United States that any supporters of the black power movement who so desire can easily go to Communist Cuba and that she personally has given this possibility some thought. She did not elaborate. (Schultz)

On the night of July 31, 1967, the Jackson, Mississippi, FBI Division advised that the Sheriff of Holmes County, Mississippi; Chief of Police, Lexington, Mississippi; and key representatives of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol (MHSP) were advised of the proposed SNCC plan to possibly use firearms to disrupt or take over Holmes County and that through these sources it was determined that ERNEST C. STEPHENS and SAMUEL SHULTZ were in Lexington, Mississippi, on July 31, 1967, assisting other local SNCC workers in voter registration activity in that community; that FEATHERSTONE had not been observed; and that no information had been developed through any sources of the Jackson FBI Division, including local law enforcement agencies, concerning the planned disruptive actions allegedly contemplated by SNCC workers in Holmes County, Mississippi. No information was developed concerning the story put out by SHERRI MYERS to the effect that the group was arrested with 17 guns in its car.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

An editorial, Page 4, Commercial Appeal newspaper, Memphis, Tennessee, entitled, "Seeds of Insurrection" in part stated in commenting on the rash of race riots throughout United States in Summer of 1967:

"Testimony produced as a result of a rash of rioting, pillage and destruction which is acknowledged to be the work of a handful of militant black power advocates, comes at the same time that Stokely Carmichael has been lionized by Red Cuba's Fidel Castro during his celebration of the Cuban July 26th Revolution Movement. Carmichael has allied himself with the concept of guerilla warfare and terror that is currently being preached by Castro and Maoist Red China. Castro's organization of Latin American solidarity, whose meeting was the occasion for Carmichael's "international temper tantrum," is an unquestioned conspiracy. It was convened, writes James Reston of the New York Times from Havana, 'to discuss ways and means of communizing the hemisphere."

AT MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE

A story appeared on Page 1 of the "Press-Scimitar," afternoon newspaper, Memphis, Tennessee, issue of August 4, 1967, written by Staff Writer KAY PITTMAN BLACK, entitled, "Two Names Cause Stir at Meeting," which reads as follows:

"The payroll of a War on Poverty organization in Memphis carries the names of two persons who apparently are controversial.

"They are working for MAP-South, calling on residents in poverty areas of South Memphis, The Press-Scimitar learned.

"A discussion as to whether they should be maintained on the MAP-South payroll erupted at the group's policy board meeting last night. The two, some Negro leaders have said, are members or sympathizers of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNICK).

"Rev. J. M. Lawson, chairman of the MAP-South policy board, said 'The discussion about these people came up because they had been targets of rumors during last week's riot rumors. We investigated them thoroughly, checked with the police and with our own group, and voted not to suspend them from the MAP-South organization.'

"He said this was done 'because we have a moral obligation not to act on the basis of alleged remarks.'

"Although all Poverty Program workers' names are supposed to be a matter of public record, the Rev. Lawson refused to disclose records on the controversial figures, saying: 'This is a conservative community and such information would just cause misunderstanding. You can't do anything with a poverty organization unless you use the type of people who communicate with all elements of the community.'

"No information as to their salaries or how long they have been on the payroll was available.

"However, sources told The Press-Scimitar they believed they were put on the payroll at the beginning of the summer.

"Some policy board members expressed strong disapproval of the two being on the payroll but would not be quoted by name."

On the evening of August 4, 1967, T-18 advised that MAPS actually is Memphis Area Project - South and is sometimes referred to as MAPS; that it is sponsored by and financed by the Memphis War on Poverty Committee originally established in January of 1966 by joint action of the Memphis City Commission and the Shelby County Court, both Memphis. This War on Poverty Committee subsequently met the guidelines set forth by the Federal Office of Economic Opportunity and has since administered the Poverty Program in Memphis, Tennessee. This source pointed out that on March 16, 1967, the MAPS program was approved by the Memphis Anti-War on Poverty Committee and would have two main thrusts, (1) to help people improve their physical environment through neighborhood clean-ups, etc., and (2) to employ residents as sub-professional social workers to work with families, educate them as to community, health, social and welfare programs, and to encourage them to improve their job skills. The boundaries were in what the over-all committee considered to be the largest of twelve poverty pockets in Shelby County, bordered by Beale Street on the north, by Walnut and Neptune and College Streets on the east, and on the west by Third and Louisiana Streets, and on the south by McLemore. This area source stated had a population at that time of 36,000, 34,000 of which were Negroes.

T-18 stated that a Negro, AUTREY J. PARKER, is Director and the Assistant Director is one DAVID MAYS, a white male, and that the Reverend JAMES MORRIS LAWSON, JR., Pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, a Negro, is Chairman of the policy board which supervises the over-all operation of MAPS. It has a small office on Fourth Street, just south of Beale Street.

(J.M.) (James M.) (J. M.)

(T-19) T-6

T-18 pointed out that an informant of T-18 advised that at a policy meeting of MAPS held on the night of August 3, 1967, it was brought out that five young "black power" advocates and possibly members of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) had been put on the payroll of MAPS by Reverend JAMES MORRIS LAWSON, JR. These five persons reportedly were COBY SMITH, JOHN SMITH, CHARLES CABBAGE, CHARLES JONES, and DONALD DOUGLASS.

On August 4, 1967, T-18 contacted Reverend JAMES MORRIS LAWSON, JR., who would not give the names of any of the MAPS employees and when the names were read to him he acknowledged that three are with MAPS but he would not specify the identities of these three. He became belligerent in his attitude and defended the Poverty Program, admitting he is chairman of the policy board of MAPS. He did admit he knew COBY VERNON SMITH, a young Negro male who had recently been accused by certain people described by LAWSON as "hysterical" as advocating black power and the establishment of a SNCC chapter in Memphis. LAWSON again refused to say if COBY SMITH was with MAPS but did indicate one or more of the five mentioned by T-18 had retained legal counsel and that none of them could be fired without cause and that he, LAWSON, had no proof they were members of SNCC. [redacted]

LAWSON told T-18, "We have investigated these people and we went to the Internal Security Squad of the Memphis Police Department and checked these people out and they are O.K."

LAWSON did acknowledge that all five of the persons named by T-18 were students. He stated he could not dismiss anyone on the basis of alleged rumors; that the persons in question were victims of vicious rumors and refused to discuss the matter further and emphasized that he did not want any publicity whatsoever regarding the matter.

On July 26, 1967, ME T-19 advised that COBY VERNON SMITH, male Negro, a legal resident of [redacted], son of LULA and EMMETT SMITH, and who in February, 1967, flunked out of Southwestern College, Memphis, had been reliably reported to T-19 as having made numerous statements in various areas of Memphis during July, 1967, to the effect that he, SMITH, and one CHARLES CABBAGE were members of SNCC and were advocating a black power movement in Memphis. T-19 continued that Reverend JAMES MORRIS LAWSON, JR., knew about the black power statements of COBY SMITH and CHARLES CABBAGE but hired them nevertheless to work as interviewers and social workers for MAPS.

On July 28, 1967, ME T-20 and T-21 advised that they were shocked as were most of the leaders of the Negro community, including nearly all leading officers of the Memphis Branch of the NAACP, to learn that alleged black power advocates COBY SMITH and CHARLES CABBAGE had been given jobs on MAPS by Reverend JAMES MORRIS LAWSON and that they had been reliably informed that LAWSON, who is most articulate and who is the Pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church, of which prominent Memphis Negro attorney, A. W. WILLIS, JR., is a member, had "conned" WILLIS, along with his law associate, RUSSELL B. SUGARMON, JR., also a Negro attorney, into agreeing that COBY SMITH and CABBAGE should be hired by MAPS where LAWSON could "keep an eye on them." These sources pointed out that A. W. WILLIS expects on August 8, 1967, to announce his candidacy for Mayor of Memphis in the October, 1967, City Election, and that both WILLIS and SUGARMON are members of the Tennessee House of Representatives. These sources pointed out that such other prominent Negro leaders as JESSE TURNER, President of the NAACP, Memphis, and who is a member of the Shelby County Court, along with NAACP Vice President, Dr. VASCO A. SMITH, JR., and wife, MAXINE (Mrs. Vasco A.) SMITH, Executive Secretary of the Memphis NAACP, are bitterly opposed to the retention of COBY SMITH and CHARLES CABBAGE on the MAPS payroll, feeling that CABBAGE and SMITH can use their positions to spread the venomous hatred of black power among the ignorant poverty stricken Negroes with whom they would normally come into contact and could thus precipitate possible racial violence in the City of Memphis.

On August 4, 1967, T-20 and T-21 pointed out that LAWSON's arbitrary actions were creating a definite split in the Negro community leadership and that it could potentially cause a split in the leadership ranks of the NAACP and that some of the more concerned leaders of the NAACP were seriously considering removing JAMES MORRIS LAWSON, JR. from its Executive Board.

Plans Headed by Coby Smith and Charles Cabbage to Form SNCC Chapter in Memphis, Plus Wishes for "Race Riot"

On the evening of July 3, 1967, ME T-22 advised that [redacted]-year old male Negro, COBY VERNON SMITH, had just arrived in Memphis, ostensibly from Atlanta, Georgia, where he claimed he has been in close contact with STOKELY CARMICHAEL, the former Chairman and currently renowned self-acclaimed leader of the SNCC. He indicated that he was trying to "get something going in Memphis, Tennessee." He was accompanied during this contact by CHARLES CABBAGE, who indicated that he had recently been attending Morehouse College in Atlanta, Georgia, and who also inferred he had recently been engaged in SNCC activity. SMITH claimed that CABBAGE and two other young Negro associates had been arrested by representatives of the Memphis Police Department during the early AM, July 1, 1967, at a gasoline station at Third Street and Parkway, following an argument with the service station attendant; that a crowd of Negroes formed quickly and that the police emergency squad was called to the scene; that the police arrested CABBAGE and his two associates and that they appeared in Memphis City Court later on July 1, 1967, and large fines were levied against them by Memphis City Court Judge RAY CHURCHILL. COBY SMITH bragged that he would like to see a race riot develop in Memphis and that he was going to exploit to the "hilt" the arrest of CABBAGE and his associates and he was going to "turn" Memphis into a SNCC-dominated city. b6 b7C

SMITH further indicated that he had taken CABBAGE and another Negro to the office of the "Tri-State Defender," a Memphis weekly Negro paper, on July 2, 1967, and that COBY SMITH had, by his own admission, become most militant when the editor, McCANN REID, refused to "play up" the July 1, 1967, arrest and to give publicity to COBY SMITH's efforts to create racial unrest in Memphis.

T-22 recalled that CHARLES CABBAGE is a native of Memphis, was a student at Carver High School, and later attended Owen College for about two years, this being a junior college. COBY SMITH claimed, and CABBAGE also claimed, that the police did not mistreat any of the three arrestees, although the police did put handcuffs on one of the arrestees so tight that the cuffs purportedly hurt his wrist.

On the evening of July 3, 1967, T-20, who holds a responsible position with the Memphis Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), advised that COBY SMITH had brought one JOHN B. SMITH to the NAACP office earlier on July 3, 1967, to make an affidavit alleging wrong-doing on the part of unidentified officers of the Memphis Police Department in connection with the arrest of CABBAGE, SMITH and JONES on July 1, 1967; that COBY SMITH took it upon himself to be the spokesman; and that he became obnoxious, demanded immediate action by the NAACP and indicated he was going to create Negro unrest in the City of Memphis.

T-20 advised that the Memphis Branch of the NAACP, as well as the national organization headed by ROY WILKENS, has repeatedly gone on record as denouncing and preaching against emotional situations which could lead to race riots or racial violence throughout the United States, including Memphis; that the NAACP has received repeated complaints to the effect that COBY SMITH, a native of Memphis and former student at Southwestern, has in recent months identified himself with groups having possible subversive backgrounds and with SNCC, the leaders of which, including RAP BROWN and STOKELY CARMICHAEL, have made public utterances calculated in the opinion of T-20 to incite listeners to race riots. T-20 stated that COBY SMITH and JOHN B. SMITH, who claim no relation, were respectfully told that the NAACP could not accept the complaint until it was reduced to affidavit form and until JOHN B. SMITH signed same.

As of the night of July 3, 1967, neither JOHN B. SMITH nor COBY SMITH made any effort to recontact the NAACP for the purpose of signing the affidavit.

T-20 advised that the considered and reflected opinion of T-20, who has been among the strongest civil rights leaders in Memphis in recent years, is that the arrest complained of was merely being propagandized by COBY SMITH in an effort to (1) inflate his ego, (2) to create a vehicle through which he might form a chapter of the SNCC in Memphis, and (3) to provide a means whereby he could possibly incite young Negroes in Memphis to commit violence.

On the night of July 3, 1967, [redacted], Inspectional Bureau, Memphis Police Department, advised that on the evening of July 3, 1967, COBY VERNON SMITH had brought one JOHN B. SMITH, [redacted], to the Inspectional Bureau to make a complaint concerning the July 1, 1967, arrest of CHARLES CABBAGE, DARRY JONES, and JOHN BURRELL SMITH. SMITH had in his possession a city map which he apparently had obtained from one of the city officers. Basically COBY VERNON

SMITH, who was the spokesman, was complaining that the police should not have arrested CABBAGE, JONES and JOHN B. SMITH. He further alleged that the officers handcuffed JOHN B. SMITH too tightly and that the officers, after arresting him and bringing him to headquarters, kept him in a room, the temperature of which was too cold for comfort.

On July 11, 1967, Lt. [redacted], Inspectional Bureau, Memphis Police Department, furnished copies of the arrest tickets relative to the three hereinbefore identified arrestees.

The record of arrest relative to DARRY JONES (NMN), Arrest No. 16224, showed that he was arrested July 1, 1967, at 2:00 AM, at 1465 South Third; that he was born [redacted]; that he was a male Negro, age [redacted], residence, [redacted], and was then employed as a laborer at the Kimco Auto Parts; and that he had been arrested with CHARLES LAVERNE CABBAGE and JOHN BURRELL SMITH, based on a complaint made to the Police Department by RUSSELL HOOD of [redacted], Business Telephone No. 946-9273. The record of arrest further showed that the arrestee was driving a 1963 Volkswagen with Shelby County, Tennessee License BF-3750, and that he was specifically charged with resisting arrest and disorderly conduct. He was scheduled to appear in Memphis City Court, Division II, at 9:00 AM, July 1, 1967. The arresting officers were listed as [redacted] and [redacted], both assigned to the Police Department Car HU 500. The narrative provided by Officers [redacted] and [redacted] stated as follows:

"At approximately 1:55 AM, this date, the undersigned officers received a theft call to 1465 S. Third, the Humble Oil Station. Upon our arrival we were met by JOHN BERRELL SMITH, MC, of [redacted], who stated that he was the one that called and that the service station man there had stolen his gas cap. There were cars all over the lot and approximately 60 MCs ganged around the lot. We then called the attendant of the station over and asked him about the gas cap. He stated to us that when he came in there that he did not have a gas cap. At this time all of these MCs ganged around us, started interrupting in the conversation and we asked them to get back in their cars and we would try to handle the call. None of them would move, we asked them several more times and they didn't

"move. At this time we placed Jones under arrest for disorderly conduct, he started walking off and stated that he was not under arrest and that he would blow the undersigned officers dam_ head off. At this time all of them gathered around us and we then called for assistance on the call. We then had to use manual force and put the handcuffs on Jones to place him in the car. We then arrested Cabbage and Smith for the Disorderly Conduct charge and force had to be used to place these two subjects in the car. At this time Smith jumped back out of the squad car and force had to be used to place this subject back in the car. None of these defendants were ever hit but only manual force was used. Smith received a small scratch on his forehead in the scuffle. We then transported these subjects to Headquarters where they were offered the intoxi-i-meter test at 2:40 a.m., by Tech. [redacted], at which time all three refused. All of these subjects were drinking heavy at the time of arrest and were observed earlier on a lot of the cafe at 299 S. Parkway W."

The arrest ticket for CHARLES LAVERNE CABBAGE, Arrest No. 16223, showed his arrest took place July 1, 1967, at 2:00 AM. He was born [redacted]; is a male Negro, age [redacted]; residence [redacted]; occupation unemployed; location of arrest, 1465 S. Third with DARRY JONES, male Negro, age [redacted], and JOHN BERRELL SMITH, age [redacted], based on the complaint of RUSSELL HOOD, residence [redacted]. He was occupying at the time of arrest a 1963 Volkswagen bearing Shelby County, Tennessee, License BF-3750, and was charged with resisting arrest and disorderly conduct and scheduled to appear in Memphis City Court, Division II, at 9:00 AM, July 1, 1967. The above-mentioned [redacted] and [redacted] were shown as the arresting officers and under the narrative of offense there was a notation, "See Ticket on Darry Jones, male colored, age [redacted]."

The arrest ticket concerning JOHN BERRELL SMITH, Arrest No. 16222, showed that he, too, was arrested at 2:00 AM, July 1, 1967, at 1465 South Third, by the above-identified Officers [redacted] and [redacted]; that the birth date of SMITH was [redacted]; that he was a male Negro, age [redacted]; residence, [redacted]; and that he was arrested with CHARLES LAVERNE CABBAGE, male Negro, age [redacted], and DARRY JONES, age [redacted], male Negro, based on the complaint made by RUSSELL HOOD. He was occupying the same Volkswagen described above. He, too, was charged with "resisting arrest and disorderly conduct" and was scheduled to appear in Memphis City Court, Division II, at 9:00 AM, July 1, 1967. The narrative of offense showed the notation "See ticket on Darry Jones, male colored, age [redacted]."

On July 6, 1967, T-22 advised that COBY VERNON SMITH on the evening of July 5, 1967, had bragged that he had threatened "Tri-State Defender" Editor McCANN L. REID and further confided that he, COBY SMITH, and CHARLES CABBAGE had gone to Memphis in the hopes of creating racial disturbance and he personally would like to see a race riot incited in Memphis, Tennessee. SMITH indicated that his associate, CHARLES CABBAGE, had allegedly graduated from Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia, in the Spring of 1967. COBY SMITH bragged that both he and CABBAGE patterned themselves after STOKELY CARMICHAEL and that CABBAGE had given much trouble to the Morehouse College administration and inferred that both he and CABBAGE had been in recent race riots in Atlanta, Georgia. COBY SMITH added he was going to turn Memphis into a militant and violent SNCC town and was obtaining a house at [redacted], which T-22 stated is in the heart of a solid Negro neighborhood surrounded by several square miles of Negro homes and apartments, to use as SNCC "Freedom House." His problem he said was that he had no money and to date had received no cooperation on the part of the Negro adults with whom he had come in contact. He said that he had talked with MAXINE SMITH, Executive Secretary of the Memphis Branch of the NAACP, and that she had discouraged him and offered him no help whatsoever. b6 b7C

T-22 continued that physically he feels COBY SMITH is sick and further feels he may be mentally sick by being deranged with hallucinations of grandeur by virtue of the irresponsible statements he has made indicating he wants to see a riot develop in Memphis. T-22 stated SMITH is temporarily living with his father, EMMETT E. SMITH, an employee of International-Harvester; that he and his father do not have a harmonious relationship as the father is conservative and cautious in his views; and that COBY SMITH's mother, who "babies" him, is now visiting COBY's brother, a Postal employee in San Francisco.

T-22 added that on the evening of July 5, 1967, COBY SMITH unsuccessfully attempted to place three telephone calls to SNCC leaders in Atlanta, Georgia. He attempted to call RALPH FEATHERSTONE, purportedly SNCC Project Director, and

STANLEY WISE of SNCC, and also attempted to call an attorney, H. MOORE, JR., who SMITH indicated was a SNCC attorney. The numbers which he tried to reach in Atlanta were 573-4616 and 525-8372.

COBY SMITH said that he hoped to get financial support for a radical SNCC movement from some unidentified political science professor at Southwestern College. He was also seeking any sort of automobile which he and his group could use.

COBY SMITH said he had the moral support of a small group in Memphis which each Saturday protests on downtown streets in the form of a peace vigil demonstrating against United States policy in Vietnam. He said that he had sought support of one of the leaders of the Vietnam demonstrators, JAMES MORRIS LAWSON, JR., male Negro, Pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church, Memphis, but who had told him that he did not feel that SNCC could gain a foothold in Memphis as people in Memphis tended to rely on the NAACP for civil rights leadership. COBY SMITH said a teacher by the name of LACEY, who teaches at Hamilton High School, had indicated a willingness to assist him and do office and paper work for any SNCC group. (The 1966 Memphis City Directory shows RICHARD E. LACEY, wife PATRICIA B., occupation teacher at Hamilton High School, residence [redacted]). SMITH indicated he will definitely obtain the building at [redacted] and it will be rent free for the first month. He did not become specific concerning details of the rental but said he would "give anything to know what it takes to incite a riot in Memphis." Mrs. Richard E. Lacey b6 b7C

He wanted to hire a photographer to photograph the entire inside of the Memphis Police Department, indicating that he wanted to use this for propaganda purposes. COBY SMITH made additional statements to the effect that "there will be riots here." He also indicated that he would attempt to gain the support of an African Exchange student at Southwestern College, ANTHONY ABDULLA, who may have stayed with SMITH's parents during the past school year.

Again on July 7, 1967, T-22 stated that on that evening COBY SMITH was driving a Honda motorcycle bearing Louisiana Tag No. 3268 and inferred that he, in the very near future, would move into [redacted].

Again on July 9, 1967, T-22 advised that COBY VERNON SMITH was one of the nine participants in a peace vigil held from 2 to 3:00 PM, Saturday, July 8, 1967, at Main and Gayoso, Memphis, participated in by a group of principally young people protesting United States involvement in Vietnam. The spokesman for this group was the above-identified JAMES M. LAWSON, JR. During the demonstration SMITH held placards opposing United States policy in Vietnam but seemed more preoccupied with promoting a "black power program." When various young Negroes, both male and female, would pass by the sidewalk, they would tend to question the motives or actions of the demonstrators and SMITH would challenge them and would say, "Come back here, I'm not nonviolent, I'm with SNCC." SMITH made statements that he would do his best to bring STOKELY CARMICHAEL and RAP BROWN to Memphis before the end of July.

T-22 said Reverend JAMES LAWSON appeared to be nervous and concerned at the intemperate statements made by COBY SMITH but made no effort whatsoever to dissuade him from making the statements or to caution him to conduct himself in a manner befitting a pacifist, nor did any of the other demonstrators disagree or try to quiet him. COBY SMITH kept telling the person standing next to him, RODNEY PUTNAM GATES, JR., that Negroes are forgetting they are Negroes and are being "suckered" into being integrated with whites. COBY SMITH, during the demonstration, kept saying in a loud voice that he had helped to start recent race riots in Atlanta, although he did not elaborate. A group of unidentified Negroes driving a Ford Mustang drove by and argued with COBY SMITH, saying he had gotten a badly confused education at Southwestern; that he was wrong in his actions and statements; and that they were in Vietnam fighting to protect him while he was getting his mind confused. COBY SMITH stated he was going through all of the Negro neighborhoods in Memphis preaching black power and trying to promote a militant race movement in Memphis.

On July 7, 1967, ME T-23 advised that on July 2, 1967, McCANN REID, Editor, "Tri-State Defender," had been contacted by CHARLES CABBAGE and COBY SMITH who made a complaint about the July 1, 1967, arrest, above described, and stated that they planned to utilize the facts of this arrest to create racial unrest in Memphis, to embarrass the Memphis Police Department, and that they hoped to see a race riot in Memphis. They wanted the "Tri-State Defender" to lead a crusade in this direction and were most angry when REID refused to accede to their request, which later during the conversation became a demand. COBY SMITH kept making the statement that he was tired of his black brothers being cowards and being afraid to fight on the streets for their rights.

On July 10, 1967, ME T-24 advised that he had been informed that the July 1, 1967, arrest of JONES, CABBAGE and JOHN B. SMITH could have been a "set-up operation," inasmuch as this group purportedly hung out at the Log Cabin Inn located at Parkway at Latham. T-24 had heard that a large number of Negroes appeared on the scene at the service station where the arrest took place almost simultaneously and it would have been most unusual for that many Negroes to be in the vicinity as late as 2:00 AM on a Sunday morning. He further said that a girl friend of JOHN SMITH, VIVIAN CUNNINGHAM, who lives on [redacted] and who has been living common-law with SMITH in his apartment, has been telling stories to the effect that the vicious city of Memphis placed exorbitant fines on SMITH, CABBAGE and JONES. T-24 advised that JOHN B. SMITH has the reputation of being a contentious and obstreperous and hot-headed individual who "always wants his own way." T-24 added that CABBAGE, who has recently been away from Memphis, prior to leaving Memphis had a good reputation having formerly been a basketball star at Owen College. CABBAGE and SMITH have, according to T-24, been attempting to induce the Elites, Inc., a young Negro social club, to raise money to pay for their fines, although to date there has been no mention made in these circles to indicate that they are trying to form a SNCC chapter.

On July 11, 1967, Lt. [redacted], supra, advised that actually to date none of the three arrestees have been fined; that they have all appeared before City Judge BERNIE WEINMAN on the morning of July 1, 1967, and he postponed their City Court case until July 29, 1967; and that all were released from jail on the morning of July 1, 1967, on bond of $101.00 each.

On July 31, 1967, Lt. [redacted], Inspectional Bureau, Memphis, Tennessee Police Department, advised that on July 28, 1967, RUSSELL X. THOMPSON, attorney at law, hired by CHARLES LAVERNE CABBAGE, JOHN BURRELL SMITH and DARRY JONES to represent them in City Court, had heard they might bring a number of followers and sympathizers to the court room and engage in a demonstration and that, after conferring with Assistant Memphis City Attorney Joseph A. Canale, Jr., it was decided to transfer the case to the court of Judge RAY CHURCHILL. This was done and on July 28, 1967, Judge CHURCHILL dismissed charges against CABBAGE, JOHN SMITH, and JONES.

On July 3, 1967, T- 2 advised that COBY VERNON SMITH was one of the organizers of a chapter of SSOC in Memphis, Tennessee, during the Fall of 1966 while still a student at Southwestern College, Memphis; that since that time SMITH has been a constant agitator who preaches militancy in general terms and who has constantly advocated black power, fancying himself as a follower of the hate-monger and former National Chairman of SNCC, STOKELY CARMICHAEL.

Connection With Socialist Workers Party

On June 5, 1967, ME T-25 advised that COBY SMITH was one of the out-of-town attendees of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) Plenum held June 2-4, 1967, at 873 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

(The SWP has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450).

On July 22, 1967, T-22 advised that on July 22, 1967, COBY VERNON SMITH appeared at Main and Gayoso to participate in the Vietnam Summer peace vigil only to learn it had been called off due to inclement weather. Also appearing was a male Negro named BILL WHITEHEAD, former Manassas High School student and earlier participant in the vigils held in April and May of 1967. He then appeared to be a protege of BRENDA LOIS HOWARD. In fact, WHITEHEAD was looking for BRENDA HOWARD and inferred he had been with the HOWARDS possibly on their recent trip to San Francisco. WHITEHEAD said he is opening a sign shop.

BRENDA LOIS HOWARD and DOUGLAS TURNER HOWARD, JR.

On December 9, 1966, T-26 advised that during 1966 DOUG and BRENDA HOWARD of [redacted], were members of the

b6
b7C

W.E.B. DuBois Clubs of America (DCA), DOUG HOWARD being a San Francisco State student and BRENDA HOWARD an employee of Bekin Van and Storage Company.

On February 2, 1967, T-27 advised that since September, 1966, DOUGLAS TURNER HOWARD, JR., wife BRENDA, had been an instructor in English at Memphis State University (MSU).

COBY SMITH commented that the Vietnam Summer Group is too mild, not sufficiently militant; that he sees fit to demonstrate with them as it affords him exposure to the public and gives him an opportunity to meet potential recruits.

T-22 added that on July 22, 1967, COBY SMITH said he was still trying to form a militant Black Nationalist movement in Memphis and still hoped to form a SNCC "Freedom House"; that he had recently talked to the administrative assistant of Memphis Mayor WILLIAM B. INGRAM, regarding some of his demands such as: demand for more recreation for Negroes, more jobs, better housing, and lower bus fares. He wants to organize Negroes living in the various Memphis Housing Authority Projects. He said his is a deeply Black Nationalistic approach "framed totally to a completely racially segregated community" and that his movement will completely withdraw from whites. He said the various anti-poverty programs, such as MAPS, could not solve the Negro poverty problem as it was dependent upon the "white power structure" for support and guidance and funds.

COBY added he is now attending the second 6-weeks summer school session at Memphis State University. He bragged that he has patterned himself after the renowned Black Nationalist leader, STOKELY CARMICHAEL, former National Chairman of SNCC, and is even dressing and trying to look like CARMICHAEL. He said recently people in the vicinity of Trigg Avenue and Florida Street thought he was CARMICHAEL.

He said he is planning a "black power" meeting for Tuesday night, July 25, 1967, place not specified. He gave WHITEHEAD his parents' telephone number at [redacted] and wants WHITEHEAD to call him about the meeting. b6 b7C

COBY said he had "lined up" a Negro (FNU) SMITH, a United States Armed Forces Veteran, who was an Army photographer, who will work with him.

He also has a recruit phonetically named "Bubba" HARRIS who drives a late model Mercury Comet automobile, white in color.

COBY said his most likely Negro ally at MSU was the female, ASTRID LINDSEY, nee Sengstacke, of [redacted] b6 b7C [redacted]. He said he had been talking to her; that she is a militant Black Nationalist; that she has affected the true, natural African look; that she had married an ignorant white male several years ago and had moved to New York City; that she bore her husband two children, following which the marriage, broke; and that she now realizes the whites only try to sexually exploit Negro women and cast them aside when they tire of them. Now, COBY said, she is extremely bitter toward the white race and merely is biding her time to come out in the open as a militant Black Nationalist.

COBY said Memphis State University is an ideal place to inaugurate a militant Black Nationalist program because here the Negro is closely associated with white students and professors and school administrators. By clever propaganda, SMITH said, the Negro student can be propagandized into becoming disillusioned with the racially desegregated schooling by being convinced that the whites only want the exceptionally talented Negro such as the outstanding artist, musician or athlete, merely for selfish exploitation.

COBY complained most of the Memphis Negro community, especially the adults, are afraid of him and are against him.

With regard to ASTRID LINDSEY, T-22 advised she is the daughter of WHITTIER SENGSTACKE, whose family owns the largest chain of Negro newspapers in the United States, including the "Chicago Daily Defender" and the Memphis "Tri-State Defender." The SENGSTACKES are basically conservative. ASTRID, however, several years ago met a white lad, living in the Glenview area of Memphis. He was a truck driver. They ran off to New York City and married.

She had two children. The marriage failed and she returned home to live with her parents at [redacted]. She is attending MSU studying to be a teacher. She is totally dependent on her parents at the present time and is technically on the payroll of the "Tri-State Defender," as a business stratagem, for tax purposes. She is a bitter Black Nationalist in her thinking and would be "ripe" for exploitation by a demagogue such as COBY SMITH.

b7C

On March 17, 1967, T-28 advised that as of that date ASTRID LINDSEY, [redacted], was a subscriber to the "National Guardian," New York, N. Y., weekly newspaper.

"NATIONAL GUARDIAN "

The "National Guardian," weekly newspaper, New York, New York, issue of May 6, 1967, Page 2, captioned, "A Statement from the Guardian," said, "... With this issue, the National Guardian reaffirms its journalistic and political commitment to a growing American left, and sets a radical perspective for fulfilling that commitment. ... In continuing its traditional independence, the Guardian acknowledges its responsibility for making connections among radicals."

On May 3, 1967, T-29 advised that on April 13, 1967, JANET DEWART of the SSOC Staff, 1703 Portland Avenue, Nashville, Tennessee, in welcoming a new member from New Orleans, Louisiana, into SSOC had commented that "There is now a New Orleans chapter of SSOC, formed last week through the efforts of COBY SMITH. It is possible for you to join that if you wish and pay your dues later."

On May 9, 1967, A Special Agent of the FBI observed COBY VERNON SMITH, MICHAEL LANE WELCH, white male, and LORENZO CHILDRESS together in downtown Memphis.

On May 9, 1967, T-2 identified SMITH as a SSOC member; identified WELCH as of that time as the Memphis organizer of SSOC; and identified CHILDRESS as a male Negro student at Southwestern College, Memphis, and one who had since the Fall of 1966 been a close associate of SSOC members in Memphis.

ME #100-4070

On July 18, 1967, LOUIS R. HOBSON, Principal, Manassas High School, Memphis, volunteered that he had just heard that one of his former students, COBY VERNON SMITH, was back in Memphis trying to create a "black power" Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) group in Memphis in an effort to create racial strife.

He added that COBY VERNON SMITH, a male Negro, born [redacted] at Memphis, the son of LULA and EMMETT SMITH, both of [redacted], had graduated from Manassas in May, 1964; that he had been a better-than-average student; had been president of the student body and had won the Legion of Merit, one of twelve winners throughout the United States (two winners from each of six United States Army districts) while a senior. This was awarded him because of his outstanding achievements in the National Defense Cadet Corps Unit at Manassas. In high school, he had definite leadership qualities. His mother, LULA SMITH, was president of the Parent-Teachers Association (PTA) and has pampered COBY as he was the youngest of several children.

COBY has always been highly emotional and intense.

HOBSON said he interceded with JAMESON JONES, Dean of Students, Southwestern College, Memphis, to get COBY a scholarship at that school, beginning in September, 1964. He also procured a scholarship for another 1964 Manassas graduate, LORENZO CHILDRESS, male Negro. CHILDRESS, large in build, was a star football player. At Southwestern CHILDRESS made the football team and had studied, having a goal of wanting to be a doctor. b6 b7C

COBY by contrast was small in stature, had no fixed goals. He was water boy on the football team at Southwestern and fell behind CHILDRESS in popularity and student acceptance. Accordingly, he was merely the proverbial "small frog in the big pond." He became more and more resentful and was never happy at Southwestern. His grades deteriorated and HOBSON heard he flunked out in January or February, 1967. He has not seen COBY in nearly a year.

Participation in "Vietnam Summer" Frances

On July 3, 1967, T-2 advised that FRANCES KATHRYN HETZER, [redacted], a student at Memphis State University (MSU) who has done much of the organizational work for "Vietnam Summer," commented that the scheduled July 1, 1967, demonstration failed to materialize when most of the scheduled participants failed to appear.

She said the Vietnam Summer group had a new recruit, COBY VERNON SMITH, of [redacted], a Southwestern College "flunk-out," and that COBY had gone to Main and Gayoso Street on July 1, 1967, to participate. She said COBY is militant, that he will refuse to be inducted into the United States Armed Forces, that he had trouble with the Selective Service in New Orleans, Louisiana, in the Spring of 1967, and that he does not want his Memphis Draft Board to know he is back in town. b6 b7C

On July 4, 1967, T-2 advised that on July 3, 1967, FRANCES HETZER was seeking active supporters for Vietnam Summer.

She advised that the new Vietnam Summer supporter, COBY SMITH, is trying to start a SNCC chapter in Memphis.

On July 6, 1967, T-2 advised that the Vietnam Summer group met at Centenary Methodist Church on the night of July 5, 1967. Among those persons present were the following:

Reverend JAMES MORRIS LAWSON, male Negro;

COBY VERNON SMITH, who was accompanied by an unidentified male Negro, dark complexioned, with wiry long hair, baby-faced, 18 to 20 years old, 5' 11" tall, slender, wearing tennis shoes;

RODNEY PUTNAM GATES, JR., and girl friend, SARAH RIGHTOR;

MICHAEL LANE WELCH, of 2358 Broad, Memphis, an SSOC staff member, now working out of SSOC Headquarters at 1703 Portland Avenue, Nashville;

THOMAS M. GARDNER, National Chairman of SSOC and who during the Summer of 1967 is also serving as Southern Coordinator of "Vietnam Summer."

COBY SMITH said he was trying to form a chapter of SNCC in Memphis; was in the process of setting up a SNCC headquarters and had located, for use, a five-room house; and that he needed furniture. COBY said he will live in the house.

LAWSON proposed that the group promote a "Vietnam Summer" teach-in on Vietnam in Memphis around August 1, 1967. He wanted the group to canvass various areas of Memphis and pass out literature opposing United States policy in Vietnam in the vicinity of LeMoyne Gardens, a public housing project; LeMoyne College; Sienna College; and MSU. He wanted all segments of Memphis reached. LAWSON said that beginning Tuesday night, July 11, 1967, workshops will be held in his church to prepare for this massive project and that another workshop will be held on July 18, 1967, at the Centenary Methodist Church. LAWSON said he would use SSOC-provided information sheets regarding Vietnam, furnished by THOMAS M. GARDNER.

GARDNER provided material including, "Student Mobilizer," a 4-page newspaper, devoted to opposing United States policy in Vietnam, and "SSOC in the South," a leaflet dated June 28, 1967, further identified as "Membership Mailing No. 9."

GARDNER was noted to be a white male, about 5' 10" tall, about [redacted] years old, thin to medium build, blond hair, worn medium length, straight. He drove a 1963 or 1964 white Falcon four-door bearing North Carolina License FV-5850, bearing a Camp LeJeune, N. C. base sticker. b6 b7C

"The Student Mobilizer," copies of which were furnished by GARDNER, is published by the Student Mobilization Committee. The address of the "Student Mobilizer" is shown to be 17 East 17th Street, New York, N. Y., 1003, and its masthead states it was founded to organize action against the war in Vietnam, among American students and youth. GARDNER furnished the July, 1967, issue, Volume I, No. 3.

Following the meeting, WELCH, GARDNER, COBY SMITH and SMITH's unidentified Negro companion left in GARDNER's car.

Records of the Nashville-Davidson County Metropolitan Police Department show the above North Carolina

STUDENT MOBILIZATION COMMITTEE

Report by the Committee on Un-American Activities, U. S. House of Representatives, Ninetieth Congress, First Session, dated March 31, 1967, entitled, "Communist Origin and Manipulation of Vietnam Week (April 8-15, 1967)," stated in part, that the national office of the Student Mobilization Committee (SMC) was set up in New York City primarily at the insistence of the Trotskyist Communists with Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) support.

It is reported that the planning conference held in Chicago, Illinois, December 28-30, was attended by 257 persons and that the organizers have openly admitted that representatives of the following took part in the Conference:

Communist Party, USA:

W.E.B. DuBois Clubs of America;

Progressive Labor Party (the Peking-oriented faction of the United States Communist movement);

Socialist Workers Party (SWP) (the Trotskyist Communists);

Young Socialist Alliance (youth branch of the Socialist Workers Party);

Youth Against War and Fascism (youth branch of the Socialist Workers Party, a Trotskyist splinter group).

It continued on Page 23, that one of the delegates wrote an accurate description of the Chicago meeting which was published in February, 1967, issue of "Challenge," an official publication of the Progressive Labor Party (PLP). He wrote, "The conference was dominated by the Communist Party of the United States (CPUSA), the DuBois Clubs and the Young Socialist Alliance. It refused to consider 'politics for advancing the movement,' suggested by Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) and Progressive Labor Party (PLP)."

The Committee Report added that in the Student Mobilization Committee's , "A Call to Vietnam Week," for April 8-15, 1967, it listed five SMC regional offices, including the Southern Student Organizing Committee with headquarters in Nashville, Tennessee.

(Characterizations of the Progressive Labor Party (PLP), the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), W.E.B. DuBois Clubs of America (DCA), Young Socialist Alliance (YSA), and Youth Against War and Fascism (YAWF) are set forth in the Appendix Section of this communication.)

Beginning at 1:00 PM, July 8, 1967, a representative of the FBI and a representative of the Memphis Police Department, Inspectional Bureau, observed another peace vigil at Main and Gayoso in front of Shainberg's Department Store, Memphis.

Reverend JAMES MORRIS LAWSON, JR., arrived late, about 1:50 PM. He brought the literature, about 200 copies of a legal-sized brown mimeograph throwaway. These quoted various past and present military and diplomatic leaders of the United States, pointing out the untenable position of the United States in Vietnam and of Oriental involvements. The demonstration lasted until 3:00 PM, with LAWSON handing out the "throwaways" to passers-by. No arrests were made, although a goodly number of passers-by, both Negro and white, voiced vocal disapproval of the demonstrators. Several "hippies," new breed of dirty alleged "psychedelics" in town for a "love-in" scheduled for Overton Park July 9, 1967, appeared on the scene. They were all white, both male and female. Four of them talked at length with COBY SMITH.

On July 10, 1967, T-30 advised that Reverend JAMES MORRIS LAWSON, JR., was the main spokesman at the July 8, 1967, demonstration. Reverend LAWSON arrived late, brought the pamphlets containing statements of various present and past military leaders denouncing the United States position in Vietnam or the United States involvement in Oriental conflicts as being untenable.

T-30 added that basically LAWSON and a white male, 5' 11" tall, with black hair worn long, wearing horn-rimmed glasses, and who said he was a medical student, gave moralistic pacifist views opposing United States policy in Vietnam, rather than political views. Nevertheless, their arguments were one-sided in that they chose only to denounce the United States and not the Viet Cong, National Liberation Front, and their Chinese and Russian Communistic backing in the Vietnam Conflict.

T-30 said LAWSON and the white medical student said there would be another peace vigil Saturday, July 15, 1967, at Main and Gayoso; that later they would commence holding "Vietnam Summer" workshops at LAWSON's church, the Centenary Methodist Church, Alston at Mississippi Boulevard in Memphis, and thereafter hoped to "shame" other church groups in Memphis into joining their efforts and movement.

On May 9, 1967, T-31 advised that on WHBQ-TV, Channel 13, Memphis, Tennessee, a panel discussion took place on April 30, 1967. Reverend James Morris Lawson, Jr., Negro male, Pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church and Vice President of the Memphis Ministerial Alliance, was a panelist. LAWSON who had been a leader in demonstrations opposing United States intervention in Vietnam, held in Memphis beginning April 8, 1967, was asked by "Press Scimitar" newspaper reporter, CLARK PORTEOUS, if he, LAWSON, was a Communist. LAWSON replied that he was not a member of the CP but felt that the Communist program had many good points and much to offer the United States.

FRANCES KATHRYN HETZER

On April 26, 1967, T-32 advised that in late 1966 FRANCES KATHRYN HETZER was a mental patient in the West Tennessee Mental Hospital, Bolivar, Tennessee.

ME #100-4070

On July 22, 1967, a Special Agent of the FBI observed BRENDA HOWARD, RODNEY P. GATES, JR., and SARAH RIGHTOR at Main and Gayoso from 1:00 PM to 1:25 PM. At 1:25 PM, BRENDA stated that the peace vigil planned by them at this time was being called off due to rain and lack of participants.

At 2:00 PM, July 22, 1967, the Special Agent observed COBY VERNON SMITH at the corner of Main and Gayoso where BRENDA HOWARD had waited.

"VIETNAM SUMMER

The May 24, 1967, issue of the "Commercial Appeal", Memphis, Tennessee, daily newspaper, Page 9, carried an Associated Press (AP) story reporting that Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR. had on April 23, 1967, joined in a news conference with Pediatrician Dr. BENJAMIN SPOCK and ROBERT SCHEER, Editor of "Ramparts" Magazine, and called for a "Vietnam Summer" that would use techniques of the civil rights movement to pressure the Johnson Administration to end the war in Vietnam.

The "National Review" Magazine, Page 393, April 19, 1967, issue, stated, "Some of 'Ramparts' multiple links with Communists and Communist causes have already been written about; some are, in fact, quite open."

"Jessica Mitford, identified under oath as a Party member, is listed as Contributing Editor. Managing Editor Robert Scheer was active, like several other 'Ramparters' in the 'Fair Play for Cuba Committee,' visiting Cuba in defiance of State Department regulations and also made a secret trip to Prague only this February. A member of the Communist Party's national committee, Carl Bloice, was coordinator of Scheer's 1966 campaign for the California Legislature and that its publisher, Edward M. Keating, was then directing the West Coast activities of the Vietnik 'Spring Mobilization,' an operation launched by the United-Communist front."

The "Tri-State Defender," Memphis, Tennessee, paper, issue of May 13, 1967, reported that "Vietnam Summer Project," headed by Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR., held its first planning session the previous week and that represented there were Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), the National Council of Churches (NCC), Women's International League for Peace and Freedom (WILPF), and Inter-University Committee. This article stated that the spokesman for the group was JOHN MAHER. It is noted that PHILLIP ABBOT LUCE in his book, "The New Left," published in 1966, stated with regard to JOHN MAHER that by September, 1965, the youth movement of the Progressive Labor Party (PLP), namely, the May 2nd Movement (M2M), had gotten carried away with the concept of opposing the war in Vietnam carrying same on in the confines of the Free University of New York (FUNY), which was formed in the Summer of 1965 by the M2M and the PLP, the latter described by LUCE as a pro-Chinest Communist group in the United States, and that the money for this school was supplied by JOHN MAHER, older brother of ALBERT MAHER, prominent leader of the PLP. LUCE continued that JOHN MAHER was at the time working on his Ph.D. at Harvard University and later became the M2M Coordinator in the Boston area. LUCE further pointed out that MAHER's sister was MARY MAHER LAUB, wife of LEVI LAUB, a PLP leader and then a member of the National Committee of the PLP.

The "National Guardian," issue of May 20, 1967, Page 7, stated that Vietnam Summer had established headquarters at 129 Mount Auburn Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts, and the Director would be LEE WEBB of the National Institute of Policy Studies. (T- 2 has advised that LEE WEBB was former National Secretary for the SDS and during April, 1967, conducted a Southern Speaking Tour under the auspices of the hereinbefore identified SSOC).

This same "National Guardian" article stated, "The only political thing that the national office will be rigorous on, WEBB said, is that volunteers develop contacts that involve new people, new geographic areas, new classes, and new racial groups. Otherwise, they can develop their own Vietnam emphasis program."

"The Worker," East Coast Communist newspaper, issue of May 21, 1967, Page 2, in an article written by writer CARL BLOICE at Cambridge, Massachusetts, reported on the formation of Vietnam Summer, stating that SUE THRASHER is in charge of the South for Vietnam Summer and described her as a founding member and leader of the SSOC, described as a group formed by Southern white civil rights activists.

(Characterization of the May 2nd Movement (M2M) is set forth in the Appendix Section of this communication).

FREE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK (FUNY) Phillip Abbot Luce

The FUNY, he said, was formed in the Summer of 1965 by members of the Progressive Labor Party (PLP), a Maoist-pro-Chinest Communist organization, and its youth branch, the May Second Movement (M2M), and is headed by Dr. ALLEN KREBS who made an illegal trip to Cuba in 1964 and who was later fired from Adelphi College for teaching Marxism instead of Sociology. LUCE said the 1965 Fall Catalog lists such teachers as HERBERT APTHEKER of the CPUSA; VICTOR PERLO, CPUSA; LEVI LAUB and MILT ROSEN, both of the PLP; CALVIN HICKS (Black Nationalist); and CHARLES JOHNSON(Revolutionary Action Movement) and that many courses taught are "Anarchistic and Synergetic Politics," "Imperialism: A Marxist-Leninist View," "Ethics and Revolution," "Marxist Geography," "Art and Revolution." LUCE concludes that "of all the organizations on the new left, the PLP represents the Chinese revolutionary line the most clearly." He said that the money to establish FUNY was originally supplied by JOHN MAHER, an older brother of ALBERT MAHER of the PLP.

In addition to the above information, previous investigation conducted by the Memphis FBI revealed that on November 25 and 26, 1967, T-2 advised that on November 25 and 26, 1967 Rev.

JAMES MORRIS LAWSON, JR. permitted SSOC to hold a two-day conference November 25 and 26, 1966, in his church, the Centenary Methodist Church, on the theme, "The University--The Campus and the Community"; that Negro and white students from throughout the South attended this meeting; and that Reverend JAMES MORRIS LAWSON, JR., attended this meeting, claiming to be an adult adviser and sponsor of SSOC and was present at a portion of the conference. On November 25, 1966, COBY SMITH attended the workshop entitled, "Draft and Opposition toUniversal Military Training," at which he kept interjecting epithets against police, charging police authorities with perpetrating police brutality and claiming too many Negroes were in the Armed Forces of the United States.

Also on November 25, 1966, ME T-33, T-34 and T-35 confirmed SMITH's attendance at this conference and stated that COBY SMITH took the part of a self-admitted radical extremist; that he complained that SSOC was too mild; that Memphis, Tennessee, was too quiet and needed some action; that Mem phis needed a "good revolution"; and emphasized that students should defy authority and somehow gain and use power to "take over the universities."

ST On November 26, 1966, T-2 advised that MICHAEL LANE WELCH, who attended the conference with SMITH, and who was then a Southwestern student with SMITH, had, along with SMITH, said he wanted an active SSOC chapter in Memphis and had the backing of Reverend JAMES MORRIS LAWSON, JR.

On March 27, 1967, T-36 advised that on February 26, 1967, SSOC paid COBY V. SMITH $29.00 travel expenses to a SSOC Executive Committee meeting held in Nashville in February, 1967.

In connection with another FBI investigation, by communication dated April 12, 1967, the New Orleans FBI Division advised that STOKELY CARMICHAEL, leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), spoke at Dillard University, New Orleans; that COBY SMITH was present; that three New Orleans police officers observed an individual hold up and tear what appeared to be a card the approximate size of a draft registration card; that on April 12, 1967, COBY VERNON SMITH of [redacted] b6 b7C

[redacted], Negro male, born [redacted], admitted to Agents of the FBI that while attending CARMICHAEL's speech at Dillard University Chapel on April 10, 1967, he produced form his wallet a partially torn Selective Service Notice of Classification Card and, while holding it in the air, the card was set afire by a Negro male whose identity SMITH refused to furnish. SMITH claimed the burned card was void because he had received a more recent notice of classification. b6 b7C

During the interview SMITH produced from his wallet a Selective Service registration certificate in his name which certified his registration with the Selective Service System under the date of August 21, 1964. SMITH, while holding this card, stated it was not a violation to tear the card, whereupon he tore it in two pieces in front of the interviewing Agents.

SMITH furnished a statement in which he stated that he was attempting to demonstrate that it was not a violation to destroy a "void" notice of classification but through inadvertence he tore his registration certificate instead of a notice of classification.

On May 2, 1967, T-2 advised that on May 1, 1967, MICHAEL LANE WELCH, SSOC organizer, Memphis, commented that WELCH, COBY VERNON SMITH, and JANET DEWART had during late April, (1966) accompanied LEE WEBB, former SDS National Secretary, on a tour of southern schools, including Clemson College, Clemson, South Carolina, Atlanta and New Orleans. should be April 1967

On arrival at New Orleans, they went to the home of SMITH's uncle. The uncle either did not like WELCH and WEBB, both white, or resented their presence. At any rate, he told them all to leave and told COBY SMITH to pack his belongings and leave.

Also in connection with another FBI investigation, on May 9, 1967, ME T-36 advised that on the morning of May 9, 1967, SHIRLEY LOUISE NEWTON, Staff Director and Office Manager of SSOC; JANET DEWART, SSOC staff member; MICHAEL LANE WELCH and COBY VERNON SMITH all came to Memphis from Nashville in the SSOC Volkswagen bus; that NEWTON and DEWART remarked that COBY SMITH had just returned from Atlanta, Georgia, after having worked with SNCC and they indicated that he would continue to work with SNCC, probably in Atlanta, Georgia.

On March 31, 1967, T-3 advised that COBY VERNON SMITH, Negro male, born [redacted], a legal resident of [redacted], had enrolled in Southwestern College, Memphis, as a freshman in September, 1964, and continued through the first semester of 1966-67 school year ending in January, 1967. He was on academic probation during the second semester of 1966 and first semester 1966-67 school year and due to extremely poor grades was dropped from the rolls January 30, 1967, and is no longer eligible to attend Southwestern College. b6 b7C

As recently as August 7, 1967, T-24 advised that on Tuesday, August 1, 1967, the hereinbefore mentioned CHARLES CABBAGE and JOHN BURN SMITH, also known as John Burrell Smith, had picked up four purported SNCC members who were passing through town, one being named KENNETH WINGFIELD who had allegedly arrived in town from Georgia on that date and who had come to the Memphis Mosque of the Nation of Islam (NOI) seeking a place to stay. At this time CABBAGE and JOHN SMITH driving a gray Volkswagen had pointed out their desire to create racial strife in Memphis and to "turn this town upside down"; and they were attempting to utilize the NOI Mosque for future black power meetings. The Minister of the Mosque, CLEMMIE SHIELDS, JR., refused to cooperate with them and refused to allow the Mosque to be used for black power meetings.

Again on the evening of August 3, 1967, T-24 heard from a reliable individual that CABBAGE and JOHN SMITH had been in the vicinity of Trigg Avenue and Florida Street attempting to recruit young men into their black power organization.

With regard to CHARLES LAVERNE CABBAGE, on July 21, 1967, [redacted], Registrar's Office, Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia, advised that CHARLES LAVERNE CABBAGE entered that school in September, 1964, having previously attended Owen College, Memphis. He is not currently a student but did attend the second semester of the 1966-67 school year and was placed on academic probation at the completion of that same semester in May, 1967. He listed his date of birth as [redacted], and listed his address as [redacted]. He listed his father as IRVIN CABBAGE and his mother as JESSIE MAE CABBAGE. On July 21, 1967, the records of the Atlanta Police Department, Identification Division, were checked and failed to reflect any reference to CHARLES CABBAGE.

With regard to the hereinbefore CHARLES JONES and DONALD DOUGLASS, the indices of the Memphis FBI contain no identifiable information based on name only, and it is not known specifically at this point if the JOHN SMITH reportedly working for MAPS is identical with the hereinbefore identified JOHN BURN SMITH, also known as JOHN BURRELL SMITH.

On the morning of August 8, 1967, T-22 advised that on the evening of August 7, 1967, COBY VERNON SMITH had complained that he and CHARLES CABBAGE had been dismissed from their employment with MAPS; that he felt that certain white people connected with the Poverty Program had brought pressure to bear to force their dismissal; and that he inferred that BERT FERGUSON, Vice President and General Manager of Memphis Radio Station WDIA, a station aimed at a Negro audience, was primarily responsible for his dismissal. When another person present during the interview asked COBY SMITH whether or not he had as yet established a SNCC headquarters, he replied that he had not been able to do so, that he did not have any money, and concluded his remarks with, "We've had to go underground." COBY SMITH complained that CABBAGE and he had been trying to do a good job in the Poverty Program but that they had been arbitrarily let out and then he said, "We'll get them." He complained that the Memphis Police Department had been surveilling him and stated that recently he had talked with two male Negroes on the corner of Thomas and Firestone and that immediately thereafter the police arrested these two men for talking with him; that he later got a lawyer and obtained the release of these men.

Also on August 8, 1967, T-18 advised that the Memphis "Press-Scimitar" newspaper is still pursuing the issue of such people as COBY SMITH being employed by the Poverty Program and that one of its reporters is endeavoring to check the actual payrolls, and that the paper has been informed that Senator JAMES EASTLAND of the United States Senate Judiciary Committee and who is a Democrat from Mississippi, is sending an investigator to Memphis to investigate this matter. T-18 further stated that a representative of the "Press-Scimitar" had called the National Headquarters of SNCC in Atlanta, Georgia, asking an unidentified person whether or not CHARLES CABBAGE and/or COBY SMITH was a member and that the party answering indicated that SNCC had no current members in Memphis and stated that CABBAGE and SMITH may have been former members. The party then hung up.

The August 8, 1967, issue of the Memphis "Press-Scimitar," on page one carried the following article captioned, "Two 'Angry Young Men' Kicked Out," written by Staff Writer CHARLES A. BROWN:

> "Two Negro anti-poverty workers who have become the center of a controversy over their outside activities have been fired, it was revealed today.
> "The firing by the War on Poverty Committee touched off a hot new battle within the anti-poverty organization.
> "COBY VERNON SMITH and CHARLES CABBAGE are the men fired. They had worked four hours a day at $30 a week as 'aides' with the Memphis Area Project - South (MAP-South).
> "Explanation
> "HERSCHEL FEIBELMAN, attorney who is chairman of the WOPC, said the action came after information was received that the young men were associated with organizations 'with interests which don't coincide with those of the anti-poverty effort.'

"Rev. J. M. LAWSON, head of a 4,000-member citizens association which operates Memphis Area Project - South (MAP-South) as part of the War on Poverty, shot a stinging reply to action by the WOPC ordering dismissal of the two from his organization.

"'This represents, in my judgment, that the WOPC is not concerned with the end of poverty.....,' LAWSON said. 'They are not concerned with trying to wage an effective war. If this is their attitude, they might as well close up.'

"LAWSON also lashed out at a demand by the WOPC executive committee that weekly written reports of certain summer activities run by MAP-South be filed, 'the basis of which is that they want to check and see if we are teaching hate.'

LAWSON termed the two 'angry young men,' but said a thorough check with the police and FBI has failed to link them with any group advocating violence.

"Hesitation

"A spokesman for the Student Non-Violent Co-ordinating Committee (SNICK) was hesitant to talk possible membership of SMITH and CABBAGE in the Memphis SNICK organization, but said SMITH was a 'former member.'

"MAP-South, Inc., is a private, non-profit corporation, but is funded with Office of Economic Opportunity funds through the WOPC. Purpose of the project is to attack poverty at the grassroots level in a hard core poverty area often described as the worst in the city.

"LAWSON was elected chairman by the several thousand residents of the area organized by the MAP-South staff. He is also pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, Mississippi and Alston.

"No Reflection

"'This (firing) is not intended to reflect upon the character or activities of these two young men,' FEIBELMAN said, 'but is based upon the fact that the anti-poverty program and some of the announced aims of organizations which we understand they have been associated do not altogether coincide.'

"FEIBELMAN conceded that it is not definitely known whether the men are linked with any such groups.

"The MAP-South organization ignored one order to fire the youths issued about a week ago, FEIBELMAN said. Another order was issued yesterday, stating that anti-poverty funds would no longer be made available to pay SMITH and CABBAGE.

"FEIBELMAN had words of praise for the over-all MAP-South program. 'It is this type of organization that will eventually win this war,' FEIBELMAN said. 'Some other programs just scratch the surface. This one gets right down to the roots of the problem.'

"LAWSON said the order to submit weekly programs for such summer activities as art, theater, music and writers' workshops is 'sheer stupidity.' He said the action was prompted by reports of a 'hate school' being operated in Nashville with OEO funds. LAWSON said about 280 people are employed in the summer programs.

"'Both the men fired are angry guys,' LAWSON continued. 'Both are searching for direction. They have been taught by a society which gives credence to violence, hate and war. They are fairly typical of this generation of students.

"'To our knowledge, they are not members of SNICK. But all around the country there are friends of SNICK who don't agree with all policies of SNICK.'

"Background

"Reasons for dismissal of SMITH and CABBAGE were given LAWSON in a letter yesterday from WASHINGTON BUTLER, WOPC director.

"'It is believed by officials of the board of directors of the WOPC that there exists sufficient reason to investigate the allegations concerning Mr. COBY SMITH and Mrs. CHARLES CABBAGE. This position shall be official and permanent, unless the subject allegations are completely dispelled.'

"Told of LAWSON's reaction to the firings, FEIBELMAN said he hoped to arrange a meeting of the WOPC and MAP-South boards of directors, 'to discuss our relationship.'"

The August 9, 1967, issue of the Memphis "Commercial Appeal," on page 17 carried an article captioned, "MAP-South Calls Meeting on Firings," subcaptioned "Group Seeks to Reinstate Two Employes," which is as follows:

"The executive committee of the Memphis Area Project - South (MAP-South) will meet tomorrow night to determine what action can be taken to reinstate two employes who were fired yesterday by War on Poverty Committee officials.

"The Rev. JAMES M. LAWSON, chairman of MAP-South, said last night he and other committee members will reserve all comments on the firings until after tomorrow night's meeting.

"The Rev. Mr. LAWSON yesterday became angry when informed COBY VERNON SMITH and CHARLES CABBAGE were fired because they were associated with organizations 'which don't coincide with those of the anti-poverty effort.'

"HERSCHEL FEIBELMAN, attorney who is chairman of the WOPC, said the MAP-South organization ignored

[redacted] to fire the youths last week, and that anti-poverty funds will no longer be made available to pay Mr. SMITH and Mr. CABBAGE. They earned $30 a week as "aides."

"The Rev. Mr. LAWSON retorted by saying the order 'indicates...that the [redacted] is not concerned with the end of poverty. If this is their attitude, they might as well close up.'

"Mr. FEIBELMAN said it is not definitely known whether the two men are members of such groups as the Student Nonviolent Co-ordinating Committee (SNCC). The Rev. Mr. LAWSON insisted they were not.

"MAP-South, a private antipoverty organization, is funded through the WOPC with Office of Economic Opportunity allocations.

"The Rev. Mr. LAWSON said tomorrow night's meeting will be 'closed to the public, of course; it is an executive meeting. We will make a statement afterward.'

"Mr. SMITH and Mr. CABBAGE were unavailable for comment last night."

The "Press-Scimitar" Newspaper, issue of August 9, 1967, quoted COBY SMITH as saying, "Someone is out to get my job. It appears to be the War on Poverty Committee. They are the most vocal at least.... This is not something that just happens. It is well planned, they have been working on it a long time. It has been clear that someone was out to get me almost since the first day I arrived at the MAP South office, about a month ago. At that time someone was spreading harmful rumors about me and Cabbage.... Evidently this is an attempt to discredit the MAP - South Project."

SMITH claimed that in working for MAP - South he has organized a Boys' Club composed of about 70 youths, ages 13 - 22. He said: "It is a group of boys who otherwise would be known as incorrigible hoodlums and thieves."

The "Commercial Appeal" Newspaper, Memphis, Tennessee issued of August 10, 1967, reported that Cabbage and Smith continued to work for the MAP - South program despite the ruling of the WOPC. It said that AUTRY PARKER, Director of MAP-South, said that CABBAGE and SMITH would have to be notified of the charges against them and would have to be given an opportunity of a hearing on the charges. The story reported an interview with CABBAGE in which he said: "If the newspapers would report it like it really is, if they'd come into here and really look at poverty and stop worrying about inconsequential things like whether you're a 'SNICK' or a Communist, maybe we wouldn't have to burn it down."

The story continued that CABBAGE was asked why neither CABBAGE nor SMITH would confirm or deny that he was a member of SNCC and CABBAGE replied: "Because it's inconsequential. If STOKELY CARMICHAEL, former head of SNCC was to come in here, if he was the best man to do a job of fighting poverty, he ought to have the job, 'SNICK' is inconsequential to it. But they say, he's black, fire him, he's 'SNICK', fire him. You can call this trial by rumor, or lynching by the press. The reactionaries who bring these incidents up are not concerned with the real question - that's those poor people out there and whether their needs will be met."

The August 10, 1967, "Press-Scimitar" Newspaper reported that an investigation from the U. S. Senate Judiciary Committee would probe the CABBAGE-SMITH situation. The paper said both COBY SMITH and CHARLES CABBAGE refused to confirm or deny membership in SNCC. It quoted CABBAGE as saying" "If a man is dealing with the problem as it is, what matter whether he is a member of SNICK, is a Communist or a Black Nationalist or whatever?" The story quoted CABBAGE as saying: "Sure I'm sympathetic to SNICK. They are dealing with this poverty program at the grass roots and that's where you've got to deal with it..... Riots? Riots are started by just this sort of mess." The paper added that CABBAGE said he participated in civil rights demonstrations while a student at Morehouse College in Atlanta, Georgia, and marched in last April's (1967) New York Anti-Vietnam War Rally.

The "Press-Scimitar" Newspaper, issue of August 11, 1967, reported that the Executive Board of MAP-South met on the night of August 10, 1967, in Centenary Methodist Church, pastored by Rev. JAMES M. LAWSON, JR.; that the meeting was closed to the public and the press, and demanded that SMITH and CABBAGE be given a hearing. Rev. LAWSON was present as Chairman of the MAP-South Citizens Association. Shortly after the meeting started about 50 Negro youths arrived telling LAWSON they wanted to show him their support of LAWSON, SMITH and CABBAGE. It reported that LAWSON quieted the youngsters by saying: "Who hired COBY (SMITH)? I did. And I hired CABBAGE. As long as I'm in there you know the battle's being fought. I've been marching before you even thought about it." The story added that LAWSON told the press that the young men were members of a Block Club organized by COBY SMITH in a poverty neighborhood. It said members of the crowd talked of Negro problems and blames present-day Negro troubles on "the white man"; that one member, E. E. SMITH, COBY SMITH's father, said: "We don't want what's yours. We want ours that you have." The story added that LAWSON suggested that the group get organized so that they can carry picket signs for "non-violent" demonstrations to back up their demands. The story said that in an earlier interview COBY SMITH said: "I don't think poverty alone is responsible for the rioting, but the black people are seeking an end to the Police State Society they have to endure. They resent handouts given them, and that is one reason for the destruction they may cause."

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, INC. (SCEF)

The Southern Conference for Human Welfare (SCHW) was cited as a Communist front by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 592, June 12, 1947. In the same house report, "The Southern Patriot" was cited as an "organ" of the SCHW.

An amendment to the charter of the SCHW dated April 26, 1946, changed its name to the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Incorporated (SCEF) and stated its purpose to be to improve the educational and cultural standards of the Southern people in accordance with the highest American democratic institutions, traditions and ideals.

The masthead of the April, 1967, issue of "The Southern Patriot" indicates that it is the publication of SCEF, editorial and business offices of which are located at 3210 West Broadway, Louisville, Kentucky, Eastern office of which is located at Suite 412, 799 Broadway, New York City, New York. "The Southern Patriot" is published once each month, except July. SCEF is stated to be dedicated to ending discrimination based on race, creed, color, sex, national origin or economic condition.

Carl Braden is identified as Executive Director of SCEF and Anne Braden as editor of "The Southern Patriot."

Mrs. Alberta Ahearn, 2311 Payne Street, Louisville, Kentucky, a self-admitted former member of the Communist Party (CP), Louisville, Kentucky, testified on December 11; and 13, 1954, in Jefferson County, Kentucky Criminal Court in a state sedition prosecution against Carl James Braden. She identified Carl Braden and his wife, Anne McCarty Braden, as having been known to her as members of the CP from January, 1951 to December, 1954.

The SCEF is self-described as having deep roots in the South where it began as the educational wing of the SCHW, organized in 1938 to work for economic and political reform. When the SCHW disbanded in the late 1940's, SCEF continued as an independent organization, rallying support for integration and democracy and helping to stimulate and nurture new movements of the early 1960's. The SCEF maintained headquarters in Louisiana for twenty years, but in 1966 moved its headquarters to Louisville, Kentucky.

A source advised on March 2, 1961, that Claude Lightfoot, a Communist Party functionary, stated at a meeting of the Communist Party in Baltimore, Maryland, on February 25, 1961, that the Communist Party is not connected with any progressive movement but indirectly they do have some influence in the SCEF.

A second source, who is familiar with some phases of Communist Party activity in the New Orleans area, advised on June 3, 1966, that during the time that the SCHW was in existence, members of the Communist Party were members of and worked actively in the SCHW; however, since the formation of the SCEF, Communist Party members have not been encouraged to work in the SCEF. The source stated that the SCEF is a progressive, liberal organization, which he considers a Communist Party front organization because it has gone along with the Communist Party on certain issues, particularly on the racial issue.

A third source advised on May 25, 1965, that George Meyers, a Communist Party functionary, expressed great admiration for Carl and Anne Braden and the SCEF, with which they are affiliated, and expressed the view that the SCEF is the best organization in the South as far as doing effective work is concerned and that they have a better idea of what they are doing, where they are heading, and influence other organizations for the better.

The second source also advised on June 3, 1966, that many people who are officials and supporters of the SCEF, while liberal in their views, are by no means Communists.

YOUNG SOCIALIST ALLIANCE

The May, 1960, issue of the "Young Socialist," (YS), page 1, column 3, disclosed that during April 15-17, 1960, a national organization entitled "The Young Socialist Alliance" (YSA) was established at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The issue stated that this organization was formed by the nationwide supporter clubs of the publication YS.

The above issue, page 6, set forth the founding declaration of YSA. This declaration stated that the YSA recognizes the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) as the only existing political leadership on class struggle principles, and that the supporters of the YS have come into basic political solidarity with the SWP on the principles of revolutionary socialism.

A source advised on May 23, 1966, that the original YSA was an organization formed during October, 1957, in New York City, by youth of various left socialist tendencies, particularly members and followers of the SWP. The leaders of this group were the guiding forces in the establishment of the national organization.

The source further advised on May 23, 1966, that the YSA is dominated and controlled on a national basis by the SWP through having SWP members comprise exclusively the National Executive Committee (NEC). The YSA, in reality, is the youth and training section for the SWP and the main source of new SWP members.

The headquarters of the YSA are located in Room 535, 41 Union Square West, New York City.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

YOUTH AGAINST WAR AND FASCISM

A source advised on March 29, 1965, that the Youth Against War and Fascism (YAWF), formerly known also as the Anti-Fascist Youth Committee, was established by the Workers World Party (WWP) in the Summer of 1962, to bring college and high school youth into the periphery of WWP activities and thereby gain recruits for the organization.

A second source advised on October 23, 1964, that a flyer distributed by the YAWF describes that organization as a militant organization of young workers and worker-students for combating war and fascism.

The first source advised on March 9, 1966, that the YAWF maintains its headquarters at 58 West 25th Street, New York City, and publishes a magazine called "The Partisan."

APPENDIX

MAY 2 MOVEMENT

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

A source advised on March 3, 1965, as follows:

The May 2 Movement (M2M), formerly known as the May 2 Committee, was organized on March 14, 1964, at New Haven, Connecticut, by a group of young people participating in a symposium "Socialism in America" being held at Yale University. The original aim of the M2M was to plan and execute a demonstration in New York City on May 2, 1964, demanding withdrawal of United States troops from Vietnam.

The M2M was dominated and controlled by the Progressive Labor Party (PLP) and had for its aim and purpose the embarrassment of the United States Government by meetings, rallies, picketing demonstrations and formation of university level clubs at which a Marxist-Leninist oriented approach and analysis was taken of United States domestic and foreign policies. This source advised on May 19, 1965, that the headquarters of the M2M was 640 Broadway, New York City, Room 307.

A second source advised on February 9, 1966, that the M2M was officially dissolved as an organization on February 6, 1966, at a meeting held on the same date in New York City, by the leadership of M2M and the Progressive Labor Party.

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, INC.

"The Southern Patriot," a monthly publication, shows that it is published by the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. (SCEF).

"The Southern Patriot" was cited as an "organ" of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare (SCHW) by the Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 592, June 12, 1947.

The SCHW was cited as a Communist front by the Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 592, June 12, 1947.

An amendment to the charter of the SCHW dated April 26, 1946, changed the name of that organization to the SCEF and listed its purpose as being to improve the educational and cultural standards of the southern people in accordance with the highest American, democratic institutions, traditions, and ideals.

The SCEF is self-described as having deep roots in the South where it began as the educational wing of the SCHW, organized in 1938 to work for economic and political reform. When the SCHW disbanded in the late 1940's, SCEF continued as an independent organization, rallying support for integration and democracy and helping to stimulate and nurture new movements of the early 1960's. CARL BRADEN and ANNE BRADEN, Director and Associate Director, respectively, of the SCEF, were identified by ALBERTA AHEARN, 2311 Payne, Louisville, Kentucky, a self-admitted former member of the Communist Party, on December 13, 1954, in her testimony in Jefferson County, Kentucky, Court in the prosecution of CARL BRADEN under a state sedition statute as members of the Communist Party in Louisville, Kentucky, from January, 1951, to December, 1954.

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

A. Communist Party (CP)

The Communist Party in Washington, D.C., has neither formulated nor implemented any policy or plans aimed at influencing racial groups or racial activities in this area. The CP in Washington, D.C., follows the national CP line concerning racial matters but has no local program because of a lack of leadership and the lack of effective organization. may discuss racial matters and the desirability of recruiting Negroes into the CP, thereby increasing CP participation in racial matters. However, no program has been formulated by the local CP to seek to enter into local racial matters to implement any CP directives.

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

A. Racial Disturbances During the Summer of 1967

On July 27, 1967, CARL BLOICE, CP, USA National Committee Member and Washington Representative of "The Worker" discussed the civil rights militants and the relationship of the Communist Party (CP) with these people. According to BLOICE, most of the militants just laugh at the CP. He said if he asked H. RAP BROWN, militant head of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) to join the CP, BROWN would laugh at him. BLOICE added that since STOKELY CARMICHAEL, militant former head of SNCC had gone to Cuba, BLOICE "feels for his (CARMICHAEL's) life" when CARMICHAEL returns to this country. Also, because H. RAP BROWN was speaking in Washington, D.C., on July 27, 1967, BLOICE was of the personal opinion that if there was going to be a riot or disturbance in Washington, D.C., it would be on July 27, 1967. Concerning the riots which occurred in Newark and Detroit during July, 1967, BLOICE said he could not say that he does not condone riots such as occurred in Newark and Detroit. However, he said he did not advocate such measures. He said in his opinion such measures are not necessary to answer the social inequities in this country.

WF T-1, August 3, 1967

"The Worker" is an East Coast communist newspaper.

The Communist Party in Washington, D.C., was not involved in the racial disturbances which occurred in Washington, D.C., on August 1, 1967. Also, the local CP had no plans to be involved in any possible future racial disturbances in Washington, D.C.

WF T-1, August 3, 1967

DAVID REIN, an attorney at 711 14th Street N.W., Washington, D.C., where he is the partner of JOSEPH FORER, who has represented the CP, USA for years in legal proceedings, recently stated that he was one of a group of attorneys standing by to either do research work or handle cases concerning people arrested in racial riots in various cities in the United States. The source could not identify the group of attorneys with whom REIN is associated. REIN said the interesting aspects of these arrests in connection with riots is that some of those arrested were in jail two or three days without a hearing or arraignment on any charge. He said this condition was brought about because some of those arrested were confined to jail within the areas involved in the riots and hearing officers refused to enter the riot areas.

WF T-2, August 3, 1967

Concerning DAVID REIN, HERBERT FUCHS, an admitted former member of the CP from 1934 to 1946 who was active in secret government CP groups in a leadership capacity from 1936 to 1946, advised on August 23, 1955 that DAVID REIN was a member of a secret government CP group at the National Labor Relations Board during the approximate period, October, 1937, to mid-summer, 1942.

In September, 1959, WF T-3 advised that a member of the National Committee of the CP, USA had recently referred to JOSEPH FORER as "one of the most important communists in Washington, D.C."

INDEX OF NAMES.....50

DETAILS: AT CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

The Revolutionary Workers League has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The following organizations mentioned in this report, which have not been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450, are characterized in the appendix section of this report:

African American Heritage Association

Chicago Committee to Defend the Bill of Rights

National Committee to Abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee

Students for a Democratic Society (SDS)

W. E. B. Du Bois Clubs of Chicago

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

A. Communist Party (CP), USA

1. Plans, Strategy, Party-line, and the Like Made at CP of Illinois Meetings, Including Expressions by CP of Illinois Leaders and Rank and File Members

a. General

The CP of Illinois' influence in the Chicago Freedom Movement can be summed up as follows:

The CP of Illinois claims that they have a program and policy relative to the Chicago Freedom Movement, however, in reality the CP of Illinois continues to exert little or no policy influence in the Chicago Freedom Movement. The civil rights organizations active in the Chicago area in which the CP of Illinois attempts to exert some influence are as follows:

Chicago Urban League (CUL)
Congress of Racial Equality (CORE)
Coordinating Council of Community Organizations (CCCO)
National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP)

Negro American Labor Council (NALC)
Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC)
Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC)
West Side Organization (WSO)

Relative to the CUL, the CP of Illinois at the present time exercises no influence within the CUL.

Relative to CORE, EUGENE TOURNOUR, a member of the CP of Illinois, was also a member of CORE in Chicago until recently, although he exerted very little influence with CORE in Chicago. TOURNOUR recently left Chicago and no longer resides at Chicago.

Relative to CCCO, HERBERT WRIGHT, a member of the CP of Illinois, is an alternate delegate from the NALC to the CCCO, but at the present time WRIGHT exerts very little, if any, influence in the CCCO.

The CP of Illinois still has LESTER DAVIS, CP of Illinois member, assigned to the Chicago Branch of the NAACP, but at the current time DAVIS is doing little or nothing to implement CP policy relative to NAACP.

Concerning the NALC, the CP of Illinois currently has four individuals, all CP members, who form a collective from the CP of Illinois within the NALC. The main objective of this collective is to involve the NALC in a program of organizing the unorganized Negro workers in the Chicago area with particular emphasis on organizing Negro hospital workers. The NALC's program at the present time can be considered to be quite ineffective because the Chicago Chapter of the NALC is currently having financial problems and has been quite inactive recently.

Relative to the SCLC, the WSO and SNCC, at the current time there are no CP of Illinois members active in these organizations and the CP of Illinois exercises no influence in these organizations.

b. Meeting of State Board, CP of Illinois

A meeting of the State Board, CP of Illinois, was held on August 1, 1967, at Chicago, and there was a discussion concerning the recent riots in the United States.

EARL DURHAM, member of the State Board, spoke and said he disagreed with those people who considered the riots a progressive step. The ruling class of America will use these events for further oppression of the Negro people unless ideology and an organized struggle begin to take shape. Many additional factors should be considered, but one is the splits and differences that have emerged in the established civil rights organizations, such as CORE and its relationship to the NAACP and the SCLC. The CP should also make a further evaluation concerning the recent Black Power Conference in Newark, New Jersey. One of the most important estimates needed is an understanding of the extent of the alienation of the youth in the ghetto and the fact that up until now none of the existing civil rights organizations really speak for them. The major concern for the CP at the present time must be to create an organization in the ghetto.

ISHMAEL FLORY spoke and stated he had attended the recent Black Power Conference in Newark, stating that there were more than 1,000 delegates at the conference, and that the general tone of the conference was extremely anti-Capitalism, but the conference did not unify in any way so,therefore, they came up with no ideas how they could change the Capitalistic system. The dominant theme seemed to be that Negroes should establish their own businesses and operate their own communities.

c. Meeting of Negro Commission, CP of Illinois

A meeting of the Negro Commission, CP of Illinois, was held on August 2, 1967.

EARL DURHAM spoke and stated he is of the opinion that the recent riots in the United States had been a spontaneous thing, and he did not feel that there was any conspiracy involved. The whole situation developed primarily because of the inactivity of the United States Congress. Also, the riot situation came about because of the high rate of unemployment which exists among the Negro people. The CP agrees with STOKELY CARMICHAEL on his attack against the United States Government. CARMICHAEL has stated that the only way progress can be made in this country is by first destroying Capitalism and the CP is in full agreement with CARMICHAEL. If people like CARMICHAEL come out publicly for the destruction of Capitalism, then the CP must also begin to be heard.

ISHMAEL FLORY discussed the recent Black Power Conference that he had attended in Newark, New Jersey, and stated that all white people were barred from the conference, including Negroes who were employed by the various press agencies and television stations and this was done because these communication outlets are dominated and run by the whites. The main point brought out at the conference was the decision to participate in politics, that is, they will work for the election of Negroes.

(CG T-3, 8/3/67)

d. Meetings of South Central Freedom of the Press Committee, CP of Illinois

A meeting of the South Central Freedom of the Press Committee (SCFPC), CP of Illinois, was held on July 12, 1967.

ISHMAEL FLORY stated that the "Black Power Groups" are joining forces to fight the white imperialistic white lords of the world. He added that the CP is to play a big part in this fight and that it is the job of the Negro CP members to teach Marxism and Leninism to the people in these groups. After this has been done, there will be an international organization of Negro people who are well versed in Marxism and Leninism. He stated he is trying to get Negroes who are active in civil rights groups to join in this program, but he has not had any success because most of these Negroes believe they can sit down at a conference table and accomplish something, but it has been proven that this will not work. They will have to get more militant with the imperialist white man and it is necessary at this time for the CP to "get out in the streets and identify with the Negroes."

(CG T-4, 7/26/67)

A meeting of the SCFPC was held on July 26, 1967.

There was a discussion concerning the recent riots in the United States.

VERSTA MILLER, Chairman of the SCFPC, stated that the Negro people are confused and are being misled at the present time because they do not have a leader and the job of the CP is to lead them and to prepare them for a socialist world.

LULA SAFFOLD, a member of the SCFPC, stated that the United States has not seen the worst, and that the worst is yet to come. She is for Black Power and for what STOKELY CARMICHAEL stands for. Marxism and Leninism has taught that when the time is right, revolution can be started and the time is right now.

(CG T-4, 8/4/67)
(CG T-5, 8/3/67)

A meeting of the SCFPC was held on August 9, 1967.

ISHMAEL FLORY stated that it is about time that the Communists take the initiative in providing leadership within mass organizations and stated that he has been calling for this approach for a long time.

(CG T-5, 8/23/67)

e. Other Meetings of CP of Illinois

A meeting of members of the CP of Illinois was held on August 13, 1967.

EARL DURHAM stated that there is very little Negro-white unity in the United States at the present time and that the recent Negro revolts were revolts against the Capitalist system. Many Negroes are not too familiar with the Capitalist system and many of the Negro people view the poor white people as their oppressor. Many of the contradictions that exist, as Marxists we understand, are a result of Capitalism and we should never be sidetracked from the basic analysis of Capitalist society. In this country we are witnesses to the impoverishment of the working class and particularly the Negro people, and the results of the frustrations among unorganized sections of that working class. During the period of mass demonstrations, there was hope that basic changes would take place in the ghetto, but these marches and demonstrations produced little or no results around certain basic economic questions. As a result of these struggles, masses of people soon came to realize that the ruling circles of America were not prepared to accept the integration of the Negro people into the economy. These resistances by the ruling circles helped to consolidate the thinking in the minds of many of the youths in particular that violence was the only solution.

DURHAM added that another trend and division is that represented by Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING, and the many organizations and individuals centered around him. They feel quite strongly that the philosophy of non-violence is the strongest mobilizing force to bring about changes in the system that will encourage Negroes to participate more fully. However, they do not have the position that the system is wrong. There is another tendency that exists which is non-violent in its philosophy, anti-system, but not pacifist. This grouping includes the New Left and within that New Left certain black militant organizations such as SNCC and CORE. Their characterization of the system seems to reflect an understanding of Capitalism as a source of problems but they do not fully understand the nature of Capitalism.

DAVID ENGLESTEIN discussed the recent Negro rebellions in Newark and Detroit. ENGLESTEIN cautioned those present that the ruling class will try three methods to curb the rebellions:

1. The use of police and military forces to suppress them;

2. The offer of some concessions to the Negro people;

3. A combination of both 1 and 2.

ENGLESTEIN called on all Party members to explore this question more deeply and he said that the possibility existed that the Party may arrive at the conclusion that Capitalism as a system cannot solve the problems of the American Negro.

ISHMAEL FLORY criticized the Party leadership in New York for having called the recent conflagrations in Detroit, Newark, and elsewhere as a revolt of the poor. He said he did not think that this was a correct estimate. It is more likely a revolt for dignity, and he said that the CP estimate falls short of the main issues, which are a quest for identity and dignity and a pride in African traditions and heritage.

HERBERT WRIGHT stated that the new commission appointed by the President of the United States which is headed by Governor OTTO KERNER of Illinois to look into the cause of racial disturbances in the cities is phony and the Negro people know that it is phony. The NAACP knows what the problems are but their tactics and approaches to problems are of no assistance to the people in the ghetto.

f. Statements by CP of Illinois Leaders

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, Chairman of the National Negro Commission, CP, USA, and Chairman of the CP of Illinois, recently stated that the Negro Affairs Commission of the CP of Illinois is the weakest section in the CP of Illinois.

(CG T-1, 6/21/67)

JACK KLING, State Secretary of the CP of Illinois, recently stated that one of the biggest problems of the CP of Illinois is to develop leadership among the Negro CP members. Most of the present CP leaders in the CP of Illinois District are too old and younger people will have to be recruited if they expect to accomplish anything.

(CG T-8, 9/11-15/67)

B. Statements By National CP Leaders

A meeting of the National Committee, CP, USA, was held on June 10-12, 1967, at New York City.

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT discussed the Negro question and made the following points: The struggle of the CP must be to relieve the pressures in the ghetto and outside of the ghettos. The CP must also initiate a "direct challenge to racism in this country."

LIGHTFOOT stated that the National Committee should send a letter immediately to President JOHNSON holding him directly responsible if anything happens to STOKELY CARMICHAEL. He added that there is a rise in Negro nationalism in this country but the CP must recognize that the first problem is the struggle against racist ideology and the CP must put this struggle first and develop a struggle against racism in the white communities. They should also develop more serious ideological campaigns against white Chauvinism within the CP.

(CG T-2, 6/15 & 16/67)

GUS HALL, General Secretary, CP, USA, recently discussed the recent riots in the United States and stated that these riots are rebellions by the poor. The CP must not discourage these rebellions but on the contrary they should encourage them at this time. These riots are going to shake the very foundations of our society. Certainly the massive aid to these cities which are experiencing these riots and the riots to come, and the demands for increased funds for poverty programs, will have their effect on the United States war effort in Vietnam.

The administration in Washington will have to choose one or the other because this country just cannot support both.

C. CP Participation in the National Conference For New Politics (NCNP) Convention, Palmer House, Monroe and State Streets, Chicago, Illinois--August 29, 1967 through September 4, 1967

"New Politics News," the official publication of the NCNP, published by the convention center for the NCNP, 1517 West Howard Street, Chicago, Illinois, issue number one, in an article entitled, "Expect 2,000 Delegates and Observers," announced that the NCNP was sponsoring a "New Politics Convention on 1968 and Beyond," to be held at the Palmer House, State and Monroe Streets, Chicago, Illinois, during the period August 29 through September 4, 1967. This article indicated that this convention was called to consider the following:

1. Discuss and debate policy objectives, political strategy and perspectives.

2. Debate and determine responses to the 1968 elections.

3. Compare and evaluate experiences since the last election.

4. Evaluation the NCNP's effort at a national coalition.

5. Determine the structure, program and leadership for the NCNP for the coming period.

On August 30, 1967, beginning at about 8:30 A.M., the preconvention registration of the NCNP continued at the Palmer House and in addition the delegates who were to participate in the preconvention drafting sessions met in an assembly room on the fourth floor of the Palmer House. Approximately 100 persons, both female and male, met in a general session for purposes of orientation. During this orientation session, it was announced that those present, depending upon their desires, would be divided into commissions. It was stated that three separate commissions would be formed: A commission on resolutions; a commission on structure and constitution; and a commission on perspectives.

Participants at this general session included all members of the NCNP National Executive Board, members of the NCNP Steering Committee, and one delegate from each organization registered for the convention. Throughout this session, and before the group adjourned to their respective commissions, individuals came and went, however, a high point of approximately 200 some odd persons eventually participated in this preliminary general session.

Among those individuals participating in the preliminary drafting session were the following members of the Communist Party:

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT
GIL GREEN
ARNOLD JOHNSON
JAMES WEST
DAVID CANTER
DON HAMERQUIST
MIKE EISENSCHER

(CG T-9, 8/29 & 30/67)
(CG T-1, 8/30/67)

During the time the NCNP convention preliminary drafting session was being held on August 30, 1967, those individuals of the Negro race who had registered with the convention conducted a "Black Caucus."

This "Black Caucus" was holding a separate session to prepare its own agenda and workshops for the purpose of projecting a program of the black people into the NCNP convention. This caucus, made up of some 18 to 20 Negroes, held its separate meeting because this group believed the NCNP had failed to consult Negroes during the formation and early planning stages of the NCNP.

During this so-called "Black Caucus" session, those present were divided as to whether the caucus would eventually unite with the main NCNP convention.

Among those participating in this "Black Caucus" were the following members of the Communist Party:

CAROLYN BLACK
HERB WRIGHT

Also present was TAYLOR JONES.

(CG T-1, 8/30/67)

TAYLOR JONES

Concerning TAYLOR JONES, it is to be noted that TAYLOR JONES had been mentioned by a CP leader at the CP United States headquarters in New York City, New York, as a person who would "carry the ball" for the CP at the "Black Power Conference", which was held in Newark, New Jersey in late July, 1967.

(CG T-10, 7/24/67)

Relative to the "Black Caucus", which is meeting separately from the NCNP proper, it is to be noted that representatives of the CP who are attending the convention as observers are attempting to sway the "Black Caucus" through such CP members as EARL DURHAM, CARL BLOICE and CAROLYN BLACK. The CP leaders who are directing this strategy are GIL GREEN and ARNOLD JOHNSON, and these individuals are operating out of room 1446 in the Palmer House.

(CG T-11, 8/30/67)

At 2:00 P.M., August 30, 1967, a meeting of the "Black Caucus" was held in the Palmer House, Chicago.

This meeting was chaired by TONY HENRY and BOB WINBUSH. HENRY is a member of the CORE from St. Louis, Missouri, and is an advocate of black power. BOB WINBUSH is an individual who has been active in the civil rights movement in Chicago, Illinois, and is also a black power advocate.

Twentyfive to thirty persons attended this meeting, among whom were EARL DURHAM, CP of Illinois State Board member, and CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, member of the CP, USA National Committee and Chairman of the CP of Illinois.

Discussions by those present indicated that the major complaint of the "Black Caucus" group relative to the NCNP continues to be only a few Negroes were involved in the preparations for the NCNP convention. Also during the meeting, those present discussed the question of whether the black delegates of the NCNP convention would affiliate with the white participants at the convention or pull out and hold a separate black peoples convention.

The organized element within this "Black Caucus" group that supported the idea of withdrawal with subsequent disruption tactics was led by LAWRENCE LANDRY of ACT, a militant civil rights organization in the Chicago area.

On August 30, 1967, at about 9:30 P.M., the "Black Caucus" group held a meeting in the Palmer House and this meeting was again chaired by TONY HENRY and BOB WINBUSH.

This meeting was much larger because many additional out-of-town NCNP black delegates had arrived in Chicago.

Eventually, it was the decision during this meeting, that the committees originally formed during the afternoon be reformed with enlarged memberships with more out-of-town delegates on these committees. The committees were to be instructed to again meet and to prepare only two papers:

1. A paper in favor of the black delegates becoming involved in the NCNP convention; and

2. A paper against black delegate involvement.

Following the adjournment of the aforementioned evening session of the "Black Caucus" group, some of the NCNP black delegates from the South decided to hold a Caucus of their own. This Caucus was chaired by ISHMAEL FLORY, a member of the CP of Illinois, with approximately 10 persons present.

The consensus of this Caucus was that those who attended did not like what was going on in the "Black Caucus" and that they were willing to take steps to disassociate themselves from the "Black Caucus".

This Caucus meeting lasted until the early morning of August 31, 1967, with those present offering various suggestions and ways that they could disassociate themselves from the "Black Caucus" group.

The decision reached by this group was that the group would rejoin the "Black Caucus" and at its next meeting would move for the "Black Caucus" to split into regional groups and that these regional groups would then try to acquaint themselves with the problems confronting the black delegates and would try to evolve some new approaches to the NCNP. The general recommendation was that the black delegates involve themselves in the NCNP convention and fight within the convention for direction on the black-white question.

(CG T-2, 8/31/67)

[Relative to the "Black Caucus" group, approximately 11:30 A.M., August 31, 1967, a Caucus of CP members who were attending the NCNP convention held a meeting in the room of CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, Room Number 904, at the Palmer House, Chicago. In addition to CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, the following CP members were also present:] (U)

[ISHMAEL FLORY
EARL DURHAM
HERB WRIGHT
TOMMY DENNIS
ARTHUR MC PHAUL] (U)

[CARL BLOICE
CAROLYN BLACK] (C) (U)

LIGHTFOOT began the discussion and mentioned that he blamed himself for not foreseeing the problem involving the "Black Caucus" and the NCNP convention. He mentioned that he had not foreseen the fact that the "Black Caucus" would operate independently from the convention proper. (C) (U)

After discussions it was the consensus of this CP Caucus group that the CP adopt a position of taking the "Black Caucus" group into the convention proper even though it was possible a split or walk out could take place. (C) (U)

LIGHTFOOT instructed those CP members present to work toward this goal. From what has been learned of the "Black Caucus" group and from what was discussed at the aforementioned CP Caucus, it appears that the element within the "Black Caucus" group which advocates non-merger or non-participation in the NCNP is mainly composed of Chicago people led by LAWRENCE LANDRY of ACT, ROBERT LUCAS of CORE, and BOB WINBUSH. (C) (U)

The black delegates to the convention who are trying to bring about participation of the black delegates in the convention are led by Chicago City Alderman A. A. RAYNER and TIM BLACK of the Negro American Labor Council, a Negro civil rights organization composed of union members. Also included in this group are those CP members at the convention. (C) (U)

(CG T-1, 8/31/67)

On August 31, 1967, the black delegates to the NCNP convention called the "Black Caucus" group again convened in the Palmer House, Chicago, and this meeting was again chaired by TONY HENRY and BOB WINBUSH.

The main issue discussed during this meeting was how the black delegates to the convention could arrive at a position which would be given from this "Black Caucus" group to the NCNP convention.

After approximately one hour of arguing, a motion was made to adjourn the meeting. During the argument at this meeting, it developed that the Chicago representatives to the group are definitely for non-involvement with subsequent disruption in the convention. This group as of this meeting, appeared to be still in charge of the "Black Caucus" group, however, because large numbers of black delegates had arrived from all over the country and because these out-of-town delegates when confronted with the situation of the "Black Caucus" became suspicious that the Chicago representatives to the Caucus had put time into some kind of structure, the out-of-town delegates were not willing to accept leadership from the Chicago group.

Eventually, a motion was made during this meeting to separate into regions. This motion was debated and considerable heat was generated. The meeting eventually broke into heated arguments with the Chicago group finding themselves unable to convince or control the various regional delegates. As a result of these developments, particularly in relation to the black delegates from the South and West, large numbers of these delegates walked out to convene their own Caucus. A similar but smaller group from the East also walked out.

As of the afternoon of the meeting of the "Black Caucus" group, it is apparent that the "Black Caucus" is in an unofficial recess and that when this meeting ended there was no indication as to when it would reconvene. There was no indication of direction or substantial leadership.

(CG T-2, 8/31/67)

Following the adjournment of the "Black Caucus" meeting, the "Black Caucus" group led by LAWRENCE LANDRY and BOB WINBUSH, along with other elements who were in favor of remaining away from the NCNP convention and engage in disruptive activities, held a meeting of their own and during this meeting decided that they would establish a "Black Caucus" convention of their own to begin Friday, September 1, 1967, at the Hyde Park Methodist Church, Chicago.

During the various "Black Caucus" meetings, approximately 200 black delegates were present. A majority of this group as a result of the "Black Caucus" meeting had decided to rejoin the main stream of the NCNP convention. Within this 200 numbered group, LANDRY's forces represented about 50 or less. These 50 individuals were the group who decided to instigate a separate black peoples convention.

During the late afternoon of August 31, 1967, LANDRY's group was circulating a leaflet which announced the facts of this black peoples convention and the leaflet indicated that the convention would be kicked off by a group of speakers to include H. RAP BROWN, Chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee; LINCOLN LYNCH, Co-Director of CORE; and FLOYD D. MC KISSICK, National Chairman of CORE.

With the instigation of this black peoples convention, a distinct separation occurred between the black delegates to the NCNP convention who desired to participate in the convention and the group led by LAWRENCE LANDRY.

(CG T-2, 8/31/67)

On August 31, 1967, the NCNP convention sessions were formally convened with a convention rally that was held at the Chicago Coliseum, 15th Street and Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. This rally began at 8:00 P.M. and from 4,000 to 5,000 persons attended. Two thirds of this number were of the youth category and about twenty per cent were of the Negro race.

OSSIE DAVIS, Negro stage and television star, chaired this rally, which opened with musical entertainment and a speech by DICK GREGORY, who is also a member of the NCNP National Council.

One of the individuals introduced from the speaker's stand as an official of the convention was DAVID CANTER. DAVID CANTER is known to be a member of the CP of Illinois State Committee.

MARTIN LUTHER KING spoke and charged President JOHNSON with betraying the hope that had led the white liberals and Negroes to support him in the 1964 election.

During this convention rally, the following CP members were recognized in attendance:

SYLVIA KUSHNER
LE ROY WOLINS
GIL GREEN
CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT

(CG T-12, 9/1/67)

The "New Politic News", the NCNP convention newspaper issue number four, August 31, 1967, on page three, column one through four, listed a credential report setting forth the fact that as of August 31, 1967, 233 accredited organizations had registered for the convention. This same article also indicated that 74 observer organizations were registered.

Page four of "New Politics News" identified the following organizations among those listed as observer organizations at the convention:

Communist Party, USA, New York City, New York

W. E. B. Du Bois Clubs, Chicago, Illinois

Chicago Committee to Defend the Bill of Rights, Chicago, Illinois

Also in reference to above, the "Chicago Tribune", a Chicago daily newspaper, issue of August 31, 1967, carried an article entitled, "7 Reds Here to Observe Conference".

This article stated that seven National leaders of the CP had registered as observers for the NCNP convention being held in the Palmer House, Chicago.

This article noted that approximately 2,000 delegates would be attending the convention and that copies of the registration filed by registered CP leaders were furnished to the Tribune the previous day.

It is noted that of the 2,000 attending the convention, 1,000 would be designated as delegates and 1,000 as observers. The article also noted that ARNOLD JOHNSON of New York City, who is a Public Relations Director for the CP, headed the seven member CP delegation. The article identified the other members of this delegation as follows:

THOMAS DENNIS of Detroit, Michigan

MIKE ZAGARELL of New York City

GILBERT GREEN of New York City

ROSCOE PROCTOR of Oakland, California

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT and JAMES WEST of Chicago, Illinois

In addition, the article stated that CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT was Chairman of the CP of Illinois and Vice-Chairman of the National CP. The article stated that all seven of these CP leaders were from the National CP, 23 West 26th Street, New York City.

The article also reported that the files of the NCNP contain a letter from ARNOLD JOHNSON directed to MICHAEL P. WOODS, Coordinator of the NCNP convention, and to WILLIAM PEPPER, head of the NCNP's New York Office. The article stated that JOHNSON's letters requested permission to participate in a meeting of the NCNP Steering Committee which were held on July 29 and 30, 1967. The article noted that JOHNSON's request was approved and that JOHNSON had attended the meeting at which strategy for control of the convention was adopted.

The current CP Steering Committee under the leadership of ARNOLD JOHNSON, the CP, USA Public Relations Director, has failed to function successfully and many of the CP representatives at the convention have become disgruntled because of this lack of success by JOHNSON.

(CG T-2, 9/1/67)

On September 1, 1967, those CP members who were active in participating in the convention proceedings for that day were the following:

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT
GIL GREEN
ARTHUR MC PHAUL
VINCENT ANDRULIS

(CG T-12, 9/1/67)

Following the afternoon session of the NCNP convention on September 1, 1967, FLOYD MC KISSICK as well as other members of the "Black Caucus" held a meeting in the Palmer House, Chicago.

During this meeting, a debate took place as to whether the black delegates to the convention should walk out if their demands were not guaranteed.

During this "Black Caucus" meeting, a lengthy debate on this question was held and the debate centered on the question whether the "Black Caucus" demands should be presented directly on the floor of the convention or should first be presented to the convention committee on Resolutions.

During this debate CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, who was present, spoke and urged the caucus to take a cooler approach. Others present supported LIGHTFOOT.

As a result of the debate, it was decided that the "Black Caucus" resolution would first be presented to the convention Resolution Committee but that if it was not accepted by that committee or by the convention at large there would be an unanimous walk out.

In addition to CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, the following CP members also attended this "Black Caucus":

ISHMAEL FLORY
LEE PARRISH

(CG T-13, 9/1/67)

The "Black Caucus" resolution which was to be presented to the NCNP convention Resolution Committee, and/or carried to the floor of the convention itself as a series of demands from the "Black Caucus" group, is set forth in full as follows:

> "We, as black people, believe that a United States System that is committed to the practice of genocide, social degradation, the denial of political and cultural self determination of black people, cannot reform itself; There must be revolutionary change. Revolutionary change does not mean systematic exclusion of blacks from the decision making process as was done here in this convention. This exclusion raises serious doubts that white people are serious about revolutionary change. Therefore, responding to our revolutionary consciousness, we demand that this conference:
> 1. Respond to the importance of black participation by regrouping all committees, giving fifty percent representation to black people.
> 2. Make the conference slogan not peace and freedom, but freedom and peace, and the survival of black people.
> 3. Support the concept of self determination for black people.
> 4. Give total and unquestionable support to all national peoples liberation wars in Africa, Asia, and Latin America, particularly Vietnam, Mozambique, Angola, South Africa and Venezuela.

5. Condemn the imperialistic zionist war; this condemnation does not imply anti-Semitism.

6. Condemn the further disenfranchisement of the people of Harlem and demand the immediate reseating of ADAM C. POWELL, the duly elected representative of the people of Harlem. POWELL must immediately be restored to his former Chairmanship of the House Committee on Health, Education and Welfare.

7. Assist indigeneous local freedom and political organizations in voter registration, political education, and the election of black candidates whom black people select.

8. Give support to black control of the political, educational, ecomonic, religious and social institutions in black communities.

9. Call upon all so-called freedom loving white people who wish to strike a blow for humanity to unshackle their minds from old conceptual structures and deal anew with the 20th century facts of black liberation efforts.

10. Make immediate reparation for the historic, physical, sexual, mental and economic exploitation of black people.

11. We strongly suggest that white civilizing committees be established immediately in all white communities to civilize and humanize the savage and beastlike character that runs rampant throughout America, as exemplified by the GEORGE LINCOLN ROCKWELLS and LYNDON BAINES JOHNSONS.

12. Go on record as supporting all resolutions issuing from the recent national conference on black power in Newark, New Jersey.

13. Support the Conyers Bill to rebuild Detroit black communities destroyed by Gestapo Police tactics and Army occupation.

(CG T-1, 9/5/67)

On September 2, 1967, the NCNP convention spent its morning session discussing the 13 point resolution that had been submitted by the "Black Caucus" calling for Negro liberation.

Following lunch, an afternoon session of the NCNP convention finally approved the "Black Caucus'" 13 point resolution to the consternation of the "Black Caucus" group, who figured that their 13 point resolution was so strong that it would be rejected by the NCNP and thereby give the "Black Caucus" group an excuse for bolting the convention.

Following the convention's approval of their 13 point resolution, the "Black Caucus" group conferred the remainder of the afternoon of September 2, 1967, in an effort to determine their course of action. As a result of this consultation among themselves, the "Black Caucus" group decided that since they were given one half of the positions on the Steering Committee, they would stay within the convention.

(CG T-1, 9/2/67)

During the NCNP convention session held on the last day, September 4, 1967, the NCNP moved into a discussion of its program and the implementation of this program by the NCNP Steering Committee.

During the course of the day's proceedings, the "Black Caucus" won most of its demands and the "Black Caucus" group had become consolidated into a strong and influential force.

The "Black Caucus" had after much discussion adopted the position of setting up a program involving two directions for new politics. One direction would explore a third party ticket, and the other direction recommended concentration on community organizations.

Both of these proposals which the "Black Caucus" had submitted to the convention, had originally been furnished the "Black Caucus" by the CP. These proposals had been presented to the caucus by CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT and was adopted by the "Black Caucus."

Also during the convention proceedings on September 4, 1967, the "Steering Committee" of the NCNP was selected. It was the decision of the "Black Caucus" that this NCNP Steering Committee was to include 12 Negroes and this matter was discussed within the "Black Caucus".

After discussion within the caucus, it was decided that each region would select one Negro for membership on this committee. It is known that one of the persons selected was KENDRA ALEXANDER from Los Angeles, California.

During the deliberations as to the selection of this committee, there was an attempt by the CP to get CHARLENE MITCHELL and EARL DURHAM on the committee but this failed. There were no other CP members elected to the committee from the "Black Caucus".

Relative to the new NCNP, there is also some disagreement in regard to MARTIN LUTHER KING's Southern Christian Leadership Conference and their participation. Also during the discussions held at the close of the NCNP convention, it is not clear as to the status of CORE and SNCC in regard to the new NCNP.

It is also to be noted that as of the close of the convention, the convention created as many problems as it solved. One major problem are the finances. It is to be noted that MARTIN PERETZ, who had been the main financial force behind the convention, has only agreed temporarily to pay off some of the NCNP debts, however, there is no definite information as to his future relationship with the NCNP or a promise of his continued financial support. It is understood that as a result of the convention, the NCNP was left with approximately a $20,000 debt that has to be paid.

Relative to the "Black Caucus", it is understood that the "Black Caucus" made no decisions to continue as a structure within the NCNP following this convention. Therefore, the future of this group as a caucus within the NCNP as of this time is unknown.

Relative to the influence of the CP in the NCNP, and its convention, it is correct to say that the CP had considerable influence in both the preparation, the direction and the conclusion of the NCNP convention. It is, however, also safe to state that the estimates and the projections of the CP were not fully realized. The main direction adopted by the CP relative to this convention was for the establishment of a third party ticket as a decisive force in bringing about the coalescence of a Negro-liberal-labor alliance. This obviously was not in the thinking of the majority of the delegates at the convention. As a matter of act, the majority of the delegates' sentiment did not agree with the third party ticket concept.

The CP representatives at the convention did play an open role which is probably the first time in about ten years that such a national meeting received CP members and allowed their equal and unrestricted participation. In some instances the CP's influence during discussions was received with mixed reactions, and in some instances directly rejected; however, these rejections were made on the basis of disagreement with ideas rather than that a CP member was presenting an idea.

The CP delegates at the convention probably numbered about one CP member to every 350 delegates; however, this was only true as to the total delegation numbers and the ratio would be considerably less as to the leadership element of the convention.

Concerning the CP influence at the planning level of the convention, it is to be noted that GENE TOURNOUR, DON HAMERQUIST and DAVID CANTER were probably the most influential.

TOURNOUR and HAMERQUIST were effective in influencing the direction of certain policy decisions around NCNP mobilization, structure and finances.

DAVID CANTER's influence related mostly to the technical preparations for the convention.

During the convention the CP leadership, who operated most effectively in open activities, were the following:

ARNOLD JOHNSON
DOROTHY HEALY
JAMES WEST
TOM DENNIS
CHARLENE MITCHELL
CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT

The general feeling of CP members who attended this convention was that the results of the convention were positive and the CP members were particularly struck by the influence that the "Black Caucus" exercised during the convention. CP members termed this influence as something new to American radical politics.

It is the generally accepted estimate of the CP members who attended that there was a lack of serious preparation for this convention by the CP and that this was based upon wrong estimates of the trends in the Negro community, however, the majority opinion was one of accomplishment and a sense of having established deeper roots in the general community.

The morale was high among the older CP members at the convention but the younger CP members engaged in criticism of the older leadership and because of this an intense and widened gap between these two forces has developed. The role of the young CP members seemingly was more dynamic and influential than those of the older CP members attending the convention.

No final CP estimate can be given at this time, of course, relative to the NCNP and this estimate will have to be determined later when the CP, USA national board meets to consider this.

(CG T-1, 9/5/67)

At the adjournment of the NCNP convention, September 4, 1967, those CP leaders who were present during the sessions of this convention such as CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, GIL GREEN, DOROTHY HEALY and ARNOLD JOHNSON, were elated over the contribution which they felt the CP had made to the NCNP convention. They were also elated over the fact that a new political party was not established by the NCNP at this time. However, it is possible that these leaders have over-estimated the CP's role by attempting to dominate and direct the convention. In the long run, this attempt could result in an unfavorable reaction to the CP.

By way of comment, it is also noted that during the convention about 15 per cent of the Negro delegates to the convention never did join with the "Black Caucus" but remained with their delegations throughout the main convention proceedings. It is estimated that the "Black Power" group took away from the main convention at most 15 per cent of the Negro delegates.

It is believed that it will be some time before anyone will fully realize what was accomplished at the NCNP convention primarily because of the immense confusion which reigned during the entire convention. One of the possible results of this convention and the publicity given it is that more and more of the white people will eventually withdraw support from Negro groups because of the Negro separatist attitude that was evident during the convention particularly from the "Black Caucus" group. It is also possible that the white liberal forces present at the convention will never again attempt to utilize the Negroes as a political maneuver for their purposes.

(CG T-1, 9/4/67)

On September 5, 1967, a CP of Illinois State Board meeting was held at a private residence in Chicago, Illinois. The purpose of this State Board meeting was to determine a preliminary estimate of the NCNP convention.

ARNOLD JOHNSON, CP, USA National Committee member and Public Relations Director for the CP, USA, made the opening remarks and indicated that the NCNP convention was a historical convention, highlighted by the role of the "Black Caucus" group.

JOHNSON noted that to understand the "Black Caucus" role, one would have to include as a background the Newark, New Jersey "Black Power" conference and the general Negro rebellion occurring in cities throughout the nation.

Others present for this Board meeting agreed that the convention had been a new experience for those CP members who attended.

They also were in general agreement that one of the highlights was the presentation to the convention by the "Black Caucus" of its 13 point demand.

The State Board members present made note of the fact that the CP members present during the convention when these 13 points were presented had worked hard to get the NCNP delegates to support this resolution.

It was stated that the Party's method of working during the convention was that a CP Steering Committee set up for the convention met every morning at 8:00 A.M. It was pointed out that this committee consisted of five CP members. However, this group also met every evening after every session and would consist of a larger group which included other CP members present either as observers or as delegates from other organizations.

It was also explained during this meeting that the CP had a youth fraction at the convention and this fraction would also meet every evening after the day's sessions.

Those present also agreed that the debate conducted during the NCNP convention was most interesting from an ideological point of view.

Relative to the maneuvering of the "Black Caucus" group, it was believed that the figures of more than two to one when the vote was taken on the 13 point demand indicated that the white delegates at the convention realized they could not proceed with the convention without the Negro participation.

Comment was also made concerning the fact that when the "Black Caucus" demand for 50 per cent representation on the NCNP committees were presented, there were tremendous splits in the white caucuses. It was mentioned that when this occurred, those CP members present during these caucuses took the position that the white delegates should support the demand without question. In this connection, it was noted that MIKE ZAGARELL was one of the first speakers at a session of the convention that considered the "Black Caucus" demand and that because of this favored position he had been able to set the tone of the discussion which followed.

During this Board meeting, those present also commented on proposed electoral policies resulting from the convention and identified these policies as having three distinct trends:

1. For grass roots political organization

2. For a third party presidential ticket

3. For a third political party

It was stated that these trends caused considerable debate among the various white and "Black Caucus" groups at the convention.

It was explained also that many of the delegates to the convention became suspicious that the CP was behind this policy. When the first vote was taken on electoral policy the split was almost fifty-fifty, one half being for local grass roots activities and a year organizing, and the other half in favor of the third party and a third party ticket now.

It was explained that the major suspicion was that the CP had accomplished this because of their control of the "Black Caucus". It was explained during this Board meeting that actually the CP members present at the convention had tried to formulate a compromise.

Relative to the "Black Caucus" and the selection of the 12 people that they placed on the NCNP Executive Board, it was stated that at this point the identity of the individuals selected by the "Black Caucus" group was not available.

After the aforementioned discussion, ARNOLD JOHNSON again commented and made a point of the fact that during the NCNP convention, although many of the CP representatives were fully identified throughout the convention as to their CP membership, there was a complete absence of any red-baiting during the convention, and in JOHNSON's view this has significant meaning for the CP's role in the 1968 political campaign.

JOHNSON also indicated that he believed the CP youth present for the convention had played a leading role.

JOHNSON then stated that he believed the CP should adopt a program to maintain the results of the NCNP convention. He recommended that to accomplish this, those CP members who had been in attendance maintain their new relationships and contacts developed during the convention.

Relative to weaknesses of the CP's role at the convention, it was the consensus that the CP's preparation for the convention was weak because it emphasized mobilization rather than politics and because of this many of the communists who participated in the convention were in a weakened position.

It was also stated that another weakness was the fact that the CP had conducted no preparation for Negro participation in the plan of the NCNP convention.

Others present for this meeting such as EARL DURHAM and JAMES WEST commented concerning the NCNP convention and generally agreed with the preliminary estimate; however, DURHAM challenged the basic concept that the CP had been functioning on previously and that is the coalition of labor and the liberal Negro. DURHAM noted that the CP would have to analyze this question more fully. JAMES WEST's opinion was the convention had started in chaos and had been whipped into an orderly session. He believed that this convention had resulted in tremendous unity around the concept of political independence and he stated that there was now a new level of Negro-white unity.

DAVID CANTER, a member of the CP of Illinois, who was a visitor and who had been on the NCNP convention staff, also commented that many mistakes had been made during the convention such as the following:

1. NCNP had not involved Negroes in preparation for the planning of the convention.

2. It had given credentials to the young militants without consulting any other Negro forces.

3. The NCNP convention should have suspended business once the Negro Caucus developed and waited for the Negro Caucus to complete its business and make its demands.

4. The CP white forces at the convention did not fight hard enough to identify with the Negro Caucus.

5. The CP was very slow at the district level at solving the staff problem of black participation.

6. The direction which the CP National Headquarters provided did not help to solve any of the problems.

The NCNP convention was held at Chicago during September 1-4, 1967.

There were approximately 2,000 delegates present representing about 27,000 individuals. The purpose of the convention was to bring together persons and organizations actively working in various fields including equality of opportunity for minority groups, slum clearance and peace in Vietnam so that they might take direct political action in support of their various goals.

Among those present as delegates and observers were the following Communist Party, USA members who were working at the convention toward the establishment of a third political party which could be backed by the CP, USA:

ARNOLD JOHNSON
MIKE STEIN
LEO RABOUINE
MIKE ZAGARELL
RASHEED STOREY
CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT
WILLIE STANLEY
PHILLIP KALB
LOU KALB

JIM WEST
FRANCES GABOW

HERB KRANSDORF
TOM DENNIS
DOROTHY HEALY
CHARLENE ALEXANDER
HERSCHEL WALKER

The above individuals came from New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Michigan, California, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Washington, D. C. and Oregon.

During the early part of the convention, the Negro delegates who called themselves "The Black Caucus" and who constituted about one-fifth of the persons present, presented a series of demands which would give them greater power in the affairs of the convention. A small portion of the Negro delegates who favored Black Nationalism, withdrew entirely from the convention and set up their own conference on the south side of Chicago. The majority of the Negro delegates who remained with the convention presented a series of demands which included 50 per cent Negro representation on all conference committees and asked for convention support for self-determination for black people, support of wars, "self liberation," condemnation of the "Zionist" in the Mid East, Negro control of black communities and demands for government assistance for Negroes in the United States. The convention, after bitter discussion, accepted these demands.

FLOYD MC KISSICK, National Director of the Congress of Racial Equality, followed Dr. SPOCK on September 1, 1967. He told the convention that it should work towards independence for the black man, both in the United States and throughout the world. He spoke out against the war in Vietnam.

On September 4, 1967, the conference closed with decisions against the formation of a separate political party and the running of a third candidate against President LYNDON B. JOHNSON. It was proposed that the conference concentrate its money and resources on local projects in the fields of civil rights, poverty programs and peace. It was decided that the conference would continue its activities locally and meet again in 1968.

On September 1, 2, and 3, 1967, during and after the convention activities of the day, CP members met together and discussed what was taking place at the convention. It was agreed that the CP had been unable to exercise any degree of influence over the actions taken by the convention. It was decided that CP members should become active on various committees set up at the convention and which were to function locally throughout the United States until the calling of another conference for New Political Convention in 1968.

During the evening of September 2, 1967, following convention activities, Negro CP members including RASHEED STOREY, DEBBIE BELL, CHARLENE ALEXANDER, EARL DURHAM and CARL BLOICE met in a room in the Palmer House. After discussion it was felt that the CP would have to support the "Black Caucus" at the conference in its drive for equal representation for Negroes and try to persuade the "Black Caucus" to accept the idea of an integrated third political party. It was agreed that efforts should be made to prevent a Negro walkout of the convention and to talk against an all Negro convention. It was decided that CP members should affiliate themselves with local Negro organizations in attendance at the conference. It was pointed out by CARL BLOICE that the white comrades in attendance at the convention would be similarly busy in attempts to join local peace, trade union, poverty and other organizations who had representatives at the convention.

On September 5, 1967, GEORGE MEYERS, who is known to the source as Labor Secretary, CP, USA, reviewed the activities of the conference with a CP representative who had been present at the conference. MEYERS expressed disappointment over the failure of the conference to produce a third political party which would be "progressive" in nature and it could be whole-heartedly supported by the CP. MEYERS was critical of the concept of black power and indicated that CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, a CP, USA national leader seemed to be sympathetic towards the concept of black nationalism, which in MEYERS' view was wrong and contrary to the principles of the CP, USA. MEYERS said that the CP, USA leadership had high hopes that the conference could have been the beginning of a major third political party with its key issues to include Vietnam, civil rights and Urban Renewal.

In conclusion, MEYERS said that the CP, USA leadership including GUS HALL, known to the source as the National Secretary of the CP, USA, and HENRY WINSTON, known to the source as National Chairman of the CP, USA, would talk with other comrades who had been present at the New Political Conference and further evaluate the activities of the CP, USA at the convention.

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

A. African-American Heritage Association (AAHA)

During early 1967, the AAHA issued a call to a "National Conference of Solidarity and Free Africa", also known as the "Afro-American Conference" to be held May 19 to 21, 1967, at New York City, New York.

ISHMAEL FLORY recently advised that the above conference had been cancelled. FLORY gave no reason why this conference was cancelled and indicated that this conference may be held sometime during the fall of 1967.

(CG T-1, 5/15/67)

During April, 1967, a CP meeting was held at Baltimore, Maryland. JACOB GREEN mentioned the "Afro-American Conference", which was to have been held in New York City, and which was organized by CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT. GREEN said that LIGHTFOOT organized this conference with the help of ISHMAEL FLORY of the AAHA in Chicago. GREEN added that this conference is to be held during the fall of 1967, and efforts are being made to gather the names of prominent Negroes all over the country to support this conference. GREEN added that any names submitted to the AAHA should be carefully selected so that there will be no repercussions as a result of the names of individuals that are used.

(CG T-19, 5/31/67)

JACOB GREEN

JACOB GREEN is the Chairman of the CP of Maryland.

(CG T-19, 4/67)

At a meeting of the CP of Illinois, Negro Commission, held on August 2, 1967, ISHMAEL FLORY stated that the "Afro-American Conference", which was scheduled to be held in New York City during the fall of 1967, will not be held because there was not enough support for this conference.

B. Literature Issued by CP of Illinois

Source made available a two page letter being circulated in the Chicago, Illinois area by the CP of Illinois dated July 25, 1967, on the letterhead of "The Communist Party of Illinois", and this letter is as follows:

"Dear Friend,

"Last June, the National Committee of the Communist Party made an appeal to the American People; Do not wait for the longest and hottest summer to happen. It urged all white Americans to join with the Negro people who were demanding that racist terror end and an emergency program to aid the ghetto begin. Enclosed you will find the entire text of that appeal.

"The Communist Party was not alone in issuing this appeal. We spoke in harmony with many others, with the churches, unions, and civil rights organizations of our nation. Some included the demand, as we did, that as a first step toward such an emergency program, the war in Vietnam be ended immediately by the withdrawal of American troops.

"These appeals went largely unheard, by the president, by congress, and most regrettably, by most white Americans, including many liberals and progressives.

"The occupation of the ghetto came with the heat of the summer. As the tension rose, the ear of Congress that had been deaf to pleas for peace and equality was transformed into a gaping racist mouth, demanding instead of an end to the war in Vietnam, the institutionalization, with 'anti-riot' legislation, of the war against the Black communities of the United States.

"This same Congress, lest anyone forget, acted immediately to crush the strike of the railroad shop workers, whose demands are years old. They react almost as fast to crush the Negro people, whose demands are centuries old.

"The Communist Party appeal characterized the plans and tactics for the ghetto occupation as 'fascist-like'.

"Today, we must say that we are witnessing the face of fascism in the United States.

"What else is the forced entry and illegal search of every Negro home in parts of Newark and Cairo, Illinois?

"What else are the mass arrests of literally thousands that have taken place in less than two weeks?

"What is it, if not fascist terror, when old women and babies become the 'legitimate' targets for the guns of national guardsmen and regular Army troops?

"What else, but fascist, are the special laws rushed through Congress aimed admittedly and explicitly at Stokely Carmichael and other heroes of the Black liberation movement?

"The Communist Party of Illinois feels compelled again to call upon every citizen of Illinois to demand, in his community, in his club, in his church, and in his shop, that the emergency program be launched immediately by the federal government.

"We must ask ourselves, as well as many white Americans of good will, will the hundreds of thousands who have protested the slaughter by American troops of the Vietnamese: permit a similar slaughter by the same troops to take place in their own communities, in their own country?

"The danger is clear and imminent to all Americans. It will depend on you whether democracy will be saved. Be you a railroad worker or a doctor, a mother or a son, Black or white, you can stand up now and be counted or perhaps be forced to suffer in silence for years to come.

"We therefore call upon every progressive organization, every American who loves democracy, to demand in unison with us:

"IMMEDIATE WITHDRAWAL OF ALL ARMED RACIST POLICE AND TROOPS FROM ALL NEGRO COMMUNITIES, AND THE ESTABLISHMENT OF LOCAL SELF-POLICE FORCES IN THE COMMUNITIES.

"IMMEDIATE FREEDOM FOR ALL THOSE ARRESTED IN THE RACIST TERROR, INCLUDING RAP BROWN, CHAIRMAN OF THE STUDENT NON-VIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE.

"IMMEDIATE ARREST AND TRIAL OF ANY POLICE OFFICER ACCUSED OF RACIST ACTIVITY OR THE USE OF RACIST LANGUAGE; PURGING OF ALL MEMBERS OF THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY AND ALL OTHER RACIST ORGANIZATIONS FROM THE RANKS OF THE POLICE AND THE ARMY.

"IMMEDIATE LAUNCHING OF A $10 BILLION CRASH PROGRAM, TO BE CONTROLLED AND ADMINISTERED BY RESIDENTS OF THE GHETTO, FOR THE REHABILITATION OF THE SLUMS AND THE EMPLOYMENT OF EVERY MAN OR WOMAN WHO DESIRES A JOB.

"IMMEDIATE WITHDRAWAL OF ALL U. S. TROOPS FROM THE SOIL OF VIETNAM, AN END TO THE DRAFT AND THE RELEASE OF ALL DRAFTED AMERICANS FOR THE BUILDING OF OUR COUNTRY AS A PLACE DECENT FOR EVERYBODY TO LIVE.

Sincerely,

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT
Chairman

JACK KLING
Secretary

Communist Party of Illinois"

(CG T-2, 10/20/67)

E. Negro American Labor Council (NALC)

A meeting of the Chicago Chapter of the NALC was held on June 8, 1967, and HERBERT WRIGHT was elected Vice President of the Chicago Chapter of the NALC.

(CG T-1, 6/21/67)

HERBERT WRIGHT, NATE SHARPE, CHARLES WILSON, and RALPH TURNER, all of whom are CP members, have been assigned by the CP of Illinois to work in the NALC. Their main objectives at the present time is to involve the NALC in a program of organizing unorganized workers, with particular emphasis on organizing the hospital workers in the Chicago area, however, they have had very little success in this regard. The above individuals have had little success in exercising any influence in the NALC on behalf of the CP.

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop a conscientious objector status, denouncing United States intervention in the war in Vietnam and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. GUS HALL, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us." At the June, 1965, SDS National Convention, an anticommunist proviso was removed from the SDS constitution. In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes," the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of April 18, 1967, was located in Room 206, 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

W.E.B. DU BOIS CLUBS OF AMERICA (DCA)

A source advised that on October 26-27, 1963, a conference of members of the Communist Party, USA (CPUSA), including national functionaries, met in Chicago, Illinois, for the purpose of setting in motion forces for the establishment of a new national Marxist-oriented youth organization which would hunt for the most peaceful transition to socialism. The delegates were told that it would be reasonable to assume that the young socialists attracted into this new organization would eventually pass into the CP itself.

A second source has advised that the founding convention for the new youth organization was held from June 19-21, 1964, at 150 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, California, at which time the name W.E.B. DuBois Clubs of America (DCA) was adopted. Approximately 500 delegates from throughout the United States attended this convention.

The second source advised in September, 1966, that MIKE ZAGARELL, CPUSA Youth Director, stated that in Negro communities the Party still supported the plan to build "left" socialist centers and to solidify the Party base through the DCA. This source also advised in September, 1966, that DANIEL RUBIN, CPUSA National Organizational Secretary, stated the Party believes the DCA should have a working-class outlook and be a mass organization favorable to socialism, socialist countries and Marxism, and in April, 1967, advised that GUS HALL, CPUSA General Secretary, indicated the DCA primary emphasis should be on developing mass resistance to the draft.

A third source advised in September, 1967, that JARVIS TYNER was elected chairman of the DCA on September 10, 1967, at the Third National Convention of the DCA held in New York, New York, from September 8-10, 1967.

A fourth source advised during August, 1967, that JARVIS TYNER is a member of the National Committee of the CPUSA.

A fifth source advised on September 21, 1967, that the headquarters of the DCA is located at 34 West 17th Street, New York, New York.

W.E.B. DU BOIS CLUBS OF CHICAGO (DCC)

On May 3, 1965, a source advised that on June 30, 1964, a group of young people who attended the founding convention of the W.E.B. DuBois Clubs of America (DCA) met in Chicago and adopted a statement of purpose and constitution forming the DCC as an affiliate of the national DCA.

A second source advised on May 1, 1967, that DCA chartered clubs in the Chicago area are the West Side DCC and the North Side DCC, neither of which currently maintain a headquarters. There is no central headquarters for the DCC and there are no unchartered clubs in this area.

The second source advised that the majority of DCC members are also members of the CP.

During the past year DCC activity has been almost nonexistent.

Communist Party at their convention held in June, 1966, in New York City. On her return to the state of New Mexico in the summer of 1966, PAT BLAWIS indicated she planned to create a functioning CP organization in the state of New Mexico, but to date she has not achieved her goal. All available information has been reviewed and no indications were noted of any Communist influence in racial matters in the state of New Mexico during the above period. The review of this information reflected that New Mexico has little, if any, racial problems as such and it appears that all action taken in connection with racial matters is on a legitimate basis.

Sources, informants and potential security informants of the Albuquerque Office have been re-alerted to immediately report any information coming to their attention indicating there is a Communist influence in racial matters in this state.

Investigation by the Albuquerque Office of captioned matter for the past quarter is completely negative and accordingly no report is being submitted.

In view of the negative character of Albuquerque's investigation, no local dissemination has been made of the information contained herein pursuant to Section 87 C, page 12 C, Manual of Instructions.

Source stated AARON HENRY is the State President of the Mississippi Branch of the NAACP, and CHARLES EVERS is the Mississippi Field Secretary. He said there are 43 NAACP chapters throughout the State of Mississippi. Source said LAWRENCE THOMAS GUYOT, JR., also known as LAWRENCE GUYOT, continued to be the Chairman of the MFDP.

LAWRENCE GUYOT, Negro male, born [redacted] b6 b7C at Pass Christian, Mississippi, was interviewed September 14, 1967, during the course of another FBI investigation, at which time he advised he is the State Chairman of the MFDP, which has 40 county units in Mississippi. He said the MFDP has a 17 member State Executive Committee and MFDP headquarters are located at Sunflower, Mississippi. He estimated that 40,000 to 50,000 Negroes in Mississippi in some manner sympathize with, participate in, or actively support the MFDP. He said the MFDP's purpose is to muster political power and encourage political participation by Negroes in Mississippi.

The first source mentioned advised on October 27, 1967, that MONICA KLEIN, white female, still is a close personal associate of LAWRENCE GUYOT and they both periodically reside together in an apartment at the Patio Apartments on Pearl Street in Jackson, Mississippi. He said KLEIN no longer has any formal affiliation with the MFDP and is employed as a salaried secretary with the Child Development Group of Mississippi (CDGM), Jackson, Mississippi, a Head Start Project, funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity, U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

JN T-2 advised on February 6, 1956 that MONICA KLEIN was a member of the Rosenberg Teen-age Club Labor Youth League, (LYL). Source advised three or four months previous to this date KLEIN was club educational director.

The LYL has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

JN T-3 advised on October 27, 1967, that JAN HILLEGAS, white female, born [redacted] at Syracuse, New York, civil rights movement activist in Mississippi for the past three years, is the present secretary and office manager of the Freedom Information Service (FIS). Source advised that the FIS office was recently moved from Norman Road in Jackson to a house at 900 North Farish Street, Jackson, Mississippi. Source said HILLEGAS is the regional contact for the distribution of the Spartacist in Mississippi. Source stated Spartacist is received by HILLEGAS at the FIS office.

Spartacist is a publication of the Revoluntionary Committee of the Fourth International (RCFI).

A characterization of the RCFI appears in the appendix section.

JN T-1 advised on October 27, 1967, that the FIS office is a literature distribution office which promotes and conducts research regarding educational and political opportunities for Negroes. Source said the FIS program supports very closely the position taken, programs initiated and general policies of the MEDP.

On October 27, 1967, JN T-3 advised that he had recently observed copies of the following newspapers in the FIS office:

1. The Worker
2. The National Guardian
3. The Militant

The Worker is an East Coast Communist newspaper.

A characterization of The National Guardian appears in the appendix section.

The Militant is a weekly newspaper of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP).

The SWP has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to the Executive Order 10450.

On August 31, 1967, JN T-4 advised that one PAUL BENJAMIN BOUTELLE, who is the Vice-Presidential Candidate for the Socialist Workers Party, was to begin a tour of Southern Negro colleges in mid-September, 1967, until October 21, 1967. BOUTELLE is described as follows:

Race -	Negro
Sex -	Male
Date of Birth -	October 13, 1934
Place of Birth -	New York, New York
Height -	5'10" - 6'
Weight -	145
Complexion -	Dark
Marital Status -	Separated
FBI Number -	123712G

b7C

On October 5, 1967, JN T-5 advised PAUL BENJAMIN BOUTELLE had spoken to an audience of about 100 persons from 8:00 p.m., to 10:00 p.m., on that date in the Chapel at Tougaloo College, Tougaloo, Mississippi. Source said the majority of persons in attendance were college students, and all were Negroes except for about 25 whites present. Source said that HOWARD SPENCER, Negro male, born [redacted] at Eupora, Mississippi, leader of the Political Action Committee at Tougaloo College, introduced BOUTELLE. Source said SPENCER in his introduction said BOUTELLE was seeking the office of Vice-President of the United States, representing the Socialist Workers Party. Source related that SPENCER is a senior student at Tougaloo College, majoring in Political Science.

Source related that BOUTELLE in his speech primarily spoke about Negroes participating in politics and in supporting Negro candidates for various offices. Source advised that BOUTELLE left the college after his speech and departed Mississippi early the next day for unknown destination.

(As mentioned earlier, the Socialist Workers Party has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.)

Doctor GEORGE A. OWENS, President, Tougaloo College,

Tougaloo, Mississippi, during interview on October 6, 1967, during the course of another investigation, advised that Tougaloo College is a private liberal arts undergraduate college founded in 1869. He said the college is sponsored by the United Church of Christ and the Disciples of Christ, and that it has 650 students who are predominantly Negro. He said the college faculty is integrated and the college is located about three miles north of Jackson, Mississippi, on a 500 acre campus. He said the Political Action Committee on campus is a faculty approved non-academic related group consisting of about 25 Negro students. He said the group periodically sponsors on-campus speakers.

AT DETROIT, MICHIGAN

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

A. Communist Party, USA (CP)

1. Plans, strategy, Party line, and the like made at national meetings, including expressions by national and other functionaries.

DE T-1 advised on August 1, 1967, that a meeting of the Michigan District Communist Party (MDCP) State Board was held on July 25, 1967, at 16771 Turner, Detroit, Michigan. CARL WINTER, National Official of the CP, who was present at this meeting, stated that the rioting in Detroit was an uprising of the oppressed people of Detroit, and indicated that Mr. JOHNSON never sent Federal troops to Alabama to defend the poor Negroes in that state; however, he President JOHNSON, did not hesitate to send troops to Detroit to fight the poor Negroes.

It is to be noted that widespread rioting during which numerous arrests were made, damage to property estimated in the millions, and during which a number of deaths and personal injuries were reported, occurred in the Detroit area during the period from July 23-31, 1967.

DE T-2 advised on January 17, 1966, that during a meeting of the National Committee of the CP, USA, held in New York City during the period from January 14-17, 1966, CARL WINTER was named Editor of "The Worker" newspaper.

"The Worker" is an East Coast Communist newspaper.

DE T-3 advised on June 28, 1966, that CARL WINTER was elected to the National Committee of the CP, USA, at the 18th National Convention of the CP, USA, held in New York City, New York, during the period from June 22-26, 1966.

DE T-1 advised on September 14, 1967, that a meeting of the CP National Auto Commission was held on September 10, 1967, at the Belcrest Hotel, Detroit, Michigan. At this meeting TOMMY DENNIS discussed the Negro youth in the United States today, and stated that, "We must win over the Negro youth as they are the most militant and advanced group in our society".

DE T-1 advised on December 6, 1966, that THOMAS DE WITT DENNIS, JR., was currently Chairman of the MDCP, a member of the MDCP Executive Committee, State Board, State Committee, Negro Commission, and Chairman of the MDCP Community Relations Commission.

2. Plans, strategy, Party line, and the like made at district and lower level meetings, including expressions by local leaders and rank and file members.

DE T-1 advised on August 1, 1967, that a meeting of the State Board of the MDCP was held on July 27, 1967, at 19775 Sussex, Detroit, Michigan. WILLIAM ALLAN gave a report at this meeting on the rioting, then in progress in Detroit. He described the disturbance in Detroit as being a "rebellion" by oppressed Negroes against whites, rather than a riot.

DE T-4 advised on March 7, 1966, that WILLIAM ALLAN is currently a member of the Club Leadership Council of the MDCP and is the Michigan Correspondent for "The Worker" newspaper.

DE T-1 advised on August 15, 1967, that a meeting of the MDCP Auto Commission was held on August 13, 1967, at 16771 Turner, Detroit, Michigan. The disturbance in Detroit during July, 1967, which was referred to by those in attendance as a "rebellion" was discussed at this meeting. HERBERT KRANSDORF described the "rebellion" as being extremely useful to the CP in that the "rebellion" makes the work of the CP easier.

Another CP member in attendance at this meeting indicated that the Negro militants need friends and the CP must convince these militants that the CP is in a position to assist them.

DE T-5 advised on June 15, 1966, that HERBERT KRANSDORF is currently District Organizer of the MDCP.

DE T-6 on August 15, 1967, made available a statement issued by the MDCP concerning the Detroit disturbance, which statement was dated July 26, 1967, and captioned, "Brute Force is Not the Answer to Negro Unrest". A copy of this statement is as follows:

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

July 26, 1967

BRUTE FORCE IS NOT THE ANSWER TO NEGRO UNREST

It certainly cannot be said that the Detroit upheaval comes as any suprise. "Tornado warnings" have been up from Watts to Newark to Minneapolis - from Atlanta to Buffalo to Cairo, Ill. Every one of these upheavals has been a rebellion against the refusal of government or industry to take meaningful steps to meet the basic problems facing Negroes, and especially Negro Youth.

The answer to each protest, each march, each demonstration demanding change was, "You are going to far", "Be patient, give us more time". In reality only minor concessions were granted while the basic problems remained to fester.

In every city the problems persist and grow:

Negro Unemployment is double that of whites and is growing.

Urban renewal has meant Negro removal not housing.

Housing problems have reached the critical stage.

Police brutality is still a constant feature of ghetto life.

Higher prices, rents, and interest rates are commonplace in Negro areas.

Negro casualty rate in Vietnam is double that of Whites.

The income gap between Negro and White continues to grow.

Detroit the auto capital of the world is no exception. Last February the Chairman of the U.S. Equal Opportunity Commission disclosed that:

Only 2.4% of the auto industries skilled tradesmen are Negro.

Negro males comprise only 1% of the auto industry professional, technical, and sales workers.

In construction trades, Negroes are practically excluded from plumbing, electrical, sheet metal, iron workers trades, and what is worse, the present apprenticeship schools have only 1.7% Negro enrollment.

Unemployment among Negro Youth in Detroit is currently more than double that of White Youth.

Grossly inadequate representation at all levels of Government decision making on matters affecting the daily lives of Negro people.

Can any of the above be said to represent progress towards the elementary need for a decent life and full citizenship? No! It represents a continuation of the oppression and the intensification of it.

The above facts are only an indication of a vast accumulation of bitterness, frustration, and hopelessness that have affected thousands of Negro youth in our city.

The real question that needs to be faced by the White population of Detroit is not "Why do they rebel?"--but rather--"How have they stood it so long?" Would you have been as patient?

Two main forces in Detroit and American life bear the main responsibility for flagrant and widespread f[illegible]ting of the constitutional r[illegible], of Negro Americans:

1. The major banking, financial and industrial trusts of our area set the employment patterns, housing and realty practices. They encourage and finance the racists and segragationists in our city.

2. The Johnson administration has shamelessly defaulted on all of its glowing promises to the Negro people. It has to all intents and purposes killed the anti-poverty program, the model cities program. It has put through drastic cuts in education, health, housing, etc. etc. At the same time it squanders $80 million dollars a day--$27 BILLION dollars a year and over 12,000 American lives in a racist war against the colored people of Vietnam. When President Johnson thought it politically usefull, he acted with dispatch in sending Federal troops to Detroit. Where were the troops when they were needed to protect the Negroes of Mississippi against racist violence?

The Communist Party of Michigan proposes as first steps towards correcting some of the grievances of the Negro People:

1. That the Mayor and Governor call on the Auto and other corporations to undertake the recruiting, training, and employment within a six month period of at least 2000 Negro Youth for skilled and technical jobs in their plants and offices.

2. That the Mayor, Governor and Federal Agencies involved announce that, effective immediately, no city, state or Federal funds will be spent on any project or contract that does not specifically undertake active and substantial hiring of Negro workers.

3. That all unions involved in apprenticeship programs will be required to submit to the State Civil Rights Commission by Labor Day, specific plans to guarantee that 50% of all apprentices will be Negro, or face prosecution.

4. The Federal government must immediately make available, from funds now being allocated for the war on Vietnam, $1 BILLION to be used to reconstruct Detroit's devastated areas. This will provide for a comprehensive, planned and fully integrated community, including low rent public housing, parks, playgrounds, swimming pools, and other recreational facilities. New schools and other educational facilities, utilizing the most advanced techniques must be a prime feature, within the over-all plan.

5. A Presidential executive order to be issued immediately declaring that all restrictions on equal housing opportunities are henceforth illegal and that violators will be vigorously prosecuted.

6. Detroit's Police Force must be composed of at least 50% Negro personnel at all levels of its operations including policy making and supervisory positions. Policing of predominately Negro areas must immediately be placed under the command of Negro officers.

7. Election of City Council must be by district rather than city-wide to guarentee full proportional representation.

8. Negroes must constitute 50% of all city policy and administrative bodies.

9. The Federal Government must immediately authorize emergency housing in hotels, and provide other necessities, for all families and individuals displaced by the fires--until such time as the government can provide them with adequate housing that is financially within their means.

A major factor contributing to the atmosphere of hopelessness among Negro Youth is the feeling that the mass of white citizens have stopped working for Negro Rights. A basic condition for the avoidance of further outbreaks is the renewed dedication and activization of White people in the struggle for Negro rights, especially the trade unions.

We urge all concerned Detroiters and particularly the white people of the city to speak out and act through their Unions, P.T.A.'s, Block Clubs, Political and Fraternal groups etc., in supporting and implementing the above 9 point program. Racist and militaristic solutions must be rejected as dangerous and destructive to democratic rights in our community and nation as a whole.

A healthy and harmonious community and country can only be built on the firm foundation of the recognition of the unity of interests of its Black and White citizenry.

Finally, we believe that it is becoming more and more clear to all that the costly and senseless war in Vietnam is the major barrier to the fulfillment of the needs and aspirations of all workin_ people, Negro and White. The idea that the only future that the government holds out to Negro youth is to fight and die in a war ten thousand miles away against colored people who are basically fighting for the same right to live in decency is another major contributing factor to the unrest of Negro youth everywhere. American boys must be brought home quickly and the full resources of our country turned to building a decent home and high standard of living for every American, Black and White.

DE T-1 advised on September 19, 1967, that a State Committee meeting of the MDCP was held on September 17, 1967, at the Pick-Fort Shelby Hotel, Detroit, Michigan. At this meeting TOMMY DENNIS discussed the convention of the National Conference on New Politics, recently held in the Chicago, Illinois, area and indicated that the Black Caucus which gained control of this convention, was the official creation of the CP. DENNIS criticized members in attendance at this meeting for not becoming involved in racial matters and civil rights at the grass roots level.

DE T-7 advised on September 14, 1967, that a meeting of the MDCP Club Leadership Council was held on September 11, 1967, at 1442 Griswold Street, Detroit. TOMMY DENNIS discussed the disturbance in Detroit in July, 1967, which he referred to as being a "rebellion". DENNIS said the "rebellion" was planned by the white power structure and their agents, the Detroit Police Department. He said the plan was to instigate a "rebellion" and isolate a section of the city after calling in the National Guard and the United States Army. DENNIS said the purpose of this was to demonstrate to the Negro people that their so-called progress in the field of civil rights had come to a halt.

DENNIS stated that a number of factors were responsible for the "rebellion", such as the high unemployment rate in the ghettos of Detroit, discrimination in education and housing, and police brutality. However, he stated that the paramount cause of the "rebellion" was recognition on the part of the Negro worker and Negro youth that there is no hope for the alleviation of the aforementioned grievances under the existing social system.

DENNIS stated that many people familiar with the Russian Revolution during the early 1900's feel that the present racial unrest in the United States is the actual beginning of a large scale overthrow of the American system.

DE T-1 advised on October 2, 1967, that a meeting of the Polish-Bulgarian-Romanian Club of the MDCP, was held on September 26, 1967, at 5854 Chene Street, Detroit. CONRAD KOMOROWSKI, who presided at this meeting, informed those present that it was in the best interest of the CP to support the disturbance which occurred in Detroit during July, 1967. He stated that the CP should encourage additional disturbances throughout the country as those disturbances weaken the country internally and as a result adversely affect American foreign policy.

DE T-1 advised on March 21, 1966, that CONRAD KOMOROWSKI was currently a member of the Polish-Bulgarian Club, MDCP.

E. The Socialist Workers Party (SWP)

1. Plans, strategy, Party line, and the like made at district and lower level meetings, including expressions by local leaders and rank and file members.

The SWP has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

DE T-8 advised on October 13, 1967, that the local leadership of the Detroit Chapter of the SWP and of the SWP youth affiliate, the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) in Detroit continues to concentrate their activities on the "Vietnam Issue", as well as the solicitation of signatures to place the SWP on the ballot during the 1968 general elections in the State of Michigan, and at the present time are not concerned about racial matters.

Characterizations of the Detroit Chapter SWP and the YSA are contained in the appendix attached hereto.

GENERAL INVESTIGATIVE DIVISION

The attached concerns information obtained from our intelligence work in communist influence in racial matters. Hosea Williams, Director of Voter Registration and Political Education, Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), was discussing his involvement in Interstate Transportation of Stolen Motor Vehicle (ITSMV) case wherein Harold Belton Andrews stole automobiles for subsequent sale to SCLC through Williams. Andrews and Morris Finley, who did work for SCLC, were both convicted in U.S. District Court, Atlanta, Georgia, on 7-28-66, for ITSMV violation and both have been sentenced. Williams and Charles C. Mize, Jr., the middleman, were not prosecuted for ITSMV. The Department ruled that the evidence against Williams and Mize would not support further prosecution.

Stanley Levison is the principal adviser of Martin Luther King and a long-time secret Communist Party member. There is no prior information indicating that Levison was friendly with Nicholas de B. Katzenbach, former Attorney General.

MEETING OF THE ENLARGED NATIONAL NEGRO COMMISSION, COMMUNIST PARTY, USA (CPUSA), OCTOBER 14-15, 1967 NEW YORK CITY

On October 30, 1967, a confidential source who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised a meeting of the enlarged National Negro Commission, CPUSA, was held on October 14 and 15, 1967, in the Hotel Abbey-Victoria, 51st Street and Seventh Avenue, New York City. The purpose of this meeting was to discuss changes, trends, and the new phase in the Negro people's struggles. Approximately 75 people attended the meeting.

The first speaker was CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, who made the report from the National Board, CPUSA. According to LIGHTFOOT, the meeting was called as the result of an article concerning the new phase of the Negro people's struggle written by ROSCOE PROCTOR, a member of the National Committee, CPUSA, which was published in "Political Affairs," the theoretical journal of the CPUSA.

LIGHTFOOT's report concerned the question of black nationalism, militancy rising in trade unions, black and white unity, and a review of the party's work over the past nine years. He stated the germs of disunity are being placed in the group of black and white unity and as a result black nationalism has increased. The situation will get worse and black nationalism will develop a reactionary character. The trend throughout the country is one of practical and economic disturbances, strikes by the workers, and rebellions on the part of the Negroes. Crime in this country has risen by 17 per cent and it is predicted the rate will continue to climb to 62 per cent by 1968. People are beginning to strike back. All this is the result of the administration's war policy, a lop-sided war budget against the needs for higher education, jobs, better housing, etc.

The changes in this country have produced hardships. Racism has been with us a long time and we should study the conditions under which it appears.

These conditions have developed instances where the ultra-rights element has worked with the so-called liberals and trade union leaders to stop the advance of the Negro people. In the past, former President John F. Kennedy sent troops into the south to protect the Negroes, but today the police backed by federal power rule the Negro community.

LIGHTFOOT stated housing has played an important factor in the rise of black nationalism. The migration of Negroes from the south to the north has caused an overcrowded situation and has forced many to seek housing in the suburbs. Black nationalism has arisen from a feeling of being rejected by the white community. Negroes have sought to integrate with the white people but the white people have resented this. Abstract integration will not solve the problem. Integrated schools and housing are not enough. The Negro people have decided to use strength instead of a moral approach. This feeling has developed black nationalism to the point the people are proud to be "black."

Today in the ghetto there are three types of Negro people; the migrants from the south, the youth composed of students and unemployed, and the businessmen. A Negro capitalist class has emerged within our imperialist nation. At the present time the black people's movement has developed a progressive character. They do not exclude the white people but Negroes as a whole are distrustful of whites but they are not "anti-white."

MEETING OF THE ENLARGED NATIONAL NEGRO COMMISSION, COMMUNIST PARTY, USA (CPUSA), OCTOBER 14-15, 1967 NEW YORK CITY

The Party's position must be one between reactionary nationalism and progressive nationalism. We must realize everyone advocating black nationalism doesn't mean it. The reactionary position of the Black Muslims calls for complete separation. This policy can lead only to genocide of the Negro people. The Party doesn't reject everything projected by the Muslims but the Party does object to this complete separation.

Some of the leaders in the civil rights struggle have called for civil disobedience. This could only lead to suicide. The Party claims the Negro has the right to defend himself, but he does not have the right to adopt this as an arena for struggle.

During the past nine years the Party line has not been wrong. In 1964 the Negro Commission issued the first and only comprehensive program for the Negro people in this country. The program was good but the Party was not correct in not following things with this program. There also developed in the Party a growth of conservatism. The Party felt that because of their past experience, the Party should teach and not learn. Of course, chauvinism must be cleared from our ranks if "we" are to build black-white unity. The Party must build the black-white unity. The Party must concentrate on helping the Negro working class. By moving forward into today's struggle and building the black-white coalition in labor and the communities we will enhance the struggle for socialism in this country.

Others present expressed approval of LIGHTFOOT's report.

It was announced that efforts were being made to revive Subversive Activities Control Board and all were encouraged to send cards of protest to their respective Senators.

MEETING OF THE ENLARGED NATIONAL
NEGRO COMMISSION, COMMUNIST PARTY,
USA (CPUSA), OCTOBER 14-15, 1967
NEW YORK CITY

HENRY WINSTON, National Chairman, CPUSA, opened the meeting on Sunday, October 15, 1967, by extending greetings to the Soviet Union on the occasion of its 50th Anniversary.

LIGHTFOOT's report was further discussed.

The afternoon's session consisted of reports from the various panels. The first report was from the panel on "Negro Culture." This report reflected the history of Negro writers and actors from the early 1920's to the present time. Only a few of these people are employed in the radio and television industry. It was proposed a conference on a national scale be held early next year to further discuss this matter.

It was also indicated this panel was poorly attended.

The next report concerned "Afro-American Women" in which the role of the black mother was praised. Often these black mothers have been falsely accused as being the cause of juvenile delinquency, were immoral and associated with everything bad. The Party must fight to destroy this image.

The following proposals were made and adopted:

(1) Extensive job training be established;

(2) Day care centers be provided with state and federal funds;

(3) Women should become involved in the anti-draft movement; and

(4) Welfare and anti-poverty marchers should become involved around the peace issue.

MEETING OF THE ENLARGED NATIONAL
NEGRO COMMISSION, COMMUNIST PARTY,
USA (CPUSA), OCTOBER 14-15, 1967
NEW YORK CITY

The next report concerned the "White Community." It was recommended the national office of the CPUSA should issue a pamphlet concerning work in the white community and should include such issues as taxation and racism. A second front should be opened around an anti-war struggle and the Party should exert pressure on the unions to organize the unorganized. Also, the Party should support the outspoken civil rights leaders including H. RAP BROWN, Chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and RONALD LOCKMAN, a Philadelphia soldier who refused to serve in Vietnam.

On January 17, 1966, a second confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised RONALD LOCKMAN was recruited into the Youth Club, Communist Party, Eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware (CPEPD) in January 1966.

The report on "Economic Problems" called for the rejection of the concept that Negroes are a black colony within the United States. Also recommended was the waging of a fight for a shorter work week, the organizing of the low-paying workers, and a crash program to meet the immediate needs of the people.

The report on the "Struggle on the Political Front" recommended support for all Negro candidates and the possibility of a "Black Convention" in 1968.

ROSCOE PROCTOR gave the report on "Techniques and Methods of Struggle." In his report, PROCTOR stated the panel was opposed to armed insurrection unless used for seizing of political power, terrorism against "Uncle Toms" was rejected, armed self-defense was supported, black people should police their own communities, the Party must oppose guerilla warfare, black caucaus should be formed in all organizations, especially women, and the Party should help form regional conferences of black youth to form a Youth Congress. PROCTOR also encouraged the formation of ghetto concentration clubs.

When asked to explain the meaning of the latter, he related an experience where he claimed Negro members claimed they could not fully express themselves in clubs with white members. Resentment had grown against the white members and it became necessary to transfer them to another club.

After much heated discussion on this matter, PROCTOR withdrew his recommendation calling for concentration on ghetto clubs.

The reports of the various panels were adopted.

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, learned on November 19, 1967, that on that date, Stanley Levison and Martin Luther King, Jr., discussed an invitation which King had received to attend the one hundredth anniversary celebration of the birth of the W.E.B. DuBois to be held in Carnegie Hall, New York City, in February, 1968. King wanted Levison's opinion on accepting this invitation. King said that he did not know who is sponsoring the celebration, that Jack O'Dell had called him once, but that another person had been the main caller. He added that he had also been urged to attend by a person he met at a luncheon. King noted that there will be only one speech at the luncheon and that they want him to make it. He feels that he should accept because of the contribution that DuBois made to Negroes. He said he knows "Freedomways" magazine has something to do with it. ~~X~~ u

Levison stated that he would want to know the sponsoring group so that it could be determined if it is reasonably broad or very narrow. He said that if the sponsorship is narrow, including just people around "Freedomways", it should be broadened. ~~X~~ u

King also mentioned that a professor at Yeshiva University had contacted him about being on the board for a memorial to be placed on land acquired at the birthplace of DuBois in Massachusetts. (U)

The Summer, 1967, issue of "Freedomways" Magazine announced that "Freedomways" was sponsoring a celebration on the occasion of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of W.E.B. DuBois on Friday evening, February 23, 1968, at Carnegie Hall, New York City.

A characterization of Freedomways Associates, Inc., publishers of "Freedomways" Magazine, is set forth in the appendix pages.

The Summer, 1967, issue of "Freedomways", lists Jack O'Dell under the name J. H. O'Dell, as its Associate Managing Editor.

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on May 1, 1967, that as of April, 1967, O'Dell was considered by the Communist Party, United States of America (CPUSA), as being a member of the National Committee. (U)

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised in April, 1964, that Stanley Levison was a secret member of the Communist Party, United States of America (CPUSA), in July, 1963. In late 1963 and early 1964, he criticized the Communist Party (CP) for not being sufficiently militant in the civil rights struggle. Levison was described by certain CP leaders as being to the "left" of the CP in his position on civil rights. His differences with the CP, however, are merely tactical and he continues his ideological adherence to Communism. (U)

"The New York Times", August 28, 1963, page 3, contains an article datelined at Accra, Ghana, stating that W.E.B. DuBois died on August 28, 1963. It states that he went to Ghana as the guest of President Kwame Nkrumah to become Director of the Encyclopedia Africana, which was sponsored by the Government of Ghana, and became a citizen of that country. The article also states that "During his later years, he was active in many left-wing and Communist activities. In the Fall of 1961, at the age of 93, he joined the Communist Party".

REPORT TO NATIONAL CONFERENCE C.P.U.S.A. - Oct 14-15, 1967

By Claude Lightfoot,
Secretary of the National Committee for Negro Affairs

Subject: TO SAVE AMERICA, THESE THINGS ARE REQUIRED:

It has been historical, as well as current experience that a coalescence of struggle of black and white at the grass roots level is the main prerequisite for social advances in our country. Yet, at a time when the nation faces unprecedented problems such as war and peace, the growth of a fascist danger and new economic difficulties, to many people, black and white unity has become a dirty word. Germs of disunity, germs of a cancerous nature, are circulating in the body of the American people, and unless radical surgery is performed, many of the vital organs will be lost, if not the entire body. Patent medicines no longer suffice to meet this growing crisis.

To help unravel the reasons for this situation, we shall discuss the character of the present period, look into what is new in racism, define the nature of the present wave of black nationalism, discuss methods of struggle required for today, estimate the Party's position on the Negro question in the last nine years. And finally, we shall determine what the vanguard role of the Party is in the circumstances of today.

The Negro question cannot be abstracted from the general political situation within the country. The Proctor article estimates what the general situation in the black community will be for the next 10 or 15 years, but in my judgment it does so in isolation from the perspective for the country as a whole for the next 10 to 15 years. Proctor writes:

> In the next decade all indications are that black national consciousness, black nationalism will undergo an explosive growth within the United States. Negro migration to the cities, the cities' growing deterioration, the failure of society, including the trade unions, to fully integrate Negroes, the worsening economic conditions of the Negroes and their growing relation with colored people on a world scale will help to feed black nationalist tendencies and growth.

Now, Proctor does not say whether this black nationalism that he speaks of will be a form of nationalism directed against imperialism, that is, of a positive nature, or whether it will be of a divisive separatist nature such as is embodied in the policies and program of Elijah Muhammud. While he does not indicate what direction it will take, he presents a catalog of the conditions which will promote this national consciousness over the next decade. I conclude, therefore, that he anticipates that over the next 10 or 15 years the problems of worsening conditions of Negroes, including the refusal of the trade unions to integrate, deterioration in the cities, migration to the big cities, etc., will continue to mount. In other words, things will get worse. And if they do, the trend of black nationalism will be toward a more reactionary character.

The development of black nationalism in one direction or another is not a thing in itself; it is a reaction to the general political situation in the country at large. Hence, in order not to err in our judgments about the Negro question, it is necessary to have a clear picture of the general trends in the country.

We are at one of those great crossroads in history where mankind will either advance toward a high plateau of social progress, eliminating all that is vile, reprehensible, dehumanizing and exploitative, or toward the destruction of man's existence on this planet. Which way is yet to be determined.

We Communists are not passive observers on the social scene. We are, or aspire to be, social and political scientists. And in this connection we always seek ways and means of channelizing events in a progressive direction. We examine things as they are at a given moment. We seek out the obstacles which interrupt the smooth flow of progress. We work to uncover the contradictions whose resolution will permit a flow of developments in a given direction.

The existence of many contradictions in the nature of things at present accelerates a growth of frustrations, a groping for new directional signals and, in some instances, hopelessness and despair. We shall proceed to examine some of these contradictions.

The present moment can be characterized as one charged with great economic, political and social turbulence. Unlike the decade of the fifties, the mid-point of the 1960s is marked by ever-increasing waves of struggle by almost all strata of the American people. Yesterday it was mainly the Negro movement that protested injustice. Today the youth, the church, labor and the intelligentsia, in varying degrees, have taken the path of struggle. These forces are converging on the war policies of the Johnson Administration and are creating a deep-going crisis in foreign affairs. The peace movement in our country is perhaps the greatest in history. Seldom has a people challenged its government's pursuance of war with the vigor and determination now manifested by the American people.

The growth of automation and cybernation places the economy in a precarious position and leads workers to the path of struggle to a degree not witnessed in recent years. Strikes are breaking out in all directions. They involve all categories of workers, the more affluent and the less affluent.

As we near the year's end, there have been at least 150 outbreaks of violence in more than 120 cities. Over $270 million in property has been destroyed. It is estimated that 118 people have been killed and nearly 4,000 injured. Roughly 4,000 have been arrested, and National Guardsmen have been called out 23 times.

This is the balance sheet, and the end is nowhere in sight. Indeed, there are those who now see "the long hot summers" extended into "the long cold winters." Especially is this shown by the crime rates. These, a barometer of the sick society and its social turbulence, have reached fantastic proportions.

The FBI announced on September 15 that crime in the United States had risen 17 per cent during the past year and predicted that by the year's end the increase in all types of crime would total 62 per cent over the last six years. Vandalism is on the increase. In 1966 the cost of vandalism in New York schools totaled $5 million. In Washington, D.C., window breakage and theft in schools last year cost more than $214,000.

In every aspect of American life there is an unprecedented degree of dissatisfaction. The people are striking back. Sometimes they strike according to plan. Sometimes they erupt spontaneously. And sometimes they hit out blindly. But whatever the form they take, these are all struggles by the people against a system that hurts so many of them.

Basically, this growing strife arises from a capitalist system in decay. But in particular it is an outgrowth of a war policy. Our government, committed for the last twenty years to a program designed to save the collapsing system of colonialism and imperialism in general, and to promote the domination of U.S. capitalism and imperialism in particular, has brought us to this situation on the home front. A lopsided war budget with its huge expenditures for military hardware, with its dollars for the CIA to bribe and corrupt, leaves little to combat growing problems of poverty, technological displacement of workers and deterioration within the ghettos and cities, to replace obsolete housing, and to create a higher quality of education. These problems, moreover, are greatly aggravated by the new technological and scientific advance in production.

As a consequence of this development, new relations between workers and business, new measures by the state for the welfare of the workers must be evolved. The slowness of such changes is producing great hardships and insecurity for all strata of the American working people.

With the growth of struggle by various sectors of the American people, with the continuing expansion of objective circumstances that induce an enlargement of struggles, one would expect that the pro-democratic masses would be assuming commanding heights; one would think that the future would appear hopeful and that few would become engulfed in despair.

Professor Seymour Melman performed a historic task when, in his work, Our Depleted Society (Holt, New York, 1965), he laid bare all the contradictions within a war economy and hopefully looked to the future. He wrote:

> I expect that diverse groups in American life will discover common ground as they each seek ways to improve their own lot. Americans who suffer directly from the depletion process, or whose prospects for a really better life are held up by the depleted society - all these will be acting in parallel, even in concert, to accelerate the reconstruction of American life.

The various components of the pro-democratic forces in the country are in large part already in the arena of struggle. In some instances they act in a parallel manner; in others, they tend to merge (as witness the merging of efforts by the peace and civil rights forces). And yet, at this moment, there are growing clashes and cleavages between forces who have so much in common. The growing strife between the forces who should and must unite if "we are to overcome" is the most challenging problem facing the people's movements. It is the most important problem before this conference.

What are the factors engendering disunity?

Objective circumstances increasingly are compelling all pro-democratic masses into the arena of struggle. But consciousness of the interrelation of these struggles, of how they impinge on each other, and of what must be done to effect greater correlation, lags dangerously behind.

Thus, the main weaknesses lie in the realm of ideas, concepts and ideology. And it is in this area that a widespread counteroffensive by reactionary elements has come into prominence.

The forms that this offensive takes are many, but the decisive weapon is still racist ideology. But just to repeat "racism" would be meaningless. We must examine the new circumstances in which this poison is being spread. We must uncover the new objective and subjective bases that are the springboard for its renewed growth.

Historically, racism has been the main ideological weapon which our ruling class has used to divide the ranks of the working people. About its harmful effects, Gus Hall wrote:

> Bigotry is like a poison gas deliberately designed to incapacitate all opposition. Like such a gas it distorts reality and brings on a state of confusion. A friend appears as an enemy, an enemy as a friend.

As Hall indicated, in those circumstances confusion reigns supreme, and, as Gil Green once wrote, the real enemy - big business - becomes "the enemy forgotten."

The seeds of current trends of disunity have been assiduously planted in the past several years. That the enemy is working overtime is very evident.

We witnessed two parallel developments in 1964 which helped to heighten tensions among the people. One was the forays of George C. Wallace from Alabama into the Northern communities. Now, it is clear that Wallace could not win any election, could not win the nomination, could not make any significant campaign. The main reason Wallace came into the North in the 1964 elections was to make an appeal to prejudice among white workers, and wherever he went, whether it was Gary, Baltimore or other cities, this was the main pitch. And in some respects it paid off. The large number of white workers who supported this avowed racist was cause for great concern.

The over-all strategy called for the organization of a so-called "white backlash." This idea made its appearance in the 1964 elections on the eve of the greatest coalescence of pro-democratic forces in the history of our country, aimed at the defeat of Goldwater, with labor, the liberal community, the middle strata, the farmers and the Negro people uniting politically as never before. This was one prong of the effort to use the weapon of white supremacy, of prejudice, of fear and insecurity, to mobilize white workers to throw the ranks of black and white into further disarray.

The second development in 1964 was the refusal to seat the delegation of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party at the Democratic National Convention. The insistence of President Johnson, and of outstanding labor and liberal spokesmen, on forcing the Freedom Democratic Party to accept a compromise with the Dixiecrat South, proved to be one of the most harmful actions in recent years. This laid the basis for the serious division in the labor-liberal-Negro coalition that followed 1964.

James Forman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee was correct in calling it a "profile in treachery." For a new factor had now emerged, though it was not too easily discernible at that moment. That is, the ideological assault now came not only from ultra-Right forces such as Wallace and his supporters, but also, simultaneously, from leaders of the liberal and labor coalition who moved in for the purpose of checkmating the further acceleration of the Negro people's movement. The joining together of these two currents laid the seeds of accelerated tendencies of disunity among the people.

What is the background of these developments? Why did Walter Reuther, Humphrey and others who had distinguished themselves as great liberals, as friends of the Negro people, as staunch civil rights fighters, act as they did at Atlantic City? Comrade Henry Winston points out that their previous position was rooted in the 1954 Supreme Court decision. That decision, he says, was a class decision. U.S. imperialism was prepared at that moment to make some concessions to the Negro movement for two purposes: (1) to try to overcome the racist image the U.S. had won for itself as a result of oppression of the Negro people; and (2) to mobilize the Negro people's movement for the war effort.

Beginning at Atlantic City and afterward, however, the gears shifted and the demands of the Negro people's movement went into motion for more fundamental changes not mere palliatives and superficial reforms. Power was placed on the agenda. The economic aspect of the question was brought to the forefront, and demands were placed that go to the heart of reversing the war policies of U.S. imperialism, and with this, of removing many of the domestic camouflages. This was the hard political reality underlying a situation which now began to work in reverse.

Consequently, if we make an assessment of racist ideology in the U.S. today, we have to take into account the fact that there is at the present time no section of the ruling class that is working for the limited goals and limited purposes of some years ago. Today, most of the so-called liberal community joins with the ultra-Right for the purpose of defeating the efforts of the Black People's Movement for radical and deep-going changes in their status.

A good example of this change is the way in which the police power of the State is employed. Several years ago the police power of the federal government was used to back civil rights efforts in the South. Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy were compelled by an outraged nation to send troops to the South. Today, however, the police forces in many cities allegedly ruled by liberals not only are used against the Negro people but are in fact the main forces provoking violence and disorder. And in every instance, beginning with the situation in New York City under the liberal Mayor Wagner, the police force has been absolved. Furthermore, the police power of the federal government backs up the racist attacks against Negroes and blames the victims And President Johnson makes appeals which can only lead white people, on the citizen' level, to take up arms against black people.

The main problem is not that the ruling circles are using racist ideology. There is nothing new in this. What is important is that there is an insufficient response amon whites, a failure to act at the grass roots level. Hence it is not enough for progressives and radicals to explain the source of racism. Most people of good will understand that. What is most important is to discover how and why this poison can operate so easily among the masses. And when this is understood, maybe we can "overcome." For no matter in how racist a fashion the ruling class behaves, if there is no acceptance of racism among the masses, this behavior will be of little consequence.

In addition to the betrayal by certain labor and liberal forces in the country, there is a material basis for the growth of chauvinist attitudes among workers. Racist ideology finds a fertile ground in two significant areas of daily life, first in the job problems flowing not only from a war economy but also from scientific and technological changes, and second in the area of housing.

The growth of job displacement and unemployment by automation in industry has created new problems for the American workers. With no clear solution in view, the working class lives in constant fear of what tomorrow will bring. Thus, the problem of job insecurity tend by itself to become a driving force for tensions among workers, rather than to lead them to approach it as a class problem, as a problem of all workers -- the more affluent, the less affluent, black and white. There are strong tendencies among white workers to seek solutions at the expense of their black brothers. This adds to the problems of the black brother, who is already bearing the brunt of the problem. It takes the form of greater unemployment, underemployment and other dehumanizing conditions. These are ongoing problems which daily get worse, not better.

Indicative of this trend are the findings of a recent Labor Department survey covering over twenty black ghettos. It notes the following:

> 16.9 per cent of those employed were working only part time, though trying to find a full-time job. The comparable national figure is 2.3 per cent. 21 per cent of the full-time workers earn less than $60.00 a week, the equivalent of the $3,000 annual poverty line. The national figure is 15.4 per cent. 37 per cent of the slum families reported annual incomes under $3,000 compared with 25 per cent nationally. The average family income was about $3,800 compared with the national average of $6,300. ... 47 per cent of the families reported income from unemployment insurance, welfare and other non-employment sources.

This survey shows why Black America is increasingly becoming alienated from White America.

One of the problems automation poses is the necessity for workers to improve their skills. But in this connection certain unions stand out as the main obstacles to Negroes acquiring skill. Historically, the building trades unions have been one of the main barriers. Today, no less than yesterday, these unions emerge as the greatest scabs in the labor movement, the main source of friction between black and white workers. Big business and the government utilize this situation to throw workers into competition with each other, feed anti-union sentiments among black workers and make the business community and the government appear as the real friends of the black workers.

For example, look at this newspaper report of a dialogue between Senator Robert Kennedy and a building trades leader, headed: "Kennedy Declares Building Unions Fail to Admit Negroes." Haggerty, one of the building trades leaders, responded: "We can't take aboard a boy that can't read or a boy that's a school dropout." Peter T. Shulman, president of the Plumbers' Union, said: "We have certain minimum requirements." Kennedy replied: "I would think that there are more than 21 boys in all of Cincinnati who can read."

What is the image here? That the government is on the side of the Negroes and the trade unions are against them.

Other headlines read: "Trade Union Bias Found Unchecked." "Apprenticeship Plan Excludes Minority Workers." "California Panel Finds Union Bias." "U.S. Warns Union on Training Bias. Sets Compliance Deadline for 500-Apprentice Plan." "Union Accused at State Hearing." One of the most scandalous of all is the following: "Negroes Upheld in Sheetmetal Apprentice Test." This was a test in which, of a total of 147 applicans, 24 were Negroes. Of these, 17 passed with the highest grades. But the union contested the examination as not being reflective of the aptitudes of these Negroes, and the court had to hand down a decision that the test was all right and that these youngsters do have some intelligence. Again, the court against the union. And again, it is the electrical workers' union, the plumbers' union and other building trades unions that are cited as the chief culprits. And these are only a small fraction of the newspaper headlines and articles on this problem.

Thus, a comprehensive program of jobs for all workers with consideration to the special problems of the black worker is the road to reducing the effect of the pro-fascist, racist offensive. This will be dealt with in greater detail below.

There are also some new developments in the area of housing which require a fresh look. The problem of housing as a generator of conflict between black and white workers dates back to the end of World War II. Prior to the war's end, a great deal of interracial activity had been built up on the job level in industry. But at that time the ghettos had not enlarged too much and there was not too much pressure to break out, and inasmuch as the black and white workers found so much in common on the job fighting the boss for better working conditions, friction was at a minimum.

In the postwar years, both the black and white workers accumulated some small savings with which to purchase a home. Large and continuous migrations of Negroes from the South resulted in the already overcrowded ghettos becoming altogether unlivable, and the Negro began a struggle to break out. Those with enough capital sought home ownership in white neighborhoods. The Supreme Court in 1949 ruled out restrictive covenants and gave legal sanction to the breaking up of the overcrowded ghetto.

But the Negro found a "not welcome" sign as he sought refuge from slum life in other neighborhoods. More often than not such signs took the form of mobs, or other forms of violence. The black worker now found his white working-class brother a part of the mobs, and this increased his distrust of all whites. Thought he, "Yesterday I believed that this man was my friend; today I find him in the camp of my enemies."

After a number of skirmishes in most cities, white Americans fled to suburbia. The ghettos were enlarged, and in most instances Negroes occupied the entire center of the city.

Today the problem has been compounded. The migrations from the South did not cease. They continued to the point where, in a number of cities, Negroes are in the process of becoming the majority of the population. And now the overcrowded conditions are forcing some Negroes to seek a solution in suburbia. The marches led by Dr. King in Chicago last year unleashed a fury on the part of whites not witnessed in recent years. Whites who fled from the city center several years ago now find themselves again hemmed in. Not even the suburbs give them peace from this ongoing black invasion.

This is the process taking place on the housing front which engenders racist onslaughts against black people anew. Behind it is an economic problem coupled with racist ideology of long standing.

Thus, racism is propelled forward today by black people making demands which dig deeper and deeper into the war policy of the government, demands which are not only anti-imperialist but are increasingly becoming anti-capitalist. It is acclerated by many liberals joining the ultra-Right attack on the movement. Racism is also fed by deteriorating economic conditions on the job and housing fronts and a failure to evolve a comprehensive program to meet these new problems. Resulting therefrom is greater friction between black and white.

Therefore, a radical change in the status of black people, a change toward greater security and a higher standard of living for all workers, requires a radical shift from racist ideology among white workers. This is a fundamental prerequisite for building a powerful coalition of black and white in the conditions of today. And it is only through such a coalition that America is going to be saved from the catastrophies threatening it.

Racism is also a major contributor to moods of black nationalism. The recent period has also witnessed a tremendous growth in this direction.

What is the source of this trend? What is the main content? In what way does it differ from black nationalist trends of other times? What should be the attitude of Communists to this development?

Black nationalism today arises in part from a feeling of being rejected by the white community. Historically, there have always existed two Americas, one black and one white. At the close of World War II, as we have indicated, the main thrust of the Negro movement in Northern areas was to break out of the ghetto. The main trend in the Negro community was for full integration into every institution of American life. But the Negro didn't break out of the ghetto; when they temporarily succeeded, whites fled, thus enlarging the area of ghetto life rather than eliminating it. This experience has left the Negro bitter and ever more distrustful of whites. Forced to live in the ghetto under conditions which are almost indescribable, the economic conditions of the mass of the Negro people continually worsened as those of other sections of the population, including some Negroes, got better. The contrast between affluence for a few Negroes and poverty for the mass of black people has been a driving force engendering even greater resentment of whites.

Thus many Negroes when they sum up the experiences of the last two decades, conclude that integration in the abstract will not automatically solve the problem of being black, that even in integrated houses, schools and other institutions, the Negro can and does remain a second-class citizen, with little or no say on decisions which have great meaning for his life.

In these circumstances, most Negroes have come to conclude that the exercise of freedom requires dealing with the other side from positions of strength, rather than depending on "good will" or "moral persuasion."

Another factor of no small importance is the discovery by many Negroes that they had been brain-washed by a white-led society. They had been led to believe that their ancestral background came from levels of social organization not much higher than animal life. Today, as they witness Africans playing a major role in all the affairs of mankind, this evokes from them a feeling of great pride in their own race, in the color of Black, and brings out a deep desire for greater identity with their past. Previous tendencies to try to escape the "sin" of being black are now replaced with an emphasis on being black.

These moods are also in the background of the slogan of "black power" and the emphasis of control over ghetto life. Most whites do not comprehend these psychological factors and feel rejected when Negroes place their emphasis in this direction.

A third factor producing a black nationalist path of development is the rise of three major categories of people in the ghetto. One category consists of the more recent waves of migrants from the South who are forced to go on relief or who find employment of the most menial nature in the service industries, where the pay is often less than what people receive on relief. People who fall in this category are called the underemployed. In most cases they are people who came from the rural South with little or no industrial experience; and in the North they work mostly in unorganized shops where their contacts with unions or with whites are minimal. And even when they are in unions, these are mostly unions headed by racketeers who work with the bosses to keep them in their unenviable position. People in this category make up a large segment of most black communities.

An NALC found that hundreds of thousands in the Chicago area earn less than $3,000 a year. They are employed in industries wuch as apparel, merchandising, laundry and dry cleaning, hospitals, repair services, etc. The survey concludes: "In the greater Chicago area, at least 515,000 are working poor; of these, at least 400,000 live in the city of Chicago, the overwhelming part in the slums and ghettos."

The Negro population in Chicago is estimated at anywhere between 800,000 to 1,000,000. The underemployed represent at least one-third of this population. This group feels totally alienated from white society and isn't interested in building interracial life. It is therefore a major source of present-day nationalism.

Another category which engenders a drive toward nationalism is Negro youth, both the students and the unemployed.

In his book Slums and Suburbs, written in 1961 (before the ghetto uprisings), James B. Conant said of these strata:

> In a slum area of 125,000 people, mostly Negro, a sampling of the youth population showed that roughly 70 per cent of the boys and girls aged 16 to 21 were out of school and unemployed.

> The magnitude of the problem is appalling and the challenge to our society is clear. ... We are allowing social dynamite to accumulate in our large cities.

Since this survey was made, the figures have no doubt increased. This means that another large sector of the black community has grown up with little or no work experience.

The third grouping is Negro business. Classically, the rise of a native capitalist class within the nation has been the main springboard of nationalism. J. V. Stalin once observed: "The bourgeoisie learns its nationalism in the struggle for the market."

The Negro question in the U.S. cannot be treated in a mechanical fashion. There are, we we have noted, other transmission belts of nationalism. Nonetheless, the struggle of the black bourgeoisie to share in the market among its own people is one of the significant drives of present-day nationalism. The black ghetto bourgeoisie, mainly petty bourgeoisie, has grown in a number of communities in the last twenty years. Some black-owned enterprises are already in competition with white-owned companies.

Whereas formerly Negro capital was mainly invested in non-production enterprises, today there has been a marked increase in the field of production. The new capital formation has been mainly in the field of cosmetics and food-processing. Here and there one finds investments in other areas of production, but they are the exception.

The growth of the black bourgeoisie in recent times has taken two paths. There has been a considerable enlargement of one section employed as professional workers, in government agencies on the one hand, and of another section engaged in direct commercial enterprises on the other. The former tends toward individual integration as the solution; the latter sees an expanding ghetto and a growing market as a source of their greater development as capitalists. It therefore calls upon progressives to help them gain a greater share of the volume of business done in the ghetto. Whatever divisions exist in this category, most black businesses encourage the black power concept and help to feed nationalist sentiments.

These categories -- the unemployed, the underemployed, the youth and business -- represent a very large section of the total black population in most major cities. Their very existence and life experience mitigate against a working-class outlook. This situation, therefore, provides the main social base, the main springboard for black nationalism today.

In what way does present-day nationalism differ from that of the past? Regarding this trend, Harry Schwartz of the New York Times writes the following:

> Black nationalism is not an entirely new phenomenon. In the 1920s Marcus Garvey's project for moving American Negroes to Africa won the support of hundreds of thousands of black men and women. ... Since World War II the Black Muslims have shown that a mass Negro movement of some proportions could be built on a form of black separatism and hatred of whites.

But what then is the content of the present wave?

First: It certainly is not a repetition of the escapist utopian schemes conceived by a Garvey in the 1920s.

Second: It is certainly not our former conception of what would happen in the Black Belt of the South, notwithstanding some similarities that flowed from that situation and which are very much present in today's movement.

Third: At the present time it is not the Elijah Muhammud approach, although that factor is there, and could under some circumstances be greatly enlarged.

The central thrust of this movement has not been directed against the white community indiscriminately, even though most use the term "whitey." Its major pitch has been against the power of the state -- the police apparatus, the ruling circles -- and against business elements within the ghetto. There are few instances where Negroes have ganged up and beaten whites promiscuously in their communities, as was the case in race riots in the early 1920s. The Negro is not seeking a confrontation along such lines today.

The following description of nationalism presented by Barbara Ward, an internationally known political analyst, portrays the main content of this movement:

> We know that the passionate desire of men to see themselves as equal with other human beings without distinction of class, or sex, or race, or nationhood is one of the driving forces of our day and I believe it is the taproot of modern nationalism. For this reason nationalism today comes to us in great measure in the form of equality, the equality of nations one with each other, the equality of esteem and prestige that comes from not being run by other nations. This is one of the great drives of our world and when we discuss nationalism, I think it is legitimate to unite it with the idea of equality.

Thus, at present the main content of black nationalism is of a progressive character. It does not exclude Negro-white unity, but it demands that such unity be meaningful and between equal partners. Roscoe Proctor was correct when he wrote:

> Total integration is a recognized valid concept and is the ultimate goal of most black power advocates. Their desire to build black power is a practical recognition of a necessary process through which a genuine integration can be achieved. ("Notes on 'Black Power' Concept," Political Affairs, March 1967.)

This is also what is underlined by SNCC. They do not reject the necessity of coalition. And so, I would say that the predominant content of today's nationalism is not anti-white. It is distrustful of whites and has little confidence in their goodwill. True, whatever goodwill toward whites still exists in the black communities is evaporating very quickly, and what was the case yesterday may not be so tomorrow. But this analysis is being made on the basis of what is presently the case.

What should be the attitude of the CPUSA to these new nationalist currents? First of all, we must draw a line between nationalism and nationalism. The old folks have a saying, "Everybody talking about heaven ain't going there." To paraphrase this, we may say, "Everybody talking black, everybody promoting nationalism, don't really reflect the needs of black people."

Nationalism, historically appearing in many different climes, in many different forms, in many different forms, in many different tongues, through many different colors, assumes either a progressive path of development, or a reactionary one. There is no third way.

In present-day circumstances, we must draw a line between what is progressive and what is reactionary. The brand of nationalism expressed by the Black Muslim movement is basically a reactionary path. We can understand and sympathize with the conditions which are at the root of this movement. We can hail the many positive strengths which it generates, such as race pride and the dignity it conveys to its members. We feel that its members can make important contributions to the general welfare such as the courageous opposition to the war in Vietnam by Muhammud Ali.

But when the movement encourages non-participation in day-to-day struggles for partial demands, when it calls for complete separation of the races on all levels, when it demeans everybody with a white face, when it glorifies everybody with a black face--then, clearly, it is out of touch with reality and leads up a blind alley. Furthermore, wittingly or not, it helps to lay the basis for genocidal treatment of the American Negro. For the divisions among black and white at that level can only pave the way for an American brand of fascism.

We entertain hopes that these trends can be overcome and that the organization can take its place as a positive force for black freedom. At the same time, this analysis does not call for total rejection of everything the Muslims stand for. Even their ultimate goal, a black-led republic within continental United States, if manifested by a large segment of the black community in a socialist America, would be honored if American Communists had anything to do about it. Moreover, under such conditions, a separate state would receive the fullest economic, political and social cooperation, to make of it truly a free and prosperous community.

But the basic content of the main waves of nationalism, as we have shown, is progressive and goes in the direction of a struggle against capitalism and imperialism. As such, we support it and will do all within our power to help achieve the goals the black freedom fighters place.

We especially identify with our people in finding beauty in being black, pride in being black, and in seeking to reclaim much of a lost culture and heritage. This usage of the term "black" as applied to our people is a rejection of a former notion of black as being synonymous with evil, the devil, disaster or other undesirable things. We identify with this urge, notwithstanding that many of us will still use the words "black," "Afro-American" or "Negro" interchangeably.

But while we generally associate ourselves with the progressive content of nationalism, we do not uncritically embrace every tatic or method used by people who can be regarded as generally progressive. There are many situations in which, as a matter of principle, we are compelled to disagree. We reject those concepts in our ranks which fail to identify with the new nationalist urges among the people, but we likewise reject those opportunist trends which embrace uncritically everything that is advanced under a nationalist cover. This latter point is important because, while a trend may be progressive today, it may also contain seeds which would make it reactionary tomorrow. Failure to fight a minor disease today can open the door to a major disease tomorrow. Thus, it is necessary to fight colds as insurance against more serious developments.

In summary, we reject reactionary versions of black nationalism. We seek a progressive direction. We also fight reactionary tendencies within a generally progressive trend. Finally, we seek to infuse a greater class content into the movement generally, for only in this way can there be a sustained progressive development to a higher form of social organization, to a form of society that will eradicate all manifestations of racism, chauvinism, reactionary nationalism and provide for the full flowering of the Brotherhood of Man.

The struggle against nationalism of a reactionary character is a requirement for the building of a coalition of black and white, which is required to save America from impending catastrophe.

The new stage of the freedom struggle is marked by a growing crisis in techniques and methods. Those which sufficed yesterday are inadequate to meet the demands posed by the black people's movements today; consequently, much confusion exists as to what to do to compel substantial changes.

Floyd McKissick, executive directior of the Committee on Racial Equality, calls for discarding the demonstration form of struggle. He says: "The nation does not respond to non-violent demonstrations." McKissick says he knows because he has taken part in "at least fifty of them."

Martin Luther King, after the outbreak of violence on the West Side of Chicago last year, said that the power structure responds with concessions only to acts of violence. And he now calls for a massive civil disobedience campaign.

Julian Bond, youthful black legislator from Georgia, has been quoted as saying that nothing is left to the Negro but to resort to violence, although he also noted that nothing would be achieved by violence. Some of the younger radicals around the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, like Stokely Carmichael and Rap Brown, appeal for guerrilla warfare within the ghettos and cities in the United States. These young people take notice of the growing conspiracy on the part of the government, as well as ultra-Right organizations, to carry out a program of mass annihilation of black people. In this regard, their call to arms is still of a defensive nature,

The Carmichaels and Browns have been greatly inspired by the guerrilla methods in Vietnam. Here they see a poor, backward, undeveloped nation, using some of the most primitive methods of warfare, holding at bay the most powerful military force in human experience. They are likewise propelled in the direction of looking toward armed struggle by the Cuban Revolution, which started with a small band of guerrillas. From these facts they deduce that a black minority, led by militant, armed groups in the United States, can do no less than the former colonial peoples have done.

However, they overlook one important factor, namely, the support given the guerrillas by the overwhelming majority of the people. The guerrilla movement in Cuba was successful because it was supported in the countryside and in the cities by the majority of the Cuban people. What was true in Cuba is a thousand times more true in Vietnam.

Can it be successfully argued that an armed struggle in present conditions in the U.S. would enjoy the active or passive support by anything like a majority of the American people? Clearly not. Under such circumstances, the resort to arms of an offensive nature could only lead to suicide. Our people have fought too hard and too long to reach this point, to throw everything away in a suicidal action. The goal of the struggle must be victory, not defeat.

Black people are free today in Cuba through armed struggle, but it was struggle by an army composed of all kinds of Cubans and not just black Cubans. Indeed, there was only one Negro with Castro in the mountains initially. Hence, black people did not free themselves in Cuba by just their willingness to die. The political climate was right and there was support for the armed struggle in depth. Those from afar who counsel black people in the United States to take up arms as the road to freedom, regardless of the political circumstances, do the Negro people, as well as themselves, a great disservice.

Dr. King was not entirely correct when he said that the power structure responds with concessions only to violence. The stubborn facts are that the powers that be have not responded to any form of struggle with anything more than very minor concessions.

Struggles of great turbulence have raged in the nation's ghettos for the last three years; hundreds of millions of dollars in property have been destroyed. There has been an unprecedented loss of life, an unprecedented number of people injured, arrested and jailed. But the balance sheet in terms of results is no different than that of the period which was characterized by non-violent demonstrative forms of action. Thus, it is not a matter of choice between violent or non-violent struggles; the problem is much more difficult and complex than that.

The Communist Party of the United States has had considerable experience in dealing with the question of force and violence. Beginning in 1948, and throughout the decade of the 1950s, we were hounded, persecuted and prosecuted as being in league with a foreign power to overthrow this govern[illegible] by force and violence. Over a hundred and thirty Party leaders were convicted under the Smith Act. Many of them served several years in jail. Some of the young radicals may not remember this period, known to history as the era of McCarthyism. Perhaps some of them were too young to know what went on. But in any case, they should ponder over the experiences of those years, which can be useful as a guide to action today.

Throughtout the Smith Act trials we Communists never renounced force and violence per se. We said that at certain historical moments the necessity for armed struggle may be present. But we held that we were not guilty of a conspiracy to employ force and violence, nor were we guilty of teaching and advocating the necessity of the overthrow of the government by force and violence. Furthermore, we stated, we seek a socialist change through peaceful means. But if it should become impossible to solve the problems by peaceful means, if the ruling class should block the channels of democratic expression, we would unhesitatingly call for the overthrow of such a government by all possible means, including armed struggle. To this approach American Communists still hold.

The present wave of violent actions in the black ghettos by black people is of a defensive nature, and the right of the black people to defend themselves even by force of arms should be supported by all in the country who stand against injustice. However, it is one thing to defend oneself from attack by all necessary means, and it is another to choose this way as the main method of battle. As Communists pointed out in various Smith Act trials, there may well come a time when other forms of struggle must be supplemented by armed struggle. But this should not be dealt with as if it were a universal necessity. It is a matter of time, place and circumstances.

Before anyone begins talking about the necessity for armed guerrilla warfare in the cities of the United States, an assessment should be made as to whether all other forms have become obsolete and incapable of meeting the problems. If this is found to be the case, then revolutionary forces should prepare for such struggles. But if not, proposals for armed action can have fatal consequences. History records many examples of successful uprisings; but it also records that premature and uncalled for actions along this line have led minority groups to slaughter and caused movements to be set back for many years. Such an important question, therefore, should not be dealt with off the top of one's head.

A superficial examination of the present moment could lead to conclusions that we have reached the point where all other methods have failed. For twelve long years the black community, especially in the South, has been engaged in massive non-violent methods of struggle. The demonstrations of this period have no parallel in American history. The demonstrators have also shown a patience that has few parallels. Unarmed men, women and children have flung themselves before the power structure almost as sacrificial offerings; they have been murdered, beaten, jailed and set upon with ferocious dogs and cow prods; they have been the victims of the most savage and inhuman terror. And now, twelve years later, the balance sheet shows only token gains. Jim Crow and segregation are still a basic part of American life.

Our youth have seen their cries for relief go unheeded by the white-led power structure. This has impelled some of them to call for more violent methods.

Another factor which weighs heavily in the negative attitude of some freedom fighters toward demonstrations and other milder forms of struggle is their discovery that to win their full goals the social system of capitalism will have to be changed. Some of them conclude that since capitalism is the source of the problem, then why engage in actions that at best bring only temporary relief.

If capitalism is the source of the inferior status of black people, it would indeed follow that only with the elimination of the system can Negroes gain equality. In a general sense, this is true. But from this truth, some wrong and harmful conclusions are drawn.

There are some on the Left who advance the idea that no substantial change in the Negro's status is possible in the capitalist framework, that only token gains can be made. For example, Paul A. Baran and Paul M. Sweezy, in their book, Monopoly Capital (Monthly Review Press, New York 1966), say the following: "Today Negroes are on the bottom, and there is neither room above nor anyone ready to take their place. Thus, only individuals can move up, not the group as such. Reforms help the few, not the many." (p. 279.)

If the Negro people's movement accepted this viewpoint, the struggle would be set back for generations to come. To tell the Negro masses that only a few individuals can move upward so long as capitalism exists, is to tell them to sit around and wait until socialism comes on the agenda, or until then just to propagandize for socialism in the abstract.

To bring about socialism requires a process of struggle varying according to the given conditions. Those who advocate a policy which sees no progress for the masses under capitalism are like a farmer who expects a bumper crop although he tilled no soil, planted no seeds and cultivated no plants.

The road to a socialist reorganization of society is no longer a matter of hypothesis or guess-work. One-third of the world has taken the socialist path and another sector among the newly-liberated countries is heading in that direction. Thus, we have before us a wealth of experience. And as the struggle for socialism goes forward in the rest of the world, new experiences will be added.

Within that framework, however, there are some universal truths that have stood the test of time.

Among these is the fact that the struggle for socialism develops in the framework of democratic struggles within the capitalist system. In all instances where the socialist struggle was successful, it was preceded by a stage of struggle for radical shifts or changes within the old society. The classical form this has taken is the struggle for bourgeois democracy.

Today in the United States, the Negroes' struggle for equality is essentially a democratic struggle. And in this struggle, it is possible to change his status substantially, short of socialism. Indeed, the balance sheet of struggle for the last fifteen years has in some areas already passed beyond tokenism.

The desegregation of public places, both in the North and the South, represents a substantial change. With regard to the role of Negroes in sports, too, the change has been substantial. Negro employment in government services has taken a qualitative leap forward and is more than token.

It is true that in an over-all sense the Negroes' gain in the last period has been minimal. But substantial changes have nevertheless been made. And given increased struggle by all segments of the American people, substantial progress in the economic and political fields can also be made that will go beyond tokenism.

Some argue that placing the question in this way can only feed illusions in the capitalist system. Now, it is true that the winning of reforms under capitalism can temporarily create such illusions. But it is also true that the ongoing struggle for reforms can increasingly expose the limitations of the system and lead to greater consciousness of the need to change it.

However much one may understand the background which drives our youth to guns, sober judgment calls for presentation of an approach which can win results. This means bringing the struggle down to its common denominator.

The main problems of the people in the ghettos revolve around income and power. The Negro is the victim of a hierarchy of superexploitation which involves wages, prices, rents, interest rates and other means of extracting profits. His problem on the economic front calls for the kind of actions which can consistently narrow down the area of superexploitation. It means building up many different forms of organization on the economic front.

In the political arena, the main problem is not how to get a response from the power structure as it presently exists. The problem is how basically to change this structure. This is more difficult. It is less dramatic than a gun battle in the street; it requires much more painstaking work. But it has been wisely said: "The race is not always won by those who run the fastest, but by those who can endure to the end."

It is one of the ironies of our time that those same forces who have done so much to shake up our society, who correctly placed the question of power on the agenda, now wander afield. They proceed on another journey at a time when what they urged yesterday is coming on the agenda. All over this country black people are expressing their independence of the old-line political parties and are preparing actions which can propel Negroes much deeper into the political section of the power structure.

Today, a Hatcher, a Stokes, a Willis make the race for mayor in three large cities. They are the harbingers of future black mayors in a large number of American cities. The Freedom Democratic Party, a creature of the young radicals, stands on the threshold of great electoral victories. We are about to reap the harvest from the voter registration drive which represented so many years of effort. And now some are losing faith in this path of development and call for the more dramatic action--the resort to arms.

Now, the election of Negroes to mayoralties and other high offices will not automatically lead to an improvement of the conditions of the masses. At present a struggle is being waged to determine who will control these officals. The ruling circles are reading the handwriting on the wall and are taking steps to guarantee full control, regardless of who gets elected. This is the meaning of the support given Stokes in Cleveland by some of the business community, as well as the support from the top command of the Democratic Party. This is also in the background of the support being given Hatcher in Gary by top circles of the party, notwithstanding the fact that local Democrats are giving support to the Republican candidate. Dedicated freedom fighters must not refrain from these struggles because of these ruling class maneuvers, however. On the contrary, the situation dictates the need for maximum effort to get representatives who will be responsive to the people, not to the white power structure.

Therefore, the effort at the ballot box to alter the present relationship of forces in the government apparatus is the main direction the struggle must take. In pursuance of the goal of reducing the area of superexploitation and of enhancing political power, a multiplicity of forms and techniques of struggle will be needed.

Some of these struggles will be non-violent; others may occasion the defensive use of violence. But in any case, the main weapons that black folks can use include, first, their labor power, their ability to halt production and reduce the profits of the big corporations. Second, they include their consumer power, their ability to disturb the profits of those firms which practice discrimination. And finally, they include their political power which, if wisely used, can compel some meaningful changes even in the framework of the capitalist system. Socialism is the final solution, but the struggle for limited goals today will pave the way to a full solution tomorrow.

To build a coalition of black and white requires full utilization of all forms of power that the people possess. It also requires avoiding escapist illusions, of which the enemy can and will make good use. Our nation can surmount its crises only if all the people find appropriate forms of struggle and act in concert.

Illumination of our task requires a review of our work in the last ten years. Of course, such a review must of necessity be limited, especially when we have before us so many pressing current problems.

There are some among us who say that we have had a wrong line for the last ten years. I wish to challenge this appraisal as not being in accord with the facts. That there were certain inadequacies in our line is very evident; there are many things that we did not foresee. But any appraisal must be made against a backdrop of what is and is not readily observable. Otherwise, the Party line becomes a line that is all-seeing. Such an idea is non-Marxist. I would only say that when we are dealing with such questions we should say that in the present circumstances the following is the case; tomorrow, in a different set of circumstances, something else may be the case. But as of now we operate on the basis of what we can see.

Those who speak of a wrong line say in essence that we should have retained the slogan of self-determination for the Black Belt. My answer to that is categorically "no." We were 100 per cent correct in dropping the slogan of self-determination. Having done so, we proceeded to state further that the Negro question is still a national question. The resolution of the 17th National Convention says:

> To conclude that the Negro people in the United States are not a nation is not to say that the Negro question in our country is not a national question. It is indeed a national question. The question is, however, a national question of what type, with what distinguishing characteristics, calling for what strategic concept for its solution.

But though we retained the concept of the national character of the question, we failed to probe deeper and to outline in depth the nature of the national question as it is manifested today and as it may possibly be manifested tomorrow.

Some of us were involved in formulating the above paragraph and inserting it into the text of the resolution. But we didn't define the distinguishing characteristics, although we knew it wasn't the same as the national question in relation to any other minority group, also that it wasn't the same as it was when we talked about a nation in the Black Belt.

One source of weakness in our Party is that when we adopt a so-called general line, it answers everything. Lines must be constantly fed and implemented. Notwithstanding the formulation in the resolution characterizing the problem as national in character, we underestimated the possibilities of a continued growth in this direction. We underestimated the effects of the accumulated years of material developments toward nationhood in the South, as well as the significance of some of the concepts that we had put forward. We interpreted too mechanically the undermining of the nation in the Black Belt by migration into the cities and into the North. We expected changes more in the direction of the class character of the struggle and less in the direction of the national character.

But things did not go that way. When we say that the majority of the Negroes are now in the industrial proletariat, that the main center of the problem now lies not in the peasantry but in the proletariat, we must remember that ideological changes usually lag behind material changes. But we overlooked the fact that certain national attributes that the Negro was evolving in his Black Belt experience could spill over when he came North.

We were also slow in understanding that the motive factor promoting nationalism in the black community with these migrations was the same as that which operated after World War I, when the rise of Garveyism took place. Then, too, the Negro fled from the South to the North and instead of finding the "promised land," he found Jim Crow, segregation, and conditions in the North as miserable as in the South. His disillusionment laid the foundation for Garvey to preach "Go back to Africa." As he saw things, in the words of the poet Ted Ward, "America is one big white fog so thick and impenetrable that a black man can never get through it."

What took place after World War I has been repeated under new conditions in the forties, fifties and sixties. The wave of migration of Negroes from the South to the North has become a continuous process, especially with the growing displacement of Negroes in agriculture.

It is interesting to see what happens to the migrants. On the South Side of Chicago there have been no eruptions of a major character. It is on the West Side that these have taken place. There the population consists mainly of Negroes recently from the South who are mainly employed not in steel, auto, farm equipment or other mass production industries, but at the lowest rung of the economic ladder in the service industries. They are mainly unorganized and have had no union experience. They have had little or no association with whites except to see them on the job, and then go back to the ghetto. They constitute most of the people on the relief rolls, most of the ADC cases, etc. On the other hand, a large segment of the South Side inhabitants are older residents who have been in the city 30 or 40 years, who have seniority in some industries, and who have accumulated some savings and live relatively well.

There seems to be an attitude that the Negroes are polarized by the existence of extreme poverty at one end and the rise of a middle class at the other. But there is also a category of workers in between who are mainly in unions and have evolved a certain degree of trade union and class consciousness.

Thus, it is clear that changes in the occupational status, especially in the area of the underemployed, do not automatically lead to trade union or working-class consciousness. This, too, is part of the raw material out of which an explosive growth of nationalism has already evolved.

There was nothing in our line that would have prohibited us from understanding in greater depth the possibilities of a new and broader wave of black nationalism. The problem, I repeat, is that general line and policy must be constantly checked to see what is new, what is aborning, and on this basis to make the necessary adjustments to correspond to the new realities.

In addition to our failure to understand and anticipate the present wave of nationalism, we have historically underestimated the role of color, of race, of oppression as driving forces for Negro nationalism. We have tried to explain this trend from the definition Stalin gave of a nation as an historically evolved community having in common language, geography, economic life and psychological make-up. This definition is generally sound, but in dealing with the American Negro, we are dealing with a people that has a history different from any other people on earth. And fully to understand his make-up, we must take into consideration that here color, race and oppression operate independently of Stalin's definition.

I have dwelt on our weaknesses in this connection in order to draw lessons for the present and the future. The Proctor article, which foresees another decade of the continued growth of black nationalism, could lead us to repeat today the same error as yesterday. It is conceivable that tomorrow, under new and different stimuli, the present trend toward nationalism could evaporate and give way to greater cohesion between black and white. Our Party at all times should be prepared for all eventualities.

While we did not foresee some of these developments, our line was sufficient to have given us a better grasp of events. We were groping along the way when the Muslim movement appeared on the scene as a serious force. And we evolved an approach which, if we had followed through, would have led us to a much different situation. At that time we wrote:

> The growth of nationalism in a distorted form is also a reaction to the distortions of the theory of integration. There is an old Chinese proverb which says: "Two men sleep in the same bed but dream different dreams." This can also be said about integration. To some, integration means assimilation. It means the abolition of the Negro communities as such. It means liquidation of the so-called Negro entirely into an Anglo-Saxon melting pot. To some it means tokenism - the advancement of a few Negroes into positions of influence, while the Negro masses remain essentially in the same position. There is no contradiction between integrating Negroes into every phase of American life and the removal of the whole structure of jim crow and segregation and the continued existence of large concentrations of Negro people.
> In the present American political power structure the maintenance of large Negro communities will be a necessity. This will be necessary not only for cultural purposes but also for protecting gains made in the struggle for integration. This should in no way be interpreted as a continuation of the ghetto with all its dehumanizing features. The ghetto must be destroyed and interracial communities must be built, but at the same time Negro communities will and should remain as outposts of political power from which the Negro can sit in councils of political affairs with equal voice.
> How long this condition will remain will be determined by what happens in the whole body politic or on the completeness with which people are judged on their merits and not their color. For example, the political structure in every major Northern city is composed of combinations of national groups. The Irish in Chicago is the only group which now wields power not based on its numerical or voting strength. When the Negro can do the same there will be no need for emphasis of this point.

This was written in 1961, several years before the "black power" slogan came on the scene. Based on this thinking, in 1964 the Negro Affairs Commission issued the first comprehensive program designed by any group to alleviate conditions in the black ghettos. Later on, the Organization Department selected several ghettos as places of concentration. Among them were Watts and the West Side of Chicago.

Here again, the problem was not our line. It can be said that we anticipated some of the explosions. But even so, we didn't realize the imminence and depth of those that followed a year or two later; for if we had, I'm certain we would have given more serious attention to the concentration areas we had set down on paper.

There have been many other weaknesses in our work that time does not permit us to examine in detail. We shall touch on only a few of them. Among them is a growth of conservatism in our ranks which has slowed down our ability to assess what is really new in a given situation. We become subjective and believe that because we have behind us a great deal of experience, we can only teach and not learn

The independent role of our Party during these last years also requires some analysis. We came through the Smith Act trials and the McCarran Act persecutions with some battle scars which require removal.

We lost the art of taking timely initiatives. We blurred over the possibility for our Party to continue to play a pioneering role, an independent role. Elements of tailism set in as we sat on the sidelines and waited for others to act. During this period we also failed to find ways and means of developing constructive critical approaches in both the house of labor and the civil rights movement.

In regard to the latter, it was late in the day before we saw the necessity for a really critical approach to the leadership of the NAACP. It was only after the Association's 1965 convention in Denver that we began to become sharply critical of this leadership. We opposed A. Philip Randolph only on the issue of red-baiting; but his actions to keep the NALC a small apparatus that he could control went on without a murmur from us. His tendencies to give in to George Meany without some solid commitments was also a weakness that we failed to take note of.

Even in the case of Dr. Martin Luther King, who embraces a philosophy which differs from Marxism, our policy failed to combine endorsement of his tactical line with criticism of his non-violent concepts. Thus, we left the field to Malcolm X who now, in martyrdom, has become a man of great stature.

Even now there are those in our ranks who seek to imitate the young radicals without any thought of their inadequacies, or of anything that we as Communists can add.

In the coming period our Party must find ways and means of identifying itself with all advanced progressive forces, but at the same time we must, as a matter of principle, express our differences whenever we have them. Our criticism must be friendly and precise, and we must avoid name-calling and pinning labels on people. Nor should our criticism be put forward as if it were the last word on the matter--as if we had just walked out of a conference with God and emerged with the final answer.

All this points up the necessity for us to understand clearly what the main needs of the people's movements are, and to determine in what way our Party can be useful, what it can add to the work that others are not geared or ideologically equipped to contribute. It is in this way that we shall perform our vanguard role in the conditions of today's struggles.

The central question on which we must focus is how to establish a lasting and durable coalition of black and white on various levels, but particularly in the working class.

In the 1930s we pioneered the path that led to a new birth of Negro and white unity at the grass-roots level. This unity was the main force which compelled a number of concessions to the broad masses. And it was undoubtedly the main force which at that time prevented America from goose-stepping alongside of Hitler and the Axis powers.

Sinclair Drake and Horace Cayton document this contribution in their celebrated work Black Metropolis. They write:

> During the early thirties marchers in left wing demonstrations.. carried placards ...black and white unite.... Close interracial cooperation became associated in the popular mind with the Reds... Negroes and whites...have always cooperated...but usually in white employer-Negro employee relations or as Negro leader-white patron. These Communist slogans signified something that was new...a small band of white men proclaiming as a goal complete unity of Negro and white workers in a joint struggle to build a new society. Not even the abolitionists had stood for that.

These actions became the property of vast masses with the birth of the CIO and other developments. The Communist Party made many contributions during this period, but the most important of them was to galvanize unity between black and white workers against the white bosses.

Today, almost forty years later, we must once again pioneer new fields. The struggle for Negro and white unity must go forward today in new forms. Yesterday's approach is too mild to meet the problems of this stormy period. The question is no longer one of just talking about black and white unity; the problem now is how to forge such unity on the basis of complete equality for black people. The problem now is to help guarantee equality of a black minority in a white-majority society. This is the general goal to be fought for.

But to reach that goal a fundamental prerequisite is the demonstration in action by white Americans of good faith toward their black brothers when they converge together in a common struggle. This means that in interracial organizations in general and in the trade union movement in particular, Communists must not and cannot remain at peace with forces who fail to grasp this fundamental truth. This means that our Party must gear itself to be an effective force in leveling all barriers to an equal say by black people on all matters pertaining to the general welfare. And on those problems facing the people of the ghetto, black people and they alone must decide what is to happen. Advice and counsel, yes. But the decisions must be theirs.

This objective is very easy to put on paper, but is extremely difficult to realize in everyday life. There are no easy answers. All our clubs, district boards, commissions and other Party bodies including the national committee must keep this problem before them as a permanent feature on every agenda. If we concentrate our attention on this we will come up with answers as to how to do the job. We will make mistakes along the way, but they will be the kind of mistakes which arise out of an aggressive drive to find solutions. In a general way we know what must be done; we know that the approach cannot rest on moral persuasion, but must be based mainly on self-interest. We also know that some people cannot understand self-interest until they are confronted with a crisis. If this is what has to be, then we should have no hesitation in creating a crisis.

Let us take the building trades unions and some other craft unions. They are the main barriers to the upgrading of Negro workers. Here it is not just a problem of bad union leadership. Many of the rank and file also believe that Negroes in apprenticeship training and as journeymen will constitute a threat to their jobs. In some circumstances, they must be shown that when they fail to fight for their black brothers, this is the most dangerous threat to their jobs and wage standards.

The Negro masses are restless. In order to keep alive lines of coalition with their white brothers, they have had to concede most often; they have had to remain silent about discrimination in the interest of trade union unity. For forty years or more the ruling class has not been able to play black and white against each other in strike struggles. But this reservoir of good will for the trade unions is drying up and unless some radical changes take place, the bosses may succeed in doing what they did during and after World War I, when they brought Negroes in from the plantations to break strikes. The large number of Negroes who are unemployed and underemployed, as well as the thousands of displaced agricultural workers in the South, provide fertile ground for such developments today. We are not arguing for this line of approach, but we must face realities even though they are sometimes distasteful.

Thus, one of the chief ideological weapons for bringing white skilled workers to understand where their real interests lie, is to make them aware of the danger that the bosses may use differences between black and white workers to destroy unions altogether. White Americans in general and white workers in particular must also come to understand that the growing attack against the Negro in the ghettos should be a warning signal to them, too. The bell also tolls for them. If the government and ultra-Right forces succeed in creating a race war in the country the aftermath could well be a police state in which no one would have any rights, and the AFL-CIO could be replaced by a fascist labor front.

We should discuss at this conference what we can do to reverse the present trends in the building trades unions. We should also discuss the question of how to develop a drive to organize the unorganized workers in the service industries, both in the South and in the North. It is my firm opinion that we can reverse some of the current trends toward disunity if such drives are organized among the poorest strata of the workers, both black and white.

When we built unity between black and white workers in the 1930s, we didn't start with the highly-paid skilled workers in the craft unions. In most cases we had to fight them with other unions, including some all-Negro unions. Our starting point was the unemployed, later the independent unions and still later the birth of the CIO. Perhaps some of the experience of that period could be useful in helping to chart a course today.

In regard to the freedom movement, the chief task and vanguard role of the Party, as expressed primarily by black Communists, must be to introduce a class content into the present wave of black nationalism. We must fight against all separatist tendencies as self-defeating. We must do so while respecting the fears black people have of being assimilated by whites. We must fight for full power in the ghettos while struggling against tendencies to go overboard in some situations.

Lately, some discussion has developed about what strata of the Negro people we base ourselves on. Inasmuch as ours is a working-class Party, our main orientation must be to work among black workers. However, concentration on the working class does not negate working closely with other strata of the Negro people. Our object should be to show these other strata why it is so vital for the whole movement to have black workers involved substantially in all struggles.

There are those in our ranks who pull in different directions with regard to the various trends within the movement. What should be our position? First, we still regard the Negro movement as an all-class movement. Hence we are interested at all times in finding common denominators which can throw the weight of the whole movement in a given direction. Occasionally an issue comes along that makes it possible to do just that. But more often the movement is beset with sharp cleavages and is split into "conservatives," "moderates" and "young militants," and must seek to reduce the influence of the conservative element.

We see positive strength in both the moderates and the young black militants. Some among us downgrade the young militants and gravitate more toward the middle or moderate forces. There should be no such gravitational pulls. Each group has its role to play. Of these young people, no matter how much we may disagree with this or that tactic, we can say no less than Robert Weaver, now a part of the establishment and certainly no radical, said at the Urban League convention last year:

> Negro youth can be and has been constructive and effective in its protest. ... The Negro protest might well have never gotten off the ground had it not been for them. ... Thus, I do not ignore the angry words of the new militants, for their tone, their demands, their challenge...their repudiation of middle class behavior are real and basic.

Both of these currents, expressing themselves around the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee and the Congress of Racial Equality, represent the hard core of the protest movement. Unity among these groups on most questions is possible and necessary. Any one of them, taken by itself, does not have the necessary striking power to isolate the conservatives and their influence.

Of course, there are times when the action of one group inspires or prods another into motion. And most of the time the initiative comes from the youth. This is only natural. However, in the long run, combined efforts of all these forces are needed to make a meaningful contribution. And if in the near future the black workers come into sharper focus, the contributions of all will be enlarged.

There are times when we as Communists will have to take issue with one or another action by this or that leader, this or that organization. But when we do, we must not underestimate the positive qualities of both the Left and center forces. Instead, we need a criterion to distinguish who is Left and who is center. In all of these organizations there are people who see the necessity for a change in the system, and the trend is growing.

The growth of this anti-capitalist sentiment is laying the foundation for a radical shift to the Left by all of these forces. In such circumstances, I foresee the possibility of building our Party once again as an influential force.

This conference should also discuss the question of why so few young militant Negroes are joining our ranks. We should also discuss the kind of house-cleaning we need to do to attract and hold them.

In closing, let me say that notwithstanding the great difficulties, we have a rendezvous with destiny. I am confident that we and the American people will find the common path pointed out by Professor Melman. We will unite the pro-democratic forces of our country. Whites will overcome their prejudices, not because they love the Negro, but basically, I believe, because they love themselves.

Wherever there is a white bandit who attacks Negroes, white Communists will jump at his throat; wherever black people, out of frustration or other reasons, follow a no-win policy, black Communists will help them find their way.

Together, black and white Communists are going to make significant contributions toward radical changes in our society. Eventually we will build a country of freedom for all--a socialist America.

CONFERENCE ON STRATEGY & TACTICS IN THE NEW STAGE OF STRUGGLE FOR NEGRO LIBERATION
(October 14-15, 1967)

Report of Panel on Work in the White Community (Approved by the Conference)

Summary of Proposals:

Introduction:

We are living in a period of great opportunities, but one fraught with great dangers. On the one hand, large sections of every major white community today are puzzled and concerned about what is happening now in America and what the future will bring. This concern arises not from a sudden ideological elevation of class conscious understanding, but rather for the most part has developed out of a new awareness of self-interest. Indicative of this development is the significant support for Negro candidates in some white communities.

On the other hand, however, the current period is pregnant with serious dangers of racial conflict and further disintegration of relations between white and black workers. The forces of reaction and racism have acclerated their campaign to promote fear and hysteria in already tense and confused white communities.

Broad areas of common concern exist between Negroes and whites. Any serious progress in any of these areas depends upon mutual struggle and unified actions. For instance, the trade union movement must be made to see that in many cases its very existence and its entire future depends upon a forthright and unambiguous fight in behalf of the Negro people; urban dwellers must be made aware that the future of our cities, arresting and reversing the decay of our urban centers, depends upon a reordering of national priorities, and that the interests of whites are one with Negroes in this struggle.

For our Party the present period offers a most serious challenge, one which can and must be met. To fulfill our responsibilities, however, we will have to make significant changes, and in this respect the role of white Communists in their communities becomes central.

I. To fulfill our role in leading this struggle the Party must undertake an intense and thorough ideological campaign in our own ranks.

We must seek to equip our members to act as initiators of struggle in every aspect of their lives--on the job, in their unions, in their neighborhoods, and social organizations. We must struggle to overcome all weaknesses which exist in our ranks on the question of white chauvinism and subtler forms of paternalism. Our goal must be to re-establish the basis for courageous action on the part of every member, not just in word, but in deed. We must become the initiators of mass struggles wherever we are.

2. An indispensable part of our work must be full and effective use of all available literature. But in addition to existing and regular publication of pamphlets and other materials, the Party should produce a new popular mass pamphlet or brochure dealing with the major issues facing the white community. This educational piece should be written in popular language for free mass distribution by every Party club, and should deal substantively with commonly held misconceptions and backward attitudes found among many white people. It should put forward avenues for building truly honest Negro-white unity on the basis of the self-interest of white working people.

3. On the national level a form must be utilized for coordination of national programs and through which black and white people can function together on the basis of true equality and mutual respect. Organizations such as ADA, CORE, etc. which at one time reflected a lower stage of development, no longer fully and adequately fulfill this role. There are today thousands of white people who at one time actively contributed to progressive activity, and who today are without such a form for their participation. NCNP and other organizations should be considered as potential avenues for such participation.

A national defense organization such as the Civil Rights Congress of an earlier period, appears to be lacking today. We ought to give serious attention to building such an organization based on contemporary relations.

4. A crucial element of our work must be to open a second front in the anti-war movement. We must show predominantly white peace groups that the only basis of healthy black-white unity must be grounded in their making the struggle for Black Liberation as much a part of peace work as the issues of peace are today for the Black Liberation movement. This requires that we show arenas of common concern, like the issue of police brutality, and rally the anti-war movement to activity in defense of Negro rights.

5. The MFDP challenge to the Democratic Convention should be made a central national issue of struggle. Support for the challenge should be built in every community, both within and outside the Democratic party structure. Resolutions of support should be developed at each state Democratic convention. In addition, this activity should be utilized as a part of our campaign to urge Negro candidates to run wherever possible for Congressional and other positions.

6. A central arena for building black-white unity must be in our trade union work. The Party must take steps now in every district to select a plant, shop, or industry in which we take the lead in organizing the unorganized. There is no area of the country in which unorganized shops do not exist where Negroes, whites and other minority group peoples work side by side under the worst conditions.

Such a campaign on our part will also serve to revitalize the trade union movement while placing the question of a massive organizing drive in the South before every union for immediate action.

7. We must single out the building trades as a special area for a battle to open union ranks to all minority groups, breaking the tokenist policies of most unions in the crafts. Compensatory job-training and apprenticeship programs should be included as essential to any meaningful steps to be taken by such unions. We refer these proposals to the Trade Union Commission for detailed development and suggest that one union, such as the Plumbers, be selected for initial concentration.

8. The Party should place itself in the forefront of the battle to defend Rap Brown, the Fort Hood Three, Ron Lockman, the RAM group, and others who have been subject to frame-up prosecutions. We call for an immediate campaign in our press and the setting of control tasks for every club with a plan of check-up. This campaign must not be limited to fund-raising within the Party itself, but rather should be taken by the Party into every mass organization and the general community for attention.

9. An integral part of our Party activity on these issues must be the proper use and role of our press. The Worker and progressive nationality papers must make these issues much more fully a fundamental part of their coverage; they should serve as organs of education and agitation, and must be used by our Party as indispensable tools in our mass work. From a partisan working-class standpoint we must not fear to be publicly critical of liberals, trade unions and others when necessary in combatting racism and subtler forms of chauvinism, including in the progressive movements.

10. Special attention should be given to our work among nationality groups, and notably in our work among youth in this field. Our effort in Jewish community work must be reshaped for a major campaign against racism at all levels. All too often our Party has narrowly seen this work as properly only for our older comrades. Such an emphasis is one-sided and narrow; our youth must be mobilized to enter this field as well.

11. In white community work a campaign should be initiated around the theme of "to save our cities." This campaign offers a common ground for self-interest organization which can serve as a broad base for developing Negro-white unity. The question of re-ordering national priorities to deal with urban development, taxes, housing, community control, education, and transportation is central to this battle.

To make such a program meaningful, the Party must take this campaign into every neighborhood, mass organization, church and social group, etc. We must expose and combat the attempt of the ultra-Right to make demagogic use of these issues.

12. An integral part of the campaign for Negro-white unity and central to the struggle against racism in white communities is a fight to guarantee the defeat of Wallace in the '68 elections. We must take every step necessary to guarantee that Wallace and his supporters are isolated in every community and expose the racist, anti-union, anti-Communist nature of his appeal.

13. Students and the academic and intellectual community must play no small role in this struggle. A major battlefield against racism are the campuses and elementary and secondary schools of our country. A fight must be initiated in every school system and on every campus to guarantee open admissions policies, compensatory schooling, special scholarships, integrated teaching staffs, curriculum dealing with Negro and Labor history, and the elevation of minority group educators to positions of policy-making and authority at every level.

14. Our policy of industrial concentration has special significance for the struggle in the white community. If a breakthrough can be made in auto, steel, transportation, etc. among white workers on the special needs of Negro workers on the job and in their fullest voice in union policy-making, then these workers and unions can become a powerful lever to move the whole trade union movement and white working masses generally. Since these industries now have such a large proportion of black workers, such a breakthrough is both more necessary and possible.

In this respect we must make a special study with respect to the "industrial suburb," as a means by which Negroes are deprived of opportunities to enter the fields in which meaningful jobs are available.

Conclusion:

This report outlines only our initial tasks. It should serve as a basis in every district for immediate attention to the responsibility of our Party to make the fight against racism a fundamental and central part of our work in every field.

It is the feeling of this workshop that the Party should consider special conferences to further develop our work in this field.

The Afro-American in the Arts Today

By Douglass Archer

The characteristic perception of the Afro-American in the arts today is his realization that he is on the eve of a great fertile and revolutionary period. This awareness permeates every section of the arts where Blacks are creating. It is the subject of numerous conversations, debates, meetings and conferences. At least, in the case of Black writers, the most articulate body in the arts, a conscious character and direction is being developed for a new and powerful Afro-American renaissance. It is the content of that imminent renaissance and how some of us in this room may help influence it that I will talk about today.

Just to refresh our memories, there have been two great periods in the development of the Black artist in the U.S. One was during the Negro literary Renaissance period of the 1920's when white patrons helped bring forth giants like Countee Cullen, Claude McKay, Jean Toomer, Alain Locke, Langston Hughes, Arna Bontemps, to name a few.

This Renaissance was centered in Harlem and concentrated on the thrust of the "New Negro," on historical themes, on an interest in Africa, on some symbolism and racial pride. Black But Beautiful was a main theme. In their poetry and novels the writers of this period broke with the polite mannerisms of past pioneers like Charles Chestnutt and expressed themselves in earthy and realistic terms.

The second surge forward came, after a short fallow period, during the days of the depression when the government acted as an art patron through the WPA. It was from this period, leading into the forties, that writers like Richard Wright, and again Langston Hughes, Willard Motley, Chester Himes, Roi Ottley, the young Lofton Mitchell, Alice Childress and others came forth. Though it centered in New York and Chicago this development was on a national scale. And the content of many of the works then changed from an emphasis on Africa or "Black But Beautiful" to a new interest in the history of the Negro people and a portrayal of their social and economic problems.

During the witchhunts of the Communists in the fifties, every level of society was affected and the arts-for-arts sake fad which pushed forward during that time, with few exceptions, affected black writers and artists. Ralph Ellison and his thinly veiled anti-communist novel, "The Invisible Man" was the Negro literary lion of the hour and many formerly outspoken black writers and artists kept silent or busied themselves with teaching or compiling anthologies.

The Negro Liberation struggle in the South soon burst forth upon the consciousness of the nation. It swept up many of the writers and artists who first spoke out during the beginning of the fifties like John O. Killens, Lofton Mitchell, William Branch, John A. Williams, Ossie Davis, and others who came later like Lerone Bennet Jr., William Denby, Lorraine Hansberry and James Baldwin. A whole new school of young writers emerged during this time of struggle in the North and South - a time which ushered in simultaneously, the freedom demands of the peoples of Africa, Asia, and Latin America. In literature artists like Douglass Turner Ward emerged. Willia, Melvin Kelly, Le Roi Jones, Ron Milner, Rosa Guy, Calvin Hernton, Lennox Raphael, Tom Dent and John O'Neal of the Free Southern Theater, only to name a few.

And the main characteristic of the thinking of all of these writers, like the mainstream of Afro-American art today, is that its main impulse is anti-war and coincides with the world revolutionary impulse. To paraphrase John O. Killens, there is the general recognition among them that the Afro-American revolt is part and parcel of the world-wide freedom struggle. Both Killens and this speaker have reached this same conclusion based upon the findings and conclusions from National Conferences of Afro-American writers and artists held in the past three years in New York, Chicago, Atlanta, Cleveland, at California and at Fiske University. The majority of writers who attend these conferences or who can be reached at local gatherings are concerned with depicting life as non-whites know it, none other than a continuous battle against exploitation, misery, hunger and color prejudice. They are conscious of race, that "It's Beautiful to be Black," and are seeking a new esthetic by delving into their past. They embrace their African roots in an attempt to understand the present and build for the future. They are fired with creating a full-fledged black hero who can break thru the white myths and chauvinisms that hides the black man from himself. Like the folktale tellers of the past, they aim to create a John Henry type hero who will tackle U.S. automation like John Henry did in the day of the steam drill. They are concerned with the forces that make the Afro-American different culturally and otherwise - but yet still an American. Their perspective of society is critical. They are turned off by the vast senseless social order which degrades blacks and dehumanizes whites. They see the present American society as producing the conditions which distort and destroy human relationships. They deplore anti-communism. They are concerned with changing the concepts of language and ask why are there 60 negative connotations to the word "black" in Rogets Thesaurus and about four for "white."

Here is an example of the thinking of a group of Afro-American artists from Chicago who formed themselves in the Chicago Organization for Black American Culture. Dozens of similarly oriented organizations have mushroomed throughout the nation.

"Our aim," they said "is to invest our works with the essence of our unique experience, calling upon our past history, from the shores of Africa to the West Indies, and in this hostile land. We are dedicated to arousing the energies of black people to an appreciation of themselves and their human possibilities. We will work toward the ultimate goal of bringing the black community indigenous art forms which reflect and clarify the black experience in America. To reflect the richness, depth and variety of Black History, its achievements and its possibilities for creativity we must find a new esthetic that which corresponds to our lives. It must have elements based on the man in the gutter and it must speak to him."

But there is a need, Langston Hughes once said, to do this in a balanced way, "to discover the human condition," said Saunders Redding, "without the preoccupation of repossessing a heritage that can distort reality. Nor make heroes out of heels." John Clarke of Freedomways says, "We must draw upon the universal values in the Negroes' experience just as Sean O'Casey and Sholem Aleichem drew upon the universal values in the experiences of the Irish and Jews. The next stage of Negro writing must not be a celebration of oppression but a celebration of survival in spite of it."

"Africa I have kept your memory Africa
You are inside me
Like the splinter in the wound
Like a guardian fetish in the center of the village

"Make me the stone in your sling
Make my mouth the lips of your wound
Make my knees the broken pillars of your abasement

And yet
I want to be of your race alone workers peasants of all lands uncountable nation in capitalist slavery destiny ranges us shoulder to shoulder repudiating the ancient maledictions of blood taboos

As the contradiction among features
Creates the harmony of the face
We proclaim the oneness of the suffering and the revolt of all peoples on all the face of the earth
And we mix the mortar of the age of brotherhood
Out of the dust of idols."

This was said by Jacques Roumain, a French-speaking black. And the words of Richard Wright are still true for today when he says: "This dramatic Marxist vision when consciously grasped endows the writer with a sense of dignity which no other vision can give. Ultimately, it restores to the writer his lost heritage, that is, his role as a creator of the world in which he lives, and as a creator of himself." I'm indicating that the new trend, among Afro-American artists, to look black arms hurts neither a black or a white. Joseph Papp has been a pioneer in welcoming Afro-Americans in his New York Shakespeare Festival, casting them in all sorts of roles. But Broadway hasn't followed suit.

Seeking to get around these difficulties, Harry Belafonte is expanding his production company. He plans to produce plays on and off Broadway, based on Afro-American life. He is also setting up a foundation to give grants to Afro-American writers. Sidney Poitier is also planning to start a company. Bill Cosby of "I Spy" has started a motion picture production company. Tom Dent's Free Southern Theater has performed throughout the South. But the most interesting development for Afro-American actors and playwrights was the Ford Foundation grant, rumored at 1.8 million dollars that was awarded Dough Turner's and Bobby Hook's Negro Ensemble Theater. The theater will train and provide a home for Afro-American theatrical talents on all levels. Another development was Roger Furman's Harlem-based New Heritage Theater and Ron Milner, last week opened a play in Harlem's New Lafayette Theater. While the Greenwich Theater, which has always been hospitable to black playwrights will present two plays by the Nigerian dramatist Wole Soyinka. Needless to say, again, the problem facing many Afro-American playwrights is the problem of content, how best to reflect the spirit of these times, whether to concentrate on Negro themes, or venture like Lorraine Hansberry, in "The Sign in Sidney Brustein's Window," to help illuminate the human condition. Some of the more advanced thinking playwrights believe that both should be done.

A main point cropping up at discussions of black artists is whether or not to accept government funding of projected theater ensembles, writers' groups or jazz workshops. Alice Childress and others say, definitely, yes. William Melvin Kelly warns that a man will then not be able to tell it like it is. Nevertheless, there is a growing trend to accept such funds and determination to keep the relationship between government and artist similar to that between the British government and British writers. There is virtually no censorship of government-funded creative works by Britons. American artists will have to fight for a similar relationship.

In the dance world Afro-Americans are making a fantastic mark. True, just a few, like Arthur Mitchell are dancing in major classical ballet. But others like Alvin Ailey, Donald McQuale, Carmen De Lavallade and more have created a completely new dance, based on African, jazz and modern themes. Some good things are happening in opera. In the cinema, Afro-Americans are receiving better roles and receiving Oscars, although the screen is dominated by Sidney Poitier. And no black woman has yet to overcome Hollywood's siren roles.

Perhaps the Afro-American's most vital and oppressed art form today is jazz. In many international circles jazz is known as North America's only original contribution to world culture. Yet, New York City, the reputed cultural capital of the West, is glutted with unemployed black jazz musicians. Part of the reason is that in these searing sixties, the general mood has caused a revolution in the concept of jazz playing. Many of the younger jazzmen are political in their thinking and assert that their new sound is an expression which approximates the experience of blacks in the city ghettos. Their music is marked by an emphasis on improvisations, contrasts of rhythms and sound rather than on melodic invention. And it reflects, they say, the full emotional range of blacks fighting for their freedom today. It also reflects an interest in the rhythms of Africa - the roots from which this music springs. A few of these musicians are conservatory-trained, like Cecil Taylor, Archie Shepp and Charlie Mingus. Their music reflects not only the souls of black folk but the influence of internationalist classicists like Sergei Prokofiev, Bela Bartok and Igor Stravinsky. Several musicians have banded into guilds, like the now defunct Jazz Composers' Guild, which attempted to break through the walls built by the critics, the nighclub and recording establishments, to keep this new sound out.

Black photographers face a similar situation. Mostly social conscious, they find scant markets for their works and have formed several photography guilds to force breakthroughs. Or they work in the anti-poverty program. Black painters and graphic artists are faring better these days due to the power of the guilds they have formed.

The overall character of the trend in art by Afro-Americans today is social conscious and conscious of blackness. As I have mentioned the debates indicate that concurrent with this new awareness, there is a tendency toward an exclusiveness or nationalism, if you will. But it is a tendency in flux that could in swift time be directed back of the nationwide fight for freedom and peace. One of the ways to get this ball rolling, in my opinion, is to convince leading black artists like Ossie Davis, John O. Killens, Ruby Dee, etc. to call for a National Conference of Afro-American Artists. This conference could concern itself with the financial and social problems black artists face in the nation. It could attempt to indicate an approach in the black arts to the social and economic problems that Afro-American as well as whites in the nation face in general. It could call for greater ties with African artists, exchange of shows, writings, etc. It could call for a WPA type program to bring the arts into ghetto communities. It could call for cultural centers and complexes in the Harlems of the nation, which would serve as a training ground for Afro-Americans, to emerge in the mainstream of American culture. It could serve as an employment, dramatic and teaching center for unemployed Afro-American artists. It should become the first step in a call for a massive beautification building project in the nation's ghettos. Literary collections, like the Schomburg in Harlem, which is in danger of being shut down, should be absorbed by such a project and its library expanded to contain a complete music library of Negro and African music.

I am sorry that the cultural panel did not meet yesterday since there are other areas in American culture that blacks as well as whites feel needs to be improved. Panel discussion would have amplified my report.

Though there has been some improvement in the classical symphonic field and there are blacks in some of the major orchestras of the nation, it is still token. And it's not just because blacks can't get into the conservatories easily. The amount of black conductors can be counted on one hand. Dean Dixon, a veteran in the same rank as George Szell, Leonard Bernstein and Eric Leinsdorf, is still an expatriate, who leads the major orchestras of Europe. Happily, there is one young Negro conductor from California. He is actually employed as an Assistant. But from time to time, if you can afford the ticket, you may see him leading an actual orchestra.

A similar situation exists in the case of performers. One would think that Andre Watts is the only leading black instrumentalist in the nation. But this is not at all so. I know personally that discrimination forces many black musicians out of this field. One such is the pianist Cecil Taylor who returned to the bosom of jazz and has produced such original works that he has been called a genius and can only find work in Europe.

A deplorable situation exists in advertising and also TV, despite the presence of Bill Cosby, Bobby Hooks and the three black newscasters who appear on the screen. In the height of the civil rights agitation more black faces could be seen peering from beneath the pages of the N.Y. Times' Advertising sections. But pick up that paper now and learn the truth.

I do think that a National Conference of Afro-American Artists can begin to set the wheels in motion that will start some of the changes that many black artists agree is necessary NOW.

The Afro-American in the Arts Today

By Douglass Archer

The characteristic perception of the Afro-American in the arts today is his realization that he is on the eve of a great fertile and revolutionary period. This awareness permeates every section of the arts where Blacks are creating. It is the subject of numerous conversations, debates, meetings and conferences. At least, in the case of Black writers, the most articulate body in the arts, a conscious character and direction is being developed for a new and powerful Afro-American renaissance. It is the content of that imminent renaissance and how some of us in this room may help influence it that I will talk about today.

Just to refresh our memories, there have been two great periods in the development of the Black artist in the U.S. One was during the Negro literary Renaissance period of the 1920's when white patrons helped bring forth giants like Countee Cullen, Claude McKay, Jean Toomer, Alain Locke, Langston Hughes, Arna Bontemps, to name a few.

This Renaissance was centered in Harlem and concentrated on the thrust of the "New Negro," on historical themes, on an interest in Africa, on some symbolism and racial pride. Black But Beautiful was a main theme. In their poetry and novels the writers of this period broke with the polite mannerisms of past pioneers like Charles Chestnutt and expressed themselves in earthy and realistic terms.

The second surge forward came, after a short fallow period, during the days of the depression when the government acted as an art patron through the WPA. It was from this period, leading into the forties, that writers like Richard Wright, and again Langston Hughes, Willard Motley, Chester Himes, Roi Ottley, the young Lofton Mitchell, Alice Childress and others came forth. Though it centered in New York and Chicago this development was on a national scale. And the content of many of the works then changed from an emphasis on Africa or "Black But Beautiful" to a new interest in the history of the Negro people and a portrayal of their social and economic problems.

During the wtichhunts of the Communists in the fifties, every level of society was affected and the arts-for-arts sake fad which pushed forward during that time, with few exceptions, affected black writers and artists. Ralph Ellison and his thinly veiled anti-communist novel, "The Invisible Man" was the Negro literary lion of the hour and many formerly outspoken black writers and artists kept silent or busied themselves with teaching or compiling anthologies.

The Negro Liberation struggle in the South soon burst forth upon the consciousness of the nation. It swept up many of the writers and artists who first spoke out during the beginning of the fifties like John O. Killens, Lofton Mitchell, William Branch, John A. Williams, Ossie Davis, and others who came later like Lerone Bennet Jr., William Denby, Lorraine Hansberry and James Baldwin. A whole new school of young writers emerged during this time of struggle in the North and South - a time which ushered in simultaneously, the freedom demands of the peoples of Africa, Asia, and Latin America. In literature artists like Douglass Turner Ward emerged. Willia, Melvin Kelly, Le Roi Jones, Ron Milner, Rosa Guy, Calvin Hernton, Lennox Raphael, Tom Dent and John O'Neal of the Free Southern Theater, only to name a few.

And the main characteristic of the thinking of all of these writers, like the mainstream of Afro-American art today, is that its main impulse is anti-war and coincides with the world revolutionary impulse. To paraphrase John O. Killens, there is the general recognition among them that the Afro-American revolt is part and parcel of the world-wide freedom struggle. Both Killens and this speaker have reached this same conclusion based upon the findings and conclusions from National Conferences of Afro-American writers and artists held in the past three years in New York, Chicago, Atlanta, Cleveland, at California and at Fiske University. The majority of writers who attend these conferences or who can be reached at local gatherings are concerned with depicting life as non-whites know it, none other than a continuous battle against exploitation, misery, hunger and color prejudice. They are conscious of race, that "It's Beautiful to be Black," and are seeking a new esthetic by delving into their past. They embrace their African roots in an attempt to understand the present and build for the future. CONFERENCE ON STRATEGY & TACTICS IN THE NEW STAGE OF STRUGGLE FOR NEGRO LIBERATION
(October 14-15, 1967)

Report of Panel on Work in the White Community (Approved by the Conference)

Summary of Proposals:

Introduction:

We are living in a period of great opportunities, but one fraught with great dangers. On the one hand, large sections of every major white community today are puzzled and concerned about what is happening now in America and what the future will bring. This concern arises not from a sudden ideological elevation of class conscious understanding, but rather for the most part has developed out of a new awareness of self-interest. Indicative of this development is the significant support for Negro candidates in some white communities.

On the other hand, however, the current period is pregnant with serious dangers of racial conflict and further disintegration of relations between white and black workers. The forces of reaction and racism have accelerated their campaign to promote fear and hysteria in already tense and confused white communities.

Broad areas of common concern exist between Negroes and whites. Any serious progress in any of these areas depends upon mutual struggle and unified actions. For instance, the trade union movement must be made to see that in many cases its very existence and its entire future depends upon a forthright and unambiguous fight in behalf of the Negro people; urban dwellers must be made aware that the future of our cities, arresting and reversing the decay of our urban centers, depends upon a reordering of national priorities, and that the interests of whites are one with Negroes in this struggle.

For our Party the present period offers a most serious challenge, one which can and must be met. To fulfill our responsibilities, however, we will have to make significant changes, and in this respect the role of white Communists in their communities becomes central.

I. To fulfill our role in leading this struggle the Party must undertake an intense and thorough ideological campaign in our own ranks.

We must seek to equip our members to act as initiators of struggle in every aspect of their lives--on the job, in their unions, in their neighborhoods, and social organizations. We must struggle to overcome all weaknesses which exist in our ranks on the question of white chauvinism and subtler forms of paternalism. Our goal must be to re-establish the basis for courageous action on the part of every member, not just in word, but in deed. We must become the initiators of mass struggles wherever we are.

2. An indispensable part of our work must be full and effective use of all available literature. But in addition to existing and regular publication of pamphlets and other materials, the Party should produce a new popular mass pamphlet or brochure dealing with the major issues facing the white community. This educational piece should be written in popular language for free mass distribution by every Party club, and should deal substantively with commonly held misconceptions and backward attitudes found among many white people. It should put forward avenues for building truly honest Negro-white unity on the basis of the self-interest of white working people.

3. On the national level a form must be utilized for coordination of national programs and through which black and white people can function together on the basis of true equality and mutual respect. Organizations such as ADA, CORE, etc. which at one time reflected a lower stage of development, no longer fully and adequately fulfill this role. There are today thousands of white people who at one time actively contributed to progressive activity, and who today are without such a form for their participation. NCNP and other organizations should be considered as potential avenues for such participation.

A national defense organization such as the Civil Rights Congress of an earlier period, appears to be lacking today. We ought to give serious attention to building such an organization based on contemporary relations.

4. A crucial element of our work must be to open a second front in the anti-war movement. We must show predominantly white peace groups that the only basis of healthy black-white unity must be grounded in their making the struggle for Black Liberation as much a part of peace work as the issues of peace are today for the Black Liberation movement. This requires that we show arenas of common concern, like the issue of police brutality, and rally the anti-war movement to activity in defense of Negro rights.

5. The MFDP challenge to the Democratic Convention should be made a central national issue of struggle. Support for the challenge should be built in every community, both within and outside the Democratic party structure. Resolutions of support should be developed at each state Democratic convention. In addition, this activity should be utilized as a part of our campaign to urge Negro candidates to run wherever possible for Congressional and other positions.

6. A central arena for building black-white unity must be in our trade union work. The Party must take steps now in every district to select a plant, shop, or industry in which we take the lead in organizing the unorganized. There is no area of the country in which unorganized shops do not exist where Negroes, whites and other minority group peoples work side by side under the worst conditions.

Such a campaign on our part will also serve to revitalize the trade union movement while placing the question of a massive organizing drive in the South before every union for immediate action.

7. We must single out the building trades as a special area for a battle to open union ranks to all minority groups, breaking the tokenist policies of most unions in the crafts. Compensatory job-training and apprenticeship programs should be included as essential to any meaningful steps to be taken by such unions. We refer these proposals to the Trade Union Commission for detailed development and suggest that one union, such as the Plumbers, be selected for initial concentration.

8. The Party should place itself in the forefront of the battle to defend Rap Brown, the Fort Hood Three, Ron Lockman, the RAM group, and others who have been subject to frame-up prosecutions. We call for an immediate campaign in our press and the setting of control tasks for every club with a plan of check-up. This campaign must not be limited to fund-raising within the Party itself, but rather should be taken by the Party into every mass organization and the general community for attention.

9. An integral part of our Party activity on these issues must be the proper use and role of our press. The Worker and progressive nationality papers must make these issues much more fully a fundamental part of their coverage; they should serve as organs of education and agitation, and must be used by our Party as indispensable tools in our mass work. From a partisan working-class standpoint we must not fear to be publicly critical of liberals, trade unions and others when necessary in combatting racism and subtler forms of chauvinism, including in the progressive movements.

10. Special attention should be given to our work among nationality groups, and notably in our work among youth in this field. Our effort in Jewish community work must be reshaped for a major campaign against racism at all levels. All too often our Party has narrowly seen this work as properly only for our older comrades. Such an emphasis is one-sided and narrow; our youth must be mobilized to enter this field as well.

11. In white community work a campaign should be initiated around the theme of "to save our cities." This campaign offers a common ground for self-interest organization which can serve as a broad base for developing Negro-white unity. The question of re-ordering national priorities to deal with urban development, taxes, housing, community control, education, and transportation is central to this battle.

To make such a program meaningful, the Party must take this campaign into every neighborhood, mass organization, church and social group, etc. We must expose and combat the attempt of the ultra-Right to make demagogic use of these issues.

12. An integral part of the campaign for Negro-white unity and central to the struggle against racism in white communities is a fight to guarantee the defeat of Wallace in the '68 elections. We must take every step necessary to guarantee that Wallace and his supporters are isolated in every community and expose the racist, anti-union, anti-Communist nature of his appeal.

13. Students and the academic and intellectual community must play no small role in this struggle. A major battlefield against racism are the campuses and elementary and secondary schools of our country. A fight must be initiated in every school system and on every campus to guarantee open admissions policies, compensatory schooling, special scholarships, integrated teaching staffs, curriculum dealing with Negro and Labor history, and the elevation of minority group educators to positions of policy-making and authority at every level.

14. Our policy of industrial concentration has special significance for the struggle in the white community. If a breakthrough can be made in auto, steel, transportation, etc. among white workers on the special needs of Negro workers on the job and in their fullest voice in union policy-making, then these workers and unions can become a powerful lever to move the whole trade union movement and white working masses generally. Since these industries now have such a large proportion of black workers, such a breakthrough is both more necessary and possible.

In this respect we must make a special study with respect to the "industrial suburb," as a means by which Negroes are deprived of opportunities to enter the fields in which meaningful jobs are available.

Conclusion:

This report outlines only our initial tasks. It should serve as a basis in every district for immediate attention to the responsibility of our Party to make the fight against racism a fundamental and central part of our work in every field.

It is the feeling of this workshop that the Party should consider special conferences to further develop our work in this field.

CONFERENCE ON STRATEGY & TACTICS IN THE NEW STAGE OF STRUGGLE FOR NEGRO LIBERATION

Report from Panel on Techniques and Methods of Struggle
(October 15, 1967)

It was suggested that we discuss several specific questions under this general heading:

1. What is our attitude to the question of organized armed uprisings in the ghetto?

2. How do we view the problem of struggles for partial gains and their relation to reforms and revolution?

3. What are the variety of forms of struggle which can or should be used interchangeably and how do we go about changing the direction the struggle should take -- for example, the struggles against the monopolies and big business?

On the question of the use of violence in the ghetto, we as Marxists have always affirmed that oppressed people have the right to forcibly overthrow an oppressive regime when the channels for democratic change are closed to them. This right is also affirmed in the Declaration of Independence. Therefore there can be no question of the right of the black people in the U.S. to use violence to achieve change. Our estimation of when violent means are called for is determined by time, place and circumstances and our position at any given moment strives to reflect the concrete situation and conditions which prevail at that moment.

We believe that in addition to the domestic problems and the international influences which are now being exerted upon the black movement in this country, which have given rise to the new emphasis that is now being placed upon armed struggle, this development is also related to other factors.

One is the growing lack of confidence by the black people in this country in their ability to achieve meaningful change through the democratic process. There is a growing lack of confidence in the white working class to overcome racism and join with black people in the struggle for meaningful alternatives. There is a lack of an alternative program to violence being put forward by other sections of the left which is radical enough to solve the problems of the ghettos. Among the leadership of the black movement, there is a lack of sufficient class consciousness and revolutionary tactics geared to U.S. conditions.

Now we believe that the only purpose for serious armed insurrection is the seizure of political power. And if it is not for this purpose, with a good possibility of victory, then armed insurrection should not be initiated. We believe that conspiratorial, terroristic actions which are not based upon a program aimed at improving the conditions of life for the masses and which do not receive the support of the masses, are reckless, adventurous, provocative and politically irresponsible toward the people. They invite reprisals upon the black community and therefore should be rejected.

We believe that terrorism within the black community which is directed against so-called Uncle Toms or others who refuse to go along with the program, so to speak, in addition to the above, is divisive and out of place given the political conditions which prevail today and likewise should be rejected.

We believe that the question is to organize in the community, to conduct political struggle around an ideology which will isolate people who are not acting in the interests of the community.

Although we do not advocate a policy of looting and arson, we believe that the uprisings themselves did do some good in terms of dramatizing the seriousness of the problems of the ghettos, that they did get the message over to many white Americans that they too can be affected by the especially oppressive conditions which are being heaped upon black Americans and that the uprisings did provoke some responses in governmental circles (Stokes in Cleveland and others). We agree with those who say that the strength of the uprisings, looting and burning lies in their spontaneity and that once uprisings are put on an organized basis with an identified leadership, they become something else entirely and will be understood and approached as such and will be dealt with by the ruling class and the black structure as such.

We recognize that sometimes some things are done without a greal deal of planning or talking about beforehand. For instance, trade unionists generally don't advocate sabotage or dumping of scabs, but under certain conditions of strike struggles workers react to what they believe to be in their best interests on the spot and at the moment.

Likewise, unless conditions are improved in the ghettos black people will undoubtedly continue to react to existing conditions and to instances of police harassment and brutality. If we have reason to believe that the black community is faced with the possibility of an onslaught, it is our responsibility to do anything that we can to prevent it, including going outside of that community to the white community and to the trade union movement and trying to get them to exercise the weight of their influence upon the power structure and those who will bring such a force to bear upon the black community to see to it that it does not take place.

We should do everything we can to prevent such an onslaught and preserve life within the black community.

Finally, in regard to violence, the difficult area and the legitimate one in our opinion is the area of self-defense which we support, including armed self-defense if necessary. We believe that under all circumstances the black people not only have the right but the responsibility to defend their persons, their homes and their community. And in line with this position we support the demand that black people police their own community.

The questions which must be posed always in regard to violence are:

What is the purpose of the violence? Are all the channels closed for achieving such goals through democratic or peaceful means? Against whom and what is the violence being directed? Will violence achieve the desired results? Do the masses of the people support the use of armed force as a means for redressing their grievances

As we see it today, the overwhelming majority of the American people, including the black people, are not yet convinced that the system must be changed, much less by armed force. We therefore reject today the organizing of armed uprisings in the black community.

On the second question: The relationship between partial gains, that is reforms, and revolution. We see the relationship between reform and revolution being related to organization and consciousness. We feel that reforms are important and necessary steps in the struggle for revolutionary change but in themselves are not decisive. We also recognize that quite often reforms are granted by the power structure in order to stop the movement, to blunt its direction and to dissipate the forces fighting for change. Therefore the struggle must not cease with the winning of partial gains or reforms but must continue on another and higher level, if the victory is not to be dissipated and diluted. We should attempt to draw lessons from each struggle and to follow up on each victory with demands and program which go even further towards improving the conditions of our people and to make it clear at all times that it is the popular mass struggle on the part of the people for reforms which accounts for whatever gains are won.

We therefore feel the need to establish and be guided by certain principles.

1. We should not project program only on the basis of what is felt to be what the power structure will grant at any given moment. Demands must flow out of what the community needs and this gets us into the area of radical demands today. Thus the black community is in an economic crisis and only radical demands can begin to meet its needs. We must fight for the principle that government is responsible to provide work at union wages for all who seek it and cannot find it in private industry. While we support programs for vocational training with adequate compensation during the period of training, we must reject the concept that unless human beings are tailored to technological needs they must be dumped on the scrap heap. On the contrary, we must insist that work opportunities be tailored to meet human needs, that jobs be provided to employ the skills and capacity, limited as they might be, of those seeking work. The ghetto's need for homes, schools, hospitals and other public facilities is so enormous that any appreciable effort to meet them can create the conditions for fulfilling this demand.

Finally, on this point, we should place our emphasis on reforms that will weaken monopoly capital and effectively strengthen and expand the democratic power of our people. Public ownership of utilities, insurance, people's banks, federal farm funds and long-term low-interest loans for people's producers and consumers coops. Nationalization with guarantee of public control, with surplusses going to the people. Community control over community institutions with guarantees of community administration of federal and state funding programs.

We say that reforms are needed and necessary, first of all for the actual preservation of life itself. In many communities conditions are so urgent in the ghetto, especially in the South that the winning of a welfare case, a food grant, medical aid, can mean the difference between life and slow death. Secondly, we must fight for immediate gains and reforms because mass organization initially takes place around local issues which are viable, pressing for programs which offer realizable demands and the possibility of immediate victory. Third, the struggles around partial gains and immediate demands not only organize the people but also educate them in many ways. Victories build confidence in their ability to win and exposes those who are standing in their way.

To relate partial demands with more radical long-term demands, it is always advisable to project a program in a given area composed of several points - a multi-point program - all of which lead in the direction of a more complete solution to the problem, going from the most urgent to the most radical. In this way the people will not lose sight of the long-term goals being fought for.

Finally, when we speak of revolutionary change in the system, we repeat the point made in the Party Draft Program:

> "People are less disposed to attempt new forms of government until they are persuaded through experience that the old forms cannot right its evils. Such a realization can only come about by putting the old forms to the test, that is, by fighting for the maximum attainable within the present system. When the masses become convinced that the system is not what it is cracked up to be; that they cannot in fact exert their democratic will, then they will see the need to change the system and create one that can meet their needs."

On the third question: How do we go about changing the direction the struggle should take?

First of all, it is absolutely necessary that we be on the scene and a part of the struggle itself but that we also be there with a program. Experience has shown that it is not enough to constantly pour cold water on others' programs without offering a more viable alternative. To develop program for the black community today means that we have to develop in many cases a dual program--one which is aimed at building black control of its own community, over the institutions which operate there, and one which relates to more radical demands which must be fought for and instituted by both black and white Americans. The character of such a program must be radical.

Our main contribution in the black community today, after having injected program into the struggle, is to project a class analysis of the society in which we live and to expose the main enemy of the people, to develop a class consciousness among black working people, to develop a struggle aimed at making the democratic machinery function more effectively for the people and to fight for political representation which will be responsive to the people.

We believe that the division of black-white responsibility has to be developed and perfected, that black people will gain confidence in white people's willingness to join the struggle and overcome their racism only on the basis of actual participation in the struggle. That in order to strengthen the influence of Marxist ideas in the movement, it is necessary to develop Left forms for education and action within the black community.

New times, new issues, new methods of struggle sometimes require new forms and we should not be afraid to experiment with new forms simply because they are not traditional or have not been tested in practice. In the development of forms the intent is to bring ideological and organizational influence of our Party to bear upon the mass movement, to more effecrively participate in struggles that are already in motion, to project issues and initiate struggle not presently being conducted and to recruit more advanced, active militants into our Party.

The forms that we are proposing are both mass forms and Left forms.

1. We see the need to call together existing organizations in the black community in some form of council or congress so that they can exercise a greater collective influence upon the community as a whole by agreeing upon joint struggle around those issues on which they can agree. Example - Los Angeles. We think that the boycott - consumer, school and other forms of boycott - should be used and expanded. We should advocate work stoppages around basic issues of protest (Detroit Plan).

There is the idea of commemorating holidays of black heroes and adding more to the list: Du Bois, Davis, etc. There is the idea of black caucuses to be formed when the need arises, some on a continuing basis, others temporarily; unions, communities, conventions and conferences of mass organizations, etc.

A discussion bulletin to discuss ideological differences within the black people's movement to be put out by the Negro Commission (third world concept, etc.)

Promote the form of cultural centers and bookstores in the ghetto.

Provide Marxist training schools for the specific training of our black cadre in the Party.

Develop more full-time black organizers for the Party at all levels, including women.

Assign regional cordinators full time to help strengthen the work of the Party in the black and minority community at regional levels.

Plan regional seminars of black comrades working in the community, schools and factories.

Train them in how to write, public speaking, public debating and organizing.

A special budget be set aside for work in the black community.

Support and help to build local and regional conferences of black youth to culminate in a National Youth Congress (referred to Youth Commission).

Explore possibility of supporting summer camp movement - family, young adult and teenagers.

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that on November 9, 1967, a meeting of Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) staff workers was held at Atlanta, Georgia, and among those attending were:

Golden Frinks, West Virginia

Jesse Gray, New York City, New York

Ralph Henry, Chicago, Illinois

Hosea Williams, Atlanta, Georgia

Bob Strom, with the West Side Organization (WSO), Chicago, Illinois, a militant civil rights organization located on Chicago's west side.

Dr. Robert Greene, Professor at Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan.

Samantha Clark, believed to be from Virginia.

A discussion occurred concerning the National Conference for New Politics (NCNP) and the role of the "Black Caucus" group as a part of the NCNP. The pros and cons of continuing participation in these groups were discussed. The attempt by the Communist Party in Chicago to take over control of the "Black Caucus" group was discussed in depth. It was decided to resist this take over with whatever means is necessary since the activity of the Communist Party in connection with the NCNP convention in Chicago during August and September, 1967, was openly reported in the newspapers. It was agreed that difficulty could be expected in raising funds in the future if SCLC were associated with the Communist Party through mutual participation in the NCNP. It was finally decided to continue to take part in these groups, at least until after the Democratic National Convention scheduled to be held in Chicago during August, 1968.

Later the same day a group from Chicago conferred with Hosea Williams. They advised Williams of the acute shortage of funds in WSO, Chicago, and requested that the Atlanta SCLC assist in this matter. Williams replied that no additional funds were available at this time. He pointed out that the "benefit programs" featuring such nationally known entertainers as Harry Belefonte and Arethra Franklin held during October, 1967, in Chicago, Illinois, Cleveland, Ohio, and the states of California and Texas, were a financial flop and resulted in additional expenses rather than additional funds. Williams promised to furnish the Chicago group with a list of names of prospective financial contributors; however, he did not make this list immediately available.

Hosea Williams announced that only those SCLC members active in the Adult Education Program would proceed from Atlanta, Georgia, to Frogmore, South Carolina, for the conference to be held there the following week. Others present in Atlanta were instructed to return to their respective cities on November 10, 1967. Among those who proceeded to Frogmore were Dr. Robert Greene and Samantha Clark. A total of about 60 persons were to attend the meeting in Frogmore. Williams advised that another meeting at Frogmore was being scheduled for the period from November 27, 1967, through December 1, 1967. All SCLC staff members from all over the country are to be there and it is expected that several staff members will be terminated due to the lack of funds.

Concerning Jesse Gray, a second confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on November 20, 1958, that Jesse Gray had been the organizer for the Harlem Region of the Communist Party (CP), but this position had been terminated in November, 1958.

The following was furnished by sources who have furnished reliable information in the past.

The New York District of the Communist Party, USA, has set up a task force to meet in early December, 1967, to work out a plan to bring about a racially integrated work force in the building trades which will construct a New York State office building in the vicinity of 125th Street and Lenox Avenue, New York City. Claude Lightfoot, Chairman of the Communist Party, USA, National Negro Commission, is expected to lead this task force.

Lightfoot has stated he expects to have demonstrations conducted in the vicinity of the construction site. Sources who are members of the task force have advised that there are no plans for demonstrations and believe that the only activity the Communist Party, USA, will engage in on its own will be to pass out literature at the construction site.

As soon as additional information is available, you will be advised.

A confidential source advised in April, 1964, that STANLEY LEVISON was a secret member of the Communist Party (CP), USA, in July, 1963. In late 1963, and early 1964, he criticized the CP for not being sufficiently militant in the civil rights struggle. LEVISON was described by certain CP leaders as being to the "left" of the CP in his position in civil rights. LEVISON's differences with the CP, however, are merely tactical and he continues his ideological adherence to Communism. (U)

December 19, 1967

RE: COMMUNIST PARTY, USA,
NATIONAL ORGANIZATION COMMITTEE MEETING,
23 WEST 26TH STREET, NEW YORK,
NEW YORK, DECEMBER 17, 1967.

A confidential source on December 18, 1967, advised that on December 17, 1967, the Communist Party (CP), USA, held a National Organization Committee Meeting at 23 West 26th Street, New York, New York. The above address is the headquarters for the CP, USA.

The morning session of the committee meeting got underway about 10:30 A.M. with the following CP members present:

DANNY RUBIN, Chairman, National Organizational Committee.

HELEN WINTER, RUBIN's assistant.

SIDNEY TAYLOR, CP District Leader from New England.

MIKE STEIN

SANDY PATRINOS, CP District Leader from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

JACOB GREEN, CP District Leader from Maryland.

RUBIN advised those present that the main meeting of the National Organization Committee would be held after lunch and that the morning session would consist of a "get together" for east-coast district leaders to bring them up to date on matters of interest to the Party.

RUBIN then advised that the CP, USA, had prepared a 32-page pamphlet entitled, "The Arlington Case," which concerned ROBERT THOMPSON, deceased CP, USA National Leader, who had won the Distinguished Service Cross during World War II as a soldier in the United States Army. RUBIN reminded the others that THOMPSON had been refused burial in the Arlington National Cemetery. RUBIN stated that the CP, USA was interested in distributing this pamphlet as widely as possible either through sale or distribution.

100-442529-

RUBIN then reminded those present that the CP, USA was extremely interested in backing a peace candidate for the presidency during the 1968 elections. A discussion then followed during which it was brought out that there seemed to be no strong peace candidate for the presidency as yet in sight and that no particular efforts had been made by any of the CP Districts to form a strong peace organization.

RUBIN then stated that the most important matter for discussion during the morning concerned the publication by the CP, USA of a daily newspaper.

The representatives of the various CP districts present then discussed the publication of a daily newspaper. They all felt it was going to be extremely hard to get out such a publication and indicated that at the present time, they were not having a great deal of success distributing The Worker.

The Worker is an east-coast Communist newspaper.

HELEN WINTER then said that she had been in Detroit, Michigan recently in connection with selling The Worker, and the Party in Michigan had met and talked about the publication of a daily Marxist newspaper. HELEN WINTER said that she had advised them that the CP, USA was going to put out such a publication in the spring. HELEN WINTER said that the CP members in Michigan felt that the CP, USA, would have to hire someone to sell a daily Marxist publication and that this individual would have to go to colleges, libraries, and book shops in order to sell such a publication.

A discussion then followed during which each of the district leaders present indicated that the various districts would not be very successful in selling a daily Marxist newspaper.

RUBIN then advised them that a daily Marxist publication was being brought out by the CP, USA in the spring and that on January 6, 1968, there would be a CP conference in New York to plan the publication of such a paper.

MIKE STEIN then stated that the national leadership of the CP, USA should set out directives concerning the new publication in The Worker so that the various CP districts could read them and have some idea as to what they would have to do in connection with the getting out of such a publication.

After further discussion, RUBIN admitted that he did not have all the answers and despite the feeling of the various districts that a daily publication would not be successful, could only state that it would be published in the spring. RUBIN said that after the January 6, 1968, CP conference on the new publication, it would be the subject of discussion at a National Committee Meeting to be held in the latter part of January, 1968.

The morning session ended at about 12:15 P.M.

The afternoon session of the National Organization Committee Meeting got underway at about 1:00 P.M. with 18 CP members present. The following were identified:

DANNY RUBIN	ARNOLD JOHNSON
HELEN WINTER	BETTY GANNETT
MIKE STEIN	JOSEPH BRANDT
SIDNEY TAYLOR	HYMAN LUMER
SANDY PATRINOS	CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT
JACOB GREEN	MIKE ZAGARELL

JOSE RISTORUCCI

ZAGARELL, RISTORUCCI, and four young men, three of whom were white and one a Negro, arrived a few minutes after the session had gotten underway.

RUBIN told the group that he had sent out a letter asking various Party heads to be present at this meeting and be in a position to make reports. He said that GEORGE MEYERS, who is the Labor Secretary, could not be present, but that CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, Head of Negro Affairs, ARNOLD JOHNSON, who heads up the committee on Peace, and MIKE ZAGARELL, Head of the Youth Committee, were present.

RE: COMMUNIST PARTY, USA.

RUBIN then stated that at the last CP, USA National Convention, quotas had been set up for recruiting of new members into the CP, USA. RUBIN said that the quotas had not been met, but they had been successful in bringing a number of young people into the Party.

RUBIN then stated that it was his personal view that anyone coming into the CP, USA, should be aware of what the Party stands for, and be ready to assist in its activities. RUBIN said that a person applying for membership in the CP, USA, in his opinion, should be checked out as to background. RUBIN said he felt that the new member should be considered an apprentice who had to be educated and sent to school in the Party. RUBIN stated that during this preliminary period the established Party members could determine what the new members were thinking and be able to analyze why the new members had joined the CP, USA.

ARNOLD JOHNSON objected to RUBIN's views, saying that such a procedure with regard to new members would make it difficult to recruit.

RUBIN then stated that before they went into a discussion of recruiting, he wanted them to hear from CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, Head of Negro Affairs.

LIGHTFOOT told them that he had been traveling around the country for the CP, USA for many years and was very familiar with the Party operation and membership. LIGHTFOOT said one thing he wanted to make clear was the fact Negro nationalists STOKELY CARMICHAEL and H. RAP BROWN had a great many Negro followers and whether the Party agreed or disagreed with the views of such Negro nationalists, they had a great impact on the American Negro.

LIGHTFOOT said he did not know where CARMICHAEL and RAP BROWN were headed, whether it was in the direction of left-wing group, such as represented the Chinese Communist point of view, or were merely Black racists. LIGHTFOOT said in any event, it was clear that they were not headed in the direction of the CP, USA. LIGHTFOOT said that he had raised this point because it appeared to him that the CP, USA had a growing tendency which was resulting in their isolation from the Negro masses.

LIGHTFOOT then stated that in his travels around the country and in attending CP meetings, it was rare that he saw a black face in the membership. He then asked the group whether such a condition represented Negro and white unity which had always been a strong slogan of the CP, USA. LIGHTFOOT said that he thought that Michigan should have more Negro members. He was very disappointed in Negro membership in Ohio, which he considered a depressed area. He criticized the New York City CP Clubs, which were mostly in his opinion White. He pointed out that in California there were only from ten to twelve Negro comrades.

In conclusion, LIGHTFOOT warned the group that the CP, USA in order to advance had to recruit among the black masses, or these forces would be lost to racist leaders such as STOKELY CARMICHAEL and H. RAP BROWN.

RUBIN then pointed out that it was close to 4:00 P.M. and they only had an hour or so for discussion.

It was then suggested that since the views of the more mature Party members were well known, it would be best to hear from the younger comrades.

MIKE ZAGARELL, Head of the CP, USA National Youth Committee, then told the others that the Party had made numerous contacts on campuses throughout the country with some success. He stated that many of the young people felt that the CP, USA, was no longer an active progressive organization and were more interested in other groups. ZAGARELL said that young Negroes who were contacted seemed to be afraid that the CP, USA was trying to use them.

The four young men who had come to the meeting with ZAGARELL then spoke in turn echoing ZAGARELL's comments. They all seemed to indicate that the best hope of success for the Party in connection with recruiting lay in the formation of W.E.B. DU BOIS Clubs.

A characterization of the W.E.B. DU BOIS Club is appended hereto.

The above mentioned four young men indicated that they felt that Party policies were not strongly enough worded and that the CP, USA was not active enough in mass movements and seemed to be unable to lead mass activities.

RE: COMMUNIST PARTY, USA

One of the four young men who was a Negro said that he objected to the cautious approach used by CP members and he would prefer to introduce himself as a Communist and either be accepted or rejected as a CP member.

Discussion of the above was continued until 5:00 p.m., at which time the meeting ended.

W. E. B. DU BOIS CLUBS OF AMERICA (DCA)

A source advised that on October 26-27, 1963, a conference of members of the Communist Party, USA (CPUSA), including national functionaries, met in Chicago, Illinois, for the purpose of setting in motion forces for the establishment of a new national Marxist-oriented youth organization which would hunt for the most peaceful transition to socialism. The delegates were told that it would be reasonable to assume that the young socialists attracted into this new oganization would eventually pass into the CP itself.

A second source has advised that the founding convention for the new youth organization was held from June 19-21, 1964, at 150 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, California, at which time the name W. E. B. DuBois Clubs of America (DCA) was adopted. Approximately 500 delegates from throughout the United States attended this convention.

The second source advised on May 1, 1967, that the current officers of the DCA, as well as all members of the DCA National Executive Committee, are members of the CP and that the CPUSA furnishes the major financial support for the DCA national office.

The second source advised that in September, 1966, Franklin Alexander, DCA National Chairman, stated that the DCA is now in fact a functioning young communist league. Also, in September, 1966, Mike Zagarell, CPUSA Youth Director, stated that in Negro communities the Party still supported the plan to build "left" socialist centers and to solidify the Party base through the DCA.

The second source advised that in September, 1966, Daniel Rubin, CPUSA National Organizational Secretary, stated the Party believes the DCA should have a working class outlook and be a mass organization favorable to socialism, socialist countries, and Marxism, and in April, 1967, Gus Hall, CPUSA General Secretary, indicated that the DCA primary emphasis should be on developing mass resistance to the draft.

As of May, 1967, the headquarters of the DCA was located at 180 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois.

~~SECRET~~

1 SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, INC.

"The Southern Patriot," a monthly publication, shows that it is published by the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. (SCEF).

"The Southern Patriot" was cited as an "organ" of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare (SCHW) by the Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 592, June 12, 1947.

The SCHW was cited as a communist front by the Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 592, June 12, 1947.

An amendment to the charter of the SCHW dated April 26, 1946, changed the name of that organization to the SCEF, and listed its purpose as being to improve the educational and cultural standards of the Southern people in accordance with the highest American democratic institutions, traditions, and ideals.

The SCEF is self-described as having deep roots in the South where it began as the educational wing of the SCHW, organized in 1938 to work for economic and political reform. When the SCHW disbanded in the late 1940's, SCEF continued as an independent organization, rallying support for integration and democracy and helping to stimulate and nurture new movements of the early 1960's. The SCEF maintained headquarters in Louisiana for twenty years, but in 1966 moved its headquarters to Louisville, Kentucky.

A source advised on March 2, 1961, that CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, a Communist Party functionary, stated at a meeting of the Communist Party in Baltimore, Maryland, on February 25, 1961, that the Communist Party is not connected with any progressive movement but indirectly they do have some influence in the SCEF.

A second source, who is familiar with some phases of Communist Party activity in the New Orleans area, advised on June 8, 1966, that during the time that the SCHW was in existence members of the Communist Party were members of and worked actively in the SCHW; however, since the formation of the SCEF, Communist Party members have not been encouraged to work in the SCEF. The source stated that the SCEF is a progressive, liberal organization, which he considers a Communist Party front organization because it has gone along with the Communist Party on certain issues, particularly on the racial issue.

CARL BRADEN and ANNE BRADEN, Director and Associate Director respectively of the SCEF, were identified by ALBERTA AHEARN, 2311 Payne, Louisville, Kentucky, a self-admitted former member of the Communist Party, on December 13, 1954, in her testimony in Jefferson County, Kentucky, Court in the prosecution of CARL BRADEN under a state sedition statute as members of the Communist Party in Louisville, Kentucky, from January, 1951, to December, 1954.

A third source advised on May 28, 1965, that GEORGE MEYERS, a Communist Party functionary, expressed great admiration for CARL and ANNE BRADEN and the SCEF, with which they are affiliated, and expressed the view that the SCEF is the best organization in the South as far as doing effective work is concerned and that they have a better idea of what they are doing, where they are heading, and influence other organizations for the better.

The second source also advised on June 8, 1966, that many people who are officials and supporters of the SCEF, while liberal in their views, are by no means Communists.

COMMUNIST PARTY, USA
ILLINOIS DISTRICT - ORGANIZATION
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

On December 13, 1967, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised as follows:

On December 10, 1967, an enlarged Illinois Communist Party (CP) State Committee meeting was held in Chicago, Illinois. Approximately 38 people were in attendance. Jack Kling, Illinois CP State Secretary, was elected chairman while Dot Davies was elected secretary for the meeting.

It was announced that the main topic of discussion at this meeting would be based on the Negro Question.

In the absence of Earl Durham, Chairman of the Illinois CP Negro Affairs Commission, Claude Lightfoot, Chairman of the National CP Negro Affairs Commission, gave the main report.

In his speech, Lightfoot first told of what should be done to win equality for "black" people in this country. He said that we have seen that mere integration will not solve the problems of the Negroes in America and, therefore, the CP must be the pace setters and not be afraid to confront the realities the CP faces in America.

Lightfoot then spoke of how the Cuban communists solved the problems of integrated housing in Cuba. He said that the Cubans did not have to pass a lot of laws to establish equality to gain housing, jobs, etc., for their people, but rather Castro stated during the early part of a certain month that he will give them until the 25th of the month to integrate. Lightfoot said that those who did not comply were then taken before the "wall" (firing squad), and that ended their problems. Lightfoot said that when a certain class of white people rushed out of Cuba to the United States, the government then was able to take over rows and rows of apartment buildings which had been vacated and collected the poor people from all the nation and they were able to be given first class housing.

Lightfoot also spoke of discriminatory practices within the labor movement within the United States as well as of practices which he described as being employed by the United States capitalistic system to keep the Negro "down" on the economic ladder. Lightfoot said that the CP must find ways to combat these practices.

Discussion of Lightfoot's speech then ensued.

Jim West, Midwest CP Trade Union Co-Ordinator, stated that the building trades in Chicago have always been a bastile of discrimination and the CP will have to find more jobs for Negroes in the building trades.

Herb Wright spoke of the failures of the drive to organize the hospital workers in Chicago and blamed the Chicago Federation of Labor for not supporting the drive to organize the unorganized. Wright also spoke of the necessity to build black caucuses in the labor unions and to mobilize the working class to fight for complete freedom.

Nate Sharpe spoke of the fight which took place in the Steelworkers Union to prevent the workers from giving up their right to strike in the coming negotiations in the steel industry.

Ish Flory spoke of the need for the CP to organize in the ghetto; the number of unemployed youth who need assistance; and the fight to teach Negro history in the schools on the south side of Chicago. Flory stated that there are a number of areas where recruits for the Party can be won.

After the luncheon recess the group dispersed and participated in the following panels:

Negro-Labor Alliance - Herb Wright, Panel Leader

Political Action - Ish Flory, Panel Leader

Problems of Work in the White Community - Arnold Bechetti, Panel Leader

It was learned that 14 people participated in the panel on Negro-Labor Alliance , 12 in the panel on Political Action, and 12 in the panel on Problems of Work in the White Community.

In the Negro-Labor Alliance panel, Herb Wright opened with a speech and stated that the Negro-Labor Alliance which flourished in the 1930's to build the great industrial unions of our nation was beheaded in the 1940's by the ruling class who recognized its great potential as a threat against the capitalistic system and by the stupidity of some top labor leaders who were naive enough to believe that the government and the McCarthyites were concerned only with the communists. In reality their goal was to purge the labor movement of the militants and blunt the thrust of a greater alliance that would not only embrace the economic struggles but also the mass struggles for peace, freedom, and the rightful place of the working class in the political arena.

Wright stated that the racist rulers of our country and some unions have utilized every deceptive tactic known to prevent the regrowth of the Negro-Labor Alliance . Wright further stated that those who seek to perpetuate these policies and the practices must be opposed and fought with all forces which the CP can muster and we should give special attention to the following four points which our Party must not only be the initiators, but the back bone of their implementation:

1. Breaking discrimination in the craft unions, especially building trades.

2. Organize the unorganized.

3. Build the Negro American Labor Council and Negro caucuses in the labor unions.

4. Combat racist ideology among workers and in their organizations.

In the discussion Ted Pearson said that there should be a special effort on the part of the CP to bridge the gap between the shops and the communities. He recommended that one way to do this is to commence distributing CP literature at the shop gates and in the union halls.

Lulu Saffold pointed out that Negro women are not being trained for skilled jobs in industry.

Sara Jones, an Illinois CP member from the south side of Chicago, stated that the Negro women do not have the opportunity to learn the skills where big money is being made.

Al Hanover, a member of the Illinois CP, stated that there are three Negro apprentices employed in his plant but that they were so harrassed by the white employees that they were forced out of the plant.

Claude Lightfoot stated that the Party must take the initiative and launch the program around the building trades as recommended. He said that the New York CP District is working on a program similar to this, especially where Federal funds are involved. We have to quit being so timid. Once an effort is undertaken you do not have to worry about allies. You will win support from unexpected sources. There are enough communists here in Chicago to start the ball rolling.

At this time the panel groups re-assembled and reports concerning the three panels were then given. For the panel on Political Action Ish Flory stated that the Party must concern itself with electing Negro candidates from the ghetto and must also consider running two communist candidates, one black and one white, in the coming elections.

For the panel on Problems of Work in the White Community Bob Woods, an Illinois CP youth leader on the north side of Chicago, stated that the communists could do a terrific job in breaking down discrimination in housing in their own communities by informing their white neighbors of the special problems and issues facing the Negro people. Woods said that the CP could also work in their labor unions to elect Negroes to leadership positions. He said we should also support candidates who back the Negro causes.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

For the panel on Negro-Labor Alliance Ken Applehans gave the report and briefly summarized the information as previously discussed and set forth above.

In summarizing the panels, Claude Lightfoot stated that a lot of people always talk, but the CP must do some work to have something to talk about. Lightfoot felt that the meeting was a reflection of the collectivity of our Party. We have withstood the Smith and McCarran Acts and have been harrassed by all sides and to come through on all of this and to make the progress we are making, is amazing. Lightfoot said we have nothing to be ashamed of. We were forced out of the labor movement and other mass organizations, yet our Party was able to move ahead and play a vanguard role. Lightfoot said he was highly satisfied with today's meeting and was expecting the Chicago communists to get a real struggle "going" against the building trade unions.

The following motions were then made and accepted.

1. Reproduce reports and recommendations from the three panels.

2. Continue the discussion of the Negro-Labor Alliance in the Industrial clubs in preparation for the national CP industrial conference tentatively scheduled for the spring of 1968.

3. That the Party print pamphlets on the Negro work.

4. That it be recommended to the Illinois CP Industrial Commission to prepare a white-paper on Negro leadership in the labor movement.

At this time the topic of the Illinois CP budget for 1968 was discussed. Lou Diskin reported that the total income for the District was $19,504.67., the bulk of which came from the north side in Chicago. Diskin then projected the Illinois CP District budget for 1968 which he stated totals around $30,000.

In order to raise some of this money to carry out the budget, it was agreed to have at least one major fund raising affair each month from January to May, 1968. It was also stated that every working comrade contribute one week's salary and that each CP club make a pledge of financial assistance for 1968.

Diskin recommended and it was passed that the Illinois CP State Board resolve the problem of the District having a financial director.

RE: COMMUNIST PARTY, USA
NATIONAL COMMITTEE MEETINGS
NEW YORK, NEW YORK,
JANUARY 14-16, 1968

GUS HALL, the Secretary General of the CP, USA, made the opening remarks which ran on for over two hours. His talk concerned the 1968 elections. He pointed out that the millions of voters in the United States were concerned about the United States war of aggression in Vietnam and aggravated problems at home. He said the unrest was accentuated by the increasing number of strikes by workers. He talked of violence in the cities and demonstrations by Negroes which called for an end to racist oppression and the end of poverty in the ghetto areas. He talked about the increasing amount of brutality on the part of police everywhere in the United States. He indicated that the key objective of the November, 1968, elections was to turn the course of the country away from aggressive war and the extrication of the United States from Southeast Asia. He condemned the President, LYNDON B. JOHNSON, for the betrayal of his 1964 election promise of peace in Asia.

GUS HALL said that the greatest danger in the United States came from the military-industrial complex symbolized by the Pentagon. He was encouraged by the increasing number of Democrats, the President's own party, who were beginning to see the danger of the war in Asia. GUS HALL said that the Communists in the United States were interested in creating an independent political movement which would call for peace and work for the Negro, labor, and youth. He said the CP, USA was constantly involved in the struggle to involve the masses in work that would help the Negro, youth, and laboring man.

GUS HALL said that the Communist Party was directly concerned and involved in the working-class movement and and would always consider itself to be a working-class party.

HALL stated that in the November elections the CP, USA should help Negroes get seats in the National Conventions of the two great parties. He pointed out that in some of the Southern states the delegates to the National Conventions were all Negroes.

HALL said that he was greatly encouraged by the Peace and Freedom Party in California, which had caused some 90,000 voters to change their registration. He indicated that this was proof of the fact that a great number of the voters were interested in stopping the drive towards total war.

HALL said that the movement of Democrats against the President and the independent movements for peace could be viewed as two aspects of a single struggle which he felt to be a completely new political movement.

HALL urged all members of the CP, USA to carefully evaluate candidates for office in their various districts and wherever possible vote for the election of Negroes. HALL informed the group that there would be Communist candidates in all areas including the presidential race. He said the voters must be given an opportunity to know the Communist program from Communists.

HALL then became sharply critical of the Communist groups in California. He said that they had not done enough to help the Peace and Freedom movement in that area. He was critical of the white comrades whom he felt had not worked hard enough with the minority groups.

In closing HALL said that because of the times, the CP, USA had a great opportunity to move forward; and he was going to demand aggressive leadership.

The next speaker was ARNOLD JOHNSON, who went over much of the same ground covered by GUS HALL with respect to the 1968 elections. He made a number of direct quotes from the CP, USA Draft Statement on the 1968 election.

After lunch, JOHN ABT, long-time attorney for the CP, USA, told the group that all preparation had been made concerning the legal aspects of setting up a Daily Marxist Paper.

Following ABT's talk there was discussion on the coming elections and the creation of a Daily Marxist Paper.

A question was raised as to how the editorial board of the new daily publication would be selected. GUS HALL replied that it would consist of all sorts of persons and would not necessarily be limited to members of the CP, USA. He indicated that the National Executive Board would meet separately during the meetings and discuss this matter.

After further discussion it was decided that the National Executive Board would meet at 8:00 a.m. on the morning of January 16, 1968, and would make its report later on in the day to the National Committee.

The first day ended at about 5:30 p.m. The second day of the National Committee meetings got underway at about 9:30 a.m. at the Sheraton-Atlantic Hotel with HENRY WINSTON, National Chairman, CP, USA, calling the meeting to order.

PHIL BART acted as chairman of the morning session which consisted of discussions of the 1968 elections.

Following lunch MIKE STEIN was elected chairman of the afternoon session, which continued discussion on the coming elections for about an hour.

DANNY RUBIN, head of the National Organization Commission, then talked about a program of activity by the CP in connection with the working-class movement in the United States. He emphasized the CP, USA was essentially a working-class movement and would have to keep close to the trade unions in order to continue to be successful in its activites.

HYMAN LUMER then stated that the CP, USA was continuing to try to work out a program which emphasized Marxist theory in connection with movements of the working class.

JAMES JACKSON then addressed the group. In essence he said that the plight of the Negro people and the struggle of the working class were tied together. GEORGE MEYERS, who is the Labor Secretary for the CP, USA, then told the group that the American working class was the major force capable of leading the struggle for Socialism in the United States. He said that this was a fundamental concept of the CP, USA based on the science Marxism-Leninism.

MEYERS stated that the class struggle was a great force for change in America and directly influenced all other mass struggles such as the fight of the Negro people for equality, the struggle for peace, and the struggles for civil rights.

MEYERS said that although the working class in the United States was generally well-to-do, they still were a united force and as such would eventually play a great roll in bringing about the end of a capitalist United States.

MEYERS warned that the monopolies in the United States continued to try to split the working class for their own advantage. He said that there was encouragement of discrimination against Negro workers by their white comrades. MEYERS said that the Party believed in Negro-White work-class unity.

In closing MEYERS said that the CP, USA would continue its day-to-day struggle and would lead the working class in the revolutionary transition to socialism.

The meeting continued its discussion until 5:30 p.m. At this time DANNY RUBIN suggested that they convene for an evening session at the Manhattan Hotel, 45th Street and 8th Avenue at 7:00 p.m.

The group met shortly after 7:00 p.m. with CARL BLOICE elected as chairman for that session. Discussion continued on the talk made by MEYERS, LUMER and JACKSON. DON HAMMERQUIST was critical of the tie up between the CP, USA and the working class. HAMMERQUIST called for more intellectual leadership. ARCHIE BROWN repudiated HAMMERQUIST's statements saying that the CP, USA could not succeed unless it was based on the working class.

The discussion continued until about 11:00 p.m. Most of the comments were favorable with regard to the talk made by MEYERS, LUMER, and JACKSON.

The third session of the National Committee meetings got underway at 11:50 a.m. on January 16, 1968, at the Sheraton-Atlantic Hotel.

ROSCOE PROCTOR was elected chairman of the meeting.

After a short discussion on the working class tie up with the CP, USA, HENRY WINSTON talked about his trip to the Soviet Union in 1967. He cited instances of minor differences between Communist countries but stated on the whole all Communist countries were united in a search for peace.

GUS HALL then told the group that the National Executive Board had met earlier in the day and had discussed the setting up of a editorial staff for the new daily publication. HALL said that in effect they did not come to any real conclusions. He indicated that the paper would not be like previous publications of the CP, USA and would in general support all progressive activities. HALL said that the National Executive Board was planning a lengthy study as to the best candidates for editorial positions on the new publication. He said that the National Executive Board would meet again in February, 1968, and would invite some of the National Committee members to meet with them on this matter. Those of the National Committee that were not invited would receive a summary.

HENRY WINSTON then called for a special convention to be held during the summer in order to concentrate on the coming 1968 elections and the setting up of the new daily paper. He suggested that the National Convention scheduled for 1968 be postponed until 1969.

A discussion followed in which there was some disagreement. It was pointed out that the actions suggested by WINSTON was in violation of the constitution of the CP, USA. Eventually, however, it was decided that the special convention would be held July 3, 1968, in New York and that a National Convention would be held April 1, 1969.

The group then voted on reports made at the first day's session. The reports on the 1968 elections by GUS HALL and ARNOLD JOHNSON were approved. The CP, USA was directed to mobilize its strength to back a suitable third party candidate for peace. Each district was directed to get out leaflets and contact the public.

The group then approved the working-class approach of the CP, USA as set forth in reports by HYMAN LUMER, JAMES JACKSON, and GEORGE MEYERS.

HYMAN LUMER then gave a talk on the Middle-East crisis. He condemned Israel as an aggressor which was acting in support of the United States imperialism.

LUMER said that the ruling clique in Israel was pursuing a racist policy against the Arabs. He said that Israel could only survive in the midst of an Arab world if it reversed its present policy and became a part of the Arab world.

After discussion LUMER's report was approved.

GUS HALL then made a brief talk praising the group for its activities.

The final session ended at about 5:30 p.m.

New Jersey. IRVING POTASH gave a report dealing with the Black Liberation Movement as decided at a national CP conference. The CP does not want its members to be hostile to the demands by Black Power leaders for an independent Negro nation even though, the concept was not endorsed by communists. POTASH said that the desire for a separate state was understandable on the part of Negroes and that the CP must be sympathetic in order to win the confidence of Negroes. POTASH said that the CP must support all the recent uprisings and riots in Negro ghettos, for they were not aggression on the part of the rioters but self-defense. POTASH said that the CP must not support any plan of the Black Power advocates which calls for a massive armed assault on the white community. POTASH said the Negroes are hopelessly outnumbered by whites, and that any nation-wide attempt on their part to overthrow the government by force would necessarily fail. POTASH said the Negroes have come too far to throw everything away in a suicidal attempt. POTASH said that the CP must not object to Black Power caucuses at conferences but must not advocate or take part in any exclusively white caucuses. POTASH said chauvinism on the part of Negroes had to be tolerated but that it could not be tolerated on the part of whites.

IN RACIAL MATTERS

Character: INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Synopsis: Members of the Capitol District Communist Party (CDCP), and members of the New York District Communist Party discussed the Negro situation, which evolved from the New Politics Convention in Chicago. III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

On October 4, 1967, MIKE STEIN and ANDY HMURA met at Communist Party headquarters, New York City, and had a long discussion regarding the New Politics Convention.

HMURA took the position that the convention was a "flop" and that the Party had no clear position in it.

MIKE STEIN replied that this thinking was five years behind times because "Black Power" is a force that will bring about great changes in the U.S. STEIN went on to say that the Party leadership believes that black people are about to explode, also, that other leaders feel that no one really knows how the Negro people will do it, but that they are in a rebellious mood.

STEIN want on to say that the Party feels that they can move into the situation and gain a foothold. This movement is a class struggle.

HMURA commented that the Negroes will not make any gains without the help of the whites. STEIN disagreed with this. He said that the Negroes will make their own gains and are ready to fight and shed blood.

HMURA told STEIN bluntly that all of the "Black Power" leaders could not deliver 10,000 votes and also that the Party has to choose between RAPP BROWN and MARTIN LUTHER KING. HMURA pointed out that Negroes respect Reverend KING and will follow him, but RAPP BROWN has only the rowdy elements behind him.

STEIN said that he would have to go to Albany and explain to the CDCP members what is going on in the Negro movement. (Confidential Informant AL T-1 on October 13, 1967)

MIKE STEIN was described by Confidential Informant AL T-2 on June 27, 1967, as being an active member of the New York District Communist Party and presently holds the position of Executive Secretary in this organization.

Confidential Informant AL T-2 advised on June 27, 1967, that HMURA was a member of the CDCP and was also the upstate representative to the New York District Communist Party.

A characterization of the New Politics Convention is contained in the Appendix.

During a meeting of the Capitol District Communist Party, held on October 24, 1967, MIKE STEIN discussed the New Politics Convention and played a tape of a speech by CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, which stressed the following:

1. The convention was correct in giving the "Black Caucus" the power.

2. A third party or "Dump Johnson" movement has to be pushed.

3. The Party agrees with the "Black Caucus" regarding their rights to tell whites what is good for them.

4. The whites have to help them by all means possible.

5. The whites do not understand the Negroes.

MIKE DWORKIN lead an attack against this, stating that the Party is becoming an instrument of "Black Caucus". DWORKIN was blunt and told STEIN that a political force could not develop under these circumstances and that the white people would not accept the power of the blacks to dominate white "New Politics".

STEIN told the group that the Party has a couple of people on the New Politics National Level and that "Black Caucus" accepts Party leaders as equal. Now, for the first time, the Party can work outside of its own ranks, and this is important.

HMURA told STEIN that this might be true but the "Black Caucus" does not represent the mass of Negro people.

DWORKIN stated that he did not like the Party position and felt the Party was making a mistake.

(Confidential Informant AL T-1 on October 26, 1967)

MIKE DWORKIN was described by Confidential Informant AL T-3 on May 1, 1967, as being an active member in the CDCP, and presently holds a position of leadership capacity in this organization.

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT was described by Confidential Informant AL T-4 as the Secretary of the Communist Party, USA, National Negro Commission and Co-chairman of the Communist Party of Illinois.

APPENDIX

NATIONAL CONFERENCE FOR NEW POLITICS

From September 1 through 4, 1967, the National Conference For New Politics met in convention at the Palmer House, Chicago, Illinois.

There were approximately 2,000 delegates present, representing about 27,000 individuals. The purpose of the convention was to bring together persons and organizations actively working in various fields, including Equality of Opportunity for Minority Groups, Slum Clearance and Peace in Vietnam, so that they might take direct political action in support of their various goals.

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

A. Communist Party-USA (CPUSA)

1. Plans and Strategy at National Meetings

CV T-1 advised on November 6, 1967, that an Ohio Communist Party (CP) State Board Meeting was held at ANTHONY KRCHMAREK's home in Cleveland on November 3, 1967, at which KRCHMAREK announced that there had been a national meeting of the CP Black Commission in New York City in October. He said that PHIL BART, FRIEDA KATZ and HENRY CRAWFORD had attended this meeting in New York, and that the purpose of this Ohio Board Meeting was to have a report from them. In his report BART stated that the central theme of the New York meeting was the struggle against white chauvinism; that there was a lack of relationship between the whites and blacks in the party, and that under these conditions the party could not think of being a uniting force between the races. BART stated that the whites in the party should be in the leadership against racism.

ANTHONY KRCHMAREK

On October 11, 1966, ANTHONY KRCHMAREK appeared on a radio program carried over Cleveland radio station WKYC. When introduced by the announcer as being a leading spokesman of the CP in Ohio, KRCHMAREK pointed out that he was chairman of the CP in Ohio.

PHILIP BART

CV T-1 advised on November 17, 1966, that at an Ohio CP State Committee Meeting held in Cleveland, Ohio, on November 13, 1966, it was announced that PHILIP BART is secretary of the CP in Ohio.

FRIEDA KATZ
HENRY CRAWFORD

CV T-1 advised on November 6, 1967, that both HENRY CRAWFORD and FRIEDA KATZ are members of the Ohio CP State Board and were present at the state board meeting held on November 3, 1967.

2. Local CP Plans and Strategy

PARTICIPATION IN BLACK UNITY CONFERENCE

CV T-2 advised on September 18, 1967, that PHILIP BART pointed out on September 14, 1967, that an all Negro meeting is to be held in Cleveland soon, and that he would like to have both ALONZO HOWARD and HENRY CRAWFORD attend. BART also advised that at the new politics convention recently held at Chicago, the Negroes held a caucus from which white persons were excluded. Source advised that one of the persons to whom BART was talking disagreed with the Negroes who want to "go it alone" in their fight for civil rights. BART explained that sometimes this is necessary, for whites can be more effective when working with whites, and Negroes can be more effective when working with Negroes. BART pointed out that for CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT to have refused to attend this all Negro caucus at the new politics convention (National Conference for New Politics), would have been a suicidal thing for him to do.

ALONZO HOWARD

CV T-2 advised on November 6, 1967, that ALONZO HOWARD is a member of the CP Cedar Central Club in Cleveland.

CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT

CV T-10 advised on June 29, 1966, that CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT was elected a member of the national committee of the CPUSA at its 18th national convention.

CV T-2 advised on October 9, 1967, that there was a meeting of the CP Cedar Central Club held in Cleveland on October 4, 1967, one of those present discussed the Black Unity Conference which is to be held in Cleveland and is closed to all white people, including news reporters. It was suggested that since white people are not being admitted, that Negro members of this club attend. HENRY CRAWFORD pointed out that the Black Unity Conference is open to all Negroes free, except for delegates who must pay a $2.50 fee. This CP Cedar Central Club agreed to send HENRY CRAWFORD to this conference as a delegate.

ACTIVITY IN CONGRESS OF RACIAL EQUALITY (CORE)

CV T-3 advised on October 13, 1967, that FRIEDA KATZ was going to New York City on that evening, to attend a CP meeting pertaining to the Black Revolution, and to discuss ways for the CP to become involved.

KATZ stated that the CP wants to cooperate with CORE, and she wondered about the advisability of the CP sending a specialist to Cleveland to work on recruiting Negroes into the CP movement.

CV T-2 advised on November 13, 1967, that a meeting of Citizens for Constitutional Rights (CCR), was held in Cleveland on November 8, 1967, at which there was a heated discussion between FREDA HARRIS and FRIEDA KATZ as to who would be chairman of a meeting to be held in Cleveland denouncing the House Committee on Unamerican Activities.

FREDA HARRIS said she had asked Professor SIDNEY PECK to be chairman, to which FRIEDA KATZ objected strenuously saying "SIDNEY PECK is in too many things, and he thinks he is trying to take over all of the organizations in Cleveland". KATZ said she had asked JOHN CLOUD and FRANKLIN ANDERSON both of Cleveland CORE to be chairman, but did not get any definite answer from them. KATZ said she thinks that in affairs of this type, it is high time that an effort be made to get Negroes involved. It was finally agreed that SIDNEY PECK would be in charge, but that JOHN CLOUD would give a short talk on CORE. OHIO.

CITIZENS FOR CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS (CCR)

VIRGINIA HARDIN, who has furnished information to the United States Government, is a self-admitted former member of the CP whose cooperation with the Government was publicly disclosed on June 5, 1962. Mrs. HARDIN advised on September 5, 1961, that on September 1, 1961, a meeting was held at which the name Citizens for Constitutional Rights was approved by the group, to replace the name Cleveland Committee to Abolish the House Unamerican Activities Committee, which had been the former name used by the group. EDNA KAUFMAN was chairman and the only officer of the CCR, and controlled its operations. CCR has no formal membership, and its stated purposes are to abolish the HCUA and to fight against the Smith Act and McCarran Act.

CV T-3 advised on March 29, 1965, that EDNA KAUFMAN attended an Ohio CP State Conference held in Cleveland on March 28, 1965, and during this conference she was congratulated by FRIEDA KATZ for the work she had done in efforts to abolish the HCUA, which KATZ said was "a party assignment".

EDNA KAUFMAN died on May 4, 1965, and CV T-9 reported on December 29, 1965, that he had recently learned that FRIEDA KATZ is now in charge of the CCR.

SIDNEY PECK

CV T-11 advised on April 16, 1956, that SIDNEY PECK attended a state committee meeting of the CP of Wisconsin, held April 15, 1956, and was a member of that committee at that time.

JOHN CLOUD

CV T-3 advised on October 13, 1967, that JOHN CLOUD had until recently been a member of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) in Cleveland, but that his membership in the SWP had been terminated by the SWP because of his having held a position in Cleveland CORE. The SWP has been cited by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

CV 100-27076

FRANKLIN ANDERSON

Sergeant JOHN J. UNGVARY, Bureau of Special Investigation, Cleveland Police Department, advised on February 4, 1966, that ANDERSON was one of those arrested for disorderly conduct on November 14, 1965, during a liquor raid at the SWP headquarters, 5927 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland. He stated a SWP social affair was in progress at the time and that police developed information that liquor was being sold to those in attendance and that the SWP did not have a liquor license.

CV T-3 advised on August 29, 1967, that FRANKLIN ANDERSON has attended a number of weekly public forums sponsored by the SWP in Cleveland during the past one or two years, but that he is not a member or a sympathizer of the SWP. He stated that most of the forums which ANDERSON attended deal with civil rights, poverty and similar matters. He advised that ANDERSON has also occasionally attended SWP sponsored social affairs.

Source stated that the local SWP does not consider ANDERSON to have any interest in the political philosophy of the SWP and had made no effort to recruit him into the SWP or to invite him to classes where the SWP beliefs are taught.

The source described ANDERSON as a "hustler" with political ambitions who would do anything or attend any meetings to keep himself in the public eye.

FREDA HARRIS

CV T-2 advised on June 26, 1967, that FREDA HARRIS attended the Ohio CP state committee meeting held in Cleveland on June 25, 1967.

CV T-2 advised on December 7, 1967, that for sometime in the past, PHILIP RART has been trying to arrange a meeting between local CORE leaders and local CP leaders, but without success.

Source stated that one of the local CP members, ALONZO HOWARD, is currently active in Cleveland CORE.

(See section III-A of this report for current views of CORE leaders regarding efforts of CP leaders to meet with them.)

ACTIVITY AT STOKES CAMPAIGN

CV T-2 advised on September 27, 1967, that at an Ohio CP state committee meeting held in Cleveland September 24, 1967, FRIEDA KATZ stated that she wanted to get in touch with DONALD BEAN to see how he feels about CARL STOKES, (Negro candidate for mayor of Cleveland). OH, O

KATZ pointed out that BEAN, Chairman of CORE, has done very little about the STOKES Campaign. It was agreed at this meeting that those present should work to elect CARL STOKES, and FRIEDA KATZ pointed out that "CARL STOKES has not come out against the Viet Nam War, and for that reason some people say they won't vote for him. Why expect STOKES to be perfect just because he is a Negro?"

DONALD BEAN

CV T-3 advised on October 13, 1966, that DONALD BEAN was one of the members of a panel on civil rights at the weekly public forum sponsored by the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) in Cleveland, on October 9, 1966. BEAN spoke as the newly elected chairman of CORE and said that his organization is going to work towards community organization for political purposes.

CV T-3 advised on August 29, 1967, that DONALD BEAN is not a member or sympathizer of the SWP. He stated that BEAN was invited to appear on the panel on civil rights at the forum mentioned above. He stated that BEAN became interested in the protest against the war in Vietnam when the National CORE Organization adopted a policy against United States intervention in Vietnam.

CV T-4 advised on October 16, 1967, that a meeting of the CPUSA Negro Commission was held at New York City October 14th and 15th at which "FRIEDA from Ohio" spoke of the mayoral campaign in Cleveland, stating that the party in Cleveland had influenced the labor movement in Cleveland to endorse CARL STOKES.

(No source of the Cleveland Office has furnished any information to indicate that the CP exercised any influence in the labor movement in Cleveland on behalf of STOKES.)

CV T-2 advised on November 14, 1967, that a CP meeting was held at the PHILIP BART apartment in Cleveland on November 10, 1967, at which there was discussion of past rioting by Negroes.

ANTHONY KRCHMAREK told of how the recent Negro rioting had helped to awaken the white power structure. He stated "while the CP is not opposed to violence, we think the right way is by political means and unity between the Negroes and white people. When all other methods have been tried and fail, then there is nothing left but to resort to violence. The election of CARL STOKES was a great step in the right direction". b6 b7C

PLANS TO GAIN INFLUENCE AMONG JFK YOUTH

CV T-1 advised on November 17, 1967, that a CP State Board Meeting was held November 10, 1967, at PHILIP BART's apartment. Among those present at this meeting was a visitor named MARION GAINES (phonetic) who was not a member of the CP. He is a Negro youth [redacted] and is the grandson of SAM LINNEN, who was present at this State Board meeting.

[redacted] OHIO

CV T-2 advised additionally on November 14, 1967, that at the board meeting held at BART's apartment on November 10, 1967, it was announced that CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT would be in Cleveland on December 7 and 8, 1967, and as a result, a house meeting was arrange to be held for him during his visit. MARION GAINES commented that he was a member of the JFK House and could have JFK House members attend this LIGHTFOOT meeting. GAINES stated he could assure those present that 200 or more JFK House members would be present for the LIGHTFOOT meeting. Source stated that at this point, it was felt advisable to explain to GAINES who CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT was, since GAINES admitted that he had never heard of CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT. ANTHONY KRCHMAREK explained LIGHTFOOT's political views and pointed out that LIGHTFOOT was a CP officer. GAINES said this made no difference and the JFK members would come to the meeting if he told them to do so. It was agreed that he would bring only a few of the JFK leaders to this LIGHTFOOT meeting, and if they liked what LIGHTFOOT had to say, a larger meeting could be planned for a later date.

JFK HOUSE

Sergeant JOHN J. UNGVARY, Cleveland, Ohio, Police Department, advised on January 13, 1967, that the JFK House was a privately owned and operated recreational center in the Negro neighborhood of Cleveland and was named both for JOHN F. KENNEDY and JOMO FREEDOM KENYATTA. UNGVARY stated that this JFK House was a center of black nationalism and that the house has been closed since July, 1966, because of Building Code violations.

CV T-2 advised on November 15, 1967, that at a Cedar Central CP Club meeting held November 11, 1967, it was decided that some of the Cleveland CORE leaders would also be invited to meet CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT while he was in Cleveland.

CV T-2 advised on December 7, 1967, that it was learned that day that LIGHTFOOT's plans had been changed and that he would not be in Cleveland as planned.

CV T-1 advised on December 15, 1967, that at a CP State Board Meeting held December 8, 1967, in Cleveland, FRIEDA KATZ inquired as to why CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT was not in town. PHILIP BART explained that LIGHTFOOT could not make it, and besides the Negro youth who were to have been present were not organized.

ANTHONY KRCHMAREK said that they had been unable to reach MARION GAINES for the past week and a half; that he had not returned their phone calls, and also that the JFK youth that the party wanted to organize, were not themselves organized.

CP CONTACT AT "CALL AND POST"

CV T-2 advised on November 20, 1967, that a woman named DONNA ALLEN was in Cleveland on November 17, 1967, at the invitation of Citizens for Constitutional Rights (CCR), and to give a talk denouncing the HCUA. While DONNA ALLEN was in Cleveland, arrangements were made by FRIEDA KATZ for DONNA ALLEN to be interviewed by representatives of several newspapers. One of these interviews was with CHARLES LOEB, Advertising Director of the "Call and Post", a weekly Negro newspaper in Cleveland. During discussions, LOEB said to DONNA ALLEN, "I agree with some of the things FRIEDA KATZ believes in, but some of the things she wants me to do with the 'Call and Post' I just won't do. I believe we should stay friendly with FRIEDA because we never know when we can help or may need each other".

OHIO

CHARLES LOEB

CV T-12 advised on June 26, 1944, that CHARLES LOEB visited CP headquarters in Cleveland that day at which time he was criticized for not running the CP state convention story in the newspaper, "Call and Post", which story had been furnished him. LOEB contended he had not received the manuscript of this story. Same source advised on July 1, 1944, that on that day one of the CP officers in Cleveland commented that LOEB had told her two weeks ago that his view of communism had changed, but that he was not planning to join the organization as yet.

B. Socialist Workers Party (SWP)

1. Local Plans and Strategy

CV T-5 advised on October 12, 1967, that an SWP pre-convention discussion was held on October 1, 1967, in Cleveland, at which ERIC REINTHALER, leader of the SWP in Cleveland, stated that the local leadership of the Negro people--like CORE with its 18 members--is falling apart. REINTHALER said that now that CORE is rich, it is doing less for the Negro people; (source advised that by CORE being rich, REINTHALER was referring to money which CORE had received from the Ford Foundation).

CV T-6 advised on November 22, 1967, that a mid-west conference of the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA), was held in Cleveland on November 19, 1967, to celebrate the Russian Revolution with the principal speaker being JUDY WATTS, who was a member of the national committee of the YSA, an organizer of the black contingent from Detroit to the October 21st mobilization at the Pentagon, and who is secretary of the steering committee of the Chicago Black Peoples Convention. The gist of her talk was that the blacks and whites must work together if there is ever going to be a revolution in the United States. She stated that the system in the United States cannot produce freedom for the African Americans, which leaves nothing but revolution and that the black people will lead this struggle.

Source stated that this meeting was attended by both YSA and SWP personnel.

YOUNG SOCIALIST ALLIANCE (YSA)

A characterization of YSA is contained in the appendix hereto.

CV T-2 advised on December 12, 1967, that the SWP held a forum at SWP Headquarters in Cleveland on December 8, 1967, at which the three speakers were Negroes, being FRANKLIN ANDERSON, new chairman of Cleveland CORE, ALEX WEATHERS, a representative of the Students for Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) in Cleveland, and ROBERT BROWN of SNCC. The topic discussed was black power and its international implications.

ALEX WEATHERS

CV T-14 advised on January 28, 1964, that the YSA held its annual mid-west conference in Chicago, Illinois, on January 25-26, 1964, with ALEX WEATHERS from Cleveland, being in attendence.

CV T-3 advised on May 5, 1964, that there are only five members in the YSA in Cleveland, and WEATHERS is not one of these members, but he is considered a friend of the YSA.

ALEX WEATHERS was interviewed on September 22, 1964, by an FBI Agent at which time he advised that he did attend the Chicago YSA conference in January, 1964, having been invited to attend by ERIC REINTHALER, who he had met in the Congress Of Racial Equality (CORE).

WEATHERS said he has since become suspicious of the objectives of YSA, and after considerable research concerning it, has concluded that the YSA and the SWP both want to use the Negro for their benefit and do not want to help the Negro. He stated he was never a member of the YSA or the SWP; that he has turned against both of these organizations, and now has the reputation of being a "red-baiter".

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

A. Picket Line Protesting Death Sentence to Negro Teenager

CV T-7 advised on December 16, 1967, that on that day thirteen Negro males picketed in front of the Cuyahoga County Jail in Cleveland, protesting the death sentence meted out to a Negro teenager convicted of slaying a Cleveland policeman. One of those in the picket line was RON LUCAS.

RON LUCAS

CV T-8 advised on August 9, 1966, that RON LUCAS has been active in the CP Youth Club in Cleveland and that at a CP State Board meeting held in Cleveland on August 3, 1966, LUCAS was appointed a member of the Ohio CP State Board.

This same source advised on April 10, 1967, that there was at that time discussion of suspending LUCAS from the CP because of his nonpayment of dues, and because of his criticism of the CP leadership. The question of suspending him was presented to the Ohio CP State Board on March 31, 1967.

CV T-1 advised on November 6, 1967, that LUCAS is no longer active in the Communist Party in Cleveland.

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER GROUPS

CV T-2 advised on November 14, 1967, that at a CP meeting held at PHILIP BART's apartment on November 10, 1967, it was agreed that the CP must become more active in the labor movement, in street groups, and in such organizations as CORE. BART commented "that is why it is very important that ALONZO HOWARD continues to work in CORE. FRANKLIN ANDERSON, who ran for councilman in Cleveland says he is willing to meet and talk with us at any time".

CV T-2 advised on November 3, 1967, that FRIEDA KATZ recently stated that the person who was to have been chairman of the DONNA ALLEN meeting in Cleveland had a heart attack and consequently cannot be present. FRIEDA stated that JOHN CLOUD and FRANKLIN ANDERSON, both of CORE, have been very cooperative, and ANDERSON said he will be willing to be chairman of the DONNA ALLEN meeting, but will have to get an okay from the CORE executive board.

CV T-2 advised on November 20, 1967, that the DONNA ALLEN meeting was held in Cleveland on November 17, 1967. SIDNEY PECK was chairman and FRANKLIN ANDERSON, the new chairman of Cleveland CORE, also shared the platform and made the collection speech.

CV T-2 advised on December 7, 1967, that for some time in the past PHILIP BART has been trying to arrange a meeting between himself, FRIEDA KATZ, and ANTHONY KRCHMAREK, and the leaders of Cleveland CORE.

DONALD BEAN, former chairman of Cleveland CORE, had promised to meet with these CP leaders, but the promise was never kept. Since BEAN has been replaced by FRANKLIN ANDERSON as the Cleveland CORE chairman, BART now wants to arrange this meeting for December 7, 1967, since CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT will be in town at that time and he could then meet with the CORE leaders.

Source stated that when FRANKLIN ANDERSON was approached concerning this prospective meeting with CLAUDE LIGHTFOOT, ANDERSON stated he would have to discuss it with the other CORE leaders. ANDERSON subsequently advised that while he was personally not opposed to such a meeting, the other CORE members were very frankly not interested. It was explained to ANDERSON that PHILIP BART thought ANDERSON had done well in his bid for election to Cleveland City Council, even though he lost, and that BART wanted to explain long range plans for the next election. After this explanation ANDERSON suggested that BART telephone him concerning this matter.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

YOUNG SOCIALIST ALLIANCE

The May, 1960, issue of the "Young Socialist" (YS), page 1, column 3, disclosed that during April 15-17, 1960, a national organization entitled "The Young Socialist Alliance" (YSA) was established at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. This issue stated that this organization was formed by the nationwide supporter clubs of the publication YS.

The above issue, page 6, set forth the Founding Declaration of the YSA. This declaration stated that the YSA recognizes the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) as the only existing political leadership on class struggle principles, and that the supporters of the YS have come into basic political solidarity with the SWP on the principles of revolutionary socialism.

On March 10, 1967, a source advised that the YSA was formed during 1957, by youth of various left socialist tendencies, particularly members and followers of the SWP. The source further advised that the YSA has recently become more open about admitting that it is the youth group of the SWP and that an SWP representative has publicly stated that the YSA is the SWP's youth group.

The headquarters of the YSA are located in Rooms 532-536, 41 Union Square West, New York City.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

an organization was established in St. Louis called "Committee on New Politics in 1968 and Beyond" (CNP). Its headquarters are at 3519 Easton Avenue. CP members were instrumental in its organization.

(SL T-1 October 23, 1967)

In mid-November, 1967, HERSHEL J. WALKER, Chairman, Missouri District CP, observed that CNP had finally "gotten off the ground" and that he had been instrumental in securing a church which would "work with" the group. WALKER commented this should help a great deal in attracting young Negroes and ultimately getting them involved in Vietnam peace protests. WALKER further said the best way to reach the Negro is through his church and his minister. Even if only three or four young Negroes are ultimately involved in CNP via the church connection this will represent a substantial accomplishment.

(SL T-2 November 21, 1967)

On November 4, 1967, WALKER stated he had spent the preceding week talking to pastors of various churches in St. Louis trying to find one who would dedicate his church as a sanctuary for harboring young men trying to escape the draft, including draft card burners, conscientious objectors and similar individuals. He did not indicate whether he had been successful but remarked that a cooperative pastor would have to be one who "more or less owns his church" because heavy pressure would be applied against him by the Press and local and federal governments. WALKER then observed draft card burnings and similar demonstrations had made little headway among the poor Negro because he believes his only escape from poverty is in the service or in obtaining a job in a society made prosperous by war. Hence the poor Negro believes the war benefits him more than a peace time society. This has caused a vast disinterest in the peace movement on his part.

(SL T-2 November 8, 1967)

In discussing a meeting sponsored by a group known as "St. Louis Draft Resistance" held December 4, 1967 at Berea Presbyterian Church where youths turned in draft cards, WALKER complained about the few Negroes who attended and said he is somewhat at a loss to understand why Negro youths are afraid to sign pledges or turn in draft cards. WALKER's comment was made December 9, 1967.

(SL T-2 December 15, 1967)

A meeting of local CP leaders was held November 27, 1967 to discuss the organization of a St. Louis Chapter, Labor - Sane. WALKER conceded no success has been achieved thus far and he feels there must be organized effort to keep rank and file trade unionists from becoming involved in peace issues. WALKER suggested that a local chapter of Negro American Labor Council be reactivated as a preliminary step toward establishing a Labor - Sane group. A veteran CP member commented this is virtually impossible without the help of some prominent local Negro. No specific plans were formulated for a reactivation.

(SL T-3 December 21, 1967)

At a CP group meeting, November 18, 1967, WALKER announced he feels it is urgent for a key CP member to work closely with CHARLES TERRELL and his youth group; that TERRELL needs help with these young Negro males and has specifically asked for assistance. A veteran CP member was designated to serve in this capacity. MO.

(SL T-3 November 28, 1967)

CHARLES TERRELL is a Negro leader of a local group of Negro hoodlums and dropouts known as the Krummahs. He and his gang have been wooed by both the CP and Black Power advocates in St. Louis during recent months. TERRELL attended a CP Marxist school held during September, 1967 in St. Louis. MO.

(SL T-3 November 30, 1967)

B. Socialist Workers Party (SWP)

The St. Louis Branch SWP and the SWP are characterized in the attached appendix.

At a meeting of the St. Louis Branch SWP, October 9, 1967, RICHARD H. CLARKE, Organizer of the Branch, stated he has been in contact with PERCY GREEN, Chairman of ACTION. CLARKE asserted he joined GREEN and other members of ACTION when picketing Kiel Auditorium in downtown St. Louis during the recent Veiled Prophet Ball. This social event is held annually and participants are all white and members of the upper strata of St. Louis society. GREEN and his group protested the spending of large sums of money for the event which could better be channeled to the poor and he also protested the fact that no Negroes participated.

At this meeting of the St. Louis Branch SWP, CLARKE commented that he has "become closer with GREEN", and the latter has indicated a willingness to work with him on various projects. CLARKE did not enumerate them, except to comment that he hoped to organize a "Young Socialists for Halstead and Boutelle Committee" with PERCY GREEN participating.

MD FRED HALSTEAD and PAUL BOUTELLE are SWP candidates for President and Vice President of the United States respectively.

ACTION consists of individuals, primarily Negroes, who split off from the Committee on Racial Equality (CORE) in St. Louis because they did not feel that organization sufficiently militant.

(SL T-4 October 10, 1967)

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

b6
b7C

A. Communist Party

A meeting of local CP leaders was held November 25, 1967 at which HERSHEL J. WALKER expressed disappointment that CHARLES TERRELL, whom he had invited and who promised to come, failed to appear. After a short meeting WALKER and other key CP leaders went to his residence at [redacted] TERRELL and four young Negro males were there and TERRELL announced that some of the young men wanted to tell WALKER how they felt about the war in Vietnam. None of the young men were identified other than by first names. One young man stated that Negroes are being used to fight a white man's war while they are still slaves in the United States. In response to a question by WALKER he stated he is registered for the draft. WALKER asked him if he would be willing to turn in his draft card and was given a non-committal answer. WALKER pursued the matter no further. Another young Negro male said he feels Negroes should stay out of the Army and use whatever means possible to do so. Still another young Negro advised he opposes the war in Vietnam because he feels it does not help the Negroes. He declared money is wasted on fighting the war which could be used to build homes and give people jobs. WALKER asked him if he would be willing to turn in his draft card and was given an affirmative answer. WALKER again did not pursue the matter. There was then a discussion as to whether the Negro in the United States can "win complete freedom" without the aid and support of white America. Two of the young Negroes stated they felt the Negroes must accomplish this alone using any means possible while the other two felt they must have the help of whites.

HORACE ~~MC~~ GILL described as a Negro college student, MO who has asserted he was at one time a Black Muslim and is now a student of Marxism, then entered the room and participated in the discussion. He argued that Negroes cannot trust white people because they are liars and cheats. WALKER protested mildly saying that these are strong words and one can find Negroes who also lie, cheat and steal from one another.

(SL T-3 November 30, 1967)

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

In 1967 only 2 CP members were active in the St. Louis Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). They have exercised no control. Most CP members in St. Louis are also NAACP members but do not attend the meetings or participate otherwise in the organization.

SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY
ST. LOUIS BRANCH

In October, 1960, a source advised that the St. Louis Branch of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) was organized in 1938 and has functioned continuously since that time as an affiliate of the National SWP. Its aims and purposes are the same as the National SWP.

In May, 1967, another source stated that the St. Louis Branch SWP is still functioning as an affiliate of the National SWP.

The SWP has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

OUTLINE FOR CLUB DISCUSSION

on

"BLACK POWER AND LIBERATION: A Communist View"
by Claude Lightfoot

The club leadership should arrange that the pamphlet be purchased by every member in advance of the scheduled discussion. Every member should study the pamphlet and come prepared to answer the questions, participate in the discussion, raise points that need clarification, etc. For a fruitful discussion, it is essential that the participants relate their own experiences.

From the very beginning of the discussion, attention should be focused on the basic and most important points which in their totality encompass the Communist view on Black Power and Liberation so that the whole of the program of the Party is understood. For this we suggest the reading of the following paragraph as an introduction to the opening session:

> "Comrade Lightfoot speaks of the unprecedented problems this nation of ours faces today; the growth of fascist danger, the germs of disunity when unity is the most urgent question, the need for a radical change, etc., to understand the reason for the growing crisis. The pamphlet poses six basic questions. These are: 1) the character of the present period; 2) what is new in racism; 3) the nature of the present wave of black nationalism; 4) the methods of struggle required for today; 5) an estimate of the Communist Party's position on the Negro question in the last nine years in the light of today's requirements and tasks; 6) what the vanguard role of the Party is in the circumstances of today."

The reading of this paragraph should be repeated at the opening of every session so that the participants see the interconnection of the above six questions even though the discussion will proceed on each question presented in this outline. The club should decide on the number of sessions to be devoted to the discussion.

Question I.

It is said that the present moment can be characterized as one charged with great economic, political and social turbulence.

a) Give examples of this turublence and show the various strata of the American people involved in it.

b) What is the significance of the merging efforts by the peace and civil rights forces? (Pp. 3-7)

Question II.

The pamphlet points to the danger of growing clashes and cleavages between forces that have much in common:

a) What are these clashes and clevages?

b) Discuss the racist counter-offensive and its causes, the serious weaknesses in the labor movement which are an obstacle to black-white unity. What is your experience in this and how are you fighting to overcome racism? (Pp. 8-15)

Question III.

Is it true that racism is a major contributor to moods of black nationalism? What is the main content of nationalism today and its new features as compared with the previous period? Discuss the progressive and reactionary aspects of nationalism and the Party's position in relation to it. Be concrete in your examples. (Pp. 8-25)

Question IV..

What is the Party's estimate with regard to violent actions in the black ghettos by black people? What are the main problems to be solved in Negro and Puerto Rican communities, and what is the role of the white Communists? (Pp. 26-31)

Question V

Comrade Lightfoot says that the illumination of our tasks requires a review of our work in the last 10 years.

a) Is it true that during this period we had a wrong line on the Negro question?

b) What is the meaning of: "The Negro question is a national question"?

c) Did our policy on this question manifest weaknesses and failures? Explain and prove your points. (Pp. 32-36)

Question VI.

What is the Party's view on integration and black power? Who is the main enemy of the black people and of the American working people? (Pp. 37-40)

Question VII.

Explain the meaning and the application of the Party's policy of black-white unity based on equality. What are your experiences? (pp. 41-43)

Question VIII.

The Party stresses the question of our work among the white workers in the unions and white communities to promote black-white unity based on self-interest. Explain this fully and give your experience.

Question IX.

How do we go about introducing a class content into the present wave of black nationalism, and what are the tasks of the white and black Communists? Be concrete. (Pp 29-32)

Question X.

How are we to build the Party among the Negro people, especially the young militant Negroes? Are there any obstacles that hinder this? Discuss fully and concretely and state how you and the club propose to do it. (Pp. 44-46)

ENCLOSURE

MEMORANDUM

on

NEGRO HISTORY MONTH

February 1968

Issued by National Education Department, CPUSA

Introduction

In 1926 the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, headed by the eminent scholar Dr. Carter G. Woodson, initiated the observance in the month of February of Negro History Week. This year it will be celebrated from February 11 through February 17. Over the years, Negro History Week has become an important American institution and a highlight in the struggle for Negro freedom. And with this the practice has grown of extending the observance to the entire month of February as Negro History Month.

In past years the Communist Party has been in the forefront of the fight to secure the widest and most meaningful celebration of Negro History Week and Negro History Month. A notable case in point was the initiative of Benjamin J. Davis during the years 1943-1949 in which he served as a Communist member of the New York City Council. Each year the Council adopted a resolution introduced by Comrade Davis, requesting the Mayor to proclaim Negro History Week officially and call for its proper observance. The following is the text of the resolution adopted in 1949:

RESOLUTION

on

REQUESTING MAYOR TO PROCLAIM WEEK OF FEBRUARY 6th TO 15th AS NEGRO HISTORY WEEK, AND TO CALL UPON SCHOOLS, LIBRARIES AND OTHER INSTITUTIONS TO EFFECT PROPER OBSERVANCE THEREOF.

January 11, 1949

By Mr. Davis -

WHEREAS, The week of February 6th through 13th has been designated as Negro History Week by the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, and

WHEREAS, Negro History Week has been officially observed annually throughout the nation since 1926 as a recognition of the many outstanding contributions made by Negro Americans to the cultural, scientific, educational, political and industrial life of the nation, and

WHEREAS, It is especially significant, in the present state of world affairs, that the commendable role played by Negro Americans in the historic and democratic struggles of our country during war and peace be widely observed to help strengthen the unity of the American people in their demands for continued and lasting world peace, and

WHEREAS, Observance of Negro History Week at this time will provide further opportunity to dedicate ourselves to the elimination of certain prejudices and discriminatory practices in our country which serve to limit the fullest participation of Negro Americans and other minority groups in the economic, political, cultural and social life of America, thereby endangering the peace of the world,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT

RESOLVED, That the Council of the City of New York requests the Mayor to officially proclaim the week of February 6th through February 13th as Negro History Week in the City of New York, and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Council of the City of New York requests the Mayor to call upon the schools, libraries and other public bodies and institutions to conduct proper observances of Negro History Week through such means as class-room lectures, displays, celebrations or other public functions.

ADOPTED - January 11, 1949.

Tasks for 1968

Recent years have witnessed great advances in the struggle for national liberation, particularly in Africa. And in this country they have witnessed a tremendous upsurge of the struggle for Negro liberation. In the light of these developments the celebration of Negro History Month and its utilization as an instrument in the struggle takes on greater significance than ever before, especially in the fight to involve white Americans.

February 1968 should become the occasion to promote observance of Negro History Month by schools and churches, by trade unions and other organizations. It should become the occasion for the organization of lectures, displays, affairs and other activities in all communities. All Party organizations should give serious attention to the stimulation of the widest variety of public activities.

Within the Party, discussions should be organized in club meetings and other gatherings on Negro history and on the Negro freedom struggle today. Special attention should be given to the following:

1. Study and discussion of Claude Lightfoot's report to the National Party Conference of October 14-15: Black Power and Liberation. A question outline for such study and discussion accompanies this memorandum. These should include discussions devoted especially to the fight against racism as an alien ideology and on the development of struggle among white Americans.

2. Study and discussion of the February issue of Political Affairs, a special 96-page issue devoted entirely to additional material from the Party Conference and to other articles on Negro history and Negro liberation.

3. Plans for the widest distribution of both the Lightfoot report and the February Political Affairs. Also, plans for the distribution of the newly-published Autobiography of W.E.B. Du Bois.

4. Public forums during February to be devoted to the subject of Black Power and Negro Liberation.

5. Organization of city-wide or district-wide ideological conferences on Negro liberation.

6. Exhibits on the role of the Communist Party in the Negro liberation struggle in progressive bookshops and other suitable locations.

DETAILS:

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

No information has been developed.

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

The Communist Party (CP) of Utah received from the CP, USA National Headquarters, New York City, New York, a three-page mimeographed article entitled "Proposals On Long, Hot Summer and Beyond." This is described as a background document used in the June, 1967, National Committee Meeting held in New York City and calls for immediate mass action by the CP against a conspiracy to provoke and slaughter Negroes in Ghettos during the Summer of 1967. It includes an outline of an emergency program, including demand for jobs, housing, prosecution of the police and National Guard in certain instances and other measures.

The above item was received by the CP of Utah through its cover address, P.O. Box 2485, Salt Lake City, Utah, 84110.

(SU T-1, 11/15/67)

The following items were addressed to P.O. Box 2485, Salt Lake City, Utah:

(1) A letter dated November 13, 1967, addressed to "All Districts" from the National Organization Department. The letter states that material is being furnished from the conference on "New Stages in the Struggle for Negro Freedom."

(2) A two-page summary of proposals entitled "Conference on Strategy and Tactics in the New Stages of Struggle for Negro Liberation (10/14-15/67)--Report of Panel on Work in the White Community (approved by the conference)." This outlines briefly the problem and sets out measures that can be taken to meet the problem.

(3) A four-page article entitled "The Afro-American in the Arts Today," which deals with the contribution of Negroes to the arts. The article includes suggestions for improving the status of Negroes in the arts.

(SU T-2, 11/21/67)

The CP of Utah, in the latter part of October, 1967, received the previously-listed three items through the mails from the CP, USA National Headquarters. These were received through P.O. Box 2485, Salt Lake City, Utah.

(SU T-1, 11/29/67)

None of the items received by the CP of Utah from CP, USA National Headquarters pertaining to Negro matters have been utilized by the CP of Utah through implementation of any type. In most instances only a few key members of the CP of Utah have read these items.

(SU T-1, 1/24/68)

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

On October 27, 1967, the Utah Council for Constitutional Liberties (UCCL) held a meeting in Salt Lake City. During the meeting it was stated that representatives of various organizations would be asked to attend a meeting of the Utah Coordinating Committee for New Politics (UCCNP). One of those present who was a member of the Salt Lake City Branch of the NAACP, was asked to seek to get the NAACP to participate in the UCCNP.

(SU T-3, 10/30/67)

The Communist Party of Utah considers the Utah Coordinating Committee For Political and Social Action, also known as Utah Coordinating Committee For Political Action, Utah Coordinating Committee For New Politics, as part of the new left in Utah. The CP of Utah was trying to make this into a workable organization for coodrinating new left activities in Utah.

(SU T-1, 11/15/67)

A characterization of UCCL is contained in the appendix hereto.

Reverend PALMER S. ROSS, [redacted] is now the President of the Salt Lake City Branch of the National Association For The Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). He is the pastor of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, 241 East Sixth South, Salt Lake City.

There have been no instances during the past three months when the question of communist infiltration has come before the board of the Salt Lake City NAACP. ROSS has, however, on one occasion stated to the board that association with groups or persons who could be friendly to communism should be avoided. He has no reason to believe that any present members of the Branch are also members of the CP.

ROSS is personally opposed to the use of demonstrations for achieving civil rights ends. He feels that civil rights problems can better be solved in conferences with people of influence and by membership and participation in groups interested in furthering civil rights for all people. He recognizes that in Utah there is the special problem of the attitude of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) toward the Negro, since a Negro may become a member of that church but may not be considered for the church's priesthood, from which all church leadership is drawn. He considers that progress is being made in the field of open housing in Utah and is personally of the opinion that this may be better achieved by convincing the proper people of its rightness rather than through law. He has not definitely made up his mind on this, however.

Dr. ROSS doubts that there is any real danger of racial violence in Utah but tries to remain alert to possibilities of violence and hopes to avoid outside influences in the racial field. He feels that in the long run the best interests of Negroes are served by complete cooperation with law enforcement.

(Dr. PALMER S. ROSS, [redacted]
1/17/68)

There are currently approximately 390 paid-up members of the Salt Lake City Branch of the NAACP. Problems continue to exist for Negroes and other minorities with respect to open housing in Utah, but there appears to be some improvement in this situation in the recent past. The attitude of the Mormon Church toward Negroes continues to be a problem in Utah because of the fact that the Mormon Church is the dominant religious group. There is no indication that a solution of this problem exists.

The NAACP in Salt Lake City has held no demonstrations during the past three months nor does it plan any at the present time.

Reverend PALMER S. ROSS of the African Methodist Episcopal Church is now the President of the NAACP. He appears to be the type of person who will prefer to operate by means of speeches before various groups and personal contacts with people of influence, rather than through demonstrations, in the solving of civil rights problems. He, on one occasion, mentioned to the Board of Directors of the NAACP that Negroes should eschew any contact with persons who could be associated with communism.

There are no suspected members of the CP who are considered to be in a position to materially influence the NAACP in its policies. Included among the recently current members of the NAACP is the following:

ETHEL C. HALE, [redacted] membership expires December 31, 1967. b6 b7C

(SU T-3, 1/16/68)

ETHEL C. HALE was formerly a member of the CP of Utah. She became inactive for personal reasons and as of December, 1967, was no longer considered a member of the CP of Utah.

(SU T-1, 12/20/67.)

UTAH COUNCIL FOR CONSTITUTIONAL LIBERTIES

FREDRICK LEE HEUSER, Sandy, Utah, in May, 1955, stated he was associated with the Communist Party (CP) of Utah as a member and leader from 1948 to April, 1955. In April, 1955, HEUSER reported the Utah Council For Constitutional Liberties (UCCL) was organized at the specific instructions of the Rocky Mountain Regional leaders of the CP for the purpose of fighting Smith Act prosecutions. HEUSER stated that WAYNE HOLLEY, Utah State Chairman of the CP, organized the UCCL in April, 1955. HEUSER also reported that the majority of officers and members of the UCCL are known to him as being members of the CP, State of Utah.

A source, who is affiliated with the UCCL, in July, 1963, reported that the UCCL continues to support programs of the CP and other organizations which have been designated as subversive by the Attorney General of the United States, and some members of the UCCL are known members of the CP of Utah.

A second source advised in May, 1967, that UCCL continues to promote programs of the CP.

One of the Executive Board members mentioned that he had attended a meeting of "left youth", which was comprised of individuals from both the Mexican and Negro communities, in order to set up a plan for joining the Mexican and Negro communities.

"Harambee", self-described as a bi-weekly newspaper published by the Black Congress, stated in its November 17, 1967 issue, "the Black Congress is a coalition of community organizations whose primary objective is to liberate black people from the shackles of racist oppression. This coalition includes groups of many and varied political persuasions."

A meeting of the San Fernando Valley Section, SCDCP, was held November 17, 1967, at 12220 De Houghne Street, North Hollywood, California. At this meeting, it was mentioned that Negro-White unity was needed for social progress and should be placed on the top of every CP agenda.

On October 10, 1967, BEN DOBBS, Executive Secretary, SCDCP, stated that the CP is interested in infiltrating Black race organizations.

THE NEW LEFT SCHOOL OF LOS ANGELES

In October, 1965, a source advised "The New Left School of Los Angeles" originated in the Education Commission of the Southern California District, Communist Party. DAN BESSIE originated the idea and more or less organized the school. As of October, 1965, approximately 100 persons were enrolled in the school. A second source advised in September, 1965, JOHN RICHARD HAAG was present as chairman of a meeting of the Los Angeles Area Council, Du Bois Clubs of America, at 1733 West Temple Street, Los Angeles. At this meeting he stated he was not a member of the Communist Party (CP) because if he joined, his wife, ANNA, who is not a citizen, could be deported. He also stated if he became a member, he would lose effectiveness in the community because many people look up to him as an independent radical. He stated he would join the CP if it were legal, and not under pressure by the Government.

In May, 1965, a third source advised that EDMOND KOVACS, commonly known as Theodore Edwards, had been voted approval by the Los Angeles Local - Socialist Workers Party (LAL-SWP) to associate himself with "The New Left School of Los Angeles" as a representative of the Socialist Workers Party.

This source further advised in September, 1965, that EDMOND ANTHONY KOVACS, commonly known as Theodore Edwards, was the organizer of the Los Angeles Local - Socialist Workers Party (LAL-SWP), and alternate member of the National Committee, SWP.

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

A. Communist Party, USA (CP)

1. Plans, strategy, Party line, and the like made at national meetings, including expressions by national and other functionaries.

DE T-1 advised on October 16, 1967, that a meeting of the National Negro Commission of the CP was held on October 14 and October 15, 1967, at the Hotel Victoria Abbey, New York City, New York. THOMAS DENNIS, who was in attendance at this meeting, stated that there is a move among Detroit teachers which developed during the Detroit teacher's strike toward class consciousness and that these teachers are talking about a revolution. He stated that these teachers are white as well as black and that we, the CP, must not have any conservatism in our Party and not allow the Negro to isolate themselves from the whites as the whites fight for Negro rights.

DE T-2 advised on December 6, 1966, that THOMAS DE WITT DENNIS, JR., was currently Chairman of the Michigan District CP (MDCP), a member of the MDCP Executive Committee, State Board, State Committee, Negro Commission, and Chairman of the MDCP Community Relations Commission.

2. Plans, strategy, Party line, and the like made at district and lower level meetings, including expressions by local leaders and rank and file members.

DE T-2 advised on November 3, 1967, that a meeting of the State Board of the MDCP was held on October 30, 1967, at Detroit, Michigan. THOMAS DENNIS, who was one of the speakers at this meeting, discussed the Negro freedom struggle in the United States and the oppression of the Negro people in the United States. DENNIS during his talk indicated that the Jews were anti-Negro and defended the riots which occurred throughout the United States during the summer of 1967. DENNIS stated that the Negro is fully justified when he riots and that a lot can be gained by the Negro from rioting.

DENNIS discussed the growth of Black Nationalsim among the Negro people and predicted that additional rioting would occur throughout the United States in the near future.

DE T-1 advised on November 3, 1967, that a meeting of the State Committee of the MDCP was held on October 24, 1967, at Detroit, Michigan. At this meeting CONRAD KOMOROWSKI gave a report of the racial situation and indicated that the Party must continue its efforts to combat racism in the white communities surrounding Detroit. He indicated that the Party must fight for the Negro community in the forthcoming City elections and furnish financial support to Black Nationalists such as RAP BROWN in order to assist them in obtaining bail and for legal representation.

DE T-1 advised on March 21, 1966, that CONRAD KOMOROWSKI was a member of the Polish-Bulgarian-Romanian Club, MDCP.

DE T-2 on January 12, 1968, advised that a State Board meeting of the MDCP was held on January 3, 1968, at Detroit, Michigan. Prior to the commencement of the meeting THOMAS DENNIS and another of the State Board of the MDCP in attendance, were discussing the racial situation in Detroit. They indicated that the CP would demand that all police cars in Detroit outside of the Negro community be integrated and that police cars in the Negro community contain all black officers. DENNIS indicated that the Negro community is angrier now than ever and are just waiting for the warmer weather to really start something.

DE T-2 on December 19, 1967, advised that a meeting of the State Board of the MDCP was held on November 29, 1967, at 19775 Sussex, Detroit, Michigan.

The principal point of discussion at this meeting was the open housing legislation currently pending in the Michigan Legislature concerning which THOMAS DENNIS indicated that the CP must do all in its power to have the open housing legislation passed by the Michigan Legislature.

A discussion on Black Power was also held at this meeting and it was indicated that a Negro Mayor must be elected in Detroit and that additional Negroes from the Detroit area must be elected to the United States House of Representatives.

B. Socialist Workers Party (SWP)

DE T-5 advised on January 14, 1968, that the local leadership of the Detroit Chapter of the SWP and of the SWP youth affiliate, the Young Socialist Alliance, Detroit continues to concentrate their activities in "The Vietnam Issue" as well as the solicitation of signatures to

Subject: ORANGEBURG, SOUTH CAROLINA

A Party Statement on the racist atrocities in Orangeburg, South Carolina is being made available to you. There is the necessity of organizing the broadest possible protests that show the anger and anguish of all decent people at this Klux-type massacre. It is especially important that white people in the labor movement and elsewhere speak out. Several such protest demonstrations have been organized in New York.

Among the demands that should be directed to Governor Robert E. McNair, Columbia, South Carolina are:

IMMEDIATE WITHDRAWAL OF THE NATIONAL GUARD.

INDEMNITY TO FAMILIES.

PUNISH THE PERPETRATORS AS MURDERERS.

END ALL FORMS OF SEGREGATION IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

We would like to know what steps you have taken and what reaction takes place.

STATEMENT ON THE ORANGEBURG MASSACRE

By Henry Winston, National Chairman and

Gus Hall, General Secretary, of the Communist Party, U.S.A.

The wanton murder of three Negro students, the wounding of 37 more by the National Guard, and the clubbing and jailing of scores of other unarmed students by the Orangeburg police arouses the anger of all Americans. This is the Ku Klux Klan home-front expression of that policy which also orders the brutal destruction of the people and cities of Vietnam. This is a further example of murder and genocide as a foreign and domestic racist policy.

The governor of South Carolina is brazenly guilty of racist rule. He establishes the garrison state and lynch terror to cover up the Orangeburg massacre. He is criminally guilty.

All Americans must protest and demand that these shocking criminal acts against the Negro students in Orangeburg be halted and that the families of the victims be fully compensated; the criminal police, guardsmen and responsible public officials must be arrested and prosecuted; the National Guard must be removed, and freedom and constitutional rights, including complete desegregation, must be established in that city and state.

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL MATTERS

A. Southern Christian Leadership Conference

As of February 15, 1968, Headquarters of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) continued to be located at 334 Auburn Avenue, N. E., Atlanta, Georgia.

(AT T-1, 2/68)

As of February 15, 1968, Reverend MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR., continued to serve as President of SCLC.

(AT T-1, 2/68)

SCLC held a retreat September 12, 1967, through September 17, 1967, at the Airlie House, Warrenton, Virginia. In addition to Reverend KING and the SCLC staff, the following individuals were present: RANDOLPH T. BLACKWELL, former Program Director, SCLC; STANLEY LEVISON; and HARRY WACHTEL. LAWRENCE D. REDDICK participated on September 13, 1967.

(AT T-2, 9/67)

On September 13, 1967, REDDICK criticized Reverend KING and SCLC for not having become more closely associated with "ghetto people." He also said he felt SCLC was losing considerable influence in the Civil Rights field. REDDICK said that a number of people who formerly lent appreciable assistance to SCLC no longer did so and cited as an example the fact BAYARD RUSTIN was not present at this retreat.

(AT T-2, 9/67)

Reverend KING informed REDDICK on September 13, 1967, he did not believe his criticism was entirely correct. He declared he and SCLC in many instances had been very close to the people concerned with the problems in various ghetto areas. Reverend KING acknowledged, however, that for some time he had found it difficult to enlist the cooperation of BAYARD RUSTIN. On more than one occasion, he said RUSTIN had agreed to accept certain responsibilities (not specified) and then failed to keep his word.

(AT T-2, 9/67)

At the above-mentioned retreat, HOSEA WILLIAMS, Director of Voter Registration and Political Education, SCLC, chaired a committee, the purpose of which was to determine what activity SCLC should undertake in Atlanta, Ga. RANDOLPH T. BLACKWELL served as a member of this committee. The committee recognized that the Negro's basic problems in Atlanta are police brutality, inadequate school facilities, and housing. It recommended that a program of civil disobedience be instituted if appropriate and adequate attention to these problems was not shortly given by the City of Atlanta administration.

(AT T-3, 9/67)

In response to the committee's recommendation, Reverend KING expressed agreement. He pointed out, however, that SCLC could not indulge in activity in Atlanta to any extent until he was able to devote his full energies to such activity. This, he said, he could not do immediately because he would be involved in a series of SCLC benefit programs in which HARRY BELAFONTE would participate.

(AT T-3, 9/67)

During the course of the aforementioned SCLC retreat considerable discussion took place regarding various aspects of SCLC finances in which STANELY LEVISON and HARRY WACHTEL took an active part. It was decided that during the forthcoming year concerted effort would be made by SCLC to raise approximately one and one-half million dollars in income. This amount of money would be realized from (1) the SCLC mail appeal program handled by the New York City Office of SCLC under the general supervision of STANLEY LEVISON; (2) benefit programs by HARRY BELAFONTE and other noted entertainers; (3) continuing contributions from existing wealthy donors; (4) contributions from Negroes.

With reference to contributions from Negroes, Reverend KING observed this represented a potential for income which SCLC had not previously pursued.

(AT T-1, 9/67)

Another matter afforded serious consideration during this SCLC retreat was the urgent need of all minority people in the United States for jobs or income. It was decided that if by the Spring of 1968 Congress had not enacted appropriate legislation to provide jobs or income a march on Washington, D. C., would be organized and coordinated by SCLC. Should this march fail to induce Congress to take action then a program of massive civil disobedience would be conducted in several major cities (not identified) simultaneously.

(AT T-1, 9/67)

As of the latter part of September 1967 CAROL HOOVER, Special Fund-Raising Officer, SCLC, was assigned by SCLC to making necessary arrangements for a series of SCLC benefit programs to be held in various cities featuring HARRY BELAFONTE.

(AT T-2, 9/67)

On October 4, 1967, the New York City Office of SCLC had completed preparation of a new mailing in connection with the SCLC mail appeal program.

(AT T-3, 10/67)

ADELE KANTER, in charge SCLC New York City Office, during early October 1967 furnished information to the SCLC Finance Department that the recently complete mailing for the SCLC Mail Appeal Program involved expenses amounting to approximately 7,000 dollars.

(AT T-2, 10/67)

On October 2, 1967, Reverend KING requested HARRY WACHTEL to furnish SCLC with $5,000 from funds of the American Foundation on Nonviolence (AFN) in order to meet expenses incurred by SCLC to the Airlie House, Warrenton, Virginia, for the recent SCLC retreat held there.

(AT T-1, 10/67)

AFN is a tax arm of SCLC of which HARRY WACHTEL serves as Executive Director.

(AT T-1, 10/67)

The October 9, 1967, edition of the "Atlanta Journal" daily Atlanta newspaper, carried an article on page one datelined Washington captioned "Butts Wins Appeal In $460,000 Suit".

This article, in part, revealed that the United States Supreme Court on October 9, 1967, had "refused to re-examine the contempt of court convictions of the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and several other Negro ministers who led desegregation demonstrations in Birmingham in 1963".

Upon learning of the refusal of the United States Supreme Court Reverend KING mentioned to several officers of SCLC that undoubtedly he would be expected to make some comment to the news media regarding this matter. He said he would seek the opinion of HARRY WACHTEL as to what he should say in a statement to the news media.

(AT T-2, 10/67)

In early October 1967 SCLC transferred CAROL HOOVER to the Southern Christian Leadership Foundation (SCLF). For all practical purposes, HOOVER would continue to work as a fund-raising officer but would be directly responsible to SCLF and receive her salary from that organization.

(AT T-3, 10/67)

SCLF is a tax arm of SCLC located in Chicago, Illinois, and operating under the general supervision of CHAUNCEY ESKRIDGE, SCLC Legal Counselor. It was organized during 1965 as a result of efforts by ESKRIDGE and STANLEY LEVISON.

(AT T-3, 11/67)

During the week commencing November 27, 1967, SCLC held a retreat at Penn Center, Frogmore, South Carolina. This retreat was held for the purpose of discussing various facets of SCLC's plan to conduct massive nonviolent demonstrations in Washington, D. C., and other cities during the early part of 1968 subsequently referred to as the Washington Spring Project (WSP). This retreat was presided over by Reverend KING and attended by approximately 70 individuals composing the headquarters and field staff of SCLC. Present at this retreat was RANDOLPH T. BLACKWELL and on November 30, 1967, JAMES BEVEL attended.

(AT T-2, 12/67)

RANDOLPH T. BLACKWELL during this retreat lectured regarding certain phases of economics as related to the problems of impoverished Negroes. On November 30, 1967, JAMES BEVEL spoke at considerable length in opposition to Reverend KING's plan for demonstrations in Washington, D. C., and other cities based upon the need of ghetto Negroes for jobs or income. BEVEL alleged emphasis should instead be placed on demonstrations supporting the Peace Movement and seeking an end to the Viet Nam War.

(AT T-2, 12/67)

On January 4, 1968, Reverend KING, HOSEA WILLIAMS, and several other officers of SCLC met in Atlanta with STANLEY LEVISON for the purpose of discussing strategy related to SCLC's WSP.

(AT T-1, 1/68)

In early January 1968 STANLEY LEVISON requested that SCLC furnish him a condensed form of SCLC's current financial report. LEVISON explained he wished to enclose copies of this report with solicitations sent out by SCLC Mail Appeal Program in view of the fact donors frequently inquire as to the amount and nature of SCLC expenses.

(AT T-2, 1/68)

SCLC held a retreat January 15, 1968, through January 17, 1968, in Atlanta concerning the WSP. During this retreat an officer of SCLC inquired of Reverend KING what position the organization would take if effort was made to "run" the demonstrators out of Washington, D. C. This question was immediately answered by HOSEA WILLIAMS who stated to the effect SCLC would simply not entertain the thought of being "run out". WILLIAMS declared SCLC would stay in Washington, D. C., "no matter what".

(AT T-2, 1/68)

During this retreat, Reverend KING lectured several times concerning the overall purpose of SCLC's WSP. He pointed out this project would be predicated upon the issue of jobs or income for ghetto Negroes and impoverished people of all races in the United States. He emphasized, however, this would not solve all the problems experienced by Negroes, particularly those regarding inequality and, therefore, the Civil Rights Movement as a whole will have many things to achieve as time goes by.

Reverend KING declared that the many problems of the Negro and other poor people will not be solved under a capitalistic system. Capitalism, he said, has no remedy for the poor. The ultimate aim of all aggrieved people in the United States can only be to accomplish a change in the existing capitalistic economy and government. Reverend KING suggested this change might be to "some form of socialistic government". He did not discuss in any detail how or when the change he referred to might be accomplished.

(AT T-2, 1/68)

As of the middle of January 1968 SCLC had decided that during the interim period until the end of March 1968 Reverend KING, JAMES BEVEL, and HOSEA WILLIAMS would visit most of the cities to be involved in SCLC's WSP. The purpose of these visits will be to offer such assistance as may be desired by SCLC field representatives previously dispatched to these cities to recruit demonstrators for the WSP and to maintain interest in and enthusiasm for this project.

(AT T-2, 1/68)

As of the early part of February 1968, Reverend KING informed officers of SCLC that HOSEA WILLIAMS would serve as "Field Director" of demonstrations to be conducted in Washington, D. C., as part of the WSP and also would have general supervision of all SCLC personnel connected with the WSP.

(AT T-3, 2/68)

On February 6 and 7, 1968, a meeting of the SCLC Executive Board was held at the Church of the Redeemer, 15th and Girard Streets, N. E., Washington, D. C. At this meeting the heads of various SCLC departments presented a report to the board. THOMAS OFFENBURGER, Director, Department of Information, SCLC, in his report expressed appredication for the assistance rendered by STANLEY LEVISON to SCLC. He referred to LEVISON as "one of the most devoted supporters and advisors of SCLC...".

IV. CHARACTERIZATIONS

A. Individuals

HARRY BELAFONTE

As of October 28, 1958, according to JEAN SMITH, Secretary at Communist Party Headquarters, New York, HARRY BELAFONTE had been a member of the Young Communist League (YCL) before coming into prominence as an entertainer.

(AT T-6, 10/58)

The YCL has been designated by the U. S. Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

JAMES BEVEL

BEVEL, in early March, 1966 was observed to be present at the officers of the West Side W.E.B. DuBois Club in Chicago (DCC). Discussion took place at this time centering around reaction to a recent notification that the Attorney General of the United States intended to label the DuBois Clubs as a Communist front. BEVEL, in conversation, stated that he would have ignored this notification, and kept about the work in which he was engaged. He felt that if the DuBois Clubs have a real program of help for the people, then people would answer for the clubs despite any labels applied to them.

Most present agreed that the attack on the DuBois Clubs was a part of the plan by the "establishment" to undermine the civil rights movement. They felt that the recent hearings into Klan activities in this country was only a beginning which would lead to a full attack on the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), the real target. One of those present stated during the course of this discussion that he was not a Communist, and to this BEVEL was overheard to reply that every thinking American should be. He stated that Negroes have not begun to read yet, but when they do, they will all be socialists.

(AT T-7, 3/66)

On August 22, 1964, CAROL HOOVER of SCLC, Atlanta, Georgia, told STANLEY LEVISON she was glad to have seen him at a party the previous Wednesday, according to a confidential source.

She also asked LEVISON for a financial contribution to the campaign fund of DONALD L. HOLLOWELL who was running for Judge of the Superior Court, Atlanta, Georgia.

LEVISON advised HOOVER that in response to her request he had contributed $50.

(AT T-11, 8/64)

(AT T-6, 2/62)

STANLEY LEVISON

STANLEY LEVISON was a secret member of the Communist Party (CP), USA, in July 1963. In late 1963, and early 1964, he criticized the CP for not being sufficiently militant in the civil rights struggle. LEVISON was described by certain CP leaders as being to the "left" of the CP in his position in civil rights. LEVISON's differences with the CP, however, are merely tactical and he continues his ideological adherence to Communism.

(AT T-6, 4/64)

AT 100-6670

HUNTER PITTS O'DELL

In July 1964, HUNTER PITTS O'DELL, also known as JACK P. O'DELL, was considered by the Communist Party, USA, as a member of its National Committee.

(AT T-6, 7/62)

HUNTER PITTS O'DELL told EDWINA SMITH December 27, 1963, he would not go back to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference on the same basis because he is now a "left person" and if they cannot accept him the way he is then they will have to forget about him.

(AT T-13, 12/63)

LAWRENCE DUNBAR REDDICK

LAWRENCE DUNBAR REDDICK is Professor of Social Sciences at Coppin State College, Baltimore, Maryland. He currently resides at 3704 Winterbourne Road, Baltimore, Maryland.

On September 17, 1943, source advised she had learned that DR. REDDICK, who was then Director of the Schomburg Library, 103 W. 135th Street, New York City, was one of the most important unpublicized members of the Communist Party (CP). She stated that REDDICK seemed to be a source of information in regard to socialism and communism in the United States and the Soviet Union.

(AT T-14, 9/43)

Source on March 23, 1951, said that he met LAWRENCE DUNBAR REDDICK in 1943, through EUGENE GORDON, a staff member of the "Daily Worker" and that both GORDON and BENJAMIN J. On February 5, and 11, 1954, LAWRENCE DUNBAR REDDICK was interviewed by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Atlanta, Georgia. He, at that time, stated that he was not, and had never been, a member of, or a sympathizer with, the Communist Party.

On January 21, 1964, source advised that on January 18, 1964, DR. LAWRENCE REDDICK visited with BENJAMIN J. DAVIS at the home of JACOB GREEN, State Chairman of the CP in Maryland. During conversation between REDDICK and DAVIS, it was mentioned that they had attended school together in Georgia, and REDDICK commented that if he had stayed with DAVIS, he would have also joined the CP.

(AT T-10, 1/64)

BAYARD RUSTIN

In "The Saturday Evening Post", issue of July 11 - 18, 1964, page 76, BAYARD RUSTIN is the subject of a feature article captioned: "The Lone Wolf of Civil Rights". In it, RUSTIN is said to have come to New York in 1938, as an organizer for the Young Communist League (YCL), and as such, he had the job of recruiting students for the "Party". On the latter contact, DAVIS told RUSTIN that he was working on his request and had contacted friends who had contacts with the group to which RUSTIN was to speak.

(AT T-17, 2/64)

HARRY WACHTEL

HARRY WACHTEL is the Executive Vice President of the Gandhi Society for Human Rights, 15 East 40th Street, New York, New York. He resides at 29 Split Rock Drive, King Point, Long Island, New York.

(AT T-18, 12/49)

On March 5, 1944, source furnished information which revealed that the name HARRY WACHTEL was on the list of names, significance not known, which was maintained at the Headquarters of the Kings County Communist Party at 26 Court Street, Brooklyn, New York.

RE: HENRY WINSTON, NATIONAL CHAIRMAN, CP, USA, ATTENDS COMMUNIST PARTY MEETINGS, BALTIMORE, MARYLAND, FEBRUARY 16 - 17, 1968

A confidential source on February 19, 1968, advised that the Baltimore Freedom of the Press Committee held a meeting February 16, 1968 at [redacted], the home of HENRY and REE GREENBERG who are known to the source as current Communist Party (CP) members.

b7C

A characterization of the Baltimore Freedom of the Press Committee is appended hereto.

About 30 persons attended the meeting. The following were identified by the source as current members of the CP:

HENRY WINSTON, National Chairman, CP, USA; GEORGE MEYERS, Labor Secretary, CP, USA; JACOB GREEN, Chairman of the CP of Maryland; BOB LEE, HOWARD SILVERBERG, MARY ROBERTS, AL BAKER, SAM SCHMERLER, DOROTHY GREEN, JOE HENDERSON, MARCUS MC BRIDE, PETE FORREST, FRED SAMUELSON, JULIA SAMUELS, HENRY GREENBERG, REE GREENBERG.

The meeting was opened by JACOB GREEN, Chairman of the Baltimore Freedom of the Press Committee as well as Chairman of the CP of Maryland at about 9 P.M. GREEN advised the group that "The Daily World," a new Marxist publication, would start publication May 1, 1968 and that the CP, USA was doing everything possible to make it a success.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

GREEN then introduced BOB LEE, who is a member of the New Era Book Shop, 408 Park Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland. LEE stated that the book shop would handle the new publication and would attempt to disseminate it widely.

A characterization of the New Era Book Shop is appended hereto.

GREEN then introduced the guest speaker, HENRY WINSTON. He told of WINSTON's long sssociation with the CP and described his conviction under the Smith Act as a Communist which resulted in a jail sentence.

WINSTON then told the group that there was a military-industrial complex in the United States which was controlling the country. He said this complex was controlled by an extreme right-wing and there was a serious threat that the complex might replace democracy in the United States with a form of facism. WINSTON said that the complex used racism in order to maintain a cheap supply of Negro labor in the United States. WINSTON called for a Negro-white unity to fight the complex. He called for an all out effort to withdraw United States troops from Vietnam. He urged the group to fight for a socialist United States.

WINSTON then called for an all out effort by the CP to set up a peace candidate in the national elections. He stated that The Daily World would play an important part in bringing peace and socialism to the United States.

At the urging of GREEN, a collection was taken up to support The Daily World. After the collection, it was announced that $158.00 had been taken up in cash and $60.00 in subscriptions.

Following a short question and answer period, the meeting was adjourned at about 11:20 P.M.

RE: HENRY WINSTON, NATIONAL CHAIRMAN, CP, USA, ATTENDS COMMUNIST PARTY MEETINGS, BALTIMORE, MARYLAND, FEBRUARY 16 - 17, 1968

The source further advised that the following day, February 17, 1968, there was a CP meeting held at [redacted], home of JACOB GREEN which included the following: b6 b7C

WILLIAM JOHNSON, Chairman of the CP of Washington, D. C. and JACOB GREEN, HENRY WINSTON and SAM SCHMERLER.

The meeting got underway at about 2:20 P.M. with GREEN stating that the meeting had been called to bring together Party leaders to discuss the 1968 elections.

SCHMERLER then spoke as Chairman of the Political Action Committee of the CP of Maryland. He was pessimestic about the possibility of starting a third party in Maryland which would support the ending of the Vietnam War.

During the discussion that followed, WINSTON stated that the CP, USA wanted third party peace candidates backed in every state of the United States and he requested the CP of Maryland to make every effort to set up a third party which would stand for peace.

They then discussed the New Era Book Shop. WINSTON criticized the book shop for failing to bring young people into the CP, for failing to make proper contacts on local college campuses and also criticized it because there was no forum set up by the book shop which would help to bring young people on college campuses in active contact with progressive ideas.

The meeting ended at about 5:20 P.M. with GREEN assuring WINSTON that every effort would be made to set up a third party peace movement in Maryland.

BALTIMORE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS COMMITTEE

On May 10, 1956, a source stated the Baltimore Freedom of the Press Committee (FOPC) was first known to exist in December, 1949. It was reactivated by Maryland Communist Party leaders during the early part of 1952 to support "The Worker" and the "Daily Worker," East Coast communist newspapers published at that time. Since then the "Daily Worker" suspended publication on January 13, 1958.

On November 29, 1958, a second source said an announcement was made on November 17, 1958, by a member of the CP District Board of Maryland - D. C. District that the Baltimore Freedom of the Press Committee would no longer function as a separate committee. He said the CP would establish a new CP club consisting of a representative from all CP clubs in Baltimore to support and distribute "The Worker."

On February 9, 1959, a third source said that the same CP District Board member from the Maryland - D. C. District stated on February 4, 1959, that the name of the Freedom of the Press Committee would be retained by the CP. While the previous Committee had some members who were not members of the CP, the present Committee was a CP committee and would take its orders directly from the CP. On May 26, 1960, this source advised that this Committee was a part of the Communist Party and on May 22, 1967, he reported the Committee was still in existence.

COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN RACIAL MATTERS

Copies of this memorandum have been furnished local intelligence agencies of the Army, Navy, and Air Force.

According to a reliable source, within the past two days ROSCOE PROCTOR, a Negro, and publicly admitted member of the Communist Party (CP) National Committee, has met with CP and Marxist youth to explain how "white radical youth" can organize to help black groups at the time of racial disorders or riots.

PROCTOR pointed out that the fact he is well known as a CP leader has not hampered his meeting and working with various "black power groups." PROCTOR pointed out that in the past the "Black Panthers" were completely and violently anti-white, however, since HUEY NEWTON, Defense Minister for the Black Panthers, has received support from "white racials," the Black Panthers are willing to accept help from these "white radicals."

PROCTOR stated that ROBERT F. WILLIAMS' publication on Negro destruction of the whites and its tactics for guerrilla warfare in the cities, along with the destruction by sabotage of public utilities and general mayhem, is widely read among Negro youth and while this is not what he would like to see happen "if it must, it will."

PROCTOR stated closed meetings are taking place as to what the radical whites can do and within two weeks a more definite plan could be worked out, but generally the most effective plan, according to discussions held, would be to create a second front in order to divert and divide the police and National Guard forces attempting to stop riots or disorders. A second plan was to circulate and leaflet National Guard centers so that when riots occur many National Guard members may be influenced by argument that their use is to commit genocide against Negro people and not report for duty.

According to PROCTOR, approximately one-third of the National Guard in Detroit did not show up during the riots there.

PROCTOR reported that in his opinion San Francisco would explode with violence before Oakland, California, due to what he called the violent anti-white nature of the leaders in San Francisco.

PROCTORS and others stated that the next rioting would be more dangerous than any in the past because in the past the rioters were not armed and were unorganized.
